NOTICE.

WE THE UNDERSIGNED HEREBY DECLARE our intention of forming ourselves into a Joint Stock Road Company, under and by virtue of an Act of the Legislature of the State of California, entitled "An Act to authorize the formation of corporations for the construction of plank or turnpike roads," approved May 12th, 1853, for the purpose of constructing a turnpike road from a point on the easterly shore of Owens Lake, near the furnace of the Owens Lake Silver Lead Company, in the County of Inyo, State of California, and thence running by the most practicable route (as the same may hereafter be located by actual survey) to a point on the Cerro Gordo and Owens Lake Company's road, at or near the well dug by Jamieson and Barry for A. B. Elder, in the said County and State.

And we further declare our intention of meeting at Swansea, Inyo County, at the office of the Owens Lake Silver Lead Company on WEDNESDAY, THE TWENTY-FOURTH DAY OF MAY, A. D. 1871, at 10 o'clock A. M., for the purpose of effecting a preliminary organization of said company.

Time for Action.

The efforts being made by our citizens toward the purchase and running of a fire engine in this place have received so much attention at our hands, that it would seem almost unnecessary to make further mention of the urgent necessity of the project. If still more reference to the matter was needed to convince any one that protection from fire is absolutely requisite, a mention of the fact that our town, now in the full tide of prosperity and thrift, is liable at any moment to be swept out of existence by the smallest accident, likely to occur at any moment. For a small town, our highly inflammable buildings are situated more than usually close together, and a fire once started must take them all, for no possible effort could save any portion without the proper means are provided. The dropping of a match, a defective flue, coals carelessly thrown out with ashes, or the every day accident of the dropping or bursting of a lamp, are little affairs likely to occur at any time—and away goes Independence. Doubtless many of our citizens know what it is to suffer by the ravages of fire, there being but few of the early cities and towns on the Coast which have escaped destruction by that element. In this place it is a difficult matter to get fire risks taken by responsible companies, but even if insurance was easily accomplished it is a very doubtful policy, for instead of sending off ten or twelve thousand dollars a year for this purpose, a portion of this money had better be expended by our business men to protect their neighbors as well as themselves, and thus keep this community together for the support of their own busines. Let fire come and it is possible that many would never rebuild here—even if they had the required means—for there are other places in the county just as important in a business point of view as this. Although this is a central point of the mining and agricultural regions of the county, let the Court House be destroyed a movement would at once be made to effect a removal of the county seat, with an almost certainty of success as soon as it could be accomplished by law. And then the mere fact of the town having an apparatus and an organization for the purpose of fire protection would impart to a passing stranger or homeseeker an air of permanence; it would afford him assurance that the property he might rear would stand a show of safety from another's carelessness, or the incendiaries' torch. Manufacturies, planing mills and tanneries must be established somewhere in the valley before long, and the citizens of this place should lose no opportunity to present at least equal advantages to those of any other point. Establish a live company here, and a similar one would soon be organized in Lone Pine, through the characteristic ambition of firemen to excel, and thus afford a little rivalry, which always tends to success in such cases. Although the general principle is the same, the necessity in that place is not so urgent, because the buildings there are more separated, mostly of different materials and better protected by shade trees. The natural aid to to the successful working of a fire department at this place can not be excelled, while the present and prospective nature of the town could hardly present a greater necessity for one. As for the proper equipment of Independence Engine Company No. 1, we of The Independent establishment can claim less immediate interest or motives than perhaps any other, from the fact that our office stands isolated from other buildings, and the material could readily be removed elsewhere; but in this connection we may state that we have already contributed to this object the same labor and material that would cost anybody else or any other concern at least $100. The present members are well aware, also, that the burden of its maintenance and support, to say nothing of the personal services and dangers, must fall upon them when the company is in working order, as it invariably does. And of course it can not be claimed that a fire organization would by any prevent fires, but an active company in this place would certainly confine them to their original starting points, and probably save the building itself; and the cause of many conflagrations would be looked to by the systematic inspection of stove-pipes, etc. All this argument may be, and doubtless is, unnecessary; the fact must be patent to all our citizens that the object is a necessity, and should receive the help of all. However, the more the matter is discussed the more the danger will be understood, and the work of the Canvassing Committee thereby lessened. It is about time something was being done about the matter.

More Carelessness.

There is at the Postoffice in this place a letter returned from Chicago for "better directions," addressed as follows: "Mr. Henry Fisher, Easton South, Fourth street, No. 105." None of the P. M.s have the remotest idea where Easton South is, so the writer, whomsoever he may be, will have to furnish the information, or Henry will never get his letter in the 'varsal kingdom.

Struck It.

The Oceola boys are into their ledge at last and find it a pretty good thing to take, too. We saw a twenty pound specimen of the black, splendid looking ore, which assays $1,500 per ton. Drifts on both sides of the tunnel discloses bodies of the ore, and a ton was taken out on the first day.

Watchmaking.

We would direct the attention of the public to the card of Mr. Geo. Burkhardt, watchmaker and jeweler, at Lone Pine. All work in his line which may be sent or taken to him will be satisfactorially attended to, and at low charges.

Another Agent.

Harry Isaacs informs us that he is not acting as stage agent, as reported by us last week, having found that he could not attend to it, by reason of too many other duties. Wm. G. Squires, at the Inyo House, is agent now, we believe.

For County Clerk.

W. L. Moore, very well known throughout the county, this week announces himself as a candidate for County Clerk, to come before the Democratic Convention. He will make a lively fight for it.

Wanted.

A shingle maker is wanted at the Big Pine saw mill, one who understands the Hunting machine prefered. This is a good chance for some one who sabes these things.

Thanks.

The thanks of this establishment are due Mrs. I. P. Yaney, of Bishop Creek, for a substantial remembrancer.

ACQUITTED.

The Payne-Wills Murder Trial.

On the 10th day of April last, Joseph G. Payne shot and killed one Luther A. Wills, at the business place of the former in this town. On a preliminary examination, Payne was bound over in the sum of $3,000 to await the action of the Grand Jury; that body found a true bill of indictment for murder, on which the case came up for trial on Monday last, in the District Court, Hon. Theron Reed presiding. It has occupied the attention of the Court up to about 6 o'clock yesterday evening, when the matter went into the hands of the jury, twelve good men and true, who, after some twenty-five minutes' consultation, returned a verdict of NOT GUILTY.

P. Reddy and W. P. George appeared for the defendant, and District Attorney Bennett and E. H. Van Decar for the people. Following are the names of the gentlemen composing the jury: John Beveridge, B. F. Hutchison, J. B. Wofford, J. S. Brown, Henry Primer, J. H. Stratton, Thomas Passmore, W. L. Moore, David Thomas, A. B. Kitchen, J. Earl and E. Chaquette. We do not believe that twelve better jurors could have been selected in Inyo County. The presiding Judge conducted the entire proceedings in a manner that must have met the approbation of all; his rulings were prompt, decisive and rendered in perfect fairness and impartiality. The counsel for the defense made their client's cause their own, and with such a cause their earnestness and ability could not fail of success before an intelligent American jury. The prosecution left no stone unturned to secure a full and fair investigation of the alleged crime, and fulfilled the requirements of their position to the letter.

We have hitherto refrained from comments upon the unfortunate circumstances attending the killing of Wills, intending after the matter was legally investigated and decided to place before our readers a full and fair statement of the entire transaction. As the conclusion was not reached until a very short time previous to our usual time of going to press, we are forced to defer details until our next issue. There has been some feeling in this case as must ever be where human life is taken in this manner, but the conviction of what constitutes justice, which we have held from the first, is now sustained. We will further say, that we do not believe a jury of twelve intelligent men, conscious of the rights and duties of husband and father, can be found on this coast that would render a different verdict. If the shedding of human blood is ever to be justified, it must be in cases of this character. Taking into the account the facts as presented in open court, we can not see how any unbiased person could condemn any man for acting as did Payne in this instance. What is he to do? Submit to have the very tenderest ties of the human heart ruthlessly severed—robbed of wife and child, of home and all that makes life endurable and then bow in meekness to the smiting hand and insulting tongue that has, no matter whether in human weakness or a villain's guile robbed him of his all. Must he bear all the punishment of anothers sins? Where is the law to which he can appeal? There is none on our statute books that woul protect him, much less afford redress.

Except from his subsequent action, there is no more, if as much, blame to be attached to the memory of Wills in this transaction than to the heartless cause of all—the thoughtless or wicked wife and mother.

Shooting at Bishop Creek.

Last Monday afternoon there occurred at the residence of Mr. Burdick, on Bishop Creek, there occurred a shooting affray which, we are inclined to think, was not fatal enough for perfect justice. For some months past one named Joe Marco has been conducting himself in an obnoxious manner toward Dick Sides, have meddled with and fomented several family quarrels. A Mr. Cromwell had just left Sides, and when but a short distance from the house met Marco, who inquired if Dick was at home, making use of some blackguard threats about what he was going to do with him. Cromwell returned and warned Sides; when Marco came up Sides asked him if he was armed, and received the reply that he was "armed for all such sons of —— as him." Sides then raised a shot gun and fired, but the cap snapped; trying the other barrel, he lodged a load of fine shot in Marco's arm, just he was dodging around the corner of a building. Dr. White of Camp Independence, was sent for, and found the arm pretty badly shattered. There is at present no magistrate north of Big Pine, and we believe no legal investigation has been had; public opinion however, seems to unanimously justify the act. Sides is widely known over the coast having figured largely in an early day in Nevada among the Comstock mines, and afterwards in Washoe and Ormsby counties.

Attempt to Murder.

About 1 o'clock on the night of May 4th, a miner by the name of Martin Murphy while on a drunken brawl, got a couple of men to accompany him and went into the Buena Vista tunnel, at Cerro Gordo. John Murphy, employed in running a car at the mine, was pushing out a load of ore as the party entered the tunnel. Martin Murphy stopped him, drew a six-shooter and said: "You are a sucker; you son of a ——, you are my meat!" He pointed the pistol and pulled trigger, but only the cap snapped. John Murphy retreated back to the incline, where he remained for some time, the work in the mine being interrupted for an hour or two. It seems that the attacking party had been discharged from the mine but a day or two previous, and "went for" his man because he had not quit work on account of it. Martin was arrested by Deputy Sheriff Grant on the following, and taken before Justice Barrows for examination, by whom he was remanded for trial, on a charge of attempt to commit murder. Arriving here, he was released on a writ of habeas corpus, before his Honor Judge Reed, in the District Court, it appearing that there was no evidence againt him—or at least the commitment papers did not say that any of the witnesses were sworn.

An Old Firm Changed.

By reference to our new advertisements of this week, it will be seen that Dr. A. A. Green, of Aurora, has sold his drug business in that place to Mr. Charles E. Baldwin. In a private letter the Doctor informs us that he contemplates moving to the Puget Sound country to "try his luck." During his long stay in Aurora, from the earliest days of Esmeralda's flushest times down to the present, Dr. Green's urbanity and kindly disposition has never failed to command the warmest friendship and esteem of all, and his permanent departure will be a source of deep regret to his thousand friends throughout this part of the country. May "good luck" attend him, wherever he goes. His business has fallen upon a worthy successor which is about as high a compliment as could be paid to Mr. Baldwin, or anybody else.

Shaky.

Judge Reed don't think much of the stability of our Court House walls. The other day while a little four-knot breeze was blowing the walls trembled so much as to cause his Honor to temporarily vacate the Bench. As the bricks composing the walls are so soft, in case the building was to tumble down while court was in session, it is not likely any body would be much damaged except from the dust, and that would soon blow away.

Obligations.

We are under obligations to Seth G. Sneden for remembering us in this, the winter of our discontent, made so by no son of York, but by an unenviable, disagreeable and unaccountable shortness in the market and kitchen supply of that certain highly nutritious, esculent and farinaceous tuber yclept the "spud," the nature and quality of which was thus clearly defined by a learned gentleman of color: "De tater am a combination ob de wegetable matter; de interior am endeavored to be good while de extirium am totally on de negative, darfore, without furder circumlocushums I will take a bushel ob dese yere." We received a sack of potatoes, is what we have trying to get at,

From Deep Springs.

A private letter from Deep Spring Valley has the following: "Nothing new here, except some fellow, not having the fear of a hereafter before his eyes, did maliciously and mischieviously set fire to another man's (a Mexican) coal pit, damaging said Mexican to the amount of $250. This will now be a camp, or at least it should be, as we have had one incendiary or insane 'cuss.'"

Narrow Escape.

Last Thursday a small boy some nine years of age named Frank Van Ness while engaged in herding cattle a bull made a charge at the boy, and horse on which he was mounted, killing the latter instantly. While the bull was engaged in going the fallen horse the boy run for life and escaped comparatively unhurt.

One Sided.

As may be seen, the political announcements so far are all on one side—Democratic. Are there no candidates among the Republicans?

Virginia City Election.

The municipal election in our neighbor city of Virginia yesterday passed off very smoothly, and resulted in the election of J. C. Currie (Dem.) as Mayor; George Downey (Rep.), Chief of Police; Henry Piper (Rep.), Treasurer; J. C. Snider (Dem.), Assessor, and three Republican and one Democratic Alderman. The whole number of votes cast was 1,778. Currie's majority over C. Derby was 110—quite complimentary as showing that he was elected by Republican votes. Downey's majority over J. Dulcahy was 93; Piper's majority over C. B. Smith, 92; Snider's over R. K. Bennett, 39. J. C. Smith (Rep.) was elected Alderman of the First Ward by a majority of 63 over his opponent, J. J. Cooper (Dem); A. T. Waters (Rep.) was elected Alderman of the Second Ward by a majority of 174 votes over Thomas Kent (Dem); C. M. Lawrence (Dem), in the Third Ward, 40 majority over Charles Goodwin (Rep); J. D. Gray (Rep.), in the Fourth Ward, 23 majority over Theodore Gosse (Dem.). The party lines were pretty well drawn, yet not strictly so by any means, as the result shows; and the set of officers elected is generally considered very good and satisfactory.—Gold Hill News, May 2d

The Difference.

The Pacific Law Reporter for April 20th, has the following:

We are indebted to a correspondent for the following: In the Supreme Court of California on Monday, the 10th inst., a class of nine students was present for admission to the Bar. Chief Justice Rhodes conducted the examination, in the course of which he propounded a question calling for the views of the students as to the distinction between the national and State legislatures. One of the class responded that in the States of the Union the Legislatures enacted laws under the restrictions and by virtue of the powers of the State Constitutions, while the National Legislature passed laws without regard to the Constitution and trusted to the chances of ratification or reversal by the Supreme Court of the United States. To say that the class mostly acquiesed in that view only more fully expresses the merriment which followed, and the remark of Wallace J. (soto voce) to the Chief Justice, the two being known as embracing opposite political views: "He refers to the present Congress, probably." The class was rejected as a whole.

The Grasshoppers.

The Los Angeles News of the 27th ultimo says:

Reports from nearly all sections of the country are coming in to the effect that grasshoppers are appearing in countless numbers, even in districts marked last year with no trace of their ravages. San Jose township is spoken of as particularly afflicted, and Los Nietos is beginning to be infested, though the insects are not yet large enough to work harm or havoc.

A Good Appointment.

We congratulate our Arizona neighbors on the fact that Gen. Geo. Crook is to take command of the military in that Indian cursed Territory From a personal knowledge of Gen. Crook's method of fighting the red devils, while in Idaho, we feel sure no better man could have been selected.

Notable Death

James Murray Mason, once a United States Senator from Virginia, and Jeff. Davis' Minister to England, died at his home near Washington, on Friday night, of general debility. For a month before his death he had been blind. Mason was born in Fairfax County, Virginia, November 3d, 1798 and was therefore in the 73d year of his age. He was a graduate of the University of Pennsylvania (1818), and studied law at William and Mary College, Virginia, first taking license to practice in 1820. In 1826 he was elected to the House of Delegates, and was twice re-elected. In 1837 he was sent to Congress and remained a member of the House one term. In 1847 he was elected to the United States Senate, where he remained till 1861. He was among the foremost advisers of secession and went out of the Senate among the first of the Southern Senators. His capture by the San Jacinto, Commodore Wilkes, and his imprisonment in Fort Warren, with the international events which led to his final release, with that of Slidell and to his residence as Confederate Minister at London, have made his name historical. There is not much else in his career of historical prominence. He was a proud, arrogant, dictatorial man, with little talent and no genius for affairs.—Sacramento Union.

Eastern Comments.

California deserves to be looked after at once by the rabid free-traders and ultra importers, for, if that State is permitted to go on at her present rate in the service of protection, several foreign interest will suffer, and the present outflow of gold be seriously reduced, to the great detriment of Great Britain. Not content with manufacturing silk, making wide, growing super-abudant wheat crops, and erecting factories of all kinds, the audacious and enterprising Californians have devoted themselves to the culture of olives and almonds with such success that their crops will soon seriously interfere with the foreign supply of these articles. And a paper in the heart of the almond and olive region, The Santa Barbara Press, has the unblushing effrontery to assert that, "In a very few years we shall begin to ship the products of these two trees, the olive and almond, in quantities which will relieve the constant drain upon the currency of the community." Here is work for ex-Special Commissioner Wells and the entire small army of Revenue Reformers, for if these California enterprises are permitted to go much longer unchecked, the balance of trade will be turned in our favor, and the flow of coin set from Europe to these shores.—Iowa Tribune.

The Strong-Minded in Council.

A meeting of the Woman's Suffrage Association was held on Tuesday evening for the purpose of discussing the following resolution, called out by the trial now going on at the Fifteenth District Court, at which some of the parties took a prominent part:

"Resolved—That when a women is on trial, especially for her life, it is not only proper but the duty of others of her sex to be present."

Some of the more sensible of the speakers seemed to think that the the widow of the unfortunate victim of female passion, was as much entitled to sympathy, as the bold, bad woman who murdered him. Some of the advocates of the affirmative side of the question, contended that in such cases the party accused should be tried by a jury of women, and that the officers of the Court should be composed of the same class.—Industrial Reformer.

Scarlet Fever Cured.

As this dreaded and dreadful disease is unusually prevalent, it may not be inopportune to state that an eminent physician claims to rob it of many of its terrors by prescribing for the patient warm lemonade, with a little mucilage, as often as desired, and the application of warmth to the stomach. He directs that a cloth be wrung out of hot water, and laid on the stomach, renewing it as often as it cools. With this treatment he guarantees that not one in a hundred cases will prove fatal.

To Stop Bleeding.

It is said that bleeding from wounds on man or beast may be stopped by a mixture of wheat and common salt, in equal parts, and bound with a cloth. If the bleeding is profuse, use a large quantity—say from one to three pints It may be left on for hours, or even days if necessary. The person who recommends this recipe says: "In this manner I saved the life of a horse which was bleeding from a wounded artery, the bleeding ceased in five minutes after the application."

Oil of Peppermint to Relieve Pain.

A writer in The London Lancet says: "A few days ago when in China, I became acquanted with the fact that the natives, when suffering from facial neuralgia, applied oil of peppermint to the seat of pain with a camel's hair pencil. Since then in my own practice, I have frequently employed oil of peppermint as a local anæsthetic, not only in neuralgia, but also in gout, with remarkably good results. I have found the relief from pain to be almost instantaneous."

To Prepare Lettuce.

Lettuce being a very common fresh vegetable just now we will mention the follwoing plan of dressing it to give variety: Prepare a mixture as you would for cold slaw. A cup of rich milk, or thin cream, one egg beaten light, a tablespoonful of mustard, a lump of butter half the size of an egg, salt to your to tatse. Set on the fire until the ingredients are thoroughly heated. When cold add by degrees a cup of strong vinegar. This mixture poured over the lettuce will make a very appetizing addition to a Spring dinner.

Complicating Matters.

Linnehan, convicted a year ago of robbing Chinese, on the testimony of Chinese witnesses, was recently discharged on a decision of the Supreme Court against the legality of that sort of evidence. Whilst he was in prison his wife obtained a divorce on the ground that he was a felon, and married again. Linnehan now moves to have the divorce set aside, a restoration of the property, and his wife prosecuted for bigamy.

A Neat Thing in Neck-Ties.

Neck-tie festivals being now all the rage, the Butler, Kansas, vigilantes, not to be behind the fashion, held one a few days since. The neck-tie used was of hemp, and the young man who wore it will need no more neck ties. This should be the "Hoodlum neck-tie."

Has a Right.

A young man who was caught straining his sweetheart to his bosom the other night, justifies himself on the ground that he has a right to strain his own honey.

MUSICAL.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY THE ARION PIANO IS Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Evenness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration.

All go to prove what we claim, viz: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of detection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 31, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in. ☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

Henry T. Helmbold's

COMPOUND FLUID Extract Catawba GRAPE PILLS.

Component Parts—Fluid Extract Rhubarb and Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Juice.

FOR LIVER COMPLAINTS, JAUNDICE, BILIOUS AFFECTIONS, SICK OR NERVOUS HEADACHE, COSTIVENESS, ETC. PURELY VEGETABLE, CONTAINING NO MERCURY, MINERALS OR DELETERIOUS DRUGS.

H

THESE PILLS ARE THE MOST DELIGHTFULLY pleasant purgative, superseding castor oil, salts, magnesia, etc. There is nothing more acceptable to the stomach. They give tone and cause neither nausea nor griping pains. They are composed of the FINEST INGREDIENTS. After a few days' use of them, such an invigoration of the entire system takes place as to appear miraculous to the weak and enervated, whether arising from imprudence or disease. H. T. Helmbold's Compound Fluid Extract Catawba Grape Pills are not sugar-coated, from the fact that sugar coated Pills do not dissolve, but pass through the stomach without dissolving, consequently do not produce the desired effect. THE CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, being pleasant in taste and odor, do not necessitate their being sugar-coated.

E

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

HIGHLY CONCENTRATED COMPOUND

Fluid Extract Sarsaparilla

Will radically exterminate from the system Scrofula, Syphilis, Fever Sores, Ulcers, Sore Eyes, Sore Legs, Sore Mouth, Sore Head, Bronchitis, Skin Diseases, Salt Rheum, Cankers, Runnings from the Ear, White Swellings, Tumors, Cancerous Affections, Nodes, Rickets, Glandular Swellings, Night Sweats, Rash, Tetter, Humors of all Kinds, Chronic Rheumatism, Dyspepsia, and all diseases that have been established in the system for years.

L

Being Prepared Expressly for the above complaints, its Blood Purifying Properties are greater than any other preparation of Sarsaparilla. It gives the complexion a Clear and Healthy Color and restores the patient to a State of Health and Purity. For Purifying the Blood, removing all Chronic Constitutional Diseases arising from an impure state of the blood, and the Only Reliable and Effectual known Remedy for the Cure of Pains and Swelling of the Bones, Ulcerations of the Throat and Legs, Blotches, Pimples on the Face, Erysipelas and all Scaly Eruptions of the Skin, and Beautifying the Complexion.

M

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S

CONCENTRATED

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

THE GREAT DIURETIC,

Has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick Dust Deposit, and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions of Both Sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruption on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

Used by persons from the ages of eighteen to twenty five, and from thirty five to fifty five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bed wetting in children.

B

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphilitic affections—in these diseases used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to Ladies, the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other Remedy—as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrus State of the Uterus, Leucorrhœa or Whites, Sterrility, and for all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent Physicians and Midwives for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages (attended with any of the above diseases or symptoms).

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS OF DISSIPATION, ETC.

In all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found that they have been deceived, and that the Poison has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs, whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Can not be surpassed as a FACE WASH, and will be found the only specific Remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples, Spots, Scorbutic Dryness Lobulations of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., dispels Redness and Incident Inflammation, Hives, Rush, Moth Patches, Dryness of Scalp or Skin, Frost Bites, and all purposes for which Salves or Ointments are used; restores the skin to a healthy state of Purity and softness, and insures continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, Safety and Efficacy—the invariable accompaniment of its use:—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended can not be surpassed.

Full and explicit directions accompany the medicines.

Evidence of the most responsible and reliable character furnished on application, with hundreds of thousands of living witnesses, and upwards of 30,000 unsolicited certificates and recommendatory letters, many of which are from the highest sources, including eminent Physicians, Clergymen, etc. The proprietor has never resorted to their publication in the newspapers; he does not do this from the fact that his articles rank as Standard Preparations, and do not need to be propped up by certificates.

The Great Medical Discovery!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or the turn of life, these Bitters display such decided influence that improvement is soon perceptible. ☞ See pamphlet around each bottle, for testimonials and certificates of cures.

These Bitters are a gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, combining the properties of a Cathartic to carry off the bowels, and a Tonic to give tone to the stomach.

NOT A VILE FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by Derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

OUR BABY.

Did you ever see our baby?
Little Tot;
With her eyes so sparkling bright,
And her skin so lily white,
Lips and cheeks of rosy light—
Tell you what,
She is just the sweetest baby
In the lot.

Tot, she is our little darling,
And to me
All her little ways are witty;
When she sings her little ditty,
Every word is just as pretty
As can be—
Not another in the city
Sweet as she.

You don't think so? never saw her?
Wish you could
See her with her playthings clattering,
Her little tongue a chattering—
Little dancing feet come pattering—
Think you would
Love her just as well as I do—
If you could!

LAND GRANTS.

Mr. Chas. Pomeroy, of Iowa, delivered a speech before the House of Representatives on the Land Grant question, closing as follows:

It was but a few years ago that our school geographies described the Missouri territory, embracing eight hundred thousand square miles, as a "vast wilderness, resembling a desert, extending from the State of Missouri and the river Mississippi to the Rocky mountains; a region of open, elevated plains, generally destitute of forest trees and interspersed with barren hills." The region between the Missouri river and the mountains was designated on the school maps as the great American desert. The land-grant policy of Congress has settled a part of this "vast wilderness," and the States of Minnesota, Iowa, Nebraska, and Kansas, with a population of two millions, is evidence of its wisdom. This desert yielded in the last year over forty six million bushels of wheat, and the cash value of all its productions were not less than $120,000,000. And not two per cent. of this wilderness is yet brought under cultivation. When we remember that wheat will not bear transportation over three hundred and fifty miles by wagon, the eastern States of the Union will see how much they are indebted to railroads for cheap breadstuffs and many of the necessaries of life.

There is still enough of this barren tract, utterly worthless without railroads, to make ten States the size of New York, and capable of exporting more than five hundred million bushels of wheat alone annually, and adding to the total agricultural products of the nation more than one-fourth the amount of our national debt yearly. Shall these lands, together with the remainder of our unoccupied territory lying beyond the terminus of existing roads, be abandoned, together with a few brave pioneers who are already there, to the wild beasts and equally wild Indians who are wandering over it, and by whom alone without roads it is inhabitable? To my mind a renunciation on the part of the nation of that wise policy that has encouraged and stimulated these enterprises in which $300,000,000 have been invested within the past year, giving an untold impulse to every form of internal enterprise and industry, is a timid step backward, and an expression of doubt in the superiority of our civilization of railroads, telegraphs, and universal knowledge over the ancient civilization of dromedaries, camel paths, and general ignorance of the people.

Neither the fear nor envy of the riches of a few should be allowed to frighten or blind us to the great interests of our whole people and of mankind.

To Ex-Soldiers.

Soldiers are advised not to sell or part with their discharges, which are in active demand in the West. The new law of Congress so modifies the requirements of the Homestead Act that a soldier or sailor who served ninety days or more during the rebellion may deduct his term of enlistment from the five year's settlement hitherto required to perfect his title. For instance, if he served three years in the army or navy, he may acquire a full title to a quarter section of land by a residence of two years. There is evidence that the sharks are preparing to wring dishonest fortunes out of the law.

The Nero of France.

Mazzini says that the despotism of Louis Napoleon extinguished all the fire of the Marseillaise, and when the French people were permitted to sing it at the breaking out of the war, the great invocation to freedom was only empty words, to which the soul of the nation would not and could not respond. He pronounces Napoleon the Nero of France, the destroyer of his country, the monster of an unbridled egotism.

The Capitol Sinking.

We regret to say that, owing to the ponderous building being erected in a hurry, the foundation of our new State Capitol has given away until nearly every window sill in the east and west wings have been broken, and in some places the walls have cracked for a considerable distance. So far however, no particular damage has been done, but it is feared that the settling will break the plastering and moulding inside.—Carson Register.

Murder in Los Angeles

The Los Angeles Star of April 29th speaks as follows of a cold blooded murder committed near that place:

In yesterday's issue of The Daily Star, we published an account of the killing of Mr. Vignon, on the Santa Anita rancho. From the testimony taken at an inquest, held by Coroner Kurtz, we publish the following, and probably more accurate account of the murder:

Francisco Padillo had worked for Hughues Vignon for eight days as a sheep shearer, but had done no work since last Saturday, a week ago. Friday about one o'clock, when Vignon and his men were at dinner, Padillo rode up to the house, dismounted, and taking a seat outside, commenced mending his pantaloons with a needle and thread borrowed from the "boss of the sheep shearers." By Vignon's invitation, he went into the house to eat dinner. After eating, Vignon said to him he must either go to work or leave the place. He went off, but soon returned on horseback, dismounted, and pushing open the door, entered the house where Vignon was. In about ten minutes, Jean Baptiste Orville, at work outside, heard a shot, and ran to the house. Padillo came out with blood on his hand, and pointed his pistol at Jean until he got to his horse, upon which he mounted and rode off. The pistol belonged to the "boss of the sheep shearers," and had been taken by Padillo that morning. Jean then entered the house, and found Mr. Vignon lying upon his back, with his feet to the door, and bleeding fast from a wound in his throat, which caused his death in a few minutes. He was unable to speak when found, and died without speaking. The Sheriff dispatched a party in search of the murderer, but at last accounts he had not been captured. Mr. Vignon was a native of France, and aged about 38 years. The report that he called Padillo "a son of a ——," is probably without foundation.

—The reports concerning the cotton factory at Augusta, Georgia, are gratifying, and show the encouraging prospects of Southern manufacture. This factory has been gradually extending its operations, till now it runs 15,000 spindles and 600 looms, and consumes 130 bales of cotton per week. The average daily product is 52½ yards per loom, or 25,000 in all, making some eight million yards yearly. At its organization the company had $200,000 capital, which, by its earnings, has increased to $600,000. The par value of the stock is $100, on which it has paid for five years past an annual dividend of twenty per cent. The stock is now worth $155.

—A resident of Salem, Mass., is very angry with some young jovial friends of his who, the other day, for the sake of the joke, caused him to be annoyed by a long procession of callers, including two expressmen, a man with a load of wood, another with furniture, a third with a bundle of hay, a colored barber, a grocer with a can of oil, and finally a hearse and two carriages to attend his funeral.

—Iowa has built nearly two thousand miles of railroad during the past eight years—more than half of it within two years. It now has 2,683 miles of road, and the gross earnings of them all in the last nine years have been very nearly fifty millions of dollars. They show an average increase in earnings of more than a million dollars a year.

—It is said that Boston, Worcester, Lawrence, and Fall River, the four largest towns in Massachusetts, are no longer genuine Yankee communities, as none have so many native-born inhabitants as foreigners. In Boston, for instance, out of 248 866 inhabitants 158,116 have one or both parents of foreign birth.

—They have temperance insurance societies in Georgia, which are somewhat original. Each member pays five dollars as an initiation fee and five dollars dues each month. At the end of the year the money is divided among those who have remained faithful to the pledge.

—A live cat was found in the mail bag in a town in Maine one day last week. The postmaster made diligent search through all the postage laws to ascertain the amount of postage on the animal, but found nothing touching the case.

—North Carolina has "an old man of the mountains," who lives about forty miles from Greenville, and has reached the age of one hundred and forty three years. At the time of Braddock's defeat he was twenty years old, and had a wife and three children.

—Gladstone is reported to be in straitened financial circumstances. He has recently been forced to sell most of his private property to meet his obligations, incurred, it is stated, by his liberal mode of entertaining.

—A Washington man has won five hundred dollars by eating a partridge every day, between the hours of 9 and 10 A. M., for a month. According to the terms of the wager, he could eat anything else he liked.

—Seventy-eight women are now regularly ordained preachers in the United States.

—A tea-totaller—A man who drinks nothing but tea.

SUGGESTIONS TO MINERS.

The following, which we clip from a late number of The Scientific Press, we commend to the attention of mine owners of every class, and particularly those who own good mines but have not sufficient means for their further developement. This Exhibition offers a splendid opportunity for advertising, not only particular mines but the country in general, provided interested parties will avail themselves of this chance, which can be done at such small cost. The Press says:

The managers of the Eighth Industrial Exhibition of the Mechanics' Institute are evincing the strongest determination to make the affair a grand success, and a most praiseworthy determination to have every interest of the coast properly represented. One of their latest steps is to make the mining industry prominent, as it ought to be, and, as one of the ways of arriving at this object, they have determined to request specimens of ores, minerals and metals from the various mines of our Pacific slope for exhibition.

A circular has been, or will soon be, issued to the owners and superintendents of mines and mills, requesting contributions. The specimens sent (Wells Fargo & Co. will transport them free of charge) are to be labelled properly and given a prominent place. Moreover, a descriptive catalogue will be published for general distribution, which will give details containing the mines, mining companies, etc., as furnished by the contributors. The specimens, after the Exhibition has closed, will be placed in the mineralogical cabinet of the Institute, whose property they will then be, where, with the catalogues, they will be open to public inspection.

We believe that this opportunity should not be neglected by miners. A fine collection of ores, etc., will make a powerful impression of our mineral wealth on the visitors who are coming to the Exhibition from various quarters of the globe. It is not enough to talk on this matter; we must give people ocular proof of our capacities, proof that our mines are not exhausted, as some are fond of saying. Let our gold and silver, our lead, quicksilver and copper, our metals, noble and useful, our precious gems, in their varied forms and conditions, from mine, mill and furnace, to be here to show that placer and vein and other forms of deposit are still flourishing, and able for years and years to furnish an immense amount of wealth to our country. "To see is to believe." Let our visitors have a full opportunity to see. We shall profit thereby. It is one of the best of ways to attract attention and capital.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

[COMMUNICATED]

MESSRS. EDITORS:—In view of the near approach of the time of holding our County Conventions there seems to your correspondent an unaccountable want of activity on the part of aspirants for State and county honors.

Heretofore, we have generally had a pretty thorough canvassing of the merits of those who seek preferment at the hands of the people, and a general comparing of notes before Convention day. But this year, judging from appearances, the office will have to run down some unlucky devil before its duties will be assumed.

Candidates (if there be any) are reticent; County Central Committees of both parties seem to be dozing, postponing and procrastinating. Why don't these committees set the ball in motion? The State Conventions will certainly be called to assemble some time from the 10th to 20th of June, and if it is wished to give the people an opportunity to take any hand in the primaries, one would naturally suppose that it was high time for those whose duty it is to be taking some steps to bring about such purpose.

Our county is so constructed geographically as to make her very unwieldy when prompt political action is desired. It is therefore imperative upon those who feel interested to take time by the fore-lock.

The dead calm which prevails in both parties augurs but little interest among the masses, yet appearances are often deceptive and in due time doubtless the Orpheus C. Kerrs will raise to the top.

In the meanwhile, however, I think it not quite fair and right that The Independent should be delayed in touching its little perquisites, which of neccessity must fall in during the progress of a hotly contested general election. Let the candidates hoist their flags by lowering the needful at the proper office. Let the County Committees bestir themselves. Let the fight commence, the hotter it is the sooner we shall have peace; and it must go hard with The Independent if its exchequer is not beneficially affected by getting up a lively time.

OLD SCHOOL.

THE SCIENTIFIC EXPEDITION.

From late accounts it appears that the expedition under the command of Lieutenant Wheeler is designed to be complete in every particular in the outfit. It embraces a corps of scientific experts of various kinds, all necessary instruments, and other essentials for an elaborate examination and report of the terra incognita they design exploring. We know nothing of Lieutenant Wheeler's experience as an explorer but from the fact that a car load of vehicles has just been sent to Camp Halleck for use on the expedition we are inclined to think he has something yet to learn in the business, and will know more about it after a few months use of his vehicles over these arid, rocky plains and mountains.

Camp Independence is designated in the general order as a convenient depot for supplies, though the line of travel will probably lie a hundred miles to the eastward. The great Colorado canyon is an objective point of the Wheeler party, as it is also of another unders Major Powell; so between the two some of the curious mysteries of the ancient cities and other relics said to exist in the vicinity of that awful canyon may be brought before the world, and in some sort, a history be deduced of the now extinct civilization that created them.

THE FRENCH NEWS.

The Communists have abandoned Fort Issy to the Versaillists, losing 300 men, prisoners, and 129 cannon. The loss of this fort terrorizes the Parisians. A sub-Committee, in a late proclamation, orders the most relentless measures towards the beseigers. Rossel, who commanded the insurgents, has resigned, and this has about destroyed the last hope of the Parisians. The city is in a terrible condition of revolution and outlawry. Arbitrary arrests, imprisonment, executions, pillage, executions, extortion, and all the usual consequences of the reign of drunkenness and violence, are the order of the day.

It is believed that the Paris fortifications occupied by the Prussians, will be surrendered to the Versailles Government, even before the payment of the first instalment of the indemnity. Bismarck consents to reduce the indemnity 20,000,000 of francs.

A dispatch dated Berlin, May 10, says negotiations are completed that will result in a real and durable peace, and not merely in removing temporary difficulties.

Democratic State Convention.

The Democratic State Central Committee has ordered that the State Convention of that party be held on the 20th of June. "All who are opposed to the radical measures of Congress and will pledge themselves to vote for all the nominees of the convention," will have a right to vote at the primaries. The different county committees are left free, each to adopt its own mode of selecting delegates to the State Convention.

The Ventura Signal

We have received the first two numbers of a good looking 28 column paper, bearing the above title and just started at San Buenaventura, Santa Barbara county. From a pretty intimate second-hand knowledge of, and interest in that town and beautiful surrounding country, we are glad to see this new-papertorial evidence of material advancement.

For Boys and Girls.

We have, in times past, seen a representative newspaper for nearly every interest and class on the coast, except for the boys and girls, and now comes one for them—an 8-page weekly called "The Pacific Youth," published by Collins, Porde & Co., San Francisco. Price, $2 50 per annum.

Soldiers at Their Old Tricks.

Under the above caption The Los Angeles News, of May 6th, tells of a soldier engaged in driving the Market ambulance from Drum Barracks into Los Angeles having run off with the entire outfit, but finding the wagon an encumbrance left it and came on in this direction with two fine mules.

—The Western States one, are after the other, abolishing the old rule of paying women school-teachers less than the men for the same services. This is simple justice.

—Philadelphia has six thousand manufacturing establishments of all kinds, which give employment to one hundred and twenty thousand men, women and children.

—The assertion is made that more than one half of the hotels of the country are kept by natives of New Hampshire and Vermont.

—The conclusive argument against suicide is, that it is the hight of impoliteness to go anywhere till you are sent for.

—In the reign of Francis I, more than one hundred thousand witches are said to have been put to death.

SUMMARY OF TESTIMONY IN THE PAYNE—WILL MURDER TRIAL.

J. G Payne was put on trial for the murder of Luther A. Will, Monday, May the 8th and case concluded the Friday following, the prisoner being acquitted. Reed, Judge; E. H. Van DeCar and District Attorney Bennett for the People; P. Reddy and W. P. George for the defense.

Dr. F. C. Smith testified that Will had received three pistol shot wounds, viz: one in the left wrist; one an inch to the right of right nipple, neither of which were necessarily fatal; the third some three inches to the right of the navel, this wound causing death.

J. G. Bonds on being sworn, testified that on the 16th of April last his attention was attracted by loud and angry talking to some parties on the opposite side of the street, and from his door observed these parties to be Joe Payne, the defendant, his father, Henry Payne and L. A. Will, the deceased. Joe Payne had a pistol in his hand down by his side; Will had his coat off; saw Will open his shirt bosom and heard him say to Payne to shoot, that he, Will, was not armed. Payne said he wou'd not shoot a man that was not armed, and told Will to go and arm himself. About that time Will picked up his coat and put it on. He was then rather between Payne's paint shop and the French restaurant. Payne said if he had taken the advice of his friends he would have shot him before that time, or something to that effect. Will replied, "d—n you and all such friends." Payne then fired some four or five shots; at the first shot Will placed his hand on his abdomen; at the second he turned his back to Payne and walked across the street towards witness' door, into which he fell, his feet outside the threshold. The other shots were fired at him after he had turned his back to Payne.

On cross examination witness stated that he saw no weapon in the possession of deceased at the time nor after the shooting. When the firing commenced there was somewhere from 6 to 10 feet distance between the parties; might have been less. Witness had anticipated a difficulty should they meet, as Will had been to his house three or four times that day inquiring in a very excited manner for Payne. Will, on one of these occasions, told witness that Payne had been to his cabin and taken two photographs and a letter that he had written to send to Mrs. Payne at San Bernardino. The photographs were of Payne's wife. Will said he was going to have them if he had to throw Payne down and take them from him; he was man enough to do it. At the last visit before the shooting Will said he believed Payne had gone back to the Fort, and expected he would have to walk up there after him as he was bound to see him. Will expressed no feeling of hostility towards Payne only that he was going to have the pictures and letters.

Witness could not remember any insulting or obscene language used by either party immediately preceding the shooting, but thought the expression "son of a ——" was used by one or both. Deceased acted like a man that wanted to fight. The old man Payne was engaged in trying to keep them apart. Witness had stated in the streets that he thought Payne ought to be hung; witness was rather intimate with deceased who had showed him the pictures, and told him that one of them Mrs. Payne had given to him before she went away and the other she had sent to him from San Bernardino. Will also showed him a letter he had written to Mrs. Payne. The character of the letter was friendly; such as one friend might write to another; could remember only the begining and conclusion, viz. "Dear friend," and "we may be happy yet;" witness did not read the letter himself; deceased had said he intended to read the letter to Payne before sending it; witness thought the letter was very smoothly written, simply refering to what was going on here, and that the expressions quoted "came in very good."

John Piercy, on being sworn, stated that Will's gestures were very violent as though he wanted to provoke a fight with Payne. The old man Payne interfered two or three times to prevent Will from attacking Joe; after Will had put on his coat and walked away two or three yards from Payne he returned again, at which Payne flourished the pistol in his face; Will moved a little back when Payne commenced firing; witness was some 40 yards distant; at the moment of the shooting thought they were about 10 feet apart and facing each other; the old man had shoved Will back twice before and once after he had put on his coat.

Joseph Fernbach testified that, prior to the shooting, Payne had told him that he and his wife had parted in good faith. In answer to a question by witness "if he suspicioned any one in this town?" Payne told him he did, but had nothing sufficiently definite to appeal to law; that Will was corresponding with his wife. Payne had never intimated the slightest intention of murdering Will.

Louis Snyder testified that Will had been in his employ the 17 days immediately preceding the shooting; learned through Mrs. Bonds that Will was very down hearted, owing to a misunderstanding with the Payne family; something about Joe Payne's wife, but did not learn the exact nature of the trouble. Mrs. Bonds had referred Will to witness for advice. Afterwards, Will had stated to witness that the old man Payne had said to him that he, Will, would be lynched by the community if he did not leave here, but that he would not leave and might remain for years yet. The following evening on going to bed, Will asked witness for a pistol, stating that some one might come around in the night time; he wanted the pistol to put in his bunk. Witness assured him of protection but refused to let him have the pistol. On the day of the shooting while engaged at some work in witness' butcher shop, Will called witness aside and inquired if he had seen any of the Payne family around the cabin; that some person had stolen his letters; said he was satisfied he knew who took them, and again wanted the pistol; in case any body should draw on him he wanted the first shot. Previous to this time deceased had requested witness to see that he was decently buried in case anything should happen to him; did not know of Will having any other difficulty besides this with Payne from which danger was to be apprehended; had told Payne of Will's desire to get arms; was satisfied if Payne attempted to draw, Will would get the first shot, if he was armed; thought so from Will's manner of speaking about it; would not let him have the pistol; thought he would have merely used it in self-defense. Payne had told witness he (Payne) would not shoot, and had no idea that he would do so.

W. H. Huff, on direct examination, gave nearly the same account of the shooting that Bonds did. On cross examination stated that he heard Payne tell Will to go away; that he did not want to shoot him; thought that Will was standing still at the time of the first shot, but made a move forward towards Payne, directly after.

T. J. Goodale testified that a few days previous to the shooting, the defendant came to him and in speaking of his family troubles, asked witness to assist him in disposing of his property, as he wished to leave the country; wanted to settle up his business, take his little boy, Lettie, (now with his mother), and go elsewhere to live. Witness had heard of a difficulty that had occured in the street between defendant and Will, and asked defendant if he had any arms; defendant said he had no arms nor did not want any; that he sought no difficulty with Will.

Henry Payne, father of defendant, testified that Will had been in his employ for a short time while he resided in Los Angeles: that Will was desirous of coming to this place but having no means of his own, witness had assisted him in paying his way to this place, and after his arrival had obtained a temporary stopping place for him at his son's (defendant's) house; Will, by intercession of witness and defendant, got a place to work at the Kearsarge; worked there nearly a month, when he returned to Payne's house, saying that he was sick and unable to work; remained there some six months, working during that period about one month for defendant, receiving pay therefor; during this time witness observed an improper intimacy springing up between deceased and defendant's wife; remonstrated with Will for his conduct since Joe had treated him so well; Will replied "that was some of that —— little Joe Payne's getting up," but that he, Will, "had a pistol that had killed one man and it might kill another;" had heard that he was to be ducked in the creek. On the 16th, the day of the shooting, witness was told to warn Joe to keep in the house: that Will was looking for him; witness did warn defendant accordingly. While talking with Joe in his own house, Will came and threw the door open with violence and with some heavy oaths, told Joe to come out;" witness caught Joe and pulled him back, and then got between them and attempted to push Will back; told him he had seduced Joe's wife, broken up his home and ruined him; that he ought now to be satisfied without trying to injure him still more. Will tried to push past witness and get into the house; witness, to the best of his ability, tried to keep him out; he then turned and pulled off his coat; said Joe had stolen his (Payne's) wife's pictures and letters; Joe wanted to know what right he had to his wife's pictures and letters; Will said he had just as much right to the woman as he had. Some more words passed when the shooting commenced, compelling witness to get out of the way.

On the cross examination witness stated that at the time of his former conversation with Will that Will said he would burn the letters and have nothing more to do with her; had had enough of her. Witness accused him of telling her a falsehood; Will said she was a d—d liar. On the day of the shooting Will was very wrathy; insisted that Joe had the photographs and letters; would have them or his heart's blood; witness, in answer to questions stated that deceased had lived with defendant since the 20th of July last except two months; had not paid a cent for his board; was physically much more powerful than defendant.

J. G. Payne, the defendant, when on the stand stated that he was born in England; had been in the United States 33 years; was 41 years of age; married in San Bernardino in 1862; his wife was then 17 years of age; had lived in this Valley since 1863; is a mechanic; has had four children, but one of whom is now living; had always lived happily with his wife; had never had a cross word with her; she had left him to go to San Bernardino the 24th of last February.

Defendant then gave at length an account of his acquaintance with deceased, corresponding with that already given by the last witness, with additional details; adding, that Will wished to do work enough to pay for his board but could not be induced to stick to any regular employment, pleading inability from sickness; did not like to drive a sick man away; Will left one Sunday morning to go to work for Pierce but came back drunk in the afternoon and tumbled into the old man's bed; determined then to drive him away, but did not, as the old man plead for him, stating that this was the first offence of that kind; did nothing more about it at the time, but after hearing a friend remark "that Will was a rowdy," told Will the next day to leave; Will said it was a hard way to reform a man to turn a man away without a two bit piece or a job of work; "said he would do anything to help me; told him then to go to work on my ranch, which he did, but doing less and less each day until in a short time he did not go to work at all, saying he was sick." About that time Mrs. Payne was taken sick but Will remained about the house for a month longer, when he went to live with Tom Noland, defendant refusing to keep him any longer. Mrs. Payne was sent away for her health. After she was gone, deceased mentioned family secrets of a character that satisfied defendant that there was something wrong between Mrs. Payne and deceased; they were secrets sacred to husband and wife. While assisting the Postmaster, defendant saw a letter directed in his wife's handwriting to "L. A. Will;" took it to him: he opened and read it then crushing it in his hand, thrust it under the blankets: defendant was anxious to see it: Will swore he should not, but finally held it in his hands for defendant to read it, and then held it in the candle until it was burnt up; the letter read as follows:

SAN BERNARDINO, March 7, 1871.

DEAR FRIEND:—We had a very pleasant trip and Tom was very kind to me, but I would have been happier if you had been along with me. I think Tom will stop here in San Bernardino about a week, but don't have the blues, my loving friend, for I will have them enough for both of us, but we may be happy yet.

WHISTLING JACK.

Defendant stated that this signature was a pet name of his wife's. The following day Will came into defendant's shop and remained for a half an or more without a word being spoken by either until defendant spoke: "'What kind of conduct is this Will? You have betrayed my confidence under my roof tree of charity, and under the plea of sickness you have insinuated yourself into my family and destroyed their happiness, and now, —— you, leave here; I never want to speak to you again.' He said 'you talk —— harsh to me.' Told him I had a right to talk harsh to him." Will went away and returned in the afternoon; speaking to defendant he tried to excuse his conduct. Defendant said: "you pretended to be a friend to that women," to which he replied, "I am her friend and I do love her; I don't know how I can give her up." This excited defendant very much. He said "the —— you say!" Told him to go away and there need be no more trouble about it, or words to that effect, with which the talk ended at that time.

About a week later defendant, while in the postoffice, saw another letter from his wife addressed as before, but done nothing about it until the next day, when seeing Will standing in the door at Noland's, he beckoned to him to come out. He done so and the following passed: "'Will, you have got another letter from Cynthia,' meaning my wife. He said 'yes.' I asked him to let me see it, but he said 'no; you can surmise what you ——please.' I turned away without answer."

Some days after this occurrence, while defendant was passing along the street after dark when near Harris' saloon he was confronted by Will, who stuck a pistol in defendant's face and demanded "how much of this do you want?" to which defendant replied "not any," and moved away while deceased remarked "you had better go —— slow then." This is the circumstance alluded to by Goodale in his testimony, he having first spoken to Payne about it a few minutes after it occurred, though Payne was not aware that any one had witnessed it.

Without giving place to other details we drop to the fatal Sunday. That morning Snyder, the butcher, told defendant that Will was making "a ——of a fuss about the letters and pictures," as he could not find them where he had left them in the cabin; also that Will had tried to get his pistol again that same morning. While Payne was at a friend's house in the afternoon, he observed Will passing in a very excited manner and desired to have the door closed as he did not wish to see him. Payne shortly afterwards went to his own house and had been there but a short time, when Will came and pushing the door open required Payne to come out as he wanted to see him. Going out the two passed partly around the house when the following took place as given in defendant's statement;

"Will, after pulling off his coat faced me and said, 'you have taken Cynthia's (my wife's) photographs and letters.' I said, 'I know nothing about your pictures and letters,' stepping back from him. He said 'By ——, you have, and right here I'll whip you.' Still backing I answered 'they are mine any how; what the —— business have you writing to my wife?' I was still backing. He said, 'I will write to her whenever I —— —— please. She is as much mine as she is yours.' I had backed clear around the shop door; father had stopped Will, and I got inside and went to my desk, took out a pistol and returned to the door. Father was in front of Will trying to keep him back; the words I heard come from Will at this time was 'his heart's blood, the son of a ——.' I held the pistol up and said, in effect, 'you leave here.' He stepped back and said he was not armed, when I told him to go and arm himself then. He said 'put down your pistol and I'll whip —— out of you, —— —— you.' I offered my pistol to father and said I would fight him, when he said, 'you're my man, —— —— you.' Father shoved me back, put his hands against Will and told him to go away; 'you have done Joe harm enough without doing him any more.' I said 'Will, go away. I don,t want to shoot you; if I had done as my friends advised I would have shot you before this.' He said '—— you and all such friends; if you want to shoot me, shoot me now,' striking his breast, 'I'm a man, by ——.' I said 'go away, Will. I want nothing to do with you. I don't want to shoot you. I have fed you, you have broken up my family, you have lived on my generosity, and now you come here to insult and injure me more.' He answered 'lived ——, you lie. you son of a ——, she's as much mine as she is yours.' While speaking these words he made a rush at me; father met and stopped him; as they met, father staggered back and out of my range, and I shot at the instant."

An Entomological Curiosity.

Among juviniles, if not with older heads, the origin of the hair snakes to be found in almost every stream and puddle of water, is a mystery, though generally considered bona fide horse hairs transmogrified into a living snake or worm. We are not prepared to give a learned opinion as to the correctness of this theory in general, but are ready to maintain there is one species not related in any degree to a horse. Here is what we know about hair snakes: Throughout this section, and perhaps all over the coast, there exists, generally under ground, an insect, which for size, shape of legs and general ugliness looks like, and is often mistaken for a tarantula. The body and head, without the legs, is constructed and colored more like a wasp. Its bowed, clumsy legs are six in number terminating in sharp claws. In general make-up, so far as ugliness goes, he is a monster. One evening recently our attention was suddenly called by a terrified scream from our little three-year old, to one of these monsters, it having just passed rapidly over the boy's face as he lay stretched on the floor. In order to determine as soon as possible the chances of the child having received a venomous bite or sting, we very soon had the insect afloat in some water. In a few seconds a little needle pointed, jet black sting was protruded like that of a wasp; momentarily growing longer and larger, it was soon projected far enough to twist and turn in every possible manner; now tying itself around the stiffening limbs and body of the dying monster; then assume a perfect and compact spiral form, increasing each moment in length until some seven or eight inches were attained, when it became entirely detached from the now dead body that bore it, and a wiry, glistening hair snake had sprung into existence! The next morning our reptile was over a foot in length; the next, despite our care, it was a wiry corpse! Perhaps it was an entezoon; perhaps the monster was its natural mother; quein sabe.

Savage Shooting

Report reaches us of a desperate but bloodless shooting affray at Benton, which occurred on the evening of May 18th. A couple of well known residents of that place, engaged in mining pursuits, became mutually hostile, from causes causes connected with alleged slandering, etc. One undertook to make the other "take it back" or words to that effect, but "the other" instead of retracting commenced to unload his six-shooter. The injured party immediately followed suit, and for a time things looked exceedingly scary for everybody in the neighborhood except the shootists. After discharging eight shots they subsided, and it is said that on the following morning one of them was being rubbed down and cared for at Adobe Meadows, while a lunatico inquirendo was being held on the other at the City of Whisky Flat.

Valuable Agencies.

Messrs. Harris & Rhine, who never tire in providing for the wants and comforts of their fellow citizens, have given us another proof of their energy and enterprise in providing a safeguard for every man and family against a sudden transition from prosperity to want, by securing the agencies of both fire and life Insurance Companies, for this county and vicinity. It behooves everybody to take advantage of this opportunity to insure their homesteads and property against loss by fire, and to provide a sure competency for those left behind in case of death, by taking out a life insurance policy. The wants of the ladies have been thought of, also, by providing for them the highly prized and labor saving Florence Sewing Machines, of which they have the agency.

Merchandise.

Our Inyo readers will not fail to carefully read the new column advertisement of the enterprising firm of Harris & Rhine, which appears this week. Mr. Rhine, the new member of the firm, brings with him a thorough knowledge and experience of the merchandising business—is a liberal, public-spirited gentleman, and seems well contented to make this his permanent home. Of Mr. Harris we need not speak as he is long and favorably known in the valley; and the firm, with their able assistants, is about as good as they make. They have an immense stock of goods, which they are selling at rates very materially reduced. Consult, also, the advertisements of their numerous agencies.

The Georges Creek School.

Mr. S. W. Blaisdell, teacher of the school in Union District, sends us the following concerning the last term of six months, which closed on Friday, May 14: The names of Misses Lucinda Shuey, Laura Joslin and Mattie Crowley were placed on the Roll of Honor, they having received 90 per cent. and above on perfect recitations and good deportment during the entire term. There were several others who failed to be placed on the Roll of Honor by being absent a part of the time. The standard was very high, but on that account was worth striving for. The average attendance has been about twenty-two.

De Cullud Individual.

We have received an amusing communication from Mr. Sam Jonsing, a free American of African descent, but must decline its publication, as the prominent political aspirants mentioned might misinterpret it. Personality in newspaper jokes is generally distastful; favors of the nature described are acceptible when this fault is avoided. A communication from "H" is also respectfully declined, as it bears upon an uninteresting political question.

New Stage and Express.

Mr. H. W. Robinson has established a tri-weekly stage and express line between this place and Los Angeles, as may be seen by the advertisment in another column. This is indeed a commendable enterprise, and should be accorded the most substantial of support. The fact will be noticed that fare to San Francisco is thereby reduced to $2750 and 24 50. The proprietor will increase the trips as the amount of business will warrant. Success to it.

Bullion Shipment.

On the 12th day of May, there were shipped from the mill of Hiskey & Walker at Deep Spring Valley, 4 bars of bullion, weighing 660 ounces, valued at $375. Also on 15th instant, 2 bars, weighing 305½ ounces, of the value of $281 45.

Committee Meeting.

The Democratic County Central Committee will meet at this place, on the 25th instant.

JOINT HIGH COMMISSION.

A Washington dispatch of May 8th says:

The following will appear in The Washington National Republican tomorrow morning, and is the authorative official statement of the result of the labors of the Joint High Commission:

The treaty to be known as the "Treaty of Washington," for the adjustment of claims for injury alleged by the United States on account of the escape of Confederate cruisers from British ports and depredations committed by those vessels during the late rebellion in this country. A tribunal of arbitration is constituted to consist of five arbitrators, one appointed by the United States, one by Great Britain, and the other three each by a sovreign State in Europe or America. The treaty establishes special rules for neutral duty and obligation, in addition to general received public law, which rules, although not admitted by the British Commissioners to have been in force at the time, are yet, it is agreed, to retract and to govern the decisions of the tribunal of arbitration. This tribunal may either award damages in detail or in gross, at its discretion, or it may refer this duty to a board of assessors sitting in the United States. It also shall report from time to time, with payment to be made accordingly. The British Government frankly expresses its regret for the occurrences complained of by the United States. For the adjudification of all other claims of citizens of the United States against Great Britain or against the United States during the same period—that is, from the 13th of April, 1861, to the 9th of April, 1865, an ordinary mixed commission is provided, to sit at Washington, with an umpire to be nominated if necessary, by a designated friendly Power. This limitation of time is material in substance, for it confines the reclamation against the United States to the incidents of actual war. It is accompanied also with a declaration on the part of the British Commissioners to the effect of excluding claims on account of slave property.

Great Britain does not recognize the claims of subjects for the seizure of cotton in cases where they took up their abode in the South, as they became subject to the contingencies of war.

In regard to the fisheries, in addition to the liberties already secured to them by the treaty of 1818, fishermen of the United States shall have the liberty to take sea fish on the coasts and shores, and in the bays, harbors and creeks of the provences of Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, and the colony of Prince Edward's Island and islands adjacent, without being restricted to any distance from shore, with permission to land upon such coasts, shores and islands, and also upon Magdalen Islands, for the purpose of drying their nets and curing their fish, subject of course in this respect, to the local rights of private property; and the same liberty is granted to British subjects on the eastern sea coasts and shores of the United States north of the thirty-ninth parallel of latitude. This treaty is not to include on either side shell fish, or salmon and shad fisheries, or other fisheries in rivers and mouths of rivers. It is further agreed that fish oil and fish of all kinds, except the fish of inland lakes and their rivers, and except fish preserved in oil, the produce of fisheries in the United States or of the Dominion of Canada, or of Prince Edward's Island, shall be admitted in each country respectively free of duty.

The privileges thus conceded to the United States are obviously most important ones. It is asserted by the British Government, but is not admitted by the United States that the privileges accorded to citizens of the United States are of more value than those accorded to subjects of Great Britain, and to prevent or avoid controversy on this point it is agreed that a mixed commission, with an umpire to be appointed by a designated friendly Power, shall determine whether any compensation for such alleged excess of privelege, and how much ought to be paid by the United States.

Next come various questions of navigation and commercial transit, which are disposed of by declaring the navigation of the river St. Lawrence and rivers Yucan, Porcupine and Stillile, forever free and open to citizens or subjects of both countries; by providing for the equal use of the Welland and St. Lawrence and other canals, in the Dominion on the one hand, and of Lake Michigan and St. Clair Flats and Canal on the other; by providing for the free transit of merchandise to and fro, as well in the British possessions as in the United States, and abolishing provisional export duty on American lumber on the river St. John.

All these provisions concerning the fisheries and canal transit are of course made contingent upon their being approved by the Congress of the United States and the British Parliament the Parliament of Canada and Legislature of Prince Edward's Island. By these various stipulations all privileges of fishery, navigation and transit, accorded to the United States by the treaty of 1854, are once more obtained, and in a better form and without the burdensome condition of that treaty in the matter of reciprocal importations.

—Brigham Young is said to have lost twenty-seven mothers-in-law in five years.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The Land of Vegetable Wonders. The soil of California teems with vegetable phenomena, giant trees, plants, root and herbs unknown elsewhere. From that vast botanic field are culled the ingredients of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, a medicine that is astonishing the world with its cures and throwing all other tonics, alteratives and invigorants into the shade. As its benefits are extended, indigestion, billiousness, intermittent fever, rheumatism, kidney diseases, bowel complaints, and all scrofulous and scorbutic disorders, lose their terrors.

A Daring and Dangerous Ride.

When the yardmen went to examine the condition of the wheels and trucks of the cars in the train that arrived from the east this morning they discovered safely stowed away upon the forward truck of the last car a man covered with dirt. He was quickly hurried out and escorted to the office, where he was questioned as to his presence there and his reasons for being there. He said his name was James Hodge; he had been to Virginia city in search of work, which, not being able to obtain, and having no money, he walked down to Reno and from thence to Truckee. At this point he took a board, and after placing it from the brake block to the iron rod across the truck, he got on this board unobserved, and holding tightly by feet and hands, rode from Truckee to this city—119 miles—in this perilous position, where the giving away of a single nut or screw would have sent him to a horrible death. He was asked if it was not a hard place to ride, and answered that it was, but much easier than walking. Some one remarked that it was a wonder he hadn't smothered to death with the dust, to which he replied that "it was rather dusty for quite a piece," an assertion fully corroborated by his appearance. The officers of the road offered him a pass to San Francisco but he did not wish to go. He has checks for trunks which he left at one of our hotels, and for which he came here. A longer ride in a more difficult or dangerous position, we think, has never yet been made in safety, and because he did arrive all right it is no reason that others should try it, for the chances are more than equal against their making the same ride as well.—Sacramento Record.

The Difference.

The Postoffice Department under the Congress of the old thirteen confederated colonies 1775, consisted of a Postmaster General and a Deputy, who had the superintendence of fifty postoffices and a few hundred miles of post routes. The United States Postoffice Department now embraces nine distinct bureaus, employs three hundred clerks, and directs the working of more than 43,000 mail routes, extending over 224,000 miles. In addition, an Auditor of the Treasury, with nine chiefs of division and one hundred and fifty clerks, inspect and settle the accounts of 7,300 mail contractors and 29,000 postmasters.

Beet Sugar in Wisconsin.

The Racine Advocate gives an account of the beet-sugar establishment at Black Hawk, Sauk County:—"The factory is just completed at a cost of $40,000, and is turning out ten barrels of sugar a day. Two hundred acres of sugar beet were grown last season, yielding from ten to fifteen tons to the acre. It is found that the yield of saccharine matter is from ten to thirteen per cent. in Sauk county, while the average in Illinois is eight per cent. The company will have 500 acres of beets the coming season, from which is counted a produce of 600,000 pounds of sugar.

On a Strike.

The coal miners at Laramie and Rock Spring, Wyoming territory, have been on a strike for several days. They kept some seceders from their strike coralled in one of the mines for three days, and the military had to come to their rescue.

—The Indianapolis Journal says: A Sullivan county man, who heard that the safest way to commit suicide was to shut yourself up and burn charcoal, was found in a ten-acre lot with a charcoal fire near him. Though he had taken the precaution to put up the bars and stop up a crack in the fence with a newspaper, the charcoal went back on him, and he lived.

—Advices from Northern Texas state that large quantities of cotton are awaiting shipment. It is estimated that the number of Texas cattle to be shipped North this season will reach half a million. The company are building extensive cattle yards for the reception of cattle, and have supplied all the necessary facilities for their care.

—The railroad and wagon bridge crossing the Missi-sippi river at Keokuk, is now finished. Its cost is about $1,000,000. The bridge has eleven piers, two abutments, and the longest draw in the world, it being 384 feet in length. In the centre are two spans, 250 feet wide, for the passage of rafts.

—Mrs. Partington says she never received but one synonymous letter in her life, and that spoke paragorically of all her acquantances.

—Miss Elizabeth Stuart Phelps says there is no use quarrelling with a woman, the press, a railroad company or a telegraph.

—The following little nursery-rhyme deserves to be incorporated into "Mother Goose's Melodies:"

"There was a little girl,
And she had a little curl
That hung right down on her forehead;
And when she was good
She was very good, indeed,
But when she was bad, she was horrid."

—"It is very hard to be made game of," as the gentleman observed who was shot by the Cockney sportsman.

—It is said that out of twenty one millions of Italians, seventeen millions are still unable to read or write.

—A lady at Schenectady advertises her fugitive husband, and declares she will pay no more of his debts.

—Von Molike can speak every dialect and language of Europe.

MUSICAL.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY THE ARION PIANO IS Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of tuning, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Evenness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration.

All go to prove what we claim, viz: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE American Conservatories of Music, Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of decline. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals my Piano Knowe to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of pianos still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In fine, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 31, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already a pointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal make; Illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of Instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet seen cause of complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in.☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

FLUID EXTRACT BUCHU,

THE GREAT DIURETIC,

Has cured every case of Diabetes in which it has been given, Irritation of the Neck of the Bladder and Inflammation of the Kidneys, Ulceration of the Kidneys and Bladder, Retention of Urine, Diseases of the Prostrate Gland, Stone in the Bladder, Calculus, Gravel, Brick Dust Deposit and Mucous or Milky Discharges, and for Enfeebled and Delicate Constitutions of Both Sexes, attended with the following symptoms: Indisposition to Exertion, Loss of Power, Loss of Memory, Difficulty of Breathing, Weak Nerves, Trembling, Horror of Disease, Wakefulness, Dimness of Vision, Pain in the Back, Hot Hands, Flushing of the Body, Dryness of the Skin, Eruptions on the Face, Pallid Countenance, Universal Lassitude of the Muscular System, etc.

Used by persons from the ages of eighteen to twenty five, and from thirty five to fifty five or in the decline or change of life; after confinement or labor pains; bed wetting in children.

B

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU is Diuretic and Blood-Purifying, and cures all diseases arising from habits of dissipation, and excesses and imprudences in life, impurities of the blood, etc., superseding copaiba in affections for which it is used, and syphilitic affections—in these diseases used in connection with HELMBOLD'S ROSE WASH.

LADIES.

In many affections peculiar to Ladies, the EXTRACT BUCHU is unequalled by any other Remedy—as in Chlorosis or Retention, Irregularity, Painfulness or Suppression of Customary Evacuations, Ulcerated or Schirrous State of the Uterus, Leucorrœa or Whites, Sterility, and to all complaints incident to the sex, whether arising from indiscretion or habits of dissipation. It is prescribed extensively by the most eminent Physicians and Midwives for enfeebled and delicate constitutions, of both sexes and all ages (attended with any of the above diseases or symptoms).

O

H. T. HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU CURES DISEASES ARISING FROM IMPRUDENCES, HABITS OF DISSIPATION, ETC.

In all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience, and no exposure. It causes a frequent desire, and gives strength to Urinate, thereby removing obstructions, Preventing and Curing Strictures of the Urethra, allaying Pain and Inflammation, so frequent in this class of diseases, and expelling all Poisonous matter.

Thousands who have been the victims of incompetent persons, and who have paid heavy fees to be cured in a short time, have found that they have been deceived, and that the Poison has, by the use of "powerful astringents," been dried up in the system, to break out in a more aggravated form, perhaps after Marriage.

Use HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU for all affections and Diseases of the Urinary Organs whether existing in Male or Female, from whatever cause originating, and no matter of how long standing.

L

HENRY T. HELMBOLD'S IMPROVED ROSE WASH

Can not be surpassed as a FACE WASH, and will be found the only specific Remedy in every species of Cutaneous Affection. It speedily eradicates Pimples, Spots, Scorbutic Dryness Induration of the Cutaneous Membrane, etc., disperses Redness and Incipient Inflammation, Hives, Rash, Moth Patches, Dryness of Scalp or Skin, Foul Eruptions, and for purposes for which Salves or Ointments are used; restores the skin to a healthy state of Purity and Softness, and insures a continued healthy action to the tissue of its vessels, on which depends the agreeable clearness and vivacity of complexion so much sought and admired. But however valuable as a remedy for existing defects of the skin, H. T. Helmbold's Rose Wash has long sustained its principal claim to unbounded patronage, by possessing qualities which render it a Toilet Appendage of the most superlative and Congenial character, combining in an elegant formula those prominent requisites, Safety and Efficacy—the invariable accompaniment of its use—as a Preservative and Refresher of the Complexion. It is an excellent lotion for diseases of a Syphilitic Nature, and as an injection for diseases of the Urinary Organs, arising from habits of dissipation, used in connection with the the EXTRACTS BUCHU, SARSAPARILLA AND CATAWBA GRAPE PILLS, in such diseases as recommended can not be surpassed.

Full and explicit directions accompany the medicines.

Evidence of the most responsible and reliable character furnished on application, with hundreds of thousands of living witnesses, and upwards of 30,000 unsolicited certificates and recommendatory letters, many of which are from the highest sources, including eminent Physicians, Clergymen, etc. The proprietor has never resorted to their publication in the newspapers; he does not do this from the fact that his articles rank as Standard Preparations, and do not need to be propped up by certificates.

Henry T. Helmbold's Genuine Preparations

Delivered to any address. Secure from observation. Established upwards of Twenty Years. Sold by Druggists everywhere. Address letters for information in confidence to HENRY T. HELMBOLD, Druggist and Chemist.

FOR SALE.

OUR DRUG BUSINESS, located in San Francisco, Cal. After our best wishes, and expressing our thanks for the liberal patronage we have received for more than twenty-one years, during which period we have been constantly engaged in the Drug business in California, we beg to say in consequence of the rapid growth of Dr. Walker's Cal. Vinegar Bitters, now spread over the United States and country near beyond, we are necessitated to devote our entire time to said business.

We are the Oldest Drug Firm on the Pacific Coast and the only one continuous under the same proprietors since 1849, and have determined to sell our large, prosperous, and well established business on favorable terms.

This is a rare opportunity for men with means, desiring to enter into a profitable business with advantages never before offered.

The Great Medical Discovery!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid Liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the combined virtues of all the best cathartics, being a perfect Cathartic for all the purposes for which a cathartic is required.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

Newspapers—What it Costs to Keep Them up.

[Cincinnati Time's New York Letter.]

Few persons outside of the newspaper offices and few inside, indeed, have any idea of the force employed and the amount of money required to conduct a first class journal in New York city.

The Herald has had for years the largest number of editors, reporters and correspondents of any daily in the city, and on the whole makes the poorest use of them. The entire staff of the Herald reaches, it is said, over two hundred men, whose salaries average $25 a week. The entire expenses of establishment are estimated at $15,000 a week on an average—sometimes running much higher, sometimes materially lower. The expenses of the Tribune are ranked next. Its editors, reporters and correspondents number about one hundred and fifty, and their rate of compensation is much higher than on the Herald. The Tribune's weekly expenses are about $10,000.

The Americans as a people, have the reputation, not only at home, but abroad, of possessing a liberal share of common sense, especially in matters of a practical kind. An exception to this seems to be their mania for starting newspapers, which is almost a monomania. Every day or two some new journal springs up in one of our cities or towns which, the originator feels confident will make a fortune for him, and become an authority in the land. It struggles along for a little while, and dies without making the smallest echo anywhere. Its example teaches nothing however. Other men who believe themselves born journalists are just as willing to waste their money and talents—if they have any, certainly their time—in the same hopeless manner as their unfortunate predecessors. As an instance, The Paper, a modest title, was set up in Pittsburg not long since, as a Democratic organ, with a grand flourish of trumpets: and after three months of energetic horn-blowing, it perished with a dead loss, as is stated, of $90,000. Few persons but would regard $30,000 a month as a high price for the satisfaction of trying. It would be cheap, however, if it might prevent other deluded mortals from committing a similar folly, though it won't of course. Those who have made a study of the subject, say that no one newspaper out of twenty ever survives its first year, and not one out of forty ever makes anything, which certainly is not encouraging. If men have money they had better invest it in almost anything rather than a newspaper enterprise. So far as the prospect of getting returns from it goes, they would be as wise as if they had bought Erie stock in hope of obtaining dividends. "A fool and his money are soon parted," is never quite as true as when the fool has an ambition to be a journalist.

The Senate and the Treaty.

It now appears that the Treaty of Washington will not have the easy sailing through the Senate to ratification that was anticipated. In a mild but firm temper men like Sumner and Trumbull are urging their objections, and amendments are likely to be offered and insisted on, which will more clearly define certain classes of British claims. In the Canadian Parliament there will also be earnest efforts made to have the treaty amended. The Canadians and Nova Scotians are not satisfied with the fisheries part of the settlement. They think, and with much apparent justice, that their local interests have been compromised in favor of Englishmen. It is expected that the debate on the treaty will occupy the Senate for three weeks or a month. Meanwhile the newspaper press will have much to say on the subject and much to do in shaping public opinion. The treaty in full text can't reach this coast till the latter part of this week. It is understood from what has been already given out, that the bill of damages against England for the destruction of our ships and commerce by the Alabama, Florida, Georgia and other Anglo-rebel cruisers, will foot up about $12 830,000; whereof about five and a half millions are credited to the account of the Alabama alone.—Daily Union, May 15th.

Columbus District.

Mr. James Poor, Superintendent of Col. Young's quartz mill at Columbus District, gives us a very favorable account of the condition of affairs in that section. The ores of Columbus are rich, but very rebellious, averaging $125 per ton. The mill under Mr. Poor's charge, works but three tons per day, and charges $55 per ton for reducing, working up to 80 per cent. of a fire assay. Water is very scarce and wood high, costing from $14 to $16 per cord. Railway communication is by way of Wadsworth; distant 160 miles. A narrow-guage from Reno would command a large and growing trade, and with other facilities that could easily be furnished, make the working of $50 ore, of which there is an unlimited supply, a profitable business. It is to be hoped that the day is not far distant, when capitalists will see that legitimate enterprise is as safe and in the long run more profitable than stock gambling.—Reno Cresent

An Eighty Thousand Dollar Catalogue.

[From The Printer's Circular.]

The extensive application of printing to business purposes is one of the developments of modern times which has led alike to an immense increase in the number of newspaper advertisements and to the rapid growth of many forms of job printing. Of late years a strong tendency has also been displayed to beautify and adorn some classes of the products of the printer's skill. While there is still an immense demand for cheap work, rushed through on time, without regard to appearance, many sagacious business men now understand that one beautiful and attractive card, circular, poster, pamphlet, price list, or book, may be practically more useful than a hundred copies of an inferior job containing similar matter, on account of the inevitable tendency of the latter to fail utterly, through its inferior appearance, to make the desired impression upon the classes whose patronage is sought. In accordance with this philosophy, some of the finest letter-press printing of the present day is not devoted to literary works, or to the adornment of private libraries and parlors, but executed for strict business purposes—to be sent to counting-rooms, to be scattered broadcast as circulars, to be placed wherever it will be most likely to attract the attention of the general reader, or those whom it concern.

One of the latest and most striking illustrations of this peculiarity of the age and its influence upon printing, is the illustrated catalogue of the lock, key, and latch factory of Messrs. Mallory, Wheeler & Co., of New Haven, printed by Wm. C. Hutchings, of Hartford, a copy which may be seen at the store of Heaton & Denckla, Philadelphia. An idea of the value of the book may be formed from the fact that an edition of 2,000 copies cost nearly $80,000, or nearly $40 per volume; and the materials and workmanship are of such a character that fair trade value has been rendered for the whole cost. The book contains 290 pages, their dimensions being about 18 by 14 inches. The paper is about the thickness of two-ply Bristol board, and cost twenty-seven and a half cents per pound. The binding is of rich crimson Russia leather, costing $7 per volume. The engraving of representations of hundreds of locks, bolts, keys, door knobs, etc., cost $10,000. The task of the printer was to represent, with literal accuracy, the size, color, and appearance of each of the varied articles, as well as to briefly describe, or at least enumerate them, in the text, and to indicate their cost. This task was executed with great skill and fidelity, various shades of gold and red bronze, as well as twenty pounds of pure silver bronze, and various colored inks, being employed. The compositor has displayed good taste in avoiding the use of many varieties of job type—nearly the whole book being set in various sizes of an appropriate and attractive light-faced letter; but the pages are well arranged, and the contrast of colors afforded by the representations of the locks etc., is amply sufficient to give a very pleasing and striking effect.

The work is highly creditable to all engaged in it; but one of the questions American readers will be most likely to ask is, Will it pay? Can a private business establishment prudently invest $80,000 in a trade catalogue? From what we learn, there is but little doubt that an affirmative answer may be given to this pertinent question in the present instance. The excellence of the book itself renders it one of the best of advertisements; but, aside from this consideration, the facilities it offers to hardware and lock dealers in examining and selling the goods embraced in the catalogue will naturally lead to an extension of trade that will soon make a handsome return for the sum invested in the book; samples of the goods represented would cost $1,000, and occupy so much space it would be almost impossible to show them, and all difficulties arising from this cause are obviated in the catalogue; so that printer's ink, in the form in which it is used here, will probably insure as rich a harvest as was ever gleaned from extensive newspaper advertising.

Democratic Apportionment.

The following is the apportionment of delegates to the Democratic State Convention, on the basis of one delegate from each county, one for each 200 votes for Seymour and Blair at the last Presidential election, and one for each fraction of 200 votes in excess of 100:

Alameda, 7; Alpine, 1; Amador, 7; Butte, 7; Calaveras, 6; Colusa, 4; Contra Costa, 2; Del Norte, 2; El Dorado, 9; Fresno, 3; Humboldt, 4; Inyo, 2; Kern, 3; Klamath, 2; Lake 3; Lassen, 2; Los Angeles, 7; Marin 3; Mariposa, 4; Mendocino, 9; Merced, 2; Mono, 1; Monterey, 4; Napa, 4; Nevada, 13; Placer, 7; Plumas, 4; Sacramento, 12; San Bernardino, 3; San Diego, 2; San Francisco, 69; San Joaquin, 10; San Luis Obispo, 3; San Mateo, 3; Santa Barbara, 3; Santa Clara, 13; Santa Cruz, 5; Shasta, 4; Sierra, 5; Siskiyou, 6; Solano, 8; Sonoma 13; Stanislaus, 4; Sutter, 4; Tehama, 3; Trinity, 3; Tulare, 4; Tuolumne, 7; Yolo, 6; Yuba, 7; total, 319.

NATURALIZATION LAWS.

It has generally been understood, heretofore, that the County Courts of this State had no power of issuing naturalization papers. This belief seems to have been based on the decision in the case of "Ex parte-Frank Knowles," reported in 5th Cal. Reports, page 300, in which the Court said: "The Legislature of California has, by express enactment, conferred jurisdiction on the District Courts of this State to grant naturalizations according to the rules of Congress; all other Courts of this State being Courts of inferior and limited powers, and although some are Courts of record, yet having only statutory and not common jurisdiction they have no power to grant naturalizations."

That the belief alluded to is not correct will be seen from the following decision of the Supreme Court of this State: "The several County Courts of this State have common law jurisdiction within the meaning of the act of Congress of April 14th, 1802, establishing a uniform rule of naturalization 'The County Courts have the power to admit foreigners to all the rights of citizenship, and to issue papers of naturalization.'" (Page 98, 39th Cal. Rep.)

This, we should think, would settle the question, so that hereafter foreigners desiring to become citizens will only have to make their applications before the County Court.

CANDIDATES FOR STATE CONTROLLER

We are indebted for a visit from Mr. J. S. Mooney, ex-Legislator and an old resident of Mono County. Mr. Mooney is an aspirant for nomination on the Democraaic ticket for State Controller, and is well deserving of the position. Mr. Paul W. Bennett, of this county, is looking for the nomination for the same position at the hands of the Republicans. Mr. Bennett is as well qualified for the position as any man in the State, and has a fair show of success. We heartily wish that both of these gentlemen may get the nomination by their respective parties, and give this side of the mountains a representation on the State tickets We shall next week endeavor to more fully set forth our claims in this matter.

Another Pacific Railroad.

It is believed to be a settled fact that we are to have another railroad "the plains across," in addition to the three now in operation or course of construction. The new road is to be an extention of the California Pacific (Vallejo) road to connect at Ogden with the Union Pacific. This will cut out the Central by affording the Union an independent through connection from ocean to ocean. The proposed route begins at Davisville, 12 miles west of Sacramento, thence through Beckwourth's Pass via. Goose and Christmas Lakes through southern Idaho and up Snake River valley to the Ogden junction. The engineering difficulties, we have reason to know, are great but a large portion of the route runs through a country that will rank, for farming grazing and timber, with the very best on the coast, and is cabable of supporting a very great number of people.

L. H.'s Communication.

We have not space to notice the several points in L. H.'s communication this time; it will be seen, however, that they consist mainly of the same points raised by the same writer in former articles, and to answer them would in some degree require a rehash of what we have already had to say on the subject. We are perfectly willing to admit the great disadvantage that married women often labor under in having, in too many cases, to ask as a favor for money and necessaries, when in law and justice they are fully entitled to them on demand. But we scarcely see how legislation is to effect any material change in human nature, for human nature and accidental circumstances are wholly responsible for the unfortunate truth contained in that complaint.

Free Schools in Nevada.

The free school idea is making encouraging progress in the city of Virginia, Nevada. A special tax of $2,000 was voted in support of them at the late city election.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION, ETC.

One week from next Monday the electors of Independence school district will be called upon to decide a question of more than ordinary importance to the future of this place—that is, whether it is a possible thing to get money, by means of a tax, pro rata, sufficient to maintain a public school. Various objections have been and will be urged against this tax, but we believe, if the matter is viewed in its true bearing, all opposition must cease. The future prosperity of this town depends in a far greater degree upon the result of this vote than, at first sight, might be supposed. Independent of the high moral obligation under which every American citizen is placed to assist in the education of the young, there is a pecuniary interst involved, outside the tax itself. It must be obvious to every thinking man, who will consider the matter for a moment, that for such a comparatively small sum no better investment can be made if the good of the community is alone considered. If this tax is voted down at this time, there is scarcely a chance for a school in this place for years to come—perhaps not at all. The State school money accredited to the limited number of children in this district is wholly insufficient for the purpose—hence the proposed tax. If that fails we can expect no addition to the number by immigration, for no man with children to educate would for a moment think of settling in a community that will not try to maintain a school. If otherwise disposed to purchase a home among us, that certainty alone would with all such men lessen its value at least one half, if they wou'd buy at any price in the midst of such an apparent niggardly public spirit. If any resident has property he wishes to sell this tax then is essential, in all probability, to the accomplishment of his desire, and in any case he can take no more certain method to defeat that object than in refusing this tax.

It is fair to suppose that all or nearly all of our residents look upon this pretty little town as their place of abode for years to come at least, and must wish it to keep pace with its neighbors, or in accordance with the unlimited resources from its surroundings. If it does not it is our own fau't. If we give no better proof of enterprise and sense of our true interest than in the defeat of this movement—if we sink this in the cold grave of other virtually defeated public enterprises, our highest aspirations need not go above a cross-roads village. We will rank as a community willing to take all the country offers and give nothing in return, because our interest is not supposed to extend a day beyond the time when we shall have made enough out of it to enable us to go elsewhere. No stirring business man wou'd desire to make permanent investments in a place where residents showed by their works so little care or faith in its future.

Instead of a desired increase in business and population we will have directly opposite results unless we make some show of a proper public spirit. This school question is not one that affects the welfare of a few children alone, but is a matter of interest to every property holder in the place as well. It is better a teacher shou'd be paid to preside over a beggarly account of empty benches than no semblance of a school at all. A few years hence a high school will be a necessity at some point in this sage brush land. The population will soon be, if it is not now, amply sufficient to sustain such an institution, and once established the material benefits that will accrue from it to the town in which it is located will be of very great importance. However advantageous it otherwise may be, neither public nor private enterprise would ever think of locating such an institution in a place where a common school cannot exist.

The objection has often been raised that no school can be kept up here for the reason that scholars will be withdrawn by parents if it is not conducted exactly in accordance with their individual notions of propriety. We do not accept this as a true bill at all, but if so, the fact should have no weight whatever in this election. When a school is sustained by a limited number of subscribers it may be in the power of any one of them to break it up by withdrawing his children and subscription; but no such contingency is possible where a school is maintained by public money. It is not subject to the caprice of any child or parent and if any child should be withdrawn because of objections to proper discipline, it can only be to the advantage of those remaining. Such discipline is an absolute necessity, when confined to proper limits, and must be maintained in every school.

If for want of opportunities at home parents are obliged to send children to a distant school to be educated, the cost does not fall upon the parents a'one; it falls upon the community in part by the withdrawel of that much of its working capital that should be circulated at home. Besides, the cost of thus educating a half dozen children for a given length of time, would perhaps be amply sufficient to support a common school at home for twice the length of time and for all that chose to attend. Nearly every dollar of the sum expended in carrying on a school here would find its way back to the pockets of the taxpayer and in nearly the same ratio. The proposed tax may be somewhat onerous, but it shou'd be borne in mind that it is not lost to the community; it does not go into the State or United States Treasury, but mainly back whence it came. To give this matter nothing higher than a mere business view, we believe it to be to the pecuniary interest of every business man in the place to support this proposition. The fact of having no direct personal interest in the cause of education, to take that view of the case, has nothing in it whatever to justify opposition. The defeat of the proposition added to the cold reception and probable fate of other public enterprises, will do more to lessen the chances of the future enlargement and consequent prosperity of this place than any question that is likely ever to come before us.

FRENCH NEWS.

At the request of McMahon, the Germans will assist the Versailles troops in making a decisive attack from the east, on the Paris Communes. The Germans are bridging the Seine for that purpose. Great preparations are being made to carry the city by storm, and but little doubt is entertained of success, though the Communes say they will utterly destroy the city before they yield Judging from the unmitigated vandalism they have already displayed it is quite possible the threat will be carried out.

Women in large numbers are parading the streets of Paris, armed and organized by proclamation of the insurgent leaders. The duty of these Amazons is to arrest and imprison cowardly men. Nothing could more graphically illustrate the frightful condition of the city than the arming of these terrible women. It shows the desperation of the Red leaders in their strife for power.

The magnificent column that stood, surmounted by the Emperor's statue, in the Place Verdome has been thrown down and the locality renamed. The column splintered into fragments when it fell, and the attending excitement was never equaled outside of a Paris mob.

The Eighteenth Fair.

We are in receipt of a pamphlet containing the list of premiums to be distributed by the California State Agricultural Society at the Fair which is to open at Sacramento on the 18th and close on the 23d of September next. The sum to be distributed in premiums amounts to $20,600. The list is intended to cover every namable article of artificial or natural production. It is to be hoped Inyo County may find a representation in some of her minerals, fossils, fire clay, grain, fruit, specimens of mechanical skill—in some or all of these things sufficient to prove that we possess something more than a geographical position on the State map. The railroad and navigation companies will transport all articles for exhibition free of cost over their respective routes.

Volume Eighty-two.

That universal favorite magazine of the ladies, Godey's, has just completed with the June number, its eighty-second volume, having continued under its present management for forty-one years. Like wine, the greater the age the more bright and sparkling. The May number did not reach us, from some cause.

Mrs. Gaines.

Mrs Gaines, having been placed in possession of the Orleans Draining Machine, must feel very much like the individual who was so unfortunate as to win an elephant in a lottery. The city has withdrawn its forces from the machine, and when the next great rain storm comes and floods that portion of the city formerly drained by the machine in question. The New Orleans Times says it will be a picture to see the indefatigable little lady, sitting on the great wheel of her draining elephant, looking out with her lustrious eyes upon the inundated district around her, and calmly reflecting on the amount she can force the city to pay her for the privilege of keeping the water away from the doorsteps of a portion of its citizens.

—It was a very Hard-shell Baptist of Tennessee who suggested, when he heard of the reformation of an ungodly neighbor, that no common baptism would do for that man; the only sure way would be to tie a grindstone to his feet, and "anchor him over night in the middle of the river."

The British House of Lords has postponed the consideration of the Treaty of Washington to June 12th. The Legislature of New Brunswick has decided against the Treaty, so far as it affects the Canada fisheries.

Dr. Trask has commenced suit against Laura D. Fair, to recover the sum of $2,100 for medical services The transposition of a single letter in his colleague's (Dr. Lyford's) name would probably indicate how the claim originated—he Ly(d)for it.

The California Supreme Court has decided the Subsidy act constitutional. A mandamus has been issued against the officers of the City of Stockton, commanding them to issue bonds to the Stockton and Visalia railroad company, to the amount of $300,000. Stanford & Co., claim that this decision will be worth $50,000,000 to the State of California. Before receiving the $50,000,000, however, the people will first be required to advance the delicate little amount of $500,000,000.

The latest news from Mexico renders it quite certain that revolution will ensue at the impending Presidential election.

Two Tribune reporters are, by order of the United States Senate, in durance vile for refusing to tell from whom they received the advance copy of the Washington Treaty that appeared in The Tribune. The matter is being fully investigated by the Senate, but it is not ikely the guilty party will be discovered.

Some St. Louis capitalists are going to erect smelting works in that city, for the treatment of Colorado gold and silver ores. The works are to be very complete and will cost $1,000,000.

The Kern County Courier says that notwithstanding reports to the contrary, the crop prospects in that county were never better than they are the present season; this is owing to the fact that farmers there, as in this county, depend wholly upon irrigation.

THE PLAIN ISSUE.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

MESSRS. EDITORS: My opponent has made his statement squarely from the masculine view of woman's inferiority and incapacity to do ought or to be interested in the most vital subjects of individual or national welfare. He says: "The distinctions of law between the sexes are founded in reason, and are intended to promote the best interests of society." They may be founded in reason, but not always in justice, and whatever their intentions are they do not tend to promote the best interest of society, but work innumerable wrongs to the interests and happiness of women, which can only be righted by laws and public sentiment which they must make and create. That women are taxed without representation is a fact, and it matters not whether it be on her person or property, it is, alike, tyranny.

Whatever is a woman's duty she should not be exempt from doing; nor should she be debarred from using every faculty she possesses. Her sense of justice eminently fits her to sit on a jury, and no women tried before a jury of men has a jury of her peers; this they shou'd have the right to demand, although there are superficial minds that think women are less just than men, but this is only true of those whose aim and ambition rises no higher than gaining masculine admiration.

Women have the faculty of governing equally well with men, as any well regulated household or school will testify, and they need the exercise of this faculty, perhaps more than any other at this time, to give them that self-command and dignity fitting them to sit in counsels of law or State, or to properly preside over assemblies and carry on debate with decorum.

But there are many who are ever opposed to changes, and can only see anarchy and confusion in whatever tends to disturb old landmarks and time-honored customs; but onward rolls the car of progress, but little impeded by those who are trying to stop its revolving wheels.

A married woman is not allowed the equal privileges of a male partner in her husband's business, for herein they both may buy and sell, etc., and the firm would be very soon dissolved if one alone shou'd arrogate to himself "all the say." "Sauce for the goose, sauce for the gander" is an old adage which is to be demonstrated at this late day in a way that will shake social and political institutions to their foundations, and it is well to be prepared for its deepest issues. That woman is dependent who has no purse of her own and has to ask to buy herself a bonnet or dress, no matter how willing her husband may be to grant her request, that which no man would consent to have reversed, even though the wife earned all the money. Men are wofully mistaken if they think women do not covet ownership of property besides her wardrobe, and to accept the responsibilities of trade. The false idea that these things tend to make women masculine is about like saying that a chi'd had better creep than walk, as women are told it is better to have men support them and carry their burdens for them, instead of making them use their own powers and unfold their own strength of body and mind.

If so be we are to take our lessons of right from the animal kingdom, then the strongest shou'd rule, and reason and justice in man stand for nought, and progress be impossible.

It is time enough to judge of effects when the experiment has been tried, but all reform movements are first condemned and ridiculed before they can even get a fair hearing, and are rarely accepted till the next generation.

What is now being demanded, and of right ought to be established, is woman's equality with man in the marriage contract, in social virtue with equal penalties for both, with the same rights of citizenship and of helping to rule and regulate the home, the church and the state. L. H.

LEAD POISONING.

Dr. S. A. McMeans publishes a communication in The White Pine News, accompanied by a recipe for "leading." The Nevada papers are doing well in exchanging information on the subject. Will some of our well-experienced physicians give us some of their observations of this fearful malady, with their mode of treatment? The Doctor says:

For the benefit of persons engaged as laborers in the lead mines of Nevada, I beg to present you with a copy of a recipe for making "Sulphuric Lemonade," the free use of which will most effectually prevent poisoning from lead in almost every instance. As a medical man, I do not hesitate to advise the free use of it by men who work about furnaces and in the carbonate of lead mines.

Recipe: Molasses, 16 pounds; bruised ginger, ½ pound; water 12 gallons; baker's yeast, 1 quart; bicarbonate of soda, 1½ ounces; sulphuric acid (by weight) 1½ ounces. Boil the ginger in two gallons of water, and then add the remainder of the water and molasses hot. When nearly cold transfer the whole to a cask and add the yeast, to cause fermentation. When this has nearly ceased, add the sulphuric acid, diluted with eight times its quantity of water. Close the cask, and in three or four days it will be ready for use. Careful ablutions in water, containing a small quantity of sulphuric acid, will greatly add to the efficacy of the remedy, or rather preventative. A general warm bath in which a little of the acid is incorporated, taken twice a week will do much good. The cost of the experiment, when contrasted with the loss of time, health, and sometimes life, caused by the pernicious consequences of exposure to the fumes of a furnace, or dust from the carbonate mines, is comparatively nothing.

Mrs Fair's Bill of Exceptions.

Mrs. Fair's counsel filed the following bill of exceptions May 19th. The document reads as follows:

That the jury received evidence on of Court other than that resulting from a view, as provided by law; that the jury separated without leave of the Court, and that they were guilty of misconduct tending to prevent a fair and due consideration of the case; that the verdict was decided by means other than a fair expression of opinion on the part of the jurors; that the Court misdirected the jury in matters of law and in its instructions and charges; that it erred in refusing to give the instructions asked on the part of the defendant; that the Court erred on questions of law, which arose upon and during the course of the trial; that the verdict is contrary to law and evidence; that the minds of the jury were prejudiced and biased against defendant by means of the fine of $250 imposed upon her in their presence and hearing; that there is newly-discovered evidence material to the defendant, and which she could not with reasonable diligence have discovered and produced at the trial; that some of said jurors had expressed an unqualified opinion as to the guilt of defendant, which was unknown to defendant at the time they were sworn and accepted on said trial. The new evidence is set forth in the affidavit of Mrs. Mary G. Smith, who swears that previous to Mrs. Fair's making the acquaintance of Crittenden, her character was good, and details the circumstances of her carrying a letter from Crittenden to Mrs. Fair.

Arkansas.

The census of Arkansas is an interesting exhibit. In 1860, the population of that State was 435,450, and in 1870 483,189 or but little more than that of St. Louis and her two or three adjoining counties. The increase during the last decade was about ten per cent., and this in the face of the fact that for ten years previous to the war not a State in the Union increased in population more rapidly than Arkansas. The terrible calamities that the civil conflict entailed upon the State are the only explanation necessary to account for the slow rate of increase during the past ten years.

Mount Diablo.

The Solano Republican is authority for the subjoined:

Theodore H. Hittel, author of Hittel's Digest, has located 160 acres of land on the summit of Mount Diablo and intends erecting an observatory for the accommodation of viewists. Woodward is intending to build a hotel on Deer Flat—on the side of the mountain—for the accommodation of tourists.

—The Madison, Wis., Journal says: "A man residing in Pierce county ate seventeen hard-boiled eggs, thereby winning a wager of $2 50. That amount deducted from his doctor's bill of $37, still leaves him in arrears $34 50."

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Don't despair because you have a weak constitution. The vitalizing principle embodied in Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters will assuredly strengthen it. In every drop of that combination of vegetable curatives, there is a stimulating, a regenerating, a regulating power unequaled in the whole range of proprietary and officinal remedies. It is to the inert physique what steam and oil are to the locomotive engine. Yet it contains no fiery excitant, nothing but the juices of rare medicinal herbs and roots, intended by the Great Physician for "the healing of the Nations."

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS

A CARD.

For Representative.

MESSRS. EDITOR: THE NEAR APPROACH of election causes some interest to be manifested in the selection of candidates for the ensuing session of the Legislature, as much important business is likely to come before that body. This county being jointly represented with Mono and Tuolumne, I suggest that so far as Inyo County is concerned that some one should be elected in whose integrity and ability the people may justly repose confidence as the guardian of their interests, and to fully represent their wants as well as those of the State at large. Without wishing to cast any reflection on either of the gentlemen whose names have been spoken of for that position, I respectfully suggest the name of D. B. Curtiss as one in whom the utmost confidence can be placed, as a gentleman of integrity and legislative ability, possessing every quality essential for a discreet and judicious Legislator, and a lively interest in the welfare of his constituents and the prosperity of the State at large. Mr. Curtiss was a Member of the Assembly from the county of Placer at the session of 1858, and discharged his duties as such with signal fidelity, meriting and receiving the gratitude of his constituents as a faithful and trustworthy public servant. Mr Curtiss has ever been a firm and reliable Democrat, having stood firmly by his party in victory or defeat, condemning wrong whenever it existed and applauding that which is good. Mr. Curtiss came to this valley in 1868, and has since been engaged in the business of farming, and his interests are closely identified with the prosperity of the county. While there may be other candidates equally as good, no better can be chosen. SYPHAX.

HOLLOW GLOBE,

—OR THE—

World's Agitator and Reconciler.

Just Published at The Religio Philosophical Journal office,

A New and Remarkable Book.

THIS BOOK CONTAINS 447 PAGES OF ORIGINAL matter, divided into 13 chapters, treating upon the physical conformation of the earth and kindred subjects. It proves conclusively that the globe cannot be solid, neither is it a thin, frail crust filled with molten lava or raging fires, but a beautiful spherical shell, formed upon mechanical principles, with an interior habitable surface as well as one that is exterior; that it is built in the most economical manner, only containing sufficient material to ensure the required strength. It shows the necessity of more territory than exists upon the outside, and that there must be a spacious accessible gateway within the unexplored open Polar Circle between the two surfaces. The work treats upon the nature of human events, showing that each one is prophetic of its successor, and that all of the past have been required to render the future more astounding developments of history possible. It treats upon the Open Polar Sea and its causes; the phenomena of Volcanoes and Earthquakes; also, Gravitation, proving that there can be no reciprocal attraction of that character between the heavenly bodies. The chapter upon the Nebulous or Igneous theory must eradicate every vestige of that absurd conception from the minds of thinking men. The one upon Spiritual and Material Forces gives a clear and comprehensive idea of that department of nature, while another presents the natural method of building worlds and still another treats upon inherent powers and progressive development. The final chapter on human vision is simply worth the price of the book. The work must be read to be appreciated.

SHERIFF'S SALE.

BY VIRTUE OF AN EXECUTION ISSUED OUT of the Justice's Court of the Third Township, County of Inyo, State of California, in the suit of Danert & Stewart against John Collister, duly attested the 10th day of May, A. D. 1871, I have levied upon the following described Real Estate, to-wit:

Lot No. 7, Block No. 9, in the Town of Lone Pine, County of Inyo, State of California, said lot having a front on Washington street of fifty feet, and extending back between parallel lines one hundred feet. Also, all the tenements and improvements thereon.

Notice is hereby given that on MONDAY, THE NINETEENTH DAY OF JUNE, A. D. 1871, at 2 o'clock P. M., in front of the Court House, County of Inyo, I will sell the above described property to the highest bidder for bidders for Cash, United States gold coin.

Exciting Affray.

Day before yesterday morning a party of perhaps a dozen citizens of Lone Pine started out in pursuit of some horse thieves who were endeavoring to escape with animals stolen from Los Angeles. Late in the evening they came upon a couple of men at a point on Georges Creek, up towards the mountains from the road. In response to a demand to surrender they commenced shooting, the fire being returned by the pursuing party. Some eight or ten shots were fired, when one of the men was seen to fall and abandon his horse. The animal, with saddle and bridle, was taken, and is known to have been stolen. But no traces of the man could be found, and he is now doubtless, hid away in the rocks. We did not learn the names of the entire party, but hear that it was headed by Mr. C. Mulkey, of Lone Pine, who has ever been indefatigable in his efforts to capture the numerous offenders of this character. Imperfect as is our report of the affair, enough is known to make it certain that that gentleman and party are deserving of the thanks of the entire community for their present successful effort to make this climate unhealthy as a rendezvous for fleeing criminals.

A Large Establishment.

We paid a prospecting visit to the store of Messrs. J. S. Rothschild & Co., a day or two since, in search of items. We were taken in charge by the handsome junior of that concern, and engineered throughout the establishment. From the well known store room above we passed down to a lower level, where the piles of merchandise is astonishing. The whole arrangement and supplies will compare favorably with the store rooms of the heaviest houses elsewhere. Not finding anything else portable enough to carry, we dexterously gobbled up a box of cigars. Our sentor has since laid aside his villainous old pipe.

Horse Stealing Again.

On Sunday night last there were stolen from Greenley's camp on the river two horses—a bay and a gray—with a six-shooter and a watch. Our officers did not receive a warrant for the arrest of the thief nor hear of the transaction until Tuesday night, when the man had nearly reached Los Angeles. He is known and may yet be captured, as a description of himself and the stolen property has been forwarded to the officers of the counties south of us, in which direction he has traveled. It is barely possible that some horse thief may be caught around here sometime, when the probabilities are that he wouldn't be any account for such purposes in the future.

Stolen Horses.

Sheriff Elder has received the description of a band of twelve horses, and the party with them, the property having been stolen from Los Angeles. They were at Lone Pine for two or three days trying to dispose of them, but suddenly slipped out, and probably came northward on the west side of the Alabama range. The impunity with which thieves ply their vocation in this county well illustrates how perfect are our mail and telegraph facilities.

Installation of Officers.

At their regular meeting held Saturday evening, May 20thf Oasis Lodge No. 352 I. O. G. T., at Bishop Creek, regularly installed the following named officers: W. C. T., George M. Clark; W. V. T., Mrs. Milton Clark; W. R. H. S., Miss Alice Clark; W. L. H. S., Seymour Ensign; W. M., Wm. Clark; W. C., Alex. McCloy; W. T., Thos. Clark. This Lodge has been flourishing for two years, and, we judge, merits the support accorded it.

Not a Candidate.

We are authorized to announce that Mr. W. L. Hunter, of Cerro Gordo, has determined not to be a candidate for Sheriff, by reason of being compelled to return to his old home in the State of Virginia, as he does not wish to assume the responsibilities of the office without being able to devote his personal attention to the duties. Many Democrats will sincerely regret that he is not a candidate.

Bullion Shipment.

On the 17th instant there were shipped by Wells, Fargo & Co. 48 ounces of gold bullion, from the arrastras at Fish Springs, of the value of $775. Also, on the 21st instant, 80 ounces, worth $1,360. The mines of that district never looked better, and both of the works there will probably be kept constantly running on a much improved quality of ore.

New Store.

Mr. J. W. McMurry, a well known resident of Fish Springs, started below last week for the purpose of purchasing a stock of general merchandise, with which to establish a store at that place. The opening is a good one, and the store will prove a great accommodation for those residing in the vicinity.

The Engine Company.

The time for the regular monthly meeting of Independence Engine Company rolls around again week from next Monday and we presume the citizen's committee on canvassing will then be ready to report. The event is looked forward to with much interest by the members of the company.

Cattle Sold.

Mr. L. Bass, a well known Virginian and Nevada cattle man, a day or two since purchased some four or five hundred head of cattle from stock men in the valley. He intends removing them to the plains of the Humboldt country, Nevada.

Sheep.

We hear that an immense drove of sheep is being driven to this valley, from Los Angeles County. There are such vast numbers that there is danger of them seriously interfering with the ranges, and perhaps our ranchers and stock men would do well to investigate the matter.

Wake Up.

The active movements of the political parties consequent upon the approaching election seems to be confined to the Democrats. It is our opinion that the Republicans had better wake up.

Shot.

It was reported upon the street yesterday that John Sellers, formerly a well known resident of Bishop Creek, was shot in an affray at Columbus, Nevada. We did not learn further particulars.

Proceedings of the Democratic County Central Committee.

The Democratic County Central Committee met at Independence May 25, in pursuance to call, and transacted the following business:

A. N. Bell and J. W. McMurry were appointed to act as delegates at the ensuing Democratic State and Congressional Conventions.

John A. Lank, A. N. Bell and J. W. McMurry were appointed to act as delegates the ensuing Senatorial Convention, to be held in Tuolumne County.

The following was unanimously adopted:

Resolved—That in the opinion of the Democratic Central Committee, Henry H. Haight is the unanimous choice of the Democracy of Inyo for Governer.

Previous to adjournment the Committee agreed to meet on Monday, June 12th, when the apportionment of delegates from the several districts for the County Convention will be made. The day for holding the primary elections and the County Convention will then be appointed.

A full attendance of the Committee is earnestly requested.

S. P. MOFFAT, Chairman.
HENRY M. ISAACS, Secretary.

Water.

From reports it seems evident that water has become considerable of an object in Cerro Gordo, the supply expected by the pipes not yet being in. Arrangements are made, however, for the running of both the furnaces, but at a very great cost. Six hundred gallons are packed five miles up the mountain each day to supply that of Mr. Beaudry at an expense of $30. The water for Belshaw's works comes from the end of the pipes of the Cerro Gordo Water Company, distance four or five miles, while the article is supplied to the eight or ten hundred people in and around camp at 10 cents per gallon. Altogether, about 1,500 are consumed per day. A company with $50,000 to put water into Cerro Gordo would realize enormous profit on their investment from the very start, and the population of that place would increase ten fold.

The New Road.

About one mile of the new road which is being built across the sand from Swansea to the foot-hills is now completed, and good progress is being made with the work. To appreciate the importance of this road it is only necessary to have traveled over the ground once or twice.

Running.

The Kearsarge Mill is now running, with every appliance which science and capital can command to make success doubly sure. We intend giving a detailed report shortly of the new works and operations.

Announcement.

Mr. D. B. Curtiss officially announces that he will be a candidate for the Assembly, subject to nomination by the Democrats. The gentleman would make a good Representative.

For Sheriff.

Mr. P. Harrington, of Cerro Gordo, this week, announces that he will be a candidate for Sheriff. "Eph" is too well known to need anything from us but the calling of attention to the fact that he is a candidate.

Discharged.

Richard Sides has been discharged from arrest for the shooting of Marco, at an examination held before Justice Russel, of Bishop Creek.

How Missouri Women are Swindled.

Some time ago a woman of specious appearance, and representing herself to be all sorts of things, but principally a doctress from an eastern town, visited Kansas City, and calling upon a number of ladies, induced them to subscribe $5 for some lotion or cosmetic, or what not, which, in the opinion of our good ladies, seemed to be a good thing. The adventuress, or whatever you may call her, took some four or five hundred dollars' worth of orders for this new recipe, and with her money safely pursed, she returned home, the subscribers being promised their purchase upon her arrival home.

Sure enough, in course of time, our lady speculators were notified, and to the express office each went, rather sly to be sure, to get the prize. Seventy five cents charges were demanded and paid, and a skurry home followed, and each inquisitive woman examined the package. There was a box, of small size, and in it the following delicately written receipt: "Procure some pure spring water—or if not convenient, the coldest, purest cistern water possible. Take a long swallow of this upon going to bed at night, and nothing else.—Kansas City Journal

The German Indemnity.

The consideration for the abatement of indemnity by Bismarck at the Frankfort convention is now explained. France agrees to surrender to Germany the control of the railways in Alsace and Lorraine; also to surrender to Germany all interest in the road running from Thionville to Luxembourg. This road now is of no use to France, but it is important to Germany in a military point of view, with an outlook to the future acquisition of Luxembourg by the German Empire. The bargain is good on both sides. France gets $100,000,000 for property which was no use to her, and Germany in securing this property gets the worth of the hundred millions abatement.

The Test.

The Sacramento Union says:

We are informed that, though no test accompanied our copy of the proceedings of the Republican State Central Committee as sent to us, and as the same were published in the other papers, yet there was a test adopted. As reported to us verbally, it is as follows: "All who voted for Grant and Colfax and who will vote for the nominees of the Republican Convention shall be entitled to vote at the primaries."

—Not long ago a gentleman had occasion to reprove his little son, aged four and one-half years, for an offense which had on other occasions called forth words of correction. The parent closed with, "Now, Willie, I don't want to speak to you again about this!" which was promptly and very decidedly responded to as follows: "Well, papa, I doesn't want you to!

"On Time" Again.

Sunday after-noon (says The Carson Register) Hank Monk, who gained a national reputation by driving Horace Greeley through to Placerville "on time," at the imminent risk of dislocating that distinguished philosopher's neck, had a load of Michiganders (male and female) down from Lake Bigler. Coming up the mountain from Glenbrook, Hank took his time, and the tourists became alarmed lest they should miss the evening train for Virginia. Hank repeated to them the little speech he made to Greeley: "Keep your seats; I'll get you there on time." Reaching the summit, he issued a double ration of buckskin to each of his mustangs. Up went eight heels, and away went four fleet horses, down a contorted grade, like forked lightning lapping crooked pine tops, while a fierce wind from the rear enveloped the rapidly descending mass in a dense cloud of dust. The crack of a whip, the snort of a mustang, the concussion caused by an occasional touch of the ground by the wheels of the vehicle, shrieks, cries, groans' "thumps," prayers, imprecations and "Keep your seats!" was all that could be heard amid the roar of the wind; but Hank avers that he made only four miles in five minutes. Suffice it to say, the Michiganders reached Carson City more than an hour before train time, fully impressed with the idea that Nevada is a "fast" State, but one in which staging is not conducive to longevity.—Gold Hill News, May 16th.

A Locomotive Fight.

A difficulty at Peoria between the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific and the Peoria & Rock Island railroads has been very exciting. Both parties disputed the right to run trains on a certain track, and the Peoria & Rock Island determined to force a passage with a train coupled to five engines. The Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific opposed the passage with three engines hitched together, and both parties butted against each other for more than an hour, the mayor refusing to interfere, when finally the Peoria & Rock Island cleared the track and shot its train ahead. Both parties were enjoined, each by the other.

—A good but modest man knew that on a certain occasion he would be obliged to address a Philadelphia Sunday School. He practiced for several weeks on an original speech concerning Moses and Pharaoh and the rushes on the bank. Finally, when the day came, the hour, the moment, he rose, put his hands in his pockets, threw his weight from his right foot to to his left, and having completely forgotten his speech, said, in a low voice, "Dear children, do not fool with powder." Thereupon he sat down, the Chronicle adds, "and mopped his forehead." He probably soon after went off.

—There is a medical college at Iowa City in which boys and girls are both instructed, and it is said to be one of the most touching sights, and worth going miles to see, to witness a boy and a girl slashing away at the same corpse. Two of them got into a quarrel the other day over the partition of a corpse, but the boy dealt the girl a blow over the chignon with a shin-bone, and they soon had peace.

—A well known physician in Indianapolis tells a good story at his own expense. He assisted in the advent of a child, and to secure his fee in the case, which was rather doubtful, proposed to carry it off as security. The newly-made mother rather upset that plan by telling the doctor she would give him five dollars to carry it away. That fee hasn't been paid yet.

—A penitent Baltimore genius relieves his overcharged conscience in the following unique epistle to the Treasurer of the United States: "Mr. Treasurer off the united States, I enclose the som of three Dollars in hear, which belongs to the U. S. Govenant which I have ronged them off."

—The Madison, Wis., Journal says: "A man residing in Pierce county ate seventeen hard-boiled eggs, thereby winning a wager of $2 50. That amount deducted from his doctor's bill of $37, still leaves him in arrears $34 50."

—The Ventura Signal says: The amount of freight shipped from Los Angeles since the opening up of mines and trade in the Inyo and other districts, is prodigious.

—It does not appear to be generally known that parties selling liquor without an Internal Revenue license are liable to incur a fine of $500.

—Black caterpillars are worse in Arkansas than was ever known before. They are stripping the leaves in the forest.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY THE ARION PIANO IS Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Eveness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration.

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservateries for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of defection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 3d, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of Instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each, so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in. ☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

FOR SALE.

OUR DRUG BUSINESS, located in San Francisco, Cal. After our best wishes, and expressing our thanks for the liberal patronage we have received for more than twenty-one years, during which period we have been steadily engaged in the Drug business in California, we beg to say in consequence of the rapid growth of Dr. Walker's Cal. Vinegar Bitters, now spread over the United States and countries far beyond, we are necessitated to devote our entire time to said business.

We are the Oldest Drug Firm on the Pacific coast and the only one continuous under the same proprietors since 1849, and have determined to sell our large, prosperous, and well established business on favorable terms.

This is a rare opportunity for men with means, of entering into a profitable business with advantages never before offered.

The Great Medical Discovery!

Dr. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal. ☞ Send for a circular.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the peculiar merit of acting as a powerful stimulant to the whole system, yet so mild and easy in their action as to be suited to the weakest Invalid. Congestion or Inflammation of the Liver, and all the Visceral Organs.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

☞ For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

A POEM OF THE PERIOD.

Bold Johnny druv a licensed cart,
With vegetables piled,
Hitched ter er mule whose constant art
Was drawing uv it mild.

And Liza Ann was a calico,
What knowed her Q's and P's,
She slung a shape as wasn't slow,
And was about the cheese.

She kept the books in a pea-nut stand,
And when the cart druv by She'd lay for gallus Johnny, and
Just throwe'd at him her eye.

Soon Johnny spooned on Liza Ann,
Rouled on her smiles and smirks,
Till love like jim-jams crazed the man—
That's how the old thing works.

You bet he loved that heifer strong,
And stacked his cards to win,
Till he see'd how things was going,
And getting most too thin.

A fellow 'round Liza fooling came,
His cog was Lanky Jim;
But Johnny tumbled to his game,
And put a head on him.

Then Johnny soured on Liza Ann,
And chucked her on the shelf,
Fer with a cranky, jealous man,
You know how 'tis yerself.

To St. Mary's tall steeple top
Climbed Liz, and hove a sigh:
Then dropped into ther street kerflop,
And how was that for high?

When Johnny heard her orful fate
His head went kinder queer;
He went out on pier 28,
And slid off on his ear.

Incidents of a Border Man—John R. Ridge.

[From The Oakland News.]

About three years ago a very remarkable man died in Grass Valley, John R. Ridge, son of the celebrated Cherokee Chief. At the commencement of the late war in 1861, Mr. Ridge, in conjunction with the writer, was employed in the editorial department of The San Francisco Evening Journal, and there wrote and published some of the most radical Union-war articles of that day. It was then supposed that John Ross, Chief of the Cherokees, would take the side of the South. In that case his hereditary foe, John R. Ridge, above mentioned, had determined to raise a party of bordermen in California, proceed across the plains, helping themselves to horses and supplies in the Mormon country, and coming in unexpectedly on the west side of the Cherokee territory. The Ross-Cherokees being presumed rebels, Ridge expected to obtain assistance from the United States Government, and as the domain was worth several millions, he also hoped to obtain funds of capitalists in New York. These were his bold plans, laid one day while sitting in the gallery of Hayes' Pavillion overlooking the frivolities of a German festival, in May, 1861. But John Ross took the other side, and Ridge's fine plans come to naught.

During that conversation at Hayes' Park, Mr. Ridge, having become somewhat animated with wine and the recollection of his father's tragic death, we learned something of his history, that it will now do no harm to relate. Major Ridge, the elder, was seized, dragged from his house and murdered in the night by thirty-six of the hostile party of the nation. He was cut and stabbed all to pieces before the door. His son, John R. Ridge, then a small boy, saw the tragedy from his bed, crept through a window, escaped and hid in the woods. He knew their faces, and, Indian-like, treasured up his vengeance until the age and vigor of young manhood. Then the assassins began to diminish, one by one, until of the thirty-six only four remained in 1861. Some were slain in altercations peculiar to the border, others were found dead by the wayside, and others disappeared nobody knew how or where. Whether Ridge killed them, we don't pretend to say, but nevertheless, have a very well-founded opinion in relation to their taking off.

A few years ago a party of Cherokees were mining on Trinity river, and, coming into Weaverville, got on a spree, when one of them publicly boasted that he "had stabbed old Major Ridge thirteen times!" A bystander from Kansas telegraphed to John R. Ridge, who was then editing a paper in Marysville. The editorial "leader" was broken off in the middle; the pen was flung down; a stage passage was secured, and Ridge had urgent business at Weaverville. Meanwhile, the intended object of interest got wind of it, and lost no time in getting out of Trinity County, where he did not return.

A sister of Mr. Ridge is married to Judge Paschal, of Galveston, Texas. The writer of this recollects her well, as a beautiful and accomplished lady. Her complexion was darker than her brother's, and that was made the subject of malicious remark by Judge Pashal's enemies, but never, at their peril, publicly. Some of the Galveston ladies also put on airs about it, probably doing so through enviousness of the beautiful and dashing Cherokee belle. It was commonly related that before her marriage Miss Ridge had disguised herself in men's attire and pursued and slain several of her father's assassins. On one occasion, it was said and believed that the chivalric girl mounted a horse and rode forty miles, alone, in the night, slew one of the assassins, sprang upon her fleet steed and escaped to Texas, where she became acquainted with and married the distinguished Judge Paschal, and where she is still residing, we believe.

Mr. Ridge went back to the East some four years ago, hoping to recover his possessions, but was unsuccessful. We never saw him afterwards, but have understood that the results of disappointment shortened his life. He was a writer of very great ability, and has left several memorable poems, one of which an "Ode to Mount Shasta," we have always considered the sublimest ever produced in this part of the country.

New York Juries.

[From The Philadelphia Day.]

The trial of Foster for the murder of Mr. Putnam on a New York street car, commenced on Monday. Five hundred jurors were present, and of these five only, or one in every hundred, were found to have preserved their impartiality through profound stupidity. Foster's counsel insisted that none but men too stupid to comprehend a fact in evidence ought to try his client. If any rational man can read the proceedings on the impaneling of the jury, and still believe that the law, as there construed by Judge Stuart, counsel for defence, does not discriminate against order and in favor of known crime, we advise him to offer himself as a juror in the case. He would entirely satisfy Judge Stuart. What a commentary upon the law as it is construed is all this technicality in selecting a jury! A man is supposed to be disqualified from rendering a just judgment from the evidence, because he is unable to read a newspaper account of the transaction without coming to some conclusion! Why, what sort of a man is he who does not arrive at some conclusion, according to the evidence so submitted? He must be an idiot. Can an idiot be a juror? According to Judge Stuart—yes, and only idiots.

Some Truth.

A printer who has had no small experience in publishing life, among other things, says:

Another difficulty that the country editor has to contend against is the credit system. He issues his paper at a cheap rate—far too cheap, we think—pays cash for his materials, labor, ink, and then gives for his subscribers a credit for the subscription money. Certainly no remunerative business can be done that way. A concert of action—a conventional resolve—for all to adopt the cash system would relieve this evil. The occupation of editor is certainly an interesting one, and it certainly has its thorns. For the well shod to pick these briers out of the feet of the barefooted, to advise one another, is a bounden Christian duty. So let every State have its regularly organized State Editorial Association.

Live Hogs from Iowa.

Two car loads of hogs, numbering some two hundred head, was a new feature in shipments from the East on the freight train that arrived here on Saturday last. They were brought here from Iowa and were unquestionably the finest lot of live hogs ever seen in this market. They were corn fed, large, and healthy, and appeared to stand the trip well. Fifty head of them were bought by Oliver & Garritch of this place to be butchered here, and the balance of them were taken to San Francisco. We are informed by Mr. Oliver that this trade in hogs from the East is likely to grow into considerable importance, as they can be delivered at points along the railroad in Nevada cheaper than the same hogs can be delivered from California. This fact connected with their superior keeping renders it almost certain that our pork supplies will hereafter come from that direction.—Elko Independent, May 20th.

Ores Worked for 90 Days.

The assessment roll shows that for the quarter ending April 31st, there were worked in this district 3,020 tons, and 1,283 pounds of ore which gave a result of $270,629 06 in value. This is for the most unpleasant part of the year, although it shows a large amount of money it is not up to the wants of the miners, as there were, at that time, on the dumps more than double the ore that was worked. The great difficulty, and from which there is much complaint, is, in the fact, that the furnaces, without exception, have mines that will produce ore, to an extent sufficient to keep their furnaces running without purchasing from outside parties. We need half a dozen furnaces that will buy ores, and pay a fair price for them. Then there would be more inducement for miners to work on their claims, and more certainty that the prospecting would increase.—Eureka Daily Sentinel, May 23d.

Mixing With Strangers.

The effect of mixing with new people, who have new ideas and new methods of thought, is very salutary. Always to see the same people, do the same things, feel the same way, produces a stagnant condition of the mind and heart that is very distressing to behold. There are thousands of people who might be greatly benefited by getting away from home, if only for a short time, to mix with strangers, and be touched with the magnetism of the great world, as it courses on in its accustomed rounds. Nearly all need some change, to get their minds and hearts enlarged, and let in a little more of the great light of life. Outside influence is very valuable to those at home who have been well trained by healthful influences in early youth, so that they can avoid the pitfalls and snares into which those who go blindly often fall.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, May 27.....1871.

FROM PARIS.

Our telegrams from Paris to-day, says The Gold Hill News of May 25th, are unusually exciting. The closing scenes of the French revolution, or rebellion are terrible, and the old adage, "Whom the gods would destroy they first make mad," seems fully verified. Vandalism is rampant. The frenzied insurgents, in wild, reckless, mad despair, have fired the principle public buildings, churches, etc., and correspondents telegraph that the whole city is burning, and the streets smeared with blood Terrible fighting is still going on, with great slaughter on both sides. The dispatch winds up with: "The Versaillists are masters, and the city is in ashes."

Dates two days later say the troops shot a company of women who were pouring petroleum in cellars and firing it The Versaillists were following up and slaughtering all the retreating insurgents they could overtake.

POLITICAL NEWS.

The Republican County Committee of San Francisco met May 24th and reported against the primary and club plans for electing State delegates. The Committee made up the list themselves. This action excited the greatest indignation and was subsequently rescinded in favor of the primaries. It is charged that the first movement was in the Selby interest.

The Democratic County Committee appointed delegates just as the Republican Committee intended to do, exciting like indignation among the rank and file, and the prospect is that that Committee will also have to rescind. The appointed delegates stood 64 for McCoppin to 5 for Haight.

Union Republican State Convention.

By an oversight we last week neglected to publish, among other political matters, the action of the Republican State Central Committee. The Committee met in San Francisco, May 18, and fixed the time for the State Convention to meet in Sacramento, the apportionment of county delegates, etc. June 28th is the day set for the Convention to meet in Sacramento; the apportionment is on the same basis as that of the Democrats, given in our last issue. This allows two delegates each to Inyo and Mono and an aggregate for the State of 327, two-thirds of whom are claimed by The Union and other well posted papers as sure to support Booth for Governor.

The Gubernatorial candidates for the respective parties of this county are Booth and Haight.

A New Daily.

According to announcement The Eureka Sentinel now appears as a daily. Something less than a year ago The Sentinel was started under very doubtful auspices, as the place of its location (Eureka, Lander County, Nevada), was almost wholly unknown to fame; its future prospects being predicated upon the hopes of a few dozen miners living in tents and "holes," working diligently in the faith that the "stuff was there"—a faith that has since been realized in the prosperous workings of some fifteen or twenty furnaces, an increase of population now estimated at 3,000, a daily newspaper, churches and other concomitants of civilization. If the daily is as successful, proportionately, in promoting local interests as the weekly has been Eureka has a prosperous future insured.

The Industrial Exhibition.

The Eighth Industrial Fair of the San Francisco Mechanics' Institute is to open on the 8th of August, and continue four weeks. The prepartions for the coming exhibition are upon a much grander scale than any heretofore made, and the amount of space already engaged by intending exhibitors will oblige the Directors to make extensive additions to the Pavilion, and those who have not secured an allotment of space must make their applications prior to July 15th, or they will obtain none. Blank forms for the applications, together with rules and premium lists may be obtained by addressing J. H. Gilmore, Mechanics Institute, San Francisco, who will also take charge of articles forwarded for the exhibition.

Inaugurated.

Jewell, the Republican contestant for the office of Governor of Connecticut has finally been inaugurated by action of the Legislature.

OUR CLAIMS UPON THE STATE CONVENTIONS.

Hitherto in making up State tickets, both parties have completely ignored the existence of all that portion of the State lying east of the Sierras, no man from either party from all this vast region ever having received a nomination for a State office. The day is not far distant when these "sage brush" counties in population and wealth will rank second to no others in the State. Already, in both these particulars, we are many degrees above the point generally accorded us in popular estimate. Nominally this section is rated as part of the State of California; virtually as an appendage or part of Nevada or Utah, a mere oasis in the great inland desert, cut off from the rest of the State by mountains and deserts, and therefore never to be taken into the political count.

We now wish to emphatically impress upon politicians that their assumptions on these points are not true in fact. We are Californians in fact, feeling, interest and geographically. We do not inhabit a mere oasis or arid mining region, but a range of agricultural and mineral lands capable of supporting a very large population.

In consideration of our present extensive and rapidly increasing population—our geographical isolation and consequent peculiar interests—our present and future importance in the political balance and material values of the State—the utter neglect of our former political claims—on these grounds we respectfully ask that one State office should be accorded this side of the mountains. We want it given to a man who knows our people, our country, its resources, wants and peculiar interests.

In accordance with this desire, both parties on this side will have each a candidate before the respective State Conventions for the office of State Controller. Either of the candidates is well qualified for the position to which he aspires, and no matter which may finally be elected, they should each receive a nomination on their respective State tickets. We do not want to be considered as a mere appendage to Nevada or any other State, and we hope both Conventions will give our claims due consideration.

As mentioned in our item of last week, the candidates for the position named are Paul W. Bennett, Esq., Republican, of this county, and Hon. James S. Mooney, of Mono, on the Democratic side.

RATE PER CENT. OF THE TAX.

It seems to be a common impression among voters here that a tax of eighty cents on the hundred dollars will be levied in case a majority of votes in the impending school election should be favorable. We wish to have it generally and distinctly understood that no such rate is involved; the tax cannot exceed thirty cents on the hundred dollars, because that is the maximum rate allowed by law at special elections for school purposes. Parties desiring to see the law for this restriction, are referred to Section 91 of the California revised School Law, approved April 4, 1870.

We will further state that the sum of $800, as specified in the notice of election, is merely conditional; the real amount to be raised being governed by the actual assessed value of property in the district, which is yet to be determined. Whatever sum may be raised on assessed value at the rate of thirty cents on each hundred dollars, as before mentioned, is the sum to be raised.

We are authorized to state, also, that it is the design of the Trustees to procure a teacher—probably a lady graduate of the State Normal school—qualified in all respects to take charge of a first class school, so that there need be no necessity for sending children to distant schools.

Any citizen of the United States not less than 21 years of age, a resident of the State six months and the district thirty days immediately preceding the day of election, is entitled to a vote whether his name appears upon the district poll list or not.

In addition to the tax question voters will vote for a suitable person to act as Assessor and Collector.

In view of the importance of the question to the best interests of the property holders of this town, it is to be hoped and expected that not a vote will be offered, next Monday afternoon, except it is marked "Tax—yes."

Refined Nomenclature.

As a proof that a refined taste in the selection of local names is not confined strictly to the Pacific coast barbarians, we note that a newly established post-office in Johnson County, Iowa, is to be known as "Shoo Fly," and as if that wasn't enough the postmaster is named "Kizer." To be in keeping, the township should be called "Blow Fly."

IMPORTANT TO PRE-EMPTORS.

Time for Payment Extended.

Mr. Wilson Butler, Register of the Land Office at Aurora, has forwarded us a copy of the following circular from the General Land Office, from which it will be seen that an extension of twelve months' time has been granted in which to make final proof and payment. This action will prove of greater benefit to this district than any other, from the fact that the office has been closed for considerable time during the past year. The instructions say:

DEPARTMENT OF THE INTERIOR,
General Land Office, May 5, 1871.

The following is an act approved July 14, 1870, to extend the provisions of the pre emption laws to the Territory of Colorado, and for other purposes:

Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the privileges of the act of May thirtieth, eighteen hundred and sixty-two, entitled "An act to reduce the expenses of the survey and sale of the public lands in the United States," be, and the same are hereby, extended to Colorado; and the proviso of the first section of the act approved June second, eighteen hundred and sixty two, entitled "An act to establish a land office in the territory of Colorado, and for other purposes is hereby repealed.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, that nothing in the act of Congress approved March twenty-seven, eighteen hundred and fifty-four, entitled "An act for the relief of settlers on lands reserved for railroad purposes," shall be construed to relieve such settlers from the obligation to file the proper notices of their claims, as in other cases; and all claimants of pre-emption rights shall hereafter, when no shorter period of time is now prescribed by law, make the proper proof and payment for the lands claimed, within eighteen months after the date prescribed for filing their declaratory notices shall have expired: Provided, That where said date shall have elapsed before the passage of this act, said pre-emptors shall have one year after the passage hereof in which to make such proof and payment.

This act has been amended as follows:

[RESOLUTION OF GENERAL NATURE. NO. 21]

A Resolution for the relief of settlers on the public lands.

Resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the settlers on the public lands of the United States who have been required to make proof and payment for their lands under the act to extend the provisions of the pre-emption laws to the Territory of Colorado, and for other purposes, approved July fourteen, eighteen hundred and seventy, and by instructions from the General Land Office, under date July thirty, eighteen hundred and seventy, shall have twelve months' additional time given them udder which to make such proof and payment. Approved March 3, 1871.

These statutes leave the provisions of the law as heretofore respecting "offered lands," viz.: filing within thirty days, and payment within twelve months after settlement.

The settler on surveyed "unoffered land" must file his or her declaratory statement within three months from the date of his or her settlement on such land, and, within thirty months from the expiration of said three months, make the proper proof, and pay for such land.

Where settlers had already filed before the passage of the act, they are required to make proof and payment within two years from such passage; therefore, all filings made prior to that date will expire, by limitation of law, upon unoffered lands, on the 14th of July, 1872.

The settler on "unsurveyed land" must file his or her declaratory statement within three months from the date of the receipt, at the district land office, of the approved plat of the township embracing the tract upon which he or she has settled, and, within thirty months from the expiration of said three months, make the proper proof, and pay for such tract.

The proviso of the act of June 2, 1862, requiring filing within six months from survey in the field, and providing for filing with the Surveyor General, is repealed.

The restriction as to construction of the act of March 27, 1854, is called to your especial attention.

In cases governed by these provisions you will please conform your actions thereto. WILLIS DRUMMOND, Commissioner.

A Valuable Shingle-cutter.

A shingle machine, a great improvement upon those hitherto in use, is on exhibition at the Union Foundry, San Francisco. It is the invention of Mr. Babcock, a California man, and will cut as many as 3,600 shingles per hour; the largest number turned out by any other machine has been about 2,000. Babcock's machine is run with bevel gear, connecting rod and crank, and has a horizontal reciprocating motion. The splitting and shaving is accomplished by means of two knives, arranged on slides, the latter converging as they approach each other. It rives and shaves with the draw stroke and feeds with the backward stroke: it rives and shaves both sides of the shingle, from butt to point, with the single stroke. The cost is only about $500. A two-horse power engine is the power needed for operation.

POLITICAL ANNOUNCEMENTS.

[COMMUNICATED.]

MESSRS. EDITORS: I have recently observed in your paper several bits and enquiries like the following: "The efforts seem to be confined to the Democrats. Are there no candidates in the Republican party? It is our opinion that Republicans had better wake up." And in a communication this: "I think it not quite fair that The Independent should be delayed in touching its little perquisites; and it must go hard with it if its exchequer is not beneficially affected by getting up a lively time." From the reticence of the Republican party, generally, it may be proper to infer that they wish by their example to exert an influence inducive to a return to the usages of the "good old days of yore," when it was held a good maxim to "let the position seek the man." If this is the case not the Republican party alone have reason for hearty congratulation. For there is no State besides California in which it has been so common for persons to announce themselves candidates for public positions, and there is no other State where political chicanery is so common. As a result, many very unsuitable persons have foisted themselves into positions of public trust. Our Legislators and other officials have not merited or received the respect, deference and confidence that is desirable to accord them. * * *

I fully concur in the opinion that Republicans and all others had better "wake up" and get out of this stream of political corruption that has affected our commonwealth so detrimentally, and go forward in accordance with discretion, conservatism and justice in a manner to promote public harmony and effect the greatest good to the greatest number.

For my part I am pleased that those in this county with whom I have the honor to affiliate politically, have in the main refrained from imitating the rife custom of our State to which I have above alluded.

Your correspondent certainty did not give The Independent nor the community a flattering compliment in the two sentences quoted from his communication. I will cherish the belief that it is not going so "hard" with The Independent that it must depend for its existence on the "little perquisites," and that its proprietors would not desire its continuance at the sacrifice of good order and the public weal.

REPUB.

We do not accept the conclusions arrived at in the foregoing as correct by any means. On the contrary, next to the Crawford plan, there is no better system by which to select candidates than for them to place themselves squarely before the public in advance of Convention action. It affords ample time for a party canvass of the comparative merits of respective candidates seeking nominations, and in their final action, delegates who represent the people in nominating conventions, have no excuse for misrepresentation in nominating candidates in ignorance of popular desire. It is the best security we can have against "snap judgments" in conventions by candidates presenting their claims at a moment when no fair investigation is practicable.

In regard to the concluding remark in the above, we think a wrong construction is placed upon our former correspondent's remark, but in any case we wish to say once for all, there is no partisan "little perquisites" due this office whatever, nor will any be accepted as such. Political matters of the kind alluded to, accompanied by the "little perquisite," will at all times find a welcome to these columns exactly as any other business advertisement and nothing more, but in thus barring editorial objections and endorsements in party questions, the reservation goes no further; it does not extend to our personal or individual actions or respective political preferences. We may further remark in this connection that the original course marked out for this journal is based on the well established fact that no mere party paper can as effectively work in the general local interest, and of course its own, as one that rigidly steers clear of such merely individual affairs. For this reason, if no other, The Independent will as heretofore be conducted irrespective of party considerations. We have admitted and alluded to the subject matter of this communication as advocated and being carried out because we think it in some degree subversive of the public good, since any person aspiring to public office should not wait till too late for thorough investigation of his fitness.

Canal Boat Propulsion.

The Legislature of the State of New York has just passed a bill offering a reward of one hundred thousand dollars for the best device whereby "any motor other than animal power," may be applied to the propulsion of canal boats. Commissioners have been appointed to test all inventions or devices offered during 1871-72. If the Commissioners grant only one certificate for a plan complying in all respects with the requirements of the bill, the owner of that certificate shall receive $50,000. If they grant two certificates, No. 1 gets $35,000, and No. 2 $15,000; if three, No. 1 gets $30,000, No. 2, $15,000, and No. 3 $5,000. After practical trials of the devices selected upon the Erie Canal, a further sum of $50,000 will be paid Nov. 1st, 1873, to the successful ones, in the same proportion as above; making the sum total of one hundred thousand dollars.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ NOTICE.—All political notices of whatever nature MUST BE PAID IN ADVANCE. This rule is ABSOLUTE. All Job Work executed at this Office must be settled for on delivery, unless for those having standing advertising accounts.☜

 All advertisements, to insure insertion in these columns, must be handed in on or before 2 o'clock P. M., Friday.

The Shooting at Columbus.

It now turns out that the rumor we referred to last week, reporting that John Sellers had been shot in an affray at Columbus, was incorrect, and grew out of the shooting of a man named William Galbraith by one John Burke. On Saturday, May 20th, about 5 P. M., two men were playing cards in a saloon, when a dispute arose about the money in the pot, which was referred to Burke, who was not playing. One of the parties was an acquaintance and friendly with Burke, but Burke decided in favor of the stranger. Then angry words passed and harsh terms were used, and the parties went out of the house, when the dispute was again started and the word "liar" passed. One man slapped Burke in the face. He then drew a pistol and fired, missing his man, and killing Galbraith, who died soon after being shot. Galbraith was much respected by those who knew him. There was much excitement and talk of lynching, but the Constable, after the examination, hurried off with the prisoner to Aurora. It will be seen that the report that William Gill was connected with the affair is unfounded.

Missed the Stage.

Last week but few of our northern papers reached their destination, by reason of being too late to catch the mail on Saturday morning. We have been in the habit of going to press as late as 2 and 3 o'clock on Friday nights heretofore, and trusted to the extraordinary good nature of our Postmaster to get them in the mail at that time. But now he has "chopped." It ain't using us right. He gets an enormous salary of perhaps $15 a year, for which nice little sum he ought to get up these times each night in the year, or 1,095 times. He should not be entitled to the benefit of regular office hours when he receives such emoluments as those mentioned.

The Masonic Hall.

After mature deliberation the Masons of this place have finally decided to construct a frame building, and somewhat smaller than was first proposed. The building is to consist of two stories each 12½ feet in the clear, and 24 by 44 feet ground dimensions. The inside of the frame is to be filled in with adobes, plastered over and hard finished throughout, and is designed to be a first rate structure in every respect. Levi Firestine the contractor and efficient workman, is actively engaged in pushing the work forward, and designs having it ready for occupation by the first of August.

The Fourth of July.

The Benton folks are making extensive arrangements for some fun at the coming anniversary of the nation's natal day. The initiatory steps are taken by the Ancient and Honorable Order of the Five Rings, a powerful lodge of which is working at that place. If it were not just as expensive to get to Benton from here as it wou'd be to Los Angeles, a strong delegation from this town would be there to assist. A parade, racing and a grand ball are on the programme. You know that we know that you know how it is yourself.

Wrong.

It appears that our report of the proceedings on Georges Creek at the time of the stirring up of the horse thieves was inaccurate and wrong in some particulars. Well, we made no pretensions of having the account very straight, but stated it as told to us. If some one in Lone Pine would take the trouble to give us a little information once or twice a year, the local transpirings of their town would be better represented in our columns.

Wheel Bursted.

Last Thursday the iron "jacket" enclosing the turbine wheel which furnishes power for the Kearsarge mill, was bursted by an extraordinary pressure of water, caused by a too sudden stoppage. Damages were repaired yesterday, and to-day the battery is clattering away as though nothing had happened.

A Persistent Thief.

Last Friday night the most persistent attempts were made to get away with a valuable animal belonging to Sheriff Elder, at Lone Pine. Notwithstanding a close watch was kept upon the stable, five efforts were made to get the horse out. He was shot at twice and then escaped. That fellow deserves a rope for his pains.

New Mill.

We are pleased to learn on reliable authority that San Francisco parties design to erect a new 10-stamp mill and Stedefelt furnace for our friends at Benton, Mono County. The mill is to be ready for operating inside of two months, and we hope and think it will prove a grand success for all interested parties.

Crop Prospects.

Farmers tell us the crop prospects in this county are unusally flattering, grain, vegetables and fruit all doing well. There is an abundance of water for irrigating purposes, although more ground than ever before is under cultivation.

San Franciscans.

Mr. H. G. Hanks, well known as one of the pioneers of this country, and Mr. Belknap, a prominent lawyer of San Francisco, arrived last stage. They come to look after some mining interests on the other side of the valley.

New Lime Works.

Messrs. Close & Fink have nearly completed a new lime kiln at their place, four or five miles west of town, of sufficient capacity to furnish everybody with that article. Orders left at this office will receive immediate attention.

Bullion Shipment.

During the week ending Saturday, May 27, there were shipped from the works of the Owens Lake Silver Lead Company, at Swansea, 581 bars of bullion, weighing 51,792 pounds.

Kearsarge.

"Our reporter" paid a visit to the Kearsarge works last Wednesday, and saw a great many things worth relating, and proposes to give an account thereof next week.

For Salt Lake.

Thursday last, a band of horses and mules, numbering about 250, passed this place en route for Salt Lake. They were from San Luis Obisbo County.

The School Business.

Notwithstanding all that has been written by our Senior, one of the worthy school trustees, in favor of the proposed school tax, it remains for Lokleirems to make a statement which will capture the bachelors and carry the measure. A handsome, dashing young lady, of marriageable age, is to be engaged as teacher. Now!

Real Estate Transfers.

We hear that Messrs. White & Brown have purchased the well known property of W. P George, opposite the Court House, paying a round figure therefor. Messrs. Rothschilds & Co. have also purchased the well-appointed homestead of Mr. J. R. Hughes, a little north of town.

Internal Revenue.

Assessor Axteil, of the Internal Revenue Office, 3d district, notifies the public that he will will hear and determine appeals relative to any excessive or erronious valuations which have been made by Assistant Assessors. See notice.

Another Richmond in the Field.

W. T. Grant this week signifies the fact that he will be a candidate for Sheriff before the Democratic Convention. He will come in with a strong force.

A Printer Emperor.

The Emperor of Germany is by report a practical printer. And this is the way it happened. By a late rule of the house of Brandenburg all the members of the family are obliged to learn a trade, each choosing at his option. William chose to be one of the craft typographical, spent an apprenticeship of three years at the business, and is now a tolerable type sticker. We don't vouch for the complete truth of all this, but that is the report.

A Bilk.

A female lecturer known as Mrs. E Field has done The Solano Republican out of some cash due for printing connected with her lectures; for this the editor publish her as a bilk. Because the editor wouldn't go to hear her was the ostensible reason for not paying him. In view of the infliction he escaped we should think he got off well enough.

Milking Pails

Should always be washed with a cloth and wiped dry with the cloth wrung out of hot water. Lay them up on the side to dry. If turned bottom up, the steam cannot escape, and they will get yellow and sour, which wil taint the butter. If they get yellow, scour with clean water and sand.

Mivart on Darwin.

St. George Mivart thinks that the long-armed apes, or gibbons, are more probably the direct ancestors of man than the orangs or African forms of the anthropoid monkey. He proceeds to give his reasons for this opinion in Nature for April 20th. But he closes with this remark:—"To prevent misconception, I may add that fully recognizing the truth of Mr. Darwin's appreciation of man's zoological position, which I have ever maintained and indeed labored to support. I near the less completely differ from him when I include the totality of man's being. So considered, science convinces me that a monkey and a mushroom differ less from each other than do a monkey and a man."

Cuban Artillery.

The Cuban Government has shown no little fertility of invention in producing such articles as were most necessary and could not be otherwise obtained. Their cannon are made from raw hides, which, incredible as it may seem, will, it is said, sustain fifteen or twenty pound charges. In the manufacture of powder the Cubans have shown great ingenuity, having successfully used for this purpose the guano deposits in the caves frequented by bats. This process is the invention of Senor Castello, a graduate of the Polytechnic College, of Philadelphia. From 150 to 200 pounds of serviceable powder are thus made per day.—Iron Age, May 4th.

Steam Wagons.

We are informed that two steam wagons have for some time been in successful operation between Fort Yale and the Cariboo mines in British America, and if they answer the purpose of freighting in that country there is no reason why they should not supersede the old prairie schooners on better roads in this country. Should such be the case the bullwhacking Othelloes will find their occupation gone, and another victory added to the achievements of steam.—Idaho World, May 11th

A New York Paper

Says: The latest bridal party present appeared at a recent wedding in novel style, for guests were attracted to a piece of paper pasted on the wall, and when examined it was found to be marked, "From Papa." It was a check for $20,000, which the bride feared might not be seen.

The Exploring Expedition.

A train of pack mules, loaded with various neccessaries, passed through Hamilton, on the 19th instant, en route for Belmont, to join the exploring expedition of Lieut. Wheeler, through the southern part of the State. So says The White Pine News.

Tea and Coffee.

A French chemist asserts that if tea be ground like coffee before hot water is poured upon it, it will yield nearly double the amount of its exhilerating dualities. Another writer says: If you put a piece of lump sugar the size of a walnut into a teapot, you will make the tea infuse in half the time.

—Willard Young, son of Brigham, has left for West Point, where he will enter as a cadet.

—A little four year old remarked to her mamma on going to bed, "I am not afraid of the dark." "No, of course you are not," replied her mother, "for it can't hurt you." "But, mamma, I was a little afraid once, when I went into the pantry to get a cookie." "What were you afraid of?" asked her mamma. "I was afraid I couldn't find the cookies."

—Greeley tells an inquirer that there is no trouble in raising geese for the market if you don't wean them too young. Let them trot around with the old ewe till their bridle teeth are grown, and you can then transport them to the forcing frames without wilting.

—The Princess of Wales is described as looking very thin and worn, with a lovely face so full of sadness as to be pathetic. She is said to have lost in a few years all the freshness and bloom of youth, which at the time of her nuptials, were the theme of her praise throughout all England.

—A young man in Franklin, Ohio, calculates that, during a period of five years, he has walked thirteen thousand two hundred and fifty-three miles in visiting his sweetheart. How far must he travel, we wonder, to walk into her affections.

—A Sacramento paper reports that recently six Chinamen were seen in a hairdresser's negotiating the sale of their "tails," which were finally purchased at the rate of $3 each, to be manufactured into ladies "switches."

—"What kind of pens do you sell here, mister?" asked a boy of a stationer. "We keep all kinds, you young vagabond," was the rude reply. "Oh, you do, do you? Well then, I'll take ten cents worth of pig-pens."

—Mosquito nests on the Mississippi are searched for the bones of lost children.

—A butcher has been fined $1,000 in an English Court for selling "slippery" meat.

—Whosoever is afraid of submitting any question, civil or religious, to the test of free discussion, is more in love with his own opinion than with the truth.

—Say little, and to the purpose, and you will pass for somebody.

—A good way to expand the chest—carry a big heart in it.

—The best way to patch up a quarrel is to split the difference.

Greenbacks are worth 91 cents in San Francisco.

Old Papers.

The American Artisan has the following of interest to housekeepers:

I do not propose to speak of the many useful and wonderful articles that are manufactured from paper, but merely of the valuable uses to which it can be put by the housekeeper. Few housekeepers have time to black their stoves every day, or even every week Many wash them in either clear water or dish water. This keeps them clean, but they look very brown. After a stove has been once thoroughly blacked, it can be kept looking perfectly well for a long time by rubbing it with paper every morning.

If I occasionally find a spot of gravy or fruit juice that the paper will not take off, I rub it with a wet cloth, but do not put on water enough to take off the blacking. I find that rubbing with paper is a much nicer way of keeping the outside of my tea-kettle, coffee-pot, and tea-pot bright and clean, than the old way of washing them with suds. (The inside of coffee and tea-pots should be rinsed with clear water, and never in dish water.)

Rubbing with dry paper is also the best way of polishing knives, spoons and tin-ware, after scouring. This saves wetting the knife handles. If a little flour be held on the paper in rubbing tin-ware and spoons, they will shine like new silver. For polishing windows, mirrors, lamp-chimneys, etc, I always use paper in preference to a dry cloth.

Santa Barbara as a Sanitarium.

We clip the following from The Scientific Press:

Dr. Brinkerhoff says that in eighteen years practice he has not known one case of diptheria or scarlet fever. He has known three cases of dysentery of a mild type and an equal number of cases of membranous croup. He never heard of fever and ague originating in Santa Barbara. Sometimes patients came there with the disease. In all cases their cure is rapid and permanent. Santa Barbara has a singular immunity from small pox when it prevails almost everywhere else. The Doctor has seen three cases of small-pox at wide intervals, which were cured with unusual dispatch. But the most marked exemtion from disease is among children. They escape most of the complaints so fatal elsewhere. To account for this healthful record, the Doctor refers to the presence of petroleoum so extensively in the ground and in the springs which gush from the earth and cover the sea for many square miles with an iridescent oil of pungent odor. This mineral oil so taints the waters of that county that there is very little good drinking water to be obtained in wells. So volatile is this mineral oil that the air is everywhere imbued with it; and, like carbolic acid, it disenfects all miasmatic exhalations, while its own effluvium appears to be innocuos.

It may be mentioned that land thereabouts is held so far above the views of buyers as to invite few settlers.

Hard Times at Chicago.

The Chicago Times begins an article condemnatory of wasteful government and high taxes by the statement that in Chicago the prevailing cry among the laboring class just now is "Give us work!" It says hundreds, perhaps thousands in that city are out of employment—"men and women, whose only capital is their labor"—and who can obtain no chance for investment, and the cry "give me work," is unanswered.

To Cleanse Blankets.

Put two large tablespoonsfuls of borax and a pint bowl of soft soap in a tub of cold water. When dissolved, put in a pair of blankets and let them remain over night. Next day rub and drain them out, and rinse thoroughly in two waters and hang them to dry. Do not wring them.

—That was a happy unconscious pun which Professor G—— of Rochester University perpetrated in his class-room the other day. He had been dilating to some extent on the character of Lylwarch Hen, the Norwegian poet, and wishing to illustrate the author's style, he remarked "I will read you one of his lays." A slight smile came over the faces of a few students at this, which gradually spread, until the whole class was in a tumult of laughter before the Professor saw his joke.

—A good story is told in the Hartford Courant of a young couple who wanted to hear Dickens read. They could hardly afford it, but screwed up their extravagance to the highest pitch. As they had concluded to invest they bethought themselves of a poorer family near by who were suffering from lack of work. So they gave up Dickens and paid the price of two tickets to their impoverished neighbors. The poor couple took the money, bought tickets with it, and attended the readings.

—Mr. Lincoln was exceedingly astonished one day as he was inspecting the prison in Washington by a prisoner who said to him, "How are you, Mr. President? I am glad to see you. I believe that you and I have been in every jail in the Union." "This and the jail in Springfield are the only ones I was ever in in my life," said Mr. Lincoln. "Very likely," responded the rogue, "but I've been in all the rest."

—An old lady of Connecticut, having lost her purse at New Haven, declared on its being restored to her, that she would not attempt to lessen the reward which was stored up in heaven for the finder by offering him money.

California Pacific Extension.

Articles of incorporation of the California Pacific Railroad Eastern Extension Company—of which detailed mention was made in an editorial in The Union recently, as the proposed new overland route to the East—were yesterday filed in the office of the Secretary of State. The length of the proposed road is 944 miles. The capital stock is $50,000,000, ten per cent. of which has been actually paid in. Directors—W. F. Roelofson, Milton S. Latham, Richard P. Hammond, Isaac Friedlander, Albert Gansel, Eugene L. Sullivan, Faxon D. Atherton, John P. Jackson, John B. Frisbie, A. de Laskie, Edward H. Green, Rudolph Sulzbach and Wm. H. Tilling hast.—Sacramento Union, May 24th.

HOLLOW GLOBE,

—OR THE—

World's Agitator and Reconciler.

Just Published at The Religio Philosophical Journal office,

A New and Remarkable Book.

THIS BOOK CONTAINS 447 PAGES OF ORIGINAL matter, divided into 13 chapters, treating upon the physical conformation of the earth and kindred subjects. It proves, conclusively that the globe can not be hollow, neither is it a thin, frail crust filled with molten lava, raging fires, but a beautiful spherical shell formed upon mechanical principles, with an interior habitable surface as well as one that is exterior; that it is built in the most economical manner, only containing sufficient material to ensure the required strength. It shows the necessity of more territory than exists upon the outside, and that there must be a spacious accessible gateway within the unexplored open Polar Circle between the two surfaces. The work treats upon the nature of historic events, showing that each one is prophetic of its successor, and that all of the past have been required to render the future more astounding developments of history possible. It treats upon the Open Polar Sea and its causes; the phenomena of Volcanoes and Earthquakes; also, Gravitation, proving that there can be no reciprocal attraction of that character between the heavenly bodies The chapter upon the Nebulous or Igneous theory must eradicate every vestige of that absurd conception from the minds of thinking men. The one upon Spiritual and Material Forces gives a clear and comprehensive idea of that department of nature, while another presents the natural method of building worlds, and still another treats upon inherent powers and progressive development The final chapter on human vision is amply worth the price of the book. The work must be read to be appreciated.

Price, $2 50, with a liberal discount to the trade. Responsible Agents wanted in every city and town in the United States.

General Depot, 206 South Clark street, Chicago. Address, M. L. SHERMAN or WM. F. LYON.

A song for the nectar brown,
Where joy-sprites hide in the sparkling tide,
Or dance through its snow-white crown.
Let others pine for their rosy wine
Or whisky's fiery cheer:
Be it ours to quaff the foaming draught
Of glorious lager bier.

Round let it pass with a jingling glass
Round with a rousing cheer,
Hurrah for the friend true to the end,
Hurrah for lager bier! n42m6

MUSICAL.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY THE ARION PIANO IS Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Evenness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration,

All go to prove what we claim, viz: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

IT affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of detection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 31, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in.☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

FOR SALE.

OUR DRUG BUSINESS, located in San Francisco, Cal. After our best wishes, and expressing our thanks for the liberal patronage we have received for more than twenty-one years, during which period we have been steadily engaged in the Drug business in California, we beg to say in consequence of the rapid growth of Dr. Walker's Cal. Vinegar Bitters, now spread over the United States and countries far beyond, we are necessitated to devote our entire time to said business.

We are the Oldest Drug Firm on the Pacific coast and the only one continuous under the same proprietors since 1849, and have determined to sell our large, prosperous, and well established business on favorable terms.

This is a rare opportunity for men with means, of entering into a profitable business with advantages never before offered.

The Great Medical Discovery!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the virtues of a mild laxative combined with the purest and most invigorating Tonic. They are a Sovereign Remedy for Disease of the Digestive Organs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE, a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION. Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

A Scrap of History.

In an article referring to the celebrated Hampton Roads conference, The Montgomery (Ala.) Mail says:

We have had the official account of what transpired in pursuance of the official instructions communicated to the Confederate Commissioners before they left Richmond. But we have had no record of what transpired to which those instructions did not relate. A number of the witnesses of that transaction, however, are yet alive, and if what we are going to state is not in in accordance with the facts, they will no doubt set us right. We have our information from a gentleman of the highest respectability who had it from one of the confederate commissioners in person, that the single word "Union" was written by Mr. Lincoln at the head of a blank sheet of paper, and that the confederate commissioners were told to write beneath that word their own terms, and that those terms would be accepted! Mr. Stevens and John A. Campbell favored the acceptance of the terms thus offered, but having been hedged in by instructions that they were not at liberty to transgress, the last hope of the South withered with the destruction of that comparatively insignificant piece of paper.

The question was not whether our pride would have been wounded, but whether our true interests would have been subserved by accepting the terms offered by Mr. Lincoln. Subsequent events settled that question, and settled in a manner that fully justified Mr. Stevens and Mr. Campbell. Far better would it have been to go back under the Constitution as it then was, than to wait and be forced back under the wreck that the Constitution subsequently became. We all feel now that it would have been better, and that Mr. Stevens knew or foresaw at Hampton Roads what we have been gradually learning during the last seven years that have since transpired, only showe, as we said before, that although shut up in Liberty Hall by the decree of adverse circumstances, the counsels of his matured wisdom ought no more to be slighted than if he were the acknowledged leader of the whole national party.

Thus much we have said in explanation of what has been heretofore alleged by The Mail, and because it was called forth under circumstances that implied some doubt of the authenticity of the event refered to. It will be seen that we do not undertake to vouch for that authenticity, but nevertheless, as we first heard of the matter several years ago as a mere on dit and afterward had it delivered by one of the Commissioners to a gentleman of this city, we felt that it was one of those unwritten scraps of history, none the less true for having escaped the historic pen, which we are at liberty to use or not as we thought proper. We were not authorized to make public the name of our informant, but we presume that he has no objection to our communicating it to any doubter who may think proper to demand it.

Social Equality.

The actual, practical social condition and status of the freedman seems to be, up here in the North, pretty much as it was before we had a Fifteenth Amendment. To all appearances he doesn't study any harder than he used to; certainly does not work any harder; doesn't go to meeting more frequently; and differs from Sambo of old only perhaps in this, that he votes. Perhaps—and it is to be hoped that it will—the sense of this great privilege may in time arouse his ambition for better things. In New England, as per the following anecdote, his position is much the same as it was of yore. Mr. Dickson, a colored barber in one of the largest towns of Massachusetts, was one morning shaving one of his customers, a respectable citizen, when a conversatien occurred between them respecting Mr. Dickson's former connection with a colored church in the place.

"I believe you are connected with the church in Elm Street Mr. Dickson?" said the customer.

"No, Sah, not at all."

"Why, are you not a member of the African church?"

"Not dis year, Sah."

"Why did you leave their communion, Mr. Dickson, if I may be permitted to ask?"

"Why I tell you Sah," said Mr. Dickson, strapping a concave razor on the palm of his hand, "it was just like dis. I jined dat church in good fait. I gib ten dollars toward the stated preachin' of de Gospel de fuss year, and de people call me Brudder Dickson. De second year my business not good, and I only gib five dollars. Dat year de church people call me Mr. Dickson. Dis razor hurt you Sah?"

"No, Sir, goes tolerably well."

"Well, Sah, de third year I feel berry poor—sickness in family—an' I gib nollin for preachin'. Well, Sah, arter dat dey call me Ole Nigger Dickson, an' I leff 'em!"

So saying Mr. Dickson brushed his customer's hair, and the gentleman departed, well satisfied with the reason why Mr. Dickson left his church.—Harper's Magazine.

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY,

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER

JAS. E. PARKER, | P. A. CHALFANT

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, June 10.....1871.

REFUNDING THE STATE DEBT.

In accordance with a law enacted by the last Legislature, approved April 2d, 1870, the people of the State are required to vote at the ensuing election for or against the refunding of the State debt. The Act submitted for ratification provides for the issue and sale of $3,700,000 of six per cent. bonds, payable in twenty years, the proceeds of which are to be applied for the redemption of the outstanding bonds of 1860 and the soldiers' relief and bounty bonds, and for the benefit of the General Fund. They are to be issued in any desired denomination not less than $500, and not to be sold for less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, gold coin, par value. The Governor, State Controller and State Treasurer are created Loan Commissioners, empowered to negotiate the sale of the bonds and carry into effect the provisions of the Act. The interest is made payable semi-annually, at the State Treasurer's office, on the same dates and in the same manner as upon the United States Ten-Forty securities.

It can not be doubted that the effect of this Act—if ratified—will be to compass its object, the payment of the present funded indebtedness, and a reduction of the burden of taxation. In the light of recent events, some of the details of the Act may, perhaps, be considered faulty—such as the provision for advertising the bonds in the mob ridden and nearly destroyed City of Paris—but the objects are fairly attained, and the law will doubtless be indorsed by a plank in the platforms of both political parties.

The certified Act will be found in our advertising columns from this date until election, The Independent being designated by the Secretary of State as the paper to publish the Act in this Judicial District, which comprises the counties of Kern, Alpine, Mono and Inyo.

THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

We commend to the consideration of the above Committee the communication to be found in another column signed "Lone Piner." It is a little singular that a representative committee should hold meetings and take action on matters of not only party but public interest and not let the fact be generally known. It is reasonable to suppose that every member of that body knew that the result of their deliberations is public property, and should have been published. We again reiterate it, and wish it distinctly understood, that this paper is NOT run in the interest of ANY party, and never will be while in the hands of its present proprietors for reasons given heretofore and this additional fact, that the said proprietors hold diametrically opposite views on party questions; but if matters of the kind above alluded to are withheld it is placing us in a false position, apparently, since only the proceedings of but one party can appear in our columns.

P. S.—Since the foregoing was in type, we have received at the last moment, a copy of the proceedings of the Committee which can be found in another part of this issue. As will be seen the final meeting occurred too late for our last paper, and also that the assumption that a meeting had taken place long before is wrong, so we guess there's nobody to blame after all.

On Its Last Legs.

Judging from the array of political announcements in the columns of The Sonora Democrat, legitimate business (office seeking excepted) must be on its last legs in Tuolumne County. What do the unsuccessful hombres follow for a livelihood in time of peace?

Anxious for Notoriety.

The people of the town of Visalia are rapidly becoming civilized. They have now established a whipping post! As it is merely intended for small offenders, the originators can not, of course, experience on their own precious carcasses any of its essential benefits.

Our Fruit Crops.

The fruit crop never promised better than it does in Tuolumne this season. Apples, peaches, grapes and pears hang out munificently. Our horticultural cornucopia is full; our horn of plenty exalts itself. Tuolumne alone will produce enough to flood some of the smaller Eastern States.—Sonora Democrat.

THE SCHOOL ELECTION.

Pursuant to notice the electors of this school district voted on the tax question last Monday, the majority of the votes being for the tax. But owing to the senseless conduct of one or two members of the election board the election is void, and of no effect.

The circumstances that produced this result are briefly as follows: As a matter of convenience, it was deemed best for Judge Van DeCar, who had been appointed as one of the Judges, to resign that position and act as one of the Clerks. He assented, another was appointed to fill the vacancy thus created, and each sworn in by P. Reddy, Esq in his official capacity as Notary Public. So far everything was lovely and voting begun. Soon, however, the old arch-enemy of schools, etc., took liquid possession of Inspector George, who addressed himself in such a manner to Judge Van DeCar as to cause the latter to abandon his post and duty for a time. He returned in time to assist in making up and signing the returns. His right to do these things was denied by the Inspector, and between the two the election was vitiated.

Except from the manner in which it was produced the failure is, perhaps, not to be regretted, since the desired end could not be attained with the limited amount that would accrue by the proposed levy even at the maximum rate per cent. allowed by law. Unless a sum sufficient to maintain a good school at least six months could be obtained it is not at all likely the matter would have been carried beyond an assessment of the district. But in any case, the Trustees thought it best to ascertain the sentiment of the community in the matter, whether the main object was accomplished or not. The result is not flattering to some of the business men of the place; but we are pleased to know that some of the heaviest tax payers showed a true appreciation of their own interests as well as those of the town, the heaviest firm in the place voting unanimously in favor of the tax.

In these columns we have treated this matter more in its business aspects as affecting the future of the place, than in the more commendable light of a simple educational movement, and we shall again add a few words with the same object.

In a small town like this the business of supplying necessaries is limited to a very few. When thus limited to a few hands the gain or loss of even one or two consumers makes a material difference in the year's operations of the butcher and merchant especially, and in less degree, to all. As an approximate it may be assumed that each consumer pays not less $500 yearly into the hands of the above two classes, and as they all know something of figures it seems they should be able to cypher out the importance to themselves, if to no one else, of retaining the customers they now have, if not how to obtain any more. The relation this school question has to these two branches may be shown in this: In addition to those already away a number of other children, we have good reason to know, will go elsewhere to attend school because there is no opportunity for them to so here. In one instance that we know of this contingent withdrawal of trade of the kind above spoken of will amount to not less than $2,000 yearly. Of course since, as everybody knows, store-goods and butcher's meat are only sold at a very small profit and merely as a matter of accommodation, the profits on the above trade alone wouldn't justify much of an outlay in taxes, but in consideration of the certainty that not only that but much more would be retained, to say nothing of the almost equal certainty of having it many times increased by additional population, the expenditure of a few dollars with this object in view, might be as judicious as an equal amount invested in trade. As a plain matter-of-fact business operation, to give it no higher consideration, it is surprising this movement has met the opposition it has in certain quarters. According to our theory the very men, with a few exceptions, that should do the most for all such things, hang back the worst. However some of those whose opposition to the tax was greatest have since done pretty well in their subscriptions, as it was doubtless considered much in the light of a gift to a number of children whose parents themselves do not manifest any great deal of interest in the result. It would be a very good idea for all those who have direct interest in this matter to bestir themselves somewhat, and the object wished for may then be attained.

NEWS ITEMS.

A dispatch received from Sioux City, Iowa, dated May 28th ult, says, that a gentleman of undoubted veracity, just arrived from the Upper Missouri, reports that Running Bull's band of Sioux went to Fort Buford and massacred the entire garrison. The report may not be authentic, but it is known that the Indians in Western Dakota and Eastern Montana are moving in large war parties, and it is feared the rumor has foundation.

The cool and favorable weather of the last three weeks is considered by the grain dealers of San Francisco, who have been over the State recently, to have increased the crop thirty-three per cent. above the estimates made twenty days ago. The surplus for export is now reckoned as high as 150,000 tons. At $2 50 per cental that would bring $7,500,000.

The District Court, Dwinelle, Judge, is occupied in investigating Mrs. Fair's application for a new trial. The indications are unfavorable for her.

Kean's Mill in Rockland, near Pine Grove Nevada, was destroyed by fire May 27th, entailing a loss of $50,000. Three men are under arrest for setting it on fire.

June 2d a fire broke out in the China part of Carson, Nevada, destroying $40,000 dollars worth of property before it was extinguished.

A fire broke out in a building adjoining The Sentinel office in Eureka, Nevada, destroying the building in which it originated only, but causing quite a general alarm and a determination to organize a fire department.

Unusually cold and high winds prevailed in Los Angeles in the latter part of May, doing great damage to the fruit crop generally.

Foster, the New York street car murderer, was found guilty and sentenced to be hung.

A Small War Cloud.

A late eastern dispatch reads:

Minister Sickles has been instructed to make demands upon the Spanish Government for the restitution of property taken from American citizens in Cuba, with a hint that non-compliance will provoke a war between the United States and Spain.

The property alluded to amounts to about $50,000,000, and was confiscated by the Cuban authorities during the civil war in Cuba. Some of this property was seized on account of the alleged rebellion of its American owners, but most of it was taken without any decent pretext, on the simple averment that the owners were Americans and, of course, inimical to the Spanish Government. That Government, some months since, promised to make resttiution, but now declines to do so, so it is quite possible some powder may be burnt over it.

FROM PARIS

Comparative peace reigns once more over the smoking ruins of Paris. For the seven days immediately preceding the final defeat and expulsion of the Communes the streets literally ran blood. Infuriated hags rushed shrieking and fighting through the streets, applying the torch whenever they could. The Arch Bishop of Paris and sixty-nine priests were shot by the insurgents. A dispatch of May 30th reads:

All is quiet. The victorious troops occupy the barracks. There is already a strong feeling that Paris Government is too weak to last. Awful massacres continue at the barricades in the Rue Rochmari. In one ditch the wounded people found were buried alive. They groaned and shrieked dreadfully all night. An epidemic is feared from the number of dead bodies.

FROM WASHINGTON.

The Senate adjourned sine die May, 27th, leaving the following business unacted on: Five nominations; three treaties, namely: The Postal Treaty with Ecuador, the Treaty of Commerce with Italy and the Treaty with Mexico extending the time of the Commission for the settlement of claims.

The Tribune correspondents were released immediately after adjournment.

Vice President Colfax, who was dangerously sick, is reported convalescent.

The President and family go to Long Branch.

Congressman Bowen is undergoing his second trial for bigamy.

The Government has placed seven millions of gold on the market.

LETTER FROM LONE PINE.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

LONE PINE, June 8, 1871.

MESSRS. EDITORS: As for items of interest, we are absolutely clear out of the article at this place. No horses have been stolen, no fights, no fires, births, deaths or marriages. I say no fires in our immediate vicinity, but our old friend V. Beaudry, of Cerro Gordo, has met with a heavy loss in the burning of his furnace building. If we count the loss of time, which he will most feel, it will not fall short of $15,000.

Mr. Editor, I wish to ask you if it is customary for a County Committee to get together as quietly as possible and elect delegates to a State Convention, without giving any notice whatever to the party they represent? I have reference to the Republican Central Committee of this county. They met more than a month since, and there are the fewest number of our party who know that that august body ever met at all. Now as a Republican I protest against any such conduct on the part of the Committee; we may have some choice about who represents us in the State Convention and I ask that honorable body to give us a previous notice of their meetings. Such conduct we are disposed to think is unjust and wrong in every sense, and we want immediate action. There is yet time enough to elect delegates who will give entire satisfaction to the party, and give them time to get to Sacramento. [We believe the right has been generally conceded to the Central Committees of both parties to appoint delegates to the State Convention, since they could not well do otherwise, as neither party could desire to call a County Convention at this early day. Our correspondent is mistaken in part of his conclusions, for the first meeting was only preliminary. And this issue is the first opportunity to give to the public the results of their meeting, though they might have given notice that the same was to have been held.—EDS. INDEPENDENT.

As for dates, latest dates and candidates, it is only of the latter that we have any amount. On the Democratic side there are C. Mulkey, P. Harrington and W. T. Grant for Sheriff, and it is only among the dates for that office that there appears to be any contest. As to the Black Republicans they are quiet as yet, but I am informed that the present Sheriff, A. B. Elder will be before the Convention, from this place, subject to the decision of that body. For Clerk, R. A. Loomis of Lone Pine and Milton Clarke of Bishop Creek are talked of.

Of course you have heard of the accident that befel B. L. Brown and Robert Woodlarge—how they upset their buggy and then upset it back again, and that the team ran into Owens River, drowning one of the horses. Bad luck, indeed, and yet I think they were fortunate in escaping without injury.

We are having some very warm weather down here at this writing—98 in the shade.

LONE PINER.

The Rain and Its Effect.

The rain of Sunday came in the nick of time to wet a large amount of hay in the fields. It was the traditional rain always coming at the early hay harvest. It will contribute much to freshen up the country, and especially the pastures. The grass in many places will start up again, and some of the late crops will be benefited. But the rain comes too late to help the grain crops, except in a few instances, where fields have not headed out. The gain will hardly be more than enough to offset the damage done to the hay crop and to the heavy grain, which has been knocked down. The roads never were in a better condition for travel, the dust being handsomely laid. We may have one or two showers more to wind up the wet season. But no amount of rain after this date would help the crops so much as it would damage them. We must make the best of a dry season, encouraged by much better results than were predicted, and by the hope that the next year inaugurates the wet cycle in California.—San Francisco Bulletin, June 2d.

Fresno Items

We take the following from The Expositor of May 31st:

A few days since an Indian stole a horse from Mr. John Hughes of Upper King's river. The owner discovering his loss went in quest of his property. He discovered it in the possession of an Indian who, finding that he was caught, showed fight. The Indians took charge of the body and buied it with the ceremonies of his race.

We had a few hot days last week. On Thursday the thermometer got up to 98 deg. in the shade. It only has to go 20 deg. higher than that to get to Millerton summer heat. A person who gets acclimated in this region need have no fears of a hereafter.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

The world of to-day laughs at the theories of fifty years ago. Bustering the head, emptying the veins, and raising the bowels with cathartics as irritating as church strut burrs, will soon be consigned by universal consent to the limbo of rejected fallacies. In the meantime Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, the true ally of nature, are effecting by a mild and painless process, such cures of dyspepsia, liver complaint and periodical fevers, as the world half a century ago would have deemed miraculous.

NOTICE.

I, ISAAC FRIEDLANDER, THE UNDERSIGNED, give notice that I intend to apply for a patent for that portion of the vein or lode set forth in the above diagram, called the "EL PASO" which belongs to me, containing eight thousand one hundred feet not bounded by any adjoining end claims, except Jeff so Extension South, taken up but afterwards abandoned, and the nearest claim being the "Express," said Eclipse Lode being situated in the Russ Mining District, Inyo County, State of California. It is a rock claim or lode, and I claim 8,100 feet on the course of the vein, with surface ground 100 feet on each side of the lode. The character of the vein exposed is gold, silver and lead ores, principally ores of silver. The lode claimed by me is on unsurveyed land and extends from Black Canyon in a south easterly direction 8,100 feet to Spring Canyon, with one hundred feet on each side of the lode.

And I now post this notice on a conspicuous part thereof.

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of State and the Treasurer of State, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said State, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bond; said coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notices of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the Capital of the State; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris in France, and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in German, in the City of Frankfort-on-the-Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the State; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless sufficient security shall be furnished by the bidders for the compliance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin, par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of State each to keep a separate record of all bonds sold under the provisions of this act, showing the number, date, amount and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury; and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in section seven of this Act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value; but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bonded, which said certificate shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel each bond so exchanged, and shall indorse on such bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued in exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the State treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the State, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering therein the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the expiration of such advertisement, such bonds, unless sooner paid, shall cease to draw interest, but the money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the State, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceeding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the state treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the State treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals, at rates not exceeding par value, as may return the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less amount than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publication, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication, before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this Act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said interest Fund, if sufficient, and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that the Controller of State shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. This Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for its submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the State for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this State shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act; those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same, shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and canvassed, and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Treasurer of State, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast are for or against this law, as aforesaid, are in favor of this Act, then the same shall have effect as hereinbefore provided, and shall be irrepealable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation hereof; but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have this Act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceeding the next general election, for which publication no greater allowance shall be made than the rates allowed by law to the State Printer.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, H. L. NICHOLS, Secretary of State of the State of California, do hereby certify that the annexed is a true, full, and correct copy of Chapter Four Hundred and Eighty-Four, Statutes of California, Eighteenth Session, approved April 2, 1870, now on file in my office.

WITNESS my hand and the great seal of State, at office, in Sacramento, California, the twenty-fifth day of May, A. D. 1871.

Fire in Cerro Gordo—Loss, $10,000

At 15 minutes past 8 o'clock, on the morning of the 6th instant, a fire broke out in a building attached to the smelting works of V. Beaudry, at Cerro Gordo. The flames spread with such irresistible fury that the galamadore, ore room and the principal smelting building were consumed almost before any efforts could be made to arrest the progress of the flames. The coal house, with its contents, alone escaped; a brave crowd of citizens fought the fire like heroes, but little could be effected with the limited means at their command. Inasmuch as no water was thrown upon the machinery to crack and break it, we think that a greater portion can be reset and used again, but the loss will not fall short of $10,000, uninsured. Steps are being taken for the immediate rebuilding of the works, but for a time the heavy bullion shipments from that place will be, perhaps, one-third lighter. Mr. Beaudry, the proprietor, is at present in San Francisco, whither he had gone on account of his health.

Extensive Operations.

A New York company are now engaged in making ready for putting up a furnace and reduction works on Cottonwood Creek, west of Owens Lake, on a more extensive scale than any other similar operation in the county. They have already a building erected, and a strong force at work in putting up another. The plans of the company include the erection of smelting works, a saw mill, a flume for floating down wood and lumber from the mountains, the building of roads, the manufacture of charcoal, and the construction of boats for the shipment of ore, wood, coal and mining timbers across the lake. Sail in, gentlemen—you have the best opening in the world for the profitable employment of capital.

To Celebrate.

The nation's day of jubilee will be observed in Cerro Gordo in due form, the exercises closing in the evening with a grand ball and general housewarming at the new hotel of Mr. John Simpson. Up to the present time, Cerro Gordo has been without a regular hotel, and the opening of a good one is an event of no small moment to residents and visitors of that burg. The fact of the giving of a ball there is notable, also, as a new phase in the life of that country of much mineral and little water, and indicates that numbers of the gentler sex have become residents thereof.

Runaway.

Last Wednesday evening Mr. B. F. Brown and Robert Woodlarge started from this place to Lone Pine in a buggy, drawn by two horses belonging to P. Reddy, Esq. When at that point of the road where it runs near the river bank the buggy struck a knoll and suddenly upset, throwing out the occupants. After running for some distance the horses became detached from the buggy and both ran over the bank into the river. One of them finally got out, but the other was found drowned some two miles below.

Fourth of July Ball

At their regular meeting held last Monday evening, the members of Independence Engine Co. No. 1 resolved to give an entertainment on the night of July 4th, and appointed a committee to make all arrangements connected therewith. That the affair will be an enjoyable one may be assumed, from the success of the last ball given by that company. Further particulars concerning the place, tickets, etc., will be announced in due time.

Silver Sprout.

Mr. Wingard, of the Silver Sprout Company, is now in town, and proposes to resume operations on the company's mines, and start up the mill. Old Kearsarge mountain will resound with life this Summer, yielding immense wealth from his belts of mineral.

Meeting.

The Democratic County Central Committee meets at this place next Monday, for the purpose of appointing a time for the holding of primaries, Convention, etc. We have, as yet, heard of no movement on the part of the Republicans.

Can Not Accept.

We state, authoritatively, that A. N. Bell, Esq., whose name has been prominently mentioned as a Democratic candidate for Representative, will not accept of the nomination, for the reason that his business will not allow his absence.

Selling Out.

By notice elseweere it will be seen that the well known firm of Daneri & Stewart at Lone Pine, are selling off their large stock of goods at cost, for the purpose of closing out. Purchasers will do well to consult them.

The First.

Isaac Friedlander is entitled to the honor of being the first who has made application for mining patent in Inyo County. It is for the well known Eclipse mine, and is number one for this county, though not for this land district.

Barbering.

W. H. Huff has changed his location to a new building near the Court House, where he has every convenience for hair cutting, shaving, giving baths, etc., with a "boot black" in attendance. See his "ad."

Fresh Fish.

Lone Piners are enjoying weekly arrivals of trout from Kern River. Hunting and fishing in that locality is represented as A 1.

To Typos.

If there is an unemployed printer in the county who is willing to take a "sit" for a few weeks, we would like to have him make himself manifest.

County Warrants.

Holders of $305 80 worth of County Warrants are notified that their cash is ready, at the County Treasurer's office.

Expelled.

Some half dozen absent and non-paying members of the fire company were expelled at the last meeting. Served 'em right.

Special.

A special meeting of Independence Engine Co. No. 1 will be held next Monday night, at the usual hour and place.

KEARSARGE.

The Mine, Mill and Improvements.

By invitation, we last Wednesday accompanied Superintendent Winters up to the famous Kearsarge mill and mine, for the purpose of seeing the mill in operation with its new motive power, and to indulge in a ride over the railroad. After enjoying the generous hospitalities extended, we passed into the mill, noted the changes since last seeing it, and went out on to the dump to watch the movements of

THE RAILROAD.

Way up the steep mountain side an ore car could be seen just starting down the incline, and in a few moments another was seen making its way up. In the distance, these cars appeared to creep, but experience afterwards demonstrated that they move anything but slow. In company with Mr. E. Harris, assayer at the mill, we walked up to the dump for loading wagons at the foot of the tramway. Climbing into the car, a signal was given, a little cord attached to the institution straightened out and up we went.

The road is 1,809 feet long from drum to dump, single track, with a self-acting switch—or rather it is so constructed that a double flange on the outside wheel of each car causes each to unerringly take its own side. The switches are 130 feet long, this being the only double track on the road. The grade varies from 28 to 60 degrees, the latter gradient occurring at two places called the upper and lower "falls." The ties are of hewn yellow pine, 8 by 12 inches, laid 18 inches apart, while the rails are composed of 4x8-inch stuff, fastened to the ties by 12-inch wrought iron spikes. The track-iron is one-half inch thick and 1½ inches wide; and the gauge of the road is exactly 3 feet. In some places immense ledges of rock have been blasted away; in other places it was found necessary to erect trestle work. The great labor and difficulty of getting the road materials in place can only be understood by those familiar with the abrupt, dangerous slopes of the Sierras. The cable is of the best steel wire, five-eighths of an inch in diameter, requiring a strain of 45 tons to break. The cars pass up under a shute from the ore dump to load, which is done by simply raising a gate. The cable passes once around a groove in the center of the cylinder or drum at the top, which is 10 feet in diameter, and is constructed with the utmost strength and solidity. The affair is governed by a powerful lever brake, acting directly upon the drum; this is now in charge of Mr. Dan. Shehan, an experienced brakesman, from the Yellow Jacket mine, Gold Hill, Nevada. The time occupied in the transit of an ore car is 3 minutes, which will be shortened when the road is solidly battasted and graded up as is intended. The cars each weigh 1 000 pounds, with a capacity of 2,000 pounds of ore; at present, however, 1,500 pounds are sent down at a load, the up car carrying 800 pounds of timber, etc., for the mine. The affair works to a charm, and is indeed a triumph of engineering, reflecting credit upon those who originated and executed the work—Gen. Winters and Mr. I. F. Thompson.

THE MINE.

Between the head of the tramway and the mine is a tunnel of 90 feet in length through a cliff of rocks, through which is extended the car track from the lower tunnel of the mine. Previous articles concerning this property render unnecessary a detailed description of the mine, and we will only speak of the changes which have occurred since our last report. At a distance of 190 feet from the entrance of the tunnel a shaft of 35 feet in depth has been sunk, disclosing a very handsome body of ore. The ledge at this point is 4 feet in width, and composed throughout of lively, rich looking rock. At a point 130 feet in, a raise of 20 feet has been made, with air-shaft and shute, on the ledge and in good ore, to connect the lower tunnel with both the upper works of the mine, for prospecting and ventilation purposes. A raise of 35 feet further reaches the level of the middle tunnel, which is to be driven in 200 feet more. From this point a raise of 60 feet taps the bottom of a 210-foot shaft in the upper tunnel, or the main old workings of the mine. The great advantages of this work in the way of facilitating the handling of ore, ventilating and opening the mine, is manifest, especially as there is no dead work about it; the entire work is within the ledge. A force of fourteen men are now employed, in charge of Mr. James White, who is an old Comstocker, as are most of his men.

Some singular ideas are prevalent concerning the true merits of this mine, which have been greatly underestimated by those who know nothing about it. Its can perhaps be no better set forth than by stating that the average assay of ledge matter from every portion of the mine, taken with the utmost care to obtain a result rather under than over its actual value, shows $140 per ton, and which had yesterday (the 9th instant) developed itself into a body of ore two feet in width, has been made, which completely eclipses anything formerly opened in the mine. In the sink from the bottom of the lower tunnel, at the very lowest depth opened, has been struck a body of ore of the width mentioned, rapidly widening with the dip of the east wall, composed of black sulphuret ore, free from base metal and immensely rich. Before the company began their improvements, and prior to the present developments, Mr. — Lockhart, a mining engineer of great experience and undoubted scientific attainments, made a most thorough and extended examination of this property, and reported one million four hundred thousand dollars worth of ore in sight.

Returning to the tramway, we tried to bribe Dan to let us go easy, and getting on a half-loaded car, started down. Going up was not unpleasant, but pitching rapidly down over those cliffs superinduces a sensation simply terrific. Trusting to luck, however, and the cool nerve of the brakesman at the top, we stood up and watched the narrow track way below, with the consoling reflection that if we could not stop or brake the car we might at least break our neck.

From the end of the road the rock is loded into a regular Gold Hill quartz wagon, engineered by Mat Behan, which carries 10,000 pounds to a load, taking it down a distance of perhaps 600 yards to

THE MILL,

Where it is dropped to the battery through the floor of heavy staging of dump. The ore is shot directly to the battery floor, without handling. The great improvements here consist mainly of the new power, which is obtained from a 13½-inch

LEFFEL DOUBLE TURBINE WHEEL.

It is supplied with water by a ditch from Kearsarge Creek, heading about one-half mile above the mill. This is 100 rods long, running on a rather uneven grade of 3 inches to the rod. At a point 300 feet above the mill the water enters a tank, with which the pen stock of the main pipe is connected. The water is conducted downward for a distance of 200 feet in a tight flume, and then enters the iron pipe which conducts it to the wheel. This is constructed in three sections, of different sizes and thickness of iron. The first length is 22 inches in diameter, ⅜-inch iron and 50 feet long; the next 18 inches in diameter, ¼-inch iron and 200 feet long; the last is 10 inches in diameter, ¼ inch iron and 50 feet long, the whole giving a vertical fall of 125 feet. The wheel itself could be contained in a box three feet square, and the performances of this little joker are ABSOLUTELY WONDERFUL.

With little more than one third its full head of water, it furnishes 40-horse power, and revolves at the rate of 1,135 times per minute, making the heavy sheets of rubber belting fairly hum with the speed; the engine formely in use is dismantled and completely vanquished by its more powerful little rival. The speed of the wheel is regulated by a simple contrivance within itself, and the works present the unusual principle of power being geared down—or each driving wheel being much smaller than its respective pulley. The stoppage mentioned by us last week was caused by a

DEFECTIVE CASTING,

the jacket or covering of the wheel proving itself to be so full of flaws as to reflect disgrace upon the machine shop it came from. The wheel itself, which was probably made in the East, is simply a perfection of strength and power, but the jacket, which should resist a force of 9 tons, contained a "cold short" of 15 inches. This had been refilled, plastered up and smoothed over at the foundry. The break extended across the top, down the sides and back along the base, in all a distance of 50 inches. This would have appalled most anybody but Kearsarge mechanics, but by bolting on a number of heavy wrought iron bands they made it stronger than ever, and saved a long and costly delay. Another serious difficulty, the pouring through the wheel of immense quantities of sand, has been obviated by the blasting and cutting out of a large reservoir near the end of the ditch, out of which the water passes smoothly and free from sediment.

THE WORKING MACHINERY

of the mill has been thoroughly overhauled, lined-up and re-babbitted and now works to perfection. With the finest of screens, the battery delivers as much pulp from ten hours' running as can be worked by the six pans in twenty-four; but six more pans are on the ground and will be put in position immediately. The stamps are now run at a speed of 85 drops per minute, and fall 9 inches. By increasing the fall and using coarser screens, the capacity of the mill, with the new pans, is readily increased to 30 tons per day, with a working force of but two more men. Eight men are now employed directly at the mill, including the foreman, Mr. T. S. Conley. Wm. Josselyn, Joseph Berry and David Noey are the machinists who put the wheel, etc., in place, while a sort of general responsibility rests upon Mr. Harry Clauson.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

INDEPENDENCE, June 3, 1871.

The Republican County Central Committee met at the store of J. B. Rowley, in Independence, on Friday, June 2d, at 8 o'clock.

P. W. Bennett and H. W. Gould were appointed Delegates to the State Convention.

The following gentlemen were appointed members of the County Central Committee: J. G. Bircham of Round Valley, M. S. Clarke of Bishop Creek, and L. K. Wicks of Deep Spring Valley.

No other business transacted.

J. EARL, Chairman.

F. K. MILLER, Secretary.

Announcements.

Sheriff A. B. Elder this week announces that he will be a candidate for re-election. Mr. Elder is an able and popular man. Milton S. Clark, of Bishop Creek, also announces himself as a candidate for County Clerk. Mr. Clark is a gentleman well qualified for the position. Both are Republicans.

Wagon Making and Painting

Mr. J. G. Payne has resumed business at his old place, and announces that he is prepared to attend to wagon and carriage making, painting, paper hanging, etc. Read his advertisement.

A Free Fight

Over cards and whisky was indulged in at May's saloon yesterday afternoon, resulting in a number of black eyes and bloody noses, but there was nobody hurt enough to do any good.

Not a Candidate.

We are authorized to announce the fact that S. G. Sneden is not a candidate for the office of Sheriff, as has been proposed by his friends.

The Last Run.

The last run of Beaudry's furnace at Cerro Gordo, which was closed on the 29th ult., continued 30 days and turned out 3,200 bars of bullion.

A Good Sign.

That one which Harris & Rhine put in possition over their store yesterday. It is a sign that they understand the merits of all kinds of advertising.

Correspondence.

Letter from Cerro Gordo and one from Palmetto next week.

A Scream

And so does Peter Margalot. He has it for sale.

The Chicago Stock-yards.

Chicago is a great distributing center for cattle, hogs, and sheep. By ten different railways they are brought hither, to be sent off again Eastward, or killed and cured here. In pork-packing, Chicago threatens to leave Cincinnati far behind; and, in 1869, 403,102 head of cattle, 1,621,860, hogs, and 340,072 sheep were brought there. A correspondent of The New York Evening Post, writing from Chicago, gives the following account of the stock-yards of the latter city, which are are said to be the greatest and most complete in the world:

"The 'Union Stock-yards,' as this vast establishment is called, is an example of the throughness with which these Western men do what comes in their way. It lies half an hour by rail from the center of the city, contains 345 acres of land, has a capacity for 21,000 head of cattle, 75,000 hogs, and 22,000 sheep, with stalls for 350 horses—in all, for 118,350 animals. When all the ground is covered with pens, it will accommodate 210,000 head of cattle. There are now 100 acres of pens for cattle, all floored with three-inch plank, besides a great area in which the cattle stand on the ground. I do not know what effect the following figures will have upon your minds, but they will give you at least some notion of the work that has been done here, and most of which has been accomplished in six months. There are 50 miles of underdrainage, not very thorough, I should think, for the ground is very flat; 10 miles of streets and alleys, all paved with wood; 3 miles of water troughs; 10 miles of feed troughs; 2,300 gates; 1,500 open pens, heavily fenced in with double plank, nailed to stout and frequent posts; 800 covered sheds for hogs and sheep; 22 million feet of lumber were used on these structures, and 500,000 pounds of nails; 17 miles of railroad track, with 60 switches and frogs, connect every railroad that runs into Chicago with the stock-yard by a special track. The water is supplied by two artesian wells, one dug to the depth of 1,032 feet, and another to the depth of 1,190 feet. These send water into tanks 45 feet high, whence it is distributed in all the pens and sheds, there being a hydrant in each of these. The water can be shut off from any or all of the divisions at pleasure, and, to guard against loss by fire, fourteen fire-plugs are distributed over the grounds, and one thousand feet of three-inch hose are at hand."

Another Whitewash.

The following is sent out by the Lighthouse Board of the Treasury Department:

"The following recipe for white-washing has been found to answer on wood, brick and stone, nearly as well as oil paint, and much cheaper: Slake half a bushel of unslaked lime in boiling water, keeping it covered during the process. Strain it and add a peck of salt, dissolved in warm water; three pounds of ground rice, put in boiling water and boiled to a thin paste; half a pound of powdered Spanish whiting, and a pound of clear glue, dissolved in warm water; mix these well together, and let the mixture stand for several days. Keep the wash thus prepared in a kettle or portable furnace, and when used put it on as hot as possible, with painters' or whitewash brushes.

"Not Ashamed."

It must have been with infinite chuckle, and many of what Cooper describes as old Leatherstocking's long, inward laughters, that Henry Ward Beecher, during a vacation, heard one of his own published sermons delivered in an obscure villiage. At the close of service he accosted the "divine," and said, "That was a very good discourse; how long did it take you to write it?"

"Oh I tossed it off one evening when I had leisure," was the reply.

"Indeed!" said Beecher. "It took me longer than that to think out the framework of that very sermon."

"Are you Henry Ward Beecher?"

"I am," was the reply.

"Well, then," said the unabashed preacher, "all that I have to say is that I ain't ashamed to preach one of your sermons anywhere!"

High Strung.

Said an American to an Irishman: "My ancestors came from Ireland; my name is Bryant. Did you ever know any people of that name in Ireland?" "Oh, yes, a great many." "Well, what sort of people were they? Pretty high strung were they not?" "Oh, yes; I've seen a great many of them strung so high that their feet did not touch the ground."

Worth Knowing.

Any hard steel tool, says The Boston Journal of Chemistry, will cut glass with great facility when kept freely wet with camphor dissolved in turpentine. The ragged edges of glass vessels may also be thus easily smoothed by a flat file.

—An old lady at the Albia conference thus tells her experience at class meetings:

"Dear sisters and brethren, as I come to this 'ere meeting, I see an old cow standing by the fence a switching her tail; yes there she was, happy and contened, a switching of her tail, and the words of the 'Postle Paul came to my mind, 'Go thou and do likewise.'"

—Large quantities of bees are shipping for Salt Lake. We presume the old Elders are getting so they have to be stung. So says The White Pine News.

HOLLOW GLOBE,

—OR THE—

World's Agitator and Reconciler.

Just Published at The Religio Philosophical Journal office.

A New and Remarkable Book.

THIS BOOK CONTAINS 447 PAGES OF ORIGINAL matter, divided into 13 chapters, treating upon the physical conformation of the earth and kindred subjects. It proves, conclusively that the globe can not be solid, neither is it a thin, frail crust filled with molten lava or raging fires, but a beautiful spherical shell, formed upon mechanical principles, with an interior habitable surface as well as one that is exterior; that it is built in the most economical manner, only containing sufficient material to ensure the required strength. It shows the necessity of more territory than exists upon the outside, and that there must be a spacious accessible gateway within the unexplored open Polar Circle between the two surfaces. The work treats upon the nature of historic events, showing that each one is prophetic of its successor, and that all of the past have been required to render the future more astounding developments of history possible. It treats upon the Open Polar Sea and its causes; the phenomena of Volcanoes and Earthquakes; also, Gravitation, proving that there can be no reciprocal attraction of that character between the heavenly bodies. The chapter upon the Nebulous or Igneous theory must eradicate every vestige of that absurd conception from the minds of thinking men. The one upon Spiritual and Material Forces gives a clear and comprehensive idea of that department of nature, while another presents the natural method of building worlds, and still another treats upon inherent powers and progressive development. The final chapter on human vision is amply worth the price of the book. The work must be read to be appreciated.

Price, $2 50, with a liberal discount to the trade. Responsible Agents wanted in every city and town in the United States.

MUSICAL.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY

THE

IS

Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Eveness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration.

All go to prove what we claim, viz: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

It affords me much pleasure to give you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano-Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of defection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 31, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO-FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of Instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each, so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in.

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

The Great Medical Discovery!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands
Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the combined properties of the best of all the celebrated Bitters.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth, Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

RULOFF.

The life of this remarkable man has scarcely a parallel, either in its romantic, criminal or scholastic phase. Briefly told, it is this: His right name was Ruloffson. He was born at St. John, New Brunswick, upwards of fifty years ago, of humble parentage. He enjoyed but the commonest educational advantages, and at the age of about eighteen he entered a store as clerk. The store was twice burned during the two years he was engaged in it—whether by his hands or through a fatality that attended him, is uncertain; and at the end of that time he became a student in a law office. His legal pursuits were interrupted by his arrest for robbing the store of his late employers, and he was sentenced to two years' imprisonment, at the expiration of which he disappeared from his native place. A year or two after, he made his appearance in the neighborhood of Ithaca, in the State of New York, where he found employment as a teacher. After a while, he married a young girl, a former pupil, and subsequently commenced practice as a herb doctor, blending certain mesmeric and cabalistic mysteries with his simpler medical pretensions. During this period, an event occurred which, in the light of later developements, assumes murderous proportions. His relations with the family of his wife were unfriendly, yet he was called to prescribe for a child of his brother-in-law, which died suddenly under his treatment, and whose death was quickly succeeded by the still more singular sudden death of its mother, who was in pefect health at the time Ruloff began his attendance. Their remains were analyzed thirteen years after, and positive evidences of poison obtained but it was uncertain if these might not have come from the decayed coffins or the surrounding soil. But meanwhile, the suspected prisoner had left a surer, though no less secret, trace of his murderous hand. His wife and babe suddenly and mysteriously disappeared. They were seen as usual one afternoon; a neighbor's daughter spent the evening with them; but from that time—though twenty-five years have elapsed—they have never been seen again. On the morrow, Ruloff borrowed a team from a neighbor living opposite, and asked him to assist in loading a large case, which he stated contained books that he was removing to a place not far distant. He drove away cheerfully, overtook some school children and invited them to ride, sat upon the box and amused them with merry songs, dismissed them at the schoolhouse and continued on his journey. No human being has ever unraveled the mystery, but it is supposed the case contained the bodies of his wife and child, and that in the dead of night he sunk them to the bottom of Cayuga Lake. Their disappearance soon excited suspicion, and in reply to inquiries, Ruloff at first stated that they were visiting a little distance away, and then that they had gone to Ohio; but both statements having been ascertained to be false, he was arrested, tried for the murder of his wife and convicted. He appealed his case on the ground that no murder had been proved, as no body had been produced, and the Supreme Court sustained the appeal. He was then tried for the abduction of his child, and sentenced to ten years imprisonment at Auburn. At the expiration of his sentence he was arraigned for abduction of his wife, but escaped from jail before the case came to trial. From that time little is known of him until the occurrence of the Binghampton murder last year, except that he served a term of two years for burglary at Sing Sing, and figured in similiar offenses in various parts of Pennsylvania and New York. Last fall, two clerks sleeping in a store in Binghampton were awakened at the dead of night by the noise of three burglars ransacking the building. They set upon the robbers, and in the struggle which ensued one of the clerks was shot dead. The burglars escaped for the time, and two days after the bodies of two of them were found in the river, and Ruloff was arrested and identified as the third, and the one who fired the fatal shot. For this he was tried, convicted, and has suffered the extreme penalty of the law.

A Sad Scene in Paris.

One of the saddest sights to be seen in Paris since the commencement of the series of agonizing scenes which for months made life in that city so deplorable, was witnessed the other day on the Champs Elysees, when the women and children from Neuilly, which had been the theatre of so much fighting for three weeks previously, came straggling into the city for refuge from their melancholy situation in that villiage. Three ambulances full of little girls were brought in from a kind of a hospital or home for incurable female children at Nevilly. Some were hunchbacked, some deformed, and others, while being carried into the Palais de l'Industrie, were taken in on stretchers, some were on crutches, and one or two were pallid with the approach of death. Every ambulance was accompanied by a Sister of Mercy. These poor little creatures had been living and dying in damp cellars since the hostility in Neuilly. Women who stood around wept to see such a sight.

—In the country they blow a horn before dinner; in the city they take one.

Inyo Independent.

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER

JAS. E. PARKER, | P. A. CHALFANT

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, June 17.....1871.

WHY?

We would like an explanation of the cause of such outrageous delays in the transit of mails from and to Los Angeles. It matters not by which line—north or south—papers may chance to come, from two to four weeks elapse before they reach their destination.

The people of Inyo county have reason for the profoundest contempt for the supposed "public servants" who have in hand the providing of our postal facilities. With one of the finest counties in the State, of great present and unsurpassed prospective wealth, a population of over two thousand and rapidly increasing, we are awarded pay for the convenience of weekly mails only, and they managed with the most consummate looseness.

As an instance of the disinterested motives and tireless efforts in our behalf by our chosen representatives at Washington, we will state a fact which came to our knowledge a few weeks ago. Some three months before the adjournment of the last Congress, a petition for an increased mail service was forwarded to a worthy member from this State, accompanied with an earnest appeal for his co-operation. The notice taken and answer given came several months afterwards, when the gentleman had safely arrived in San Francisco, and was to the effect that if he should be re-elected he would take great pleasure in forwarding the interests of the petitioners. With due deference to the gentleman's great abilities, a great many in this county are willing to forego his valuable services as an advocate of our special interests.

ANOTHER CHANGE.

We are this week furnished with another illustration of the beauties of our system of inter-communication. After twice changing publication day in our efforts to connect with the stages and get the paper to its readers in the county within a week after its issue, Saturday morning was finally selected as exactly answering the purpose. By working all night Friday, our columns could be kept open until after the arrival of the Cerro Gordo stage, which generally brings to hand matters of importance. But the infinite wisdom of the general agent of the stage lines running through this county has dictated a change on the Cerro Gordo route which renders connection impossible and entails a delay of two days before the papers can get to Lone Pine—twenty miles distant. We feel in hopes the proposed opposition may soon be put on and we may then stand a living show. However it may affect others this change is a serious blow on us, and one that we shall not patiently submit to.

The Best Way.

Referring to the great difficulty of finding men of sufficient mental opacity to make good jurors in capital cases, The New Bedford Standard suggests that there be an asylum for jurors established—a commodious building in some retired place, where such as may be under the risk of serving as jurors may be compelled to reside for a fixed term. In such a calm retreat they should be well supplied with everything but newspapers, bnt no book that has not published for at least fifty years. The slightest knowledge of passing public events should be withheld from them; and when cases come to be tried they could be brought from their retreat in a state of the most blissful ignorance, and a panel could be made up without trouble. Unless some plan of this kind is arranged nothing but idiocy can qualify a juryman.

"Morton House."

The serial story entitled "Morton House" now running in Appleton's Journal possesses unusual interest, and all lovers of a purely American and remarkably well written story of Southern life, should send for the back numbers of The Journal containing it. The first chapter appeared in March last, and in successive order every week since. The story will probably continue through the present volume. Appleton's Journal is a 32-page illustrated weekly, published by D. Appleton & Co., New York. Terms, $4 per annum.

—The other day a little shaver was expatiating on the injurious effects of tobacco. Said he: "The oil of tobacco is so poisonous that a single drop on the end of a dog's tail will kill a man in a minute."

SCHOOL MATTERS ON BISHOP CREEK.

Hitherto we have supposed that the people of Bishop Creek were entitled to much credit for energy and determition displayed in school matters, but it now appears there is a lack of a proper spirit there, too. We are told that since the division of the original district, which covered too much territory, the Trustees of the "new district" are making no effort, or are receiving no encouragement, towards organizing a school in that district. We know nothing relative to the available means for school purposes at the disposal of the Trustees, but think it quite likely they are quite limited. "Old Bachelor," who writes to us on the subject, is desirous that a tax under the State school law should be levied to create a fund It is doubtful if the maximum rate per cent. allowed by that law on the taxable property in that district would amount to enough for the purpose. It requires at least $200,000 in taxable property in order to realize enough for a six months' school. The tax under that law must not exceed thirty cents on each hundred dollars.

The law, however, provides that in any school district possessing twenty-five children and taxable property to the amount of $75,000, a tax, by permit of the County Supervisors, may be levied for educational purposes. In this case the rate may be placed high enough to produce a sum equal to the maintainance of a school for six months. In such cases it is the duty of the Trustees to make application for the permit and see it executed. It is still their privilege, without this permit, to call an election, but the rate per cent can not exceed 30 cents on $100.

In the note before mentioned our correspondent says that "the people are standing in their own light by not having a school here, or rather the childrens' light." There is no doubt but there is truth in both assertions. Next to obtaining for children the necessaries of life, parents are morally bound to afford them the means of acquring at least a common school education. It is a duty parents owe not only to their children but to society, and if they wish to escape the after reproaches of their own off-spring they must not now begrudge the trifling sum necessary to maintain a neighborhood school. Parents who are susceptible to shame themselves or have any proper love for their children must not permit them to grow up in ignorance because it costs something to get up a school. Except in the most extreme cases, no plea of want of means should for a moment be allowed to stand in the way of such an object. If too poor to afford the expense when children are young, when will it be better? Certainly not when they have grown up so that their labor enters into the regular economy of the farm or workshop. If kept in ignorance until that time very few but are conscious of shame not only for themselves but the parents, on whom the responsibility falls. Then it matters not how fair the opportunities for attending school but few at that late day have the courage to attempt the simple rudiments of an education, and are likely to remain in ignorance, a reproach to neglectful parents, ever after. In view of these facts, to say nothing of many more bearing on the question, and in the hope it will not be considered officious or out of place, we say to the people of the district from which "Old Bachelor" writes, insist on your Trustees performing their full duty under the law in trying to getup a school, and if it can not be done that way then subscribe, each and all until the desired end is accomplished. A horse or cow had had better be given any time by every man of family in the district than to have no school. In these sparsely settled localities it won't do to depend on taxes or public money solely; something more is required, and parents will have to take the matter in their own hands. When disinterested parties like our correspondent, who have no direct interest involved, except the general credit of the district, are willing to be taxed or make liberal contributions for such a laudable purpose, surely parents ought to be willing to do as much and a good deal more. If the Trustees will not do their duty request them to resign and get men that will. Men like "Old Bachelor" are the very ones for the position.

We hope our next Legislature will pass a law making it obligatory upon all persons having children in charge to give them at least four months in school every year. A number of the States have adopted a law to that effect, the latest being Texas. We have in this State a munificent endowment for schools, but without a law of the kind alluded to its full benefits can never be enjoyed.

—A darkey who witnessed the explosion of a shell for the first time, exclaimed, "See dar! hell hab laid an egg."

MOTION DENIED.

Mrs. Fair's motion for a new trial has been denied. Judge Dwinelle has sentenced her to be hung on Friday, July 28. This result, though clearly sustained in law and evidence, is contrary to general expectation. Notwithstanding her great crime if this woman could escape the extreme penalty of the law there are but few to object. She is a woman; her crime was committed under peculiar provocations not recognized in law, but of weight nevertheless, in public sentiment. The people of this State do not thirst for blood. Since judgment of death has actually been pronounced, a sufficiently impressive vindication of the law would be attained if, by petition of the masses, the terrible sentence was commuted to imprisonment for life. It would redound to the credit of our State not only as an act of mercy, but in some degree as a condemnation of the disgraceful system of concubinage so much in vogue among prominent men, and a system for which they are almost wholly responsible. Evil in some shape invariably follows such connections, and if, as in the case of Crittenden, retribution in blood is the sequence, our sympathy does not all belong to the dead. In all such cases the law should just be vindicated on its broadest principles and no more.

The San Francisco Bulletin relates one of the closing scenes as follows:

The scene in the Court-room from the commencement of the remarks by the Judge, was one of intense interest. The room was not crowded, the general public opinion being that the case would not be decided until evening. At the very opening of the lips of the Court, the spectators and the prisoner felt that the motion was to be denied. The prisoner watched the countenance of the Judge with the most intense eagerness, and when he remarked that he could see no ground for a new trial, she buried her face in her mother's lap and sobbed bitterly. Her little daughter was not with her. As the Judge proceeded, she struggled against emotion and succeeded somewhat in overcoming it. The sound of the Judge's trembling voice was only broken by the sobs of the women in the court-room.

To a Peace Footing.

The army has finally been reduced to a peace footing in accordance with the act of Congress of July, 1870. Under this arrangement the army will consist of one General, one Lieutenant General, four Major Generals and three Brigadier Generals, with the usual complement of staff in the field. Besides, there will be an Adjutant, Quartermaster General, Commissary and Surgeon General, with respective subordinates; corps of engineers, ordnance department, signal corps, 10 regiments of cavalry, 5 regiments of artillery, 25 regiments of infantry; the military academy and a body of Indian scouts. The rank will consist of 30,000 enlisted men, apportioned as follows: engineers, 300; infantry, 15,000; cavalry, 10,000; artillery, 3,635; non-commissioned staff, ordnance sergeant and men, 30; Indian scouts foot up 1,000; company laundresses, 1,700; employes of the Quartermaster's department, 2,500. The total amount of enlisted men and attaches for whom rations will have to be issued, is 35,284. It is expected that it will be necessary to enlist 6,000 during the year to keep the army up to this standard, and, as the pay will be reduced to what it was before the rebellion, it will be no easy task for commissioned officers to support themselves. They are tendering their resignations in such numbers that there is no longer a surplus, and the Secretary of War has decided to accept no more resignations except for reasons recognized in war times as absolute. Among those who have thus far resigned are many who have achieved reputations for hard service during the war.

A Poor Plea.

The plea of drunkenness in palliation of murder was introduced by the defense in the Foster case. No doubt Foster was drunk. But Foster knew that any irregularity is possible when strong drink domininates the faculties of otherwise good men. He deliberately flung away his judgement and as deliberatly assumed the responsibility for what happened. Mr. Putnam did not sell Foster the dram which maddened him; had Mr. Putnam sold him the liquor, who does not see that it would have been a pretty case of retributive justice? As it is, we do not see how being drunk excuses a man in any respect for crimes committed while in that condition. Greed, which leads to robbery and murder, is as good an excuse as drunkeness. Yea better, in some respects.

LETTER FROM "PICTON."

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

CAMP PALMETTO, Nevada, June 3.

MESSRS. EDITORS: I have been silent so long and my nom de plume has been so many weeks absent from the columns of The Independent, it becomes appropos to remind your readers that this detachment of "B," 12th U. S. Infantry "still lives"—that it is yet "the outward picket guard of life" on the edge of Death Valley and other spots in this Paradise. In this connection it is perhaps proper to add that this is my last communication from this place to your spicy journal.

Since my former letter a goodly number of prospecting parties have passed this Post on their way to the surrounding hills and placers; and, as far as I am aware of their doings, they have one and all succeeded in making valuable discoveries of fine lodes of either silver or gold. They unite in proving that beyond a doubt this country is one of the richest mineral regions existing, although well nigh worthless otherwise. I gave your readers this opinion in my first letter, and however much our "Doc." may pooh! and shaw! in opposition, it is yet my firm belief that the time is not far in the future when the readers of The Inyo Independent will find its columns often sprinkled with jottings concerning rich strikes, bullion, great treasures and other matters from Palmetto, Green Mountain and Gold Mountain Districts, Nevada. "Where the carcass is, there the eagles be gathered." A land where the experienced miner is compelled to pause at every hundred yards to examine the croppings of a gold or silver mine as he travels on his journey of discovery, is sure at last to abound with the venturous class of our race; hence, despite the absence of those features which make other localities so pleasant, this Sahara will have to yield to science and capital returns, which the necessities of population always demand.

GOLD MOUNTAIN DISTRICT.

In a former communication I stated that the country at large would yet hear to some purpose of the mines in the mountains eastward of this Post. The fulfilment of my prophesy is more speedy than was then anticipated, as already I find that there is a furore for that region among those who, by some mysterious law of nature, lead the way in developing the wealth of uninviting places. I referred to Messrs. Shaw & Ruth in my last as being busily engaged in constructing an arrastra to work their gold ledge, or rather one of several belonging to them. They selected the least promising one for a test, because of its nearness to water, and found their anticipations more than realized. Mr. Shaw has stopped at this outpost twice since they commenced work in earnest, while on his way to the Peak for supplies, and as a consequence my statement is not only authentic but official, in regard to the state of affairs at their claim and the district. He informed us that the result of the first four days run of their mule mill was about sixty dollars; and the average per day since was about eighteen dollars. He exhibited to us the proceeds of the last eight days' run, in the form of a buckskin bag, containing fifteen ounces of retorted gold, which we estimated to be near $260, allowing the fineness of the oro to be $13. They have far richer lodes than the one they are working, but not so conveniently situated in regard to water; in truth, water is the great difficulty in these districts everywhere. Yet, scant as it is, those estimable gentlemen can secure their pile in a few years, without serious difficulty, and I am glad of it, for they well deserve it.

GREEN MOUNTAIN DISTRICT.

This is a new creation, but it will be soon enough known to the people as sonae in the way of rich ledges. Messrs. Farthing, Gallagher & Co. have commenced work on the "Green Emigrant" lode. They propose, for the present, to transport their ore to Deep Spring, to be worked by the mill at that place, the distance being at least thirty-five miles. They have thoroughly prospected their claim, and find the rock to assay firmly from $700 to $1,200 per ton. In consequence of such richness and the road being very good most of the way, they will realize good returns. The character of their mine is silver, although it will yield gold enough to pay for the mill work. Next to the great ledge at Cerro Gordo, the "Green Emigrant" is likely to prove one of the largest mines in the country. I have seen all the members of the firm in possession, and found them very enthusiastic as to the future. Success attend them.

THE PLACER MINES.

Placer mining will never amount to much in this place, by reason of the want of water; the ground is very rich, but there is no aqua fontana, and as you "can not hurra without a hat," neither can a placer be made much of without the fluid extract. Several of this detachment tried their hand at it with a rocker and a bucket or two of water, and succeeded in obtaining about a dollar's worth of the precious metal. Still it is not a paying concern at present. Were there sufficient water for a strong of boxes an ounce a day to the hand could be made; but it is not to be had and "there's an end on't." The tenacity of miners is very great, they never give up hope; when one party fails and quits the ground another is ready to replace them. Yesterday morning a new company of four passed up to try their luck on the very ground which was abandoned by another crowd a few days before. Well, perseventia vencit omnia.

SILVER PEAK.

Affairs are at a low ebb at Silver Peak just now, and it is painful to think, in view of the facts of the case, that a town in the very center of a rich mining country could be in so languishing a condition, but such is its position at present. It must be that some day it will start again to importance, when intelligence and capital combine to bring forth the contents of the earth in the vicinity. Americans are not the race I deem them to be if, ere long, this whole country will not overflow with an enterprising people. At present Silver Peak is suffering from the mismanagement of the hirelings of companies, from dishonesty as also incompetency. The place is about as dead as Herculaneum or Pompeii, and I judge that the number of live men in each are about equal, and their business houses on a par. There is a place at the entrance to Herculaneum where they sell relics of the dead city and also wine, and there is a store at the Peak where they have for sale some miners' goods and whisky. The Italians sell relics and the wine very "cheap for cash," but the miners' goods and the whisky are held at a tremendous high figure by our neighbors. Our "Doc." does not seem to have the best opinion of the Peakans since his visit there. He admits, however, that if not very numerous they are a sharp people at a game—too sharp by half at seven up. He says there was one singular feature, quite noticeable in two or three little games of sell, in which he took a hand while there, namely, that the man nearest the beans always got out first; and as they took the same seat one after another as it was vacated by the victors, the Doc found himself pronounced elected—not to represent the Peak in Carson or Congress, but to pay for the whisky. He tells us he had three dollars and a half when he entered the place, and left in the morning without a cent, murmuring to himself—or his mule—as he traveled:

"I'm as bad as Bill Nye when he played with Ah Sin
And quite as much broke as he ever has been,
Having lost my last half a dollar—
But, in that game they call sell,
And for playing it well
Those chaps at the Peak are peculiar
And the same I am free now to tell.'

PALMETTO DISTRICT.

With the exception of this place, this district is worse than even Silver Peak, for it is wholly abandoned and is at this moment is as dead as a cemetery. Not one miner is left to represent the fine claims which have been developed and ready for the advent of capitalists—everything is left for the use of future generations. There is the great Champion lode, which yielded $83,000 in the last forty-two days' run at this mill, left unworked and everything going to ruin. The New York ledge, seven feet wide at sixty feet depth, and assaying steadily $450 to the ton, is left by the owner to the bat and the mole. Dixon & Co.'s two shafts on rock that will pay from $500 to $1,000 are abandoned to the prey of some capitalist that may chance to come this way, simply for the lack of a custom mill, like that of Deep Spring Valley. I might mention others of the same sort, but this will suffice to give your readers an idea of things at Palmetto at present. Except when a party of prospectors pass this way, our detachment is like the pelican of the wilderness—alone. This dreariness, solitude, loneliness (name it as you will) soon affects the soldiers to such an extent that, after the novelty of the place is gone, each man among us feels that natural craving for human society common to civilization, so that although the duty here is light, everyone wishes to be where something like society may be enjoyed.

THIS DETACHMENT.

This outpost of Company "B" has been of incalculable benefit to those who are now doing so well in the Gold Mountains. Mr. Shaw and others freely express themselves to that effect, and they trust that Major Egbert will continue to hold the country for the benefit of the miners and consequently the public. Without this protection from the military it is next to impossible living near the Shoshones—they are the veriest rascals alive.

This is my last epistle for the present. About the Fourth of July I trust to see you in your own den, where I may shake your paw. If I am absent on that day drink success to the glorious Flag at my expense. I have done. Adios.

NOTICE NO. 2.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE,
REGISTER'S OFFICE,
Aurora, Nevada, June 8th, 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT ISAAC FRIEDLANDER has this day filed in this office a diagram, together with a notice of application for patent from the United States, under Act of Congress approved July 26, 1866, for eight thousand one hundred feet of the ECLIPSE LODE—being situated in the Russ Mining District, Inyo County, State of California, and more particularly described as follows: It is a rock claim or lode, the character of the vein exposed is gold, silver and lead ores, principally gold and silver. The lode claimed is on unsurveyed land, and extends from Black Canyon in a south-easterly direction eight thousand one hundred feet to Spring Canyon, with one hundred feet on each side of the lode. The same not being bounded by any adjoining end claims, except the Eclipse Extension South, taken up but afterwards abandoned, and the nearest claim being the "Express."

All of which is more particularly described by the diagrams and notices, posted in this office and on the claim.

The Ball.

The arrangements being effected for the Fourth of July Ball, by Independence Engine Co. No. 1, are the most complete ever inaugurted for a similar object in this part of the country. The new hall of the Masonic Fraternity is being pushed to completion for use on that occasion, while the music has been engaged without regard to cost or anything else except its quality. The tickets are to be had at the stores of J. S. Rothschild & Co. and Messrs Harris & Rhine; they are sold alone, not including supper, which will doubtless be prepared by both our hotels, and guests will have the option of going where they please for refreshments. The fire company is composed of some of the best of our citizens, who are determined to leave no effort undone to effect the object of their organization—the purchase and running of a fire apparatus in our wooden town. The public are cordially invited to attend the ball on this day of days, and all should do so, if for no other purpose than to give the company treasury the benefit of the price of a ticket or two.

A Rough Accident.

We should last week have reported on a singular accident at the Kearsarge mine, which might have proved a serious matter. The boarding house for the employees of the mine is situated near the mouth of the lower tunnel, directly beneath a steep slope of the mountain, and at a point under the dump of the middle tunnel. As no work was being done above, it was thought safe enough, but week before last a rock became detached and rolled down, fetching up square against the house. The timbers were knocked in, striking one of the men lying in one of the bunks, severely cutting and bruising his head. Proper doctoring, however, will bring him out all right, but the warning caused the removal of the building from its dangerous locality. This is the third time the same house has been taken down and moved.

Town Improvements.

Messrs. J. B. White and B. L. Brown are building, opposite the Court House, a very large livery stable, which looms up grandly. The Masonic Building is rapidly assuming its fair proportions under the hands of the efficient workmen. Mr. I. Harris is adding fine arbor buildings in the grounds surrounding his residence. Mr. J. B. Rowley will shortly replace the dilapitated old rattletrap now occupied as a postoffice by a more commodious building.

Postponed.

The grand opening ball which was announced last week to take place at the American Hotel in Cerro Gordo, on the Fourth, has been postponed in deference to the fire company ball here, as may be seen by reference to our Cerro Gordo letter. We would assure the Cerro Gordoans that this action is appreciated, and no one coming from that place here will have any occasion to regret so doing.

Horse Thieves.

Our county jail is rejoicing in the possession of two more horse thieves at the present time, one of whom was caught while assisting at a rodeo near this place last week, and the other, since then, while perambulating the streets of Lone Pine. We would give names and more particulars, only we don't want to prejudice jurors.

Eclipse.

The Eclipse company are engaged in the building of a smelting furnace at their mine, for the proper reduction of the rich galena ores of that ledge. The contract has been awarded to Messrs. Close & Fink and the work is to be rapidly pushed ahead. They will operate on precisely the same principle as those of Cerro Gordo.

Day Star.

Last Sunday, about the hour of 5 o'clock P. M., the evening star was distinctly visible, while a flood of sunlight burst under the heavy clouds which hung over the Sierras. The sight was indeed grand, and would furnish a theme for the most poetical flight of fancy wild.

Lumber.

Smith & Engle, of the Black Rock saw mill, are doing a rushing business in the way of furnishing all kinds of lumber and timber at short notice. They have adopted the plan of letting contracts for most of their work, logging, sawing, etc. See advertisement.

Application for Patent.

Elsewhere will be seen a renewed notice of application for a patent by the Eclipse company, from the proper hands—the Land Register. We knew the first was informal, but it wasn't our say.

School Law.

Somebody is respectfully requested to return to this office a copy of the School Law, which was left at the school house during the occasion of the recent farcical election.

Republican Committee.

The Republican County Central Committee is called to meet at this place on Saturday, June 24th, for important business, the calling of primaries, convention, etc.

Ball at Bishop Creek.

Tim Lewis, with overflowing hospitality, is making arrangements for a grand ball at his place on the coming Fourth. He knows as well how to do such things as anybody.

New Potatoes.

Mr. Earl is bringing into market plenty of fine, new potatoes, beets, and all sorts of "garding sass" from his beautiful place near the Post.

Religious Notice.

Mr. John Tamblyn will preach at the Court House in Independence on Sunday, June 18th, at 11 o'clock, A. M. The public are invited.

Bullion Shipment.

June 12th there were shipped from the mill of Hiskey & Walker, at Deep Spring Valley, two bars of bullion, weighing 320⅝ ounces, valued at $280.

Flour.

The Bishop Creek Flouring Mills are still in the field, furnishing the finest flour and corn meal to everybody. Read their ad.

Wanted.

A man who knows how to make shingles is wanted at the Big Pine saw mill. See notice.

LETTER FROM CERRO GORDO.

CERRO GORDO, June 12.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Once more a few moments of time are vouchsafed me, in which I am permitted to give you a few dottings. There is, however, a dearth of new items at this time.

The only blowing done here now-a day is by that old mythological son of Asturias and Aurora, Zephyrous, and a few candidates for the suffrages of the dear people. The latter, however, do not disturb our steady-going people to any great degree, neither are they likely to disturb the mental or physical equilibrium of any one, unless it should be one another about the local convention times. But that old sponsor of all blowers does not suffer himself to be forgotten, for even while I am writing he reminds me that there is yet some loose dust, sand and gravel that has not been banished from this country.

OUR TOWN,

Cerro Gordo, is improving. The new hotel of Mr. John Simpson, is a fine addition, and although it is not completed, it is rapidly approaching that desirable condition. The proposed ball and Fourth of July celebration, spoken of in The Independent of last week, is postponed, in deference to the laudable enterprise of Independence Engine Company. The new hotel was inaugurated in its career of usefulness on the first day of the present month, with a list of 130 boarders. No one need, hereafter, have any fears in regard to procuring a square meal, dished up in good shape. The Cerro Gordo Restaurant, adjoining the Cosmopolitan Saloon, kept by Messrs. Harris & Echler, is doing a good business, having a patronage of 34 regular boarders, besides transient custom. Mr. A. A. Mackay is refitting the restaurant building lately occupied by Mr. Simpson, with the view of opening a boarding house. Mr. John Brisco has graded and constructed a substantial stone foundation on his lot opposite the office of Judge Hannah, and intends putting up a commodious building for rent as soon as lumber can be procured for the purpose.

The furnace property of Mr. V. Beaudry, lately destroyed by fire, is being reconstructed as rapidly as necessary material can be procured. It is expected that on the morning of the 19th instant the steam whistle will make the shrill announcement that those works are again in operation.

The works of M. W. Belshaw & Co. are in constant operation. Mr. Wm. Bastion yesterday effected a sale of a small lumber house, with lot 25x50 feet, situated near the dump of the Buena Vista tunnel, for $300. Mr. Belshaw bought the property, together with another house about as good, and two lots, which he purchased some three months ago for $150.

Master John Lock, one of our XVth amendments, has established himself in a new shop opposite the saloon of D. H. Williams, and with razor, soap, brush and blacking, is prepared to improve the physiognomy and polish the understanding of all who may give him a call, and special attention given to candidates for office.

WATER.

The Cerro Gordo Water Company are expecting to receive an invoice of pipe from San Francisco in a few days, when the work of bringing the water into camp will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible. So our delegation to your Fourth of July celebration will be able to leave here with clean hands. Our saloon keepers will be able to take the fight out of their liquors by adding such quantities of the neutralizing fluid as circumstances may suggest. The children can have clean faces, and the burros no longer bray for water.

CITIZEN.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

INDEPENDENCE, June 12, 1871.

The Democratic County Central Committee met pursuant to call. Present, S. P. McMat, Chairman, T. K. Hutchison, D. Olds, J. J. Moore, W. L. Hunter, D. B. Curtiss and Henry M. Isaacs, Secretary, comprising all the members of the Committee.

On motion, it was resolved that the following apportionment be made for delegates to the County Convention, from the different precincts and townships of Inyo County: Round Valley, 2; Bishop Creek, 4; Big Pine, 2; Fish Springs, 2; Deep Spring Valley, 2; Independence, 3; Kearsarge, 1; Lone Pine, 4; Gerro Gordo, 8.

On motion, the test was fixed as follows: "All qualified electors of the county who will pledge themselves to support the nominees of the ensuing Democratic Convention, will be allowed to vote at the primary elections."

Saturday, June 24th, was appointed as the day on which the primaries are to be held, and Saturday, the 8th day of July, as the day for the meeting of the County Convention, to be held at Independence, at 10 o'clock, A. M.

Committee adjourned sine die.

S. P. MOFFAT, Chairman.

HENRY M. ISAACS, Secretary.

Primaries and Convention.

By advertisement and the report of proceedings, it will be seen that the County Democratic Central Committee have made the apportionment of delegates to the nominating convention, and appointed the days for the holding of primaries and the Convention. We hear of some Democrats expressing dissatisfaction at the apportionment, inasmuch as Lone Pine is allowed but four delegates and Cerro Gordo eight, Kearsarge is allowed one and Swansea none, or is included with Lone Pine; but the Committee have doubtless thoroughly canvassed the matter and know the wherefores, and an explanation through the columns of this paper would not be amiss. It seems to us, in addition, that the Committee should have named persons to act as judges at the primaries in the different precincts.

For Treasurer.

Mr. Henry M. Isaacs announces himself as a candidate for nomination for County Treasurer on the Democratic ticket. Harry has been urged by his friends to run for Clerk, but seems to have been crowded off the track, and now consents to be a candidate for Treasurer. He has virtually held the office for the last year as Deputy, enjoys the office of Secretary and Treasurer of Inyo Lodge F. and A. M., and is Treasurer of the fire company.

Cerro Gordo.

By some unaccountable means, two or three pages of the MSS. of "Citizen's" letter are missing, compelling the omission of several mining items of importance. Will our correspondent please repeat that portion next time?

For Coroner.

Mr. John A. Lank announces himself a candidate for nomination for Coroner at the hands of the Democrats, for re-election. It would be hard to find a man to beat him.

American Hotel.

The new hotel of Mr. John Simpson and lady, at Cerro Gordo, this week officially announces itself as ready to receive guests. Good.

SPECIAL NOTICES.

Old prejudices are dying out. New facts are killing them. The idea that invalids weakened by disease can be relieved by prostrating them with destructive drugs, is no longer entertained except by monomaniacs. Ever since the introduction of Dr. Walker's Vinegar Bitters, it has been obvious that their regulating and invigorating properties are all sufficient for the cure of chronic indigestion, rheumatism, constipation, diarrhœa, nervous affections and malarious fevers, and they are now the standard remedy for these complaints in every section of the Union.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, June 17,..... .....1871.

A Reminder of Other Days.

On Saturday we saw creeping about C street, and halting now before a provision store, and now in front of a drug establishment, a little, old, dilapidated two-horse wagon, with weather and travel-stained cover, which, with its owner, contents and all belongings, strongly reminded us of the early days in Washoe when "Pike" used to "come the plains across." The horses were of the "architectural" style, and had a discouraged and sorry look, a perfect reflection of which was to be seen in the face of the pale, little woman seated on the bottom of the wagon, between two children of infantile appearance. The face of the mother looked very sad, and seemed to shrink into the farthest depths of her faded sun bonnet, when curious persons come about the wagon; the children moved their blue eyes, but scarcely their heads, and were as serene and serious of countenance as though aged beyond computation. The creaky looking little old wagon looked as though ready to give up all hope of ever reaching a place of rest, and seemed ready to drop to pieces where it stood, in spite of the rolls of rags braided in between the spokes, to hold the water poured upon them to keep them in the cracked and splintered hubs. The head of the family, a tall, slender man, with sickly sandy whiskers running from ear to ear over his chin, and a faded blue military coat, which reached from above his ears down to his heels, moved about as though he had given up all hope of ever reaching a permanent camp, and was no more jocund than the other members of the family. A little bay colt, some four weeks old, was the only wide-awake thing connected with the peambulating establishment. The family were, they said, on their way from Owen's Valley to Oregon, "and," sighed the woman, "Oregon still seems far away."—Nevada Enterprise, June 3d.

The Ardennes Dog.

The dog of the Ardennes accompanies the flock when it leaves the pen-fold in the Spring, only to return when the Winter's snow drives the sheep home again for shelter. Each shepherd possesses one or two of these dogs, according to the size of his flock, to act as sentinels. Their office is not to run about and bark, and keep the sheep in order, but to protect them from outside foes. When the herdsman has gathered his flock together in some rich valley, these white, shaggy monsters crouch upon the ground, apparently half asleep; but now and then the great, sagacious eyes wil open, and passing over the whole of their charge, remain for awhile fixed on the distant horizon, as though they followed a train of thought which led them far away from earth—so sadly do they gaze into the infinite.

But let the mountain breeze bear to his ever-moving nostril the scent of the hated wolf, or his quick ear detect an unknown noise; then is the time to see one of the dogs in his glory. His eyes become black with fierceness; his hair stands erect; his upper lip becomes wrinkled, showing a range of white, formidable teeth, while a low growl alone escapes from his throat. When his keen faculties have detected the whereabout of his foe he rushes forward with a bark that echoes from all the surrounding hills. Every dog that may be near takes up the note, and rushes gleaming through the brushwood to join in the attack. Tender as the childhood he protects, woe to him who dare lift a hand on one of the little ones with whom he has been brought up. It is not he who buys him who is his master; it is he who fed him when a pup, who petted and shared his pittance with him—he it is who has his love, and who reciprocates his faithful affections.—Overland Monthly.

The Mont Cenis Tunnel.

A traveler, who lately passed through the Mont Cenis tunnel, coming from Italy, furnishes the Mont Blanc of Annecy, Savoy, with the following particulars: He passed from Bardonneche to the point of junction of the two galleries in less than a quarter of an hour, in a train employed in moving the materials excavated. The way is not yet constructed in its whole width for about a hundred yards in the center, where blasting operations are still going on. But with that exception the double line is completed, and nothing more remains to be done but to replace the temporary rails with permanent ones. The middle of the excavation forms a culminating point, a slope of two in a hundred having been provided on each side for drainage, so that it is consequently from 230 to 250 metres above the level of the entrance.

The temperature is still very high, but that circumstance is accounted for by the necessity of still keeping closed the gates constructed for the requirements of the service, and which are only opened after an explosion to let the smoke escape. The fact has been remarked that when the door is thrown open a current of air is rapidly established, and always in the direction from France to Italy. No one can pass over the line without permission from the principal engineers, in order not to impede the progress of the works, which are expected to be completed in this month and the inauguration to take place in July.

—George Walcott, who killed a soldier at Frankfort, Kentucky, some time ago, and for whose arrest Governor Leslie offered $500 reward, had himself arrested by a friend, who drew the reward and gave it to Walcott. Walcott immediatetly gave the money to the widow of his victim. He was drunk at the time of the killing.

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of State and the Treasurer of State, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said State, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bond; said coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notices of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the Capital of the State; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris, in France, and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in German, in the City of Frankfort-on-the-Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the State; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless sufficient security shall be furnished by the bidders for the compliance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin, par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of State each to keep a separate record of all bonds sold under the provisions of this Act, showing the number, date, amount and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury; and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in section seven of this Act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value, but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bonded, which said certificate shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel each bond so exchanged, and shall indorse on such bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued in exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the State treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the State, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering therein the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the expiration of such advertisement, such bonds, unless sooner paid, shall cease to draw interest, but the money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the State, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the State treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper, published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper, published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals, at rates not exceeding par value, as may redeem the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less amount than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publications, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication; before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this Act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said interest Fund, if sufficient, and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that the Controller of State shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. This Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for its submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the State for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this State shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act; those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same, shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and cancelled, and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Treasurer of State, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast are for or against this law, as aforesaid, are in favor of this Act, then the same shall have effect as hereinbefore provided, and shall be irrepealable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation hereof; but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have this Act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceeding the next general election, for which publication no greater allowance shall be made than the rates allowed by law to the State Printer.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, H. L. NICHOLS, Secretary of State of the State of California, do hereby certify that the annexed is a true, full, and correct copy of Chapter Four Hundred and Eighty-Four, Statutes of California, Eighteenth Session, approved April 2, 1870, now on file in my office.

WITNESS my hand and the great seal of State, at office, in Sacramento, California, the twenty-fifth day of May, A. D. 1871.

NOTICE.

I, ISAAC FRIEDLANDER, THE UNDERSIGNED, give notice that I intend to apply for a patent for that portion of the vein or lode set forth in the above diagram, called the "ECLIPSE LODE," which belongs to me, comprising eight thousand one hundred feet not bounded by any adjoining end claims, except Eclipse Extension South, taken up but afterwards abandoned, and the nearest claim being the "Express," said Eclipse Lode being situated in the Russ Mining District, Inyo County, State of California. It is a rock claim or lode, and I claim 8,100 feet on the course of the vein, with surface ground 100 feet on each side of the lode. The character of the vein exposed is gold, silver and lead ores, principally ores of silver. The lode claimed by me is on unsurveyed land and extends from Black Canyon in a south easterly direction 8,100 feet to Spring Canyon, with one hundred feet on each side of the lode.

And I now post this notice on a conspicuous part thereof.

Dated on the ground this sixth day of June, 1871.

MUSICAL.

PATENT ARION PIANO.

A Few Reasons WHY

THE

IS

Superior to All Others.

THE ARION PIANO-FORTE HAS GREATER Power than any other Piano Forte manufactured.

It Will Stand In Tune Longer,

And in its mechanical construction it is more perfect, and therefore, more durable than any instrument constructed in the usual modern style.

The arrangement of the Agraffe, the manner of stringing, the peculiar form and arrangement of the Iron Frame,

Supersedes all Others.

The use of a bar (which is part of the Iron Frame), on a line with the heavy steel stringing, gives

Great Strength

Where most needed, and in this respect all other Pianos fail.

The construction of the WREST PLANK, into which the Tuning Pins are inserted, is such that it is impossible for the pins to become loosened, or the Wrest Plank itself to split, as is too often the case in other Piano Fortes.

The Extraordinary Eveness

Throughout the entire scale, the excellent Singing Quality, the

Length and Purity on Vibration.

All go to prove what we claim, viz.: that the

Arion Piano Forte

Is the BEST INSTRUMENT Manufactured.

THE PATENT

Arion Pianos

ARE USED EXCLUSIVELY IN THE

American Conservatories of Music,

Of New York City.

THE MOST SEVERE TEST A PIANO CAN RECEIVE IS CONSTANT USE IN A CONSERVATORY.

READ THE FOLLOWING:

IT AFFORDS ME MUCH PLEASURE TO GIVE you, in these few lines, a very sincere testimonial for the Piano Fortes of your manufacture. We have now used the "PATENT ARION PIANOS" in our Conservatories for a year, and have had a fair opportunity of testing their durability during that time. The Pianos have been played upon almost constantly, from morning until night, and a Piano must indeed be a good one when it will bear such constant use without showing signs of detection. As for REMAINING IN TUNE, it outrivals any Piano known to me.

Their peculiar sweetness of tone in the treble (as compared to other Pianos with the ordinary metal agraffe arrangement), is so striking that I have had pupils remark, while taking their lessons, that although they had at home what they supposed to be one of the best makes of Pianos, still the treble was very wiry toned compared with the "ARION."

What makes them still more desirable is their uniform volume of tone, which enables an Artist to perform a composition in its true character.

In total, I can conscientiously endorse all that is claimed by the ARION PIANO-FORTE COMPANY for their superb instruments, as I consider them superior to any other make.

Congratulating you upon the great success you have obtained in the manufacture of so perfect an instrument, I remain yours,

Very truly,
HENRY SHROEDER,
DIRECTOR.

New York, September 3d, 1870.

AGENTS WANTED.

We want first class and responsible agents in every city and town where we have not already appointed them.

We Have Just Published

Our Annual Illustrated Pamphlet, which contains a full description of the interior construction of the PATENT ARION PIANO FORTE, and all the other leading Pianos of the principal makes; illustrated with cuts, thus contrasting the ARION with all other first class Pianos, and proving

WHY AND WHERE

Our Pianos are superior to any in the market.

Our pamphlet contains engravings of all the different styles of instruments that we manufacture, giving a full description of each, so that a person can select the style they may desire to order, with the assurance that they will receive just as good a Piano as if they were in our warerooms to select it. We have sold over FIVE THOUSAND Pianos, many of them being shipped great distances, and we have never yet received the first complaint. As we give a written guarantee with every Piano we manufacture, for five years, the purchaser runs no risk.

☞ Don't fail to write for our pamphlet which we mail free, and when you write state what paper you saw this notice in. ☜

N. B.—We caution the public from purchasing a cheap Piano which has recently been put in the market, bearing the name "Arion." All genuine Arion Pianos bear the name "Patent Arion," and can only be purchased from our New York Warerooms, or our authorized Agents throughout the United States.

FOR SALE.

OUR DRUG BUSINESS, located in San Francisco, Cal. After our best wishes, and expressing our thanks for the liberal patronage we have received for more than twenty-one years, during which period we have been steadily engaged in the Drug business in California, we beg to say in consequence of the rapid growth of Dr. Walker's Cal. Vinegar Bitters, now spread over the United States and countries far beyond, we are necessitated to devote our entire time to said business.

We are the Oldest Drug Firm on the Pacific coast and the only one continuous under the same proprietors since 1849, and have determined to sell our large, prosperous, and well established business on favorable terms.

This is a rare opportunity for men with means, of entering into a profitable business with advantages never before offered.

The Great Medical Discovery!

DR. WALKER'S CALIFORNIA

VINEGAR BITTERS,

Hundreds of Thousands

Bear testimony to their Wonderful Curative Effects.

WHAT ARE THEY?

They are a Gentle Purgative as well as a Tonic, possessing the properties of a purgative combined with a tonic, they are free from all the objections of the Vile Nauseous Drugs.

FOR FEMALE COMPLAINTS, whether in young or old, married or single, at the dawn of womanhood or at the turn of life, these Tonic Bitters have no equal.

THEY ARE NOT A VILE

FANCY DRINK,

Made of Poor Rum, Whiskey, Proof Spirits and Refuse Liquors doctored, spiced and sweetened to please the taste, called "Tonics," "Appetizers," "Restorers," &c., that lead the tippler on to drunkenness and ruin, but are a true Medicine, made from the Native Roots and Herbs of California, free from all Alcoholic Stimulants. They are the GREAT BLOOD PURIFIER and LIFE GIVING PRINCIPLE a perfect Renovator and Invigorator of the System, carrying off all poisonous matter and restoring the blood to a healthy condition. No person can take these Bitters according to direction and remain long unwell.

☞ For Inflammatory and Chronic Rheumatism and Gout, Dyspepsia or Indigestion, Bilious, Remittent and Intermittent Fevers, Diseases of the Blood, Liver, Kidneys, and Bladder, these Bitters have been most successful. Such Diseases are caused by Vitiated Blood, which is generally produced by derangement of the Digestive Organs.

DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.

Headache, Pain in the Shoulders, Coughs, Tightness of the Chest, Dizziness, Sour Eructations of the Stomach, Bad taste in the Mouth Bilious Attacks, Palpitation of the Heart, Inflammation of the Lungs, Pain in the regions of the Kidneys, and a hundred other painful symptoms, are the offsprings of Dyspepsia.

They invigorate the Stomach and stimulate the torpid liver and bowels, which render them of unequalled efficacy in cleansing the blood of all impurities, and imparting new life and vigor to the whole system.

FOR SKIN DISEASES, Eruptions, Tetter, Salt Rheum, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Pustules, Boils, Carbuncles, Ring-Worms, Scald-Head, Sore Eyes, Erysipelas, Itch, Scurfs, Discolorations of the Skin, Humors and Diseases of the Skin, of whatever name or nature, are literally dug up and carried out of the system in a short time by the use of these Bitters. One bottle in such cases will convince the most incredulous of their curative effects.

Cleanse the Vitiated Blood whenever you find its impurities bursting through the skin in Pimples, Eruptions or Sores; cleanse it when you find it obstructed and sluggish in the veins; cleanse it when it is foul, and your feelings will tell you when. Keep the blood pure and the health of the system will follow.

PIN, TAPE and other WORMS, lurking in the system of so many thousands, are effectually destroyed and removed. For full directions, read carefully the circular around each bottle.

FARMER JOHN.

Home from his journey Farmer John
Arrived this morning safe and sound,
His black coat off and his old clothes on,
"Now I'm myself," said Farmer John,
And he thinks "I'll look around."
Up leaps the dog: "Get down you pup!
Are you so glad you could eat me up?"
The old cow lows at the gate to greet him;
The horses prick up their ears to meet him;
"Well, well, well, old Bay!
Ha, ha old Gray!
Do you get good feed when I'm away?"

"You haven't a rib!" says Farmer John.
"The cattle are looking round and sleek;
The colt is going to be a roan,
And a beauty, too; how he has grown!
We'll wean the calf next week."
Says Farmer John, "when I've been off,
To call you again about the trough,
And watch you, and pet you, while you drink
Is a greater comfort than you can think!"
And he pats old Bay,
And slaps old Gray—
"Ah, this is the comfort of going away!"

"For after all," says Farmer John,
"The best of the journey is coming home;
I've seen great sights but would not give
This spot, and the peaceful life I live
For all their Paris and Rome!
These hills for the city's stifled air,
And big hotels, all bustle and glare,
And all houses, and roads all stones,
That deafen your ears and batter your bones!
Would you old Bay?
Would you old Gray?
That's what one gets by going away!"

"There Money is king," says Farmer John;
"And Fashion is queen; and its mighty queer
To see how, sometimes, while the man
Is raking and scraping all he can,
The wife spends every year,
Enough, you would think, for a score of wives,
To keep them in luxury all their lives!
The town is a perfect Babylon
To a quiet chap," says Farmer John.
"You see old Bay—
You see old Gray—
I'm wiser than when I went away."

"I've found out this," says Farmer John—
"That happiness is not bought and sold,
And clutched in a life of waste and hurry,
In nights of pleasure and days of worry;
And wealth isn't all gold,
Mortgage and stocks and ten per cent.—
But in simple ways and sweet content,
Few wants, pure hopes and noble ends,
Some land to till, and a few good friends,
Like you old Bay,
And you old Gray—
That's what I've learned by going away."

And a happy man is Farmer John—
O, a rich and happy man is he!
He sees the peas and pumpkins growing,
The corn in tassel, the buckwheat blowing
And fruit on vine and tree;
The large kind oxen look their thanks
As he rubs their foreheads and strokes their flanks;
The doves light 'round him, and strut and coo;
Says Farmer John, "I'll take you too,
And you old Bay,
And you old Gray,
Next time I travel so far away!"

Steam Plowing in Louisiana.

[From The American Artisan.]

Magnolia Plantation, in Louisiana, is likely to achieve some celebrity for the success of the Fowler steam-plowing machinery in the tillage of its tough and tenacious soil. Horace Greeley in the course of a recent visit to the place gives, in the editorial correspondence of The Tribune, some details of the method of cultivation not generally known, but of very considerable interest, especially to the large number of inventors who hope yet to produce a plowing machine that will enable steam to be used in tillage throughout the country with greater economy than is possible with the English apparatus.

The double-engine system, that in which engines arranged at opposite sides of the field haul the plows to and fro, is the one used on the plantation just indicated. The engines are of thirty horse-power each, and are said to be the largest ever used for the purpose. Only two plows are used in the gang, and these turn furrows each sixteen inches wide and two feet deep. The plows are drawn at a speed equal to the pace of a man in rapid walking, and are attended by three hands, required to keep them from choking with the cane trash, this latter of course being buried or turned under by the furrows. Five or six acres a day are plowed, and the tangible benefits of steam tillage are shown in a yield of two thousand pounds of sugar per acre where, under previous methods only eight were secured.

An unusual but noticeable and important application of the system is had in the cultivation of the growing sugar-cane. The cane is in rows seven feet apart, and the stirring of the ground between the rows is carried on when the plants are about twelve inches in height. The engines are arranged as in plowing. The cultivator stirs the earth to the width of five feet and a depth of more than twenty inches, the implement being made to traverse twice in the same place. Formerly, when the work was done by mules, the crop required cultivation every fifteen days, but it is found that once in a whole season with the steam cultivator is equally efficacious. Greater dryness, owing to the greater depth of tilth, is secured that was possible under the old plan, and the actual expense is less, one set of machinery being capable of cultivating twelve acres a day. There is also the incidental advantage, by no means a slight one, that in October and November, the cane-cutting season, when all the mules on the plantation are required in hauling cane, the steam machinery may be kept at work in plowing, if such work is desired to be done.

Mrs. Fair's Answer.

Mrs. Fair has filed an answer to the complaint of her physician, Dr. Trask, who testified to her insanity on her trial and then sued her for $2,100. She says she paid him $700, instead of $300 as he admits, and that his legitimate services amounted to no such sum as he claims. It is stated that she has paid Dr. Trask $700; Dr. Lyford, who also proved her insane, $500; her attorney, Cook, $8,500; Quint, $2,500; and other expenses incident to the trial amounting, all told, to over $20,000 already.

Greeley in the South

[From The Memphis Appeal.]

Horace Greeley passed down from Louisville through Humboldt Saturday night, en route to New Orleans and Texas. He is accompanied by four or five shrewd fellows, whose identification with railroad and other jobs excites the suspicion that Horace's lecture is an empty sham, and that his purpose in visiting Texas is to hold a share or two of stock in some grand scheme of railway speculation. Such doubtless is the purpose of Greeley's friends.

He comes along innocently enough, we doubt, his primary purpose is to see our South and Southern people in their own homes, at their own firesides, not as painted by Phillips, Beecher and others who know no more about them than we of the people of Maine or Madagascar.

It is needless to say that Mr. Greeley is cordially greeted everywhere. Whenever the telegraph tells the people of his coming, they gather in crowds at the railway stations, and all are anxious to see and greet and shake the hands of the curiously unique philosopher of The Tribune. He wears a greasy, broad-rimmed straw hat and a venerable brown sack coat, brown with years and dust. The hat rim slants backward and forward, from beneath it protrudes the fully-exposed broad, light forehead of the erratic but honest optimist of The Tribune. At Bowling Green he was welcomed by a great throng. Among the multitude was a fat old country dame of Greeley's age—say of sixty summers. She asked anxiously for Horace.

"Oh! whar is he?" she exclaimed. "He and my father and my old man were allers Whigs together, and I must see him."

Mr. Greeley was pointed out. The heavy brigade in petticoats made a charge and Horace went down. He was hugged and kissed, and the old hat was smashed, and the greasy old coat well sanded, and Horace almost crushed to death. The crowd enjoyed the collision no little; and we only fear that the story will go North that Greeley has been Ku Kluked by a Kentucky dame, and Grant may be induced to proclaim martial law about it.

Census Curiosities.

From an examination of the United States census for 1870 it appears that California has the largest number of foreigners in its population. The natives number 356,393, the foreigners 209,839. Wisconsin comes next with 690,320 native born and 364,845 foreign. In contrast, North Carolina and Virginia are almost wholly populated by persons native and to the manor born. Virginia returns a population of 1,211,383, and singular as it may seem of these only 12,578 are of foreign birth. In North Carolina the proportion is still less. The total population is 1,068,113, of whom 3,022 are foreigners. It is hardly probable that either the German-Americans or Irish-Americans of these latter States will incline to form political clubs for any purpose whatever. These comparisons afford healthy food for discussion by political economists.—San Francisco Chronicle.

Largest Production.

The Eureka Sentinel of June 7th says: The greatest production, for a single day, of any one furnace in America, was undoubtedly that of the White Pine Smelting works on the 26th day of June, 1869. On that day there was tapped and moulded, from a rather small furnace, with only two tuyeres, 11¾ tons of base bullion. But as one swallow don't make a summer, that was not an average. Undoubtedly, however, Eureka has, up to date, produced the largest amount of high grade bullion ever produced in America—the lead of the Western States being, as is well known, almost barren in silver.

—The observation party on Mount Washington will remain there through the present month, at least, and probably the Government will make permanent arrangements for meteorological dispatches from that point. The three reports forwarded daily to the signal office at Washington have proved quite valuable in their bearing upon weather predictions, and by further observation and comparison will be still more so. It has been demonstrated that an approaching "cold snap" is felt on the mountain considerably sooner than in the country below, and that cloudy, drizzly and cold, raw weather continues below a few hours after it begins to moderate on the mountain. The hygrometic observations are of still more importance.

—A Portland, Maine, lover, who was told by his friends that he had engaged to marry a fool, said to them that the girl that he had chosen "had certainly some qualities to shine in a fashionable circle. She had a plenty of apathy, was tolerably illiterate, was brilliantly vain, and fertilely capricious, acquiesced with every one, and diffused universal smiles."

—There is a slight difference in the testimony in the Woodhull-Claflin-Blood scandal case. One witness swears that Blood threatened to wash his hands in old Mrs. Claflin's heart's blood, and Blood swears that he only threatened to "take her across his knee and give her a spanking."

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY,

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER

JAS. E. PARKER, | P. A. CHALFANT

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, June 24.....1871.

VOLUME II.

With the next issue, Saturday, July 1st, is closed Volume I of The Inyo Independent. At that time we shall take occasion to refer at length to various matters connected with the establishment and publication of a paper in this county; at present, we only design urging upon our patrons to renew their support, for with that numbe a great majority of the subscriptions expire. Roll in the names; let EVERY man who desires his paper continued notify us forthwith. Send also, to your friends elsewhere, and induce your neighbors to become subscribers and readers, for in exact ratio to the support accorded it will your county paper be made useful, influential and valuable.

Death of Sue Robinson.

This well known and popular leading actress died at the Orleans Hotel, Sacramento June 17th, after an illness of three days. There are few old Californians who will not remember the little Sue Robinson, who used to travel in the mountain towns with the Robin-troupe. Since then she had become famous, winning love and esteem by her generous nature, and the heartiest encomiums for her versatile talent; she was a Pacific coast production, and as such will never be forgotton. An other pathetic verse should be added to the song of "The Engine on the Hill," which Sue delighted to sing in her personations of fireman's character She was long an honorary member of Monumental Engine Company, No. 6, of Virginia, Nevada. Let us draw the Christian veil of charity and forgiveness over her faults, and enshrine her memory in our hearts as a bright star passed away.

Bullion Shipment.

During the week ending Saturday, May 27, there were shipped from the works of the Owens Lake Silver Lead Company, at Swansea, 581 bars of bullion, weighing 51,792 pounds.

Our enterprising and able friend of The Inyo Independent, publishes the above as the result of one week's shipment of one company at Swansea, Inyo County. It is well for most places, but there is one company here that when all their furnaces are running on the Champion ore, one of their own mines, they will make 65,000 pounds of bullion in 24 hours, so that they would be ready to ship 445,000 pounds of bullion in any one week. In quantity and quality Eureka leads all other places in bullion.—Eureka Daily Sentinel.

Our item was published as a shipment and not as a result. From the oldest and largest furnace in the county (not the one referred to) we have never been able to obtain any information whatever concerning their operations We propose ventilating some matters and facts in this connection shortly, when somebody may be placed in a somewhat unenviable light.

Governor Butler.

The impeachment of Governor Butler, of Nebraska, seems to have the concurrence of all parties. He was a Republican, yet the Republican papers applaud the act. Governor Butler has converted some thousands of dollars of public moneys to his private use. Such little peccadilloes seldom meet with punishment, although it is not very clear how a man who taps a till is a greater sinner than he who breaks a trust. If the conviction of this magnate shall deter others, not less guilty, from pursuing their evil course, something will be gained. Butler is a very ambitious man, and the punishment he has received will fall heavily upon him.

The Woman's Journal.

We very cheerfully commend to general notice Mrs. Carrie Young's "Woman's Journal," of San Francisco. The Journal is not a woman's rights paper in the general acceptation of the term, but is devoted almost exclusively to matters of personal interest to mothers and children, and is a paper worthy of a place in every household. Published monthly at $1 50 per annum.

Tragic Death of a Noted Man.

Dates from Lebanon, Ohio, of June 17th, state that Clement L. Vallandigham died that day from the effect of a pistol shot. He was one of the counsel in a murder case, and while showing how the murdered man might have shot himself, the pistol he held in his hand was accidentally discharged, causing his death the following day.

CALIFORNIA vs. EASTERN WAGONS.

The Scientific Press, in a long article with the above caption, shows that wagons can be manufactured on this coast out of imported material and sold at lower rates than those brought here ready for use from the east. After allowing 25 per cent. for wastage, freight on the timber actually in wagons built here does not exceed one cent per pound if shipped by sea. The imported wagons mostly come by rail at a freight cost of two and one half cents per pound, leaving in this particular one cent a pound in favor of our mechanics. If brought by sea the ready made wagon costs more proportionately than the raw material, as more stowage is necessary. Iron costs the same in San Francisco as in New York. This makes another difference in favor of our mechanics of two and one half cents per pound, or a total for iron and hard wood about $16 for each wagon. Soft wood for boxes, paints, etc., cost relatively about the same. Making due allowance for the same forms of labor and there is still a margin for profit in this manufacturing interest, sufficient it would seem, to shut out eastern importations entirely and keep our work at home where our best intersts demand it should remain.

Another important item, not mentioned by The Press but patent to all who have had the opportunities for judging, is the fact that the California built wagon is really superior to the imported in point of adaptability and durability, and is always preferred by purchasers of experience, even at considerably higher prices. With similar workmanship only there are good reasons why our home built wagons and buggies are better than the imported. It will not pay importers to ship any but the best quality of timber, because manufacturers having a local reputation to sustain will use no other. Besides that the timber on its long voyage hither becomes almost perfectly seasoned, and if anything is still lacking in that particular our dry climate soon supplies it. The climate of the Sacramento valley and this side of the mountains is especially trying on wagons and if the timber out of which they are constructed is not perfectly seasoned they soon go to pieces. Wagons for use in such a dessicating atmosphere ought to be constructed out of timber seasoned on the ground. This is why vehicles built in Sacramento city and other inland towns rate higher than those put up in damp atmosphere nearer the coast. For the same reason wagons and buggies made here in this valley, would far excel any imported of equal workmanship. We doubt not that sooner or later our home manufactured articles of this kind will hold the same relation to those brought in from other parts of the State as the latter do the imported, and command a price accordingly. These facts and probabilities are worthy of consideration by our mechanics in this valley. Except in the matter of freight from the sea-board, there is no obvious reason why the business might not be as profitably followed here on an extended scale as on the other side of the mountains, especially since our section require wagons of peculiar construction that could best be supplied by our own workmen.

A Fine Thing.

Col. T. A. Scott, the new President of the Union Pacific Railroad Company, after a survey of the prospect of traffic and expenses of the present year, estimates the gross earnings at $9,000,000, and the net income, exclusive of sales of and collections from land, at $4,500,000. When the immense Government subsidies and grants of land are taken into consideration, the magnitude of the speculation made by a the few individuals who own the franchise of the Union Pacific will be apparent. A net profit of four and a half millions, obtained when the great bulk of the country through which the road passes is still a wilderness, must be exceedingly gratifying to the stockholders of the road.

The Calistoga Tribune.

We are in receipt of the first number of a very neat little paper named as above, which has just been started at the famous Calistoga Springs, Napa county. The Tribune has commenced in the right manner, giving personal sketches of Napa county pioneers, names of the many visitors to the watering place, and other interesting local news, from which we conclude the paper will be a success.

France.

All interest in France now centers in the elections for vacant seats in the National Assembly. The Bonapartists are increasing in numbers, and are offering to submit to a plebiscite of the people whether the Prince Imperial or the Bourbon Count de Chambord shall ascend the throne of France.

OUTSIDE ADVERTISING.

The press of the State are at present engaged in discussing the evils of the system now in vogue of indiscriminately receiving orders from the various advertising agents. For unmitigated cheek and ways that are more than peculiar, the Eastern Agencies are entitled to walk off with the prize; and the country press will have good reason to take a hand in the movement now on foot. Our experience in this business is that, after refusing over two columns of space four times the advertisements were finally ordered in at satisfactory rates; this week we quash them all, without the prospect of getting a cent. After securing an advertising contract, these agents take advantage of the weakness of small publishers, and pay rates barely covering the cost of composition, with a further deduction of only 25 per cent. "commission."

The remedy is very simple, and is entirely in the hands of the publish- Set your own figures on any advertisement offered, and then inform the agent, company or person that upon the reception of the coin publication will commence.

A very sensible proposition growing out of this matter is to hold an Editorial Convention, the duties of which will be to settle upon a uniform, equitable rate of advertising in proportion to circulation, and to pass a unanimous, binding resolution placing all branches of the publishing business on a strictly CASH basis. If such a great desideratum is reached by the present movement, the publishers of the Coast will have The San Francisco Spirit of the Times to thank for inaugurating the discussion. Let the Convention be held, and as soon after the election as is practicable.

SCHOOL TAXES.

INDEPENDENCE, June 21.

MESSRS. EDITORS: I read a comment in the last issue of your paper in regard to Sections 98, 99 and 100 of the California School Law, the writer of which, I am inclined to think, did not have a copy of the law at hand, for if he did there is certainly a wide difference in his opinion and mine in regard to its meaning. First, in regard to the length of time a school shall be taught in a year where there are more than twenty-five children between the ages of five and fifteen years, and taxable property to exceed seventy-five thousand dollars. I understand the required time to be eight months instead of six. Secondly, I do not understand that the Trustees of any School District are required under any circumstances to ask the Board of Supervisors for a permit to levy a special school tax; neither is the Board of Supervisors empowered to grant any such permit to them, but it is the duty of the Board of Supervisors to levy a special school tax themselves after receiving the assessment roll from the County Assessor, before the first Monday in September of each year.

As there is such a wide difference of opinion in regard to this portion of the law, and as but few of the readers of your paper have a copy of the School Law to refer to, I ask you to insert the above mentioned sections, that all who wish may read and judge for themselves.

"SEC. 98. The County Superintendent in each county shall, on or before the first day of March in each year, furnish to the Board of Supervisors and Tax Collector, respectively, an estimate, in writing, of the cost of maintaining a free school for eight months' in each school district in the county, together with the cost of incidental expenses and necessary repairs; and also an estimate of the amount of public money, both State and county, to which each district will be entitled during the year, and the amount necessary to be raised in each school district to support a school eight months.

"SEC. 99. The Board of Supervisors in each county shall, after receiving the assessment roll from the County Assessor, and before the first Monday in September, levy a special school tax upon the property in each school district in which there shall be a deficiency, as shown by the written statement of the County Superintendent, for an amount which together with the State and county money to be received, shall be sufficient to maintain the school (or schools) for eight months during the year; and said tax shall be equalized and collected in the manner provided for equalizing and collecting State and county taxes. The Collector shall pay over the money so collected to the County Treasurer, who shall place it to the credit of the respective districts from which it shall be collected, as a special deposit, and pay it out on the warrant of the County Superintendent, in the manner provided for the payment of the State and county school money.

"SEC. 100. Any school district whose taxable property does not exceed seventy-five thousand dollars, and containing not more than twenty five children between the ages of five and fifteen years, shall, on a proper showing of the facts, be exempted from the requirement to maintain a free school eight months."

County Superintendent.

Jimmy Dwyer, who keeps a "Hole in the Wall" in Oakland, accidentally shot himself recently. Not dangerous.

The Democratic County Committee of San Francisco met June 7th and refused to comply with the request to rescind their action in appointing delegates to the State Convention. A series of resolutions offered by McCoppin, reaffirming the appointment, was adopted by a vote of twenty to one.

Capt. Hall sailed for the polar seas June 8th. It will be remembered that the last Congress voted $100,000 for this expedition. Capt. Hall has fitted a Government screw steamer, called the "Polaris," for a three years cruise, in search of the North pole, or rather in search of an open sea at the pole.

The long-looked for triumphal entry of the German army into Berlin took place on the 16th of the present month. Details show it to have been one of the grandest parades in modern history. Kaiser William unvailed the statue of Frederick William III, and made a speech, at the conclusion of which he said he hoped the present peace would be lasting. The greatest enthusiasm prevailed, and Berlin was illuminated last night.

Carson City, Nevada was visited by three or four light earthquake shocks June 17th, at about 12 o'clock P. M It scared some people out of their rooms; don't know about their wits.

An insurrection broke out in the city of Tampico, Mexico. The city was stormed by the Federal forces, June 5th, and all the insurgents killed, wounded or captured.

The yellow fever is raging at Vera Cruz, Mexico.

General Sherman writes to the New York Herald peremptorily declining to take any part in politics. He says he will accept the nomination for President from no party, and that, were he to be be elected without his consent, he would instantly resign the office.

Haight has carried Santa Clara, Butte and San Joaquin counties, which secures his nomination.

The Sacramento County Republican Convention closed its labors June 17th. The Union speaks highly of the nominations.

James Rhodes, accused of burning the Kean mill at Pine Grove, Nevada, was committed to jail in default of $5,000 bail, to await the action of the Grand Jury. A Vigilante was formed to take him from the officer and execute him. The latter, however, removed him after dark to a deserted tunnel, where he was concealed until handed over to the Sheriff at Aurora.

Well, we guess that's so. There wouldn't be buyers in this section of the country at that price.—San Francisco Figaro.

There are thousands of men in Nevada who are not worth one thousand dollars. Since the emancipation proclamation become the law of the land, men are not worth as much as they were. Times have changed.—Gold Hill News.

Don't know about that; some of the proclamation men now can not be bought at any price, and it takes $60,000 to buy a New York Legislator—sometimes.

Crops.

The Sacramento Union says accounts from the different portions of the State within the last few days put a more more favorable aspect on the crop prospects. It is now stated that the result will be much better for the grower than was recently anticipated. The coldness of the atmosphere has had somewhat of the beneficial effect of a thorough rain, and grain is maturing in excellent order. Indeed, in many cases the crops are superior to those of last year.

Southern News.

We have Los Angeles dates to June 16th, as follows:

Six hundred bars of base bullion in from Cerro Gordo, weighing nearly 86,000 pounds, were received here during the present week.

Notwithstanding the dry soil and damage by grasshoppers and other drawbacks, the grape crop of this county promises to be large the coming season.

A special from Anaheim this morning, states that Thomas Velardi, a Californian, formerly Deputy Marshal of this place, was shot and mortally wounded while engaged in a quarrel with Leonardo Verdego, at a fandango, yesterday morning. He was being held down by this man when another, named Shattoruse, slipped up, put a pistol to his side and shot him through the lungs. The murderer then mounted a horse belonging to a friend and escaped. Velardi lived about twenty hours and died this morning.

A dispatch from San Buenaventura, June 13th, says:

Mr. Phillips, of Santa Clara Valley, attempted to kill a chicken this afternoon with a Remington four-shooting pistol, but finding that it did not work well, he went into the house for the purpose of cleaning it, when it accidentally went off, the ball striking him and passing in just below the heart. He laid the pistol back on the table, got up out of the chair and started into another room, but fell on his knees and expired in ten minutes, without speaking.

The Arizona Miner of June 3d, contains the following items:

Col. Roger Jones, Gen. Schofield's Inspector General, who has just made the tour of Arizona, and returned to California, will recommend that lines of telegraph be erected between the several military posts, the abandonment of Camp Apache, and other good measures.

The arrival of miners and speculators in mines, is increasing daily. The mining news during the week from the Bradshaw and other districts, continues excellent.

Captain Moore of the 3d Cavalry, discovered the bodies of thirteen Indians who were killed in the engagement in which Lieut. Cushing and W. H. Simpson lost their lives.

An express line has been established between Prescott and the Bradshaw mines.

A party of Indians stole some animals from the picket station at Ash Creek, but were pressed so closely by the soldiers that they had to abandon the stolen stock.

From Virginia City.

We have the following news from Virginia City, Nevada, June 14:

James G. Fair and Mark Strouse, of this city, have purchased the Occidental mine and mill, and will in a short time have both mine and mill in full blast again.

The Buckeye Mining Company have purchased the mill formerly owned by the Hope Mining Company.

A large meeting of citizens was held this evening to prepare a welcome for the Irish exiles, who are expected to visit this city soon.

About 3 o'clock this morning a fire broke out in an unoccupied building in upper Gold Hill, and before it could be extinguished, about thirty buildings were destroyed, including the Eclipse and a portion of the Granite mills. The greater portion of them were dwellings, and the losses foot up $33,000, as near as can be ascertained. The fire was evidently the work of an incendiary It was only by great exertions, and with the assistance of a portion of the Virginia Fire Department that it was confined to the west of Main street and north of the railroad.

Deserted.

The following note, addressed to The Reese River Reveille of June 15, explains a point of possible interest to parties in this section:

CAMP ON SUMMIT,
Austin, Nev., June 15, 1871.

MR. EDITOR: Will you be kind enough to insert a notice in your paper to the effect that two soldiers belonging to the detachment in my charge and of Wheeler's Expedition, deserted on the night of the 14th and are, I believe, secreted and promised employment by persons in the town of Austin.

Let it be particularly understood, that all persons known to have assisted directly or indirectly any deserter from the United States Army are subject to trial and imprisonment.

The names of the aforesaid deserters are Miller and McLane, and any person rendering such information as to lead to their arrest will receive the usual reward of $30.

Respectfully Yours, etc.

A. H. COCHRANE,
(Surgeon) in Charge

Repudiate Him.

The San Francisco Bulletin says the ablest Democratic journals, North and South, concur in denouncing Jeff. Davis' recent utterances. Even The Richmond Enquirer says:

Mr. Jefferson Davis exhausts our patience. The Southern people do not intend to follow Mr. Davis. They have not got the slightest idea of it. Mr. Davis is at perfect liberty to "accept nothing," to refuse to abide "the issue of the war," to announce that "the South is only waiting," etc. We, on the other hand, do accept the situation, and consider the war ended. We have been utterly overwhelmed, and there is nothing else for us to do.

And Mississippi, his own State, has endorsed the Vallandigham platform.

The Flood at New Orleans.

Recent accounts from the scene of the flood in the vicinity of New Orleans, show that the disaster to this beautiful city from the waters of the Mississippi has not been magnified. The damage to the city and country adjacent is said to be past computation at the present time. When we state that an area of land comprising some three hundred squares is under water, a faint idea may be gathered of the extent of the calamity. The population occupying the same is obliged to take possession of the levees on the river side, which has a hight of some fifteen feet above the foundation, and a gradual slope, like that of the Sacramento levees, to the rear It is estimated by one of the New Orleans papers that the crevasse of Bonnet Carre has ploughed out a channel fifty feet in depth on the line of its discharge, but it would require more than fifty feet more to give it the depth of the river. The waters of Lake Ponchartrain, if the new current made a mouth there, would neutralize its force, as the outlet into Lake Borgne is not sufficient to carry off the flood. It is also remarked by the local papers that the overflow of the city results from the fact that the overflowing waters have no sufficient mouth for their discharge in the new current which they have sought. If the river soon falls largely, it will take probably many weeks to drain off the surplus. The closing of the crevasse will be considerable of an undertaking, and until that is accomplished the serious consequences which have resulted will continue to be realized. A large number of plantations, orchards of oranges, bananas, lemons and other tropical fruits, with crops of sugar, have been submerged, and the yield therefrom will be lost to the owners for the present year.

Mrs. Fair.

The Reese River Reveille, commenting upon the probability of Mrs. Fair escaping the death penalty, says:

We, in common with every one else in Austin were under the impression that it was in the power of the Governor of the State of California to commute the sentence of Mrs Fair to imprisonment for life, and felt sure that if the Supreme Court did not order a new trial the Governor would certainly grant such commutation. We see in The Virginia Enterprise that this is an error. Governor Haight has no power to commute; he must either grant a full pardon or permit the death sentence to be carried out. In this State sentences may be commuted by the Board of Pardon, consisting of the Governor Attorney General and the Justices of the Supreme Court, but no such Board exists in California. The Enterprise does not think that Governor Haight will assume the responsibility of granting an unconditional pardon. So that should the Supreme Court not order a new trial, there is no earthly chance of Mrs. Fair's escaping the gallows.

Bugs.

One evening recently a gentleman was sitting in the open air cogitating, probably upon the nature of the Havana (?) cigar he was burning, when a seeming rain drop fell upon his hand. He raised his head to speculate upon the weather, but suddenly changed his notion and stopped to brush off the rain drop, finding a blister under it. The presumption is that the substance fell from a passing insect; at any rate, a very copious shower of the same character is not at all desirable. We claim high on bugs. One night last week our office was filled with insects of every conceivable shape and color, from the little black bugger to large ones sporting gossamer wings of the most gorgeous hues, in such numbers as to render themselves an intolerable nuisance. Where's Lord Thingumbob? If that distinguished bugologian wants to contract a life's study, send him here.

School Picnic.

The teacher and patrons of the Milton School District, comprising the families residing near and around Camp Independence, are making preparations for a school picnic, to take place at Primmer's Ranch, July 1st. The worthy parties arranging this affair are making every effort to render the occasion most delightful for the little folks, and doubtless it will prove a day of unalloyed enjoyment for the children. An earnest and cordial invitation is extended to the children of this place and Georges Creek; let them go, and we assure them of a hearty welcome. Parent should not fail to allow their children to participate in this old-fashioned gathering, and receive the happy smiles of the young people as abundant reward.

At Lone Pine.

The popular hostess of the Lone Pine Hotel has determined to give a ball on the evening of the Fourth, as will be seen by due notice elsewhere. The affair can not fail to be an agreeable one, inasmuch as splendid music will be in attendance, the finest of supper furnished, and dancing till you can't rest. Would that Lokleitems was ubiquitous, or could comfortably divide himself into three persons, for the purpose of attending all three of the merrymakings coming off in the valley on that day.

On the War Path.

Thursday last a gent called Schneider for short, doing business as bloody butcher at this place, took a notion into his head that certain parties had appropriated a sum of money belonging to him. Bracing his courage with benzine, he got "right onto it," and got arrested in consequence. While in this condition his reflections brought to mind the exact spot where he had hidden his money. It would have been a "good joke on Schneider" to have sent him up for a few days.

Eastward Ho!

Patrick Reddy, Esq., our talented legal friend, starts this morning on a short visit to the old folks, way down in Rhode Island. His innumerable friends will wish him a happy trip and a safe return; we are consoled, however, to think that during his absence we are likely to have peace, inasmuch as it requires two lawyers to make a legal fight, and this leaves the field solely to E. H. Van Decar, Esq., Mr Reddy and Mr. Bennett both being absent. But there is pretty good security for their return.

Rich Strike.

The Whittekind mine, Cerro Gordo, is just now rejoicing its owners by producing large quantities of rich ore from a newly discovered body of metal, only 30 feet from the surface and the same distance north from the main shaft. It is reported to be equal to the best ever opened in the mine, some $3,000 worth having been extracted in the past two weeks. Work still progresses on the tunnel, which taps the ledge 80 feet below.

Elopement.

Newsmongers have for several days been rejoicing over a first-class sensation—it having transpired that the wife of a prominent gentleman in Lone Pine has deliberately slid out with another fellow, leaving her liege lord to care for himself and fight his own battles with the hard world. He takes it philosophically, however, and sensibly concludes to let the guilty pair go on their way unmolested.

Specimens.

Mr. John Schulte has favored us with a splendid specimen of antimonial silver ore, from the San Lucas mine, Cerro Gordo, which assays 600 ounces per ton Due attention will be paid to this valuable mine, as well as every other one in the county, as soon as we can collate and arrange the facts and information which we are obtaining and now in our possession.

Loaded.

The southern stage line, Messrs. George & Roberts, proprietors, seems to be doing a good business from Lone Pine southwards. The last trip it was found necessary to put on an extra, having ten through and way passengers, with nearly 500 pounds of bullion from the Kearsarge.

Returned.

During the past two weeks several old residenters have returned to Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo, just as though no other country suited them. Among the rest are M. T. Gisborn and John Collister. Mr. M. W. Belshaw has also arrived from a recent trip to San Francisco.

Primaries.

The Democrats will hold primaries at the different precincts throughout the county to-day, for the election of delegates to the County Nominating Convention. The test of voters is that they pledge themselves to support the Democratic ticket at the ensuing election.

Lone Pine.

The store of A. M. Loomis & Bro., at Lone Pine, is daily thronged by purchasers, who take advantage of the low rates at which that firm disposes of dry goods, groceries, etc. Read their advertisement and then go and see how it is yourself.

For Sheriff.

The report that Charley Begole will be an independent candidate for Sheriff is authentically denied or confirmed, we don't know which. It is one or the other, anyhow.

Committee Meeting.

The Republican County Central Committee will meet at this place to-day, for the transaction of important business.

School Moneys.

Following is the apportionment for the different school districts of the county, from the County School Fund. The total amount is $110 27, divided as follows: Bishop Creek, 60 children, $27 25; Independence, 20 children, $9 09; Lone Pine, 56 children $25 43; Milton, 28 children, $12 72; Round Valley, 35 children, $15 90; Union, 44 children, $19 98.

Progressing.

The new Masonic Hall building is progressing finely; the lower floor is being laid and smoothly dressed expressly for the comfort and convenience of the dancers at the ball on the Fourth. Let every one of our citizens remember that their company, with lady, is required on that festive occasion.

Wool.

Yesterday several teams passed southward loaded with wool, from the Bishop Creek country. It is being taken to San Francisco, and shows that this county can export something besides bullion.

Bullion Shipment.

During the past week the Kearsarge Company have shipped 681 pounds of bullion, 430 by way of Visalia and 251 by the Aurora route, to San Francisco. Thus the ball opens!

Profits on Sewing Machines.

[From The Scientific American.]

The organization of a large sewing machine company—capital, five hundred thousand dollars—is being agitated at Chicago, for the manufacture of the Secor machine. The following statements in regard to the past and present progress of the sewing machine business are furnished by the projectors of the new enterprise:

Up to 1860 there had been manufactured and sold in the United States only about 104,000 machines of all kinds. In that year, the total number made was less than 55,000 machines, of which Wheeler & Wilson made 21,000; Grover & Baker, 10,000; Singer & Co., 11,000; Willcox & Gibbs, 7,500; and all others, about 5,000.

The business was then in its infancy, still $5,000,000 were invested in the manufacture; and these leading manufactures have, since that date, so increased their great establishments that in the year 1870 there were turned out more than 500,000 machines, a half million in a single year, and yet the demand could not be supplied. It is stated as a fact, that orders came in upon the factories much faster than, even with all their facilities, they could turn out the machines.

In 1870 Singer & Co., made and sold the enormous aggregate of 140,000 sewing machines, and the others kept up their proper proportion.

These companies have their own factories and their own machinery, and do all their own manufacturing, and the cost at which a complete machine can be put upon the market, in working order, ready for sale, would be surprising to the uninitiated. But if Singer & Co. only realized $10 profit upon each machine, (which is less than half the real profit on the cost) then the dividends in 1870 must have been 1,400,000, or ten per cent. on a capital of $14,000,000 all of which has been accumulated within ten years. At the same rate, the profits on all machines sold reached the great sum of $5,000,000. But it is probable that the sum of $10 does not amount to more than a third of the profit on a single machine.

These machines have not only become a necessity in every family, but they are largely used in all the factories of boots and shoes, clothing, hats and caps, etc., so that the merely domestic demand does not amount to one fourth part of the entire trade; some of the large factories of New York and New England have in constant use from 200 to 1,000 machines each. In the State of Massachusetts, in the manufacture of boots and shoes alone, $15,000,000 are annually saved by the use of the sewing machine, and in New York city, the clothing manufacturers save yearly more than $12,000,000 in the same manner, and this applies with equal force to all of the various branches of trade where the use of the needle is required.

There is no limit to the demand for all first class machines, and it has been estimated that before the expiration of the next ten years, 1,000,000 sewing machines per annum will be required.

It is generally understood by the public, that sewing machine companies have made large fortunes; but we doubt if the facts are not sufficient to show that the dividends declared by the companies making the most popular machines, have been much larger than the most extravagant ones otuside of the ring have supposed.

The old companies accumulated their vast capital of millions out of the profits of the business, and the principal companies have declared and paid dividends for years, of from 75 to 400 per cent. upon their capital stock, besides accumulating a reserved fund of an equal or larger amount, for the extension of their works and the general business of stocking their branch offices throughout the country.

Of the value of the stock in the principal companies, we would illustrate by stating the fact, that the par stock in some of the best companies five years old can not be bought for 2,500 per cent. premium, and the value is entirely unknown to the outside public.

Entomological.

Last evening, says The White Pine News of June 8th, the air was swarming with a species of brown bugs. We don't know to what particular family of the entomological species they belong, but we do know that if you put one of them under the magnifying glass you will see myriads of small bugs of a whitish appearance issuing from their mouth. We had an idea that this was the way in which their offspring was produced, and that the white ones, in the course of time, would become full grown brown bugs, but Vanjaquelin says they are a parasite on the big bug; in fact that the big bug is lousy.

Lieut. Wheeler's Exploring Party.

The Eureka Sentinel of June 15 has the following:

Some days past Lieut. Wheeler's party has been camped above here. The Lieut. came into town on Saturday last, and has moved the whole command south on the road to Belmont, where he will be met by Dr. Cochran and the party that has been staying a few days at Austin. At Belmont they will be joined by Lieut. Lockwood, of Arizona, and Lieut. Lyle, of Alaska, where they will again divide, and Lieut. Wheeler's party will go through Death Valley, and another party, under command of Lieut. Lockwood, will take another route and meet again at Independence, California. When united they will start for the Colorado. At that stream they will take boats and go up, while Major Powell is going down, and they will probably meet at some point. When his explorations of the Colorado have ceased he will go through Arizona, and return by water to San Francisco. The party as made up, consists of Lieut. G. M. Wheeler, in charge of the party; Lieut. Lockwood, Lieut. Lyle. Professor Gilbert is Chief Geologist; Professor Austin is Astronomer; Dr. Hoffman is Surgeon and Chief Naturalist, and Fred. W. Loring, of Boston, Secretary, with 25 civilian assistants. There are in the whole party, when united, 75 men.

As an explorer in this section of the Union, Lieut. Wheeler stands second to none now in the employ of the Government, and no man deserves greater credit than he for energy, ability and caution. He will do very much in this expedition to give to the world a full and accurate knowledge of the country through which he travels. We shall look for letters from his command as they journey through the desert.

Tuolumne Reunion.

A correspondent of The Stockton Independent says: "The Tuolumne Reunion, to come off the 17th at Martinez, promises to be the grandest pic-nic of the season. Wm. G Dinsmore, Esq., of Oakland is the master spirit and he was never known to fail in anything he undertook except conducting a newspaper up in Tuolumne county, where talent, unless backed by plenty of ready cash, is sure to be unappreciated, and its possessor forced to emigrate or else starve. 'My friend emigrated, left in disgust. Tuolumne has sent forth many a great man. U. S. Grant, our President is one of them. He once lived in old Tuolumne. One of her sons has been to Congress and another her 'favorite son,' Jim Coffroth, has twice attempted to get there but failed, through no fault of his. Gen. Evans, ex-Mayor of your city, and a San Joaquin Senator; John Sedgwick, U S. Revenue Collector; Judge Cavis, Jack Douglass and William A. Davies, Deputy U. S. Assessor, all great men, once claimed Tuolumne as their home. But the list is too long. If it were printed entire it would take six weeks to read it through. The "State of Tuolumne" was once upon a time a very populous and flourishing place. But we will all (what's left of us) meet together at Martinez on the 17th, and have a grand old time talking of the good old days long since passed, when we each used to pan out five and six ounces of gold a day."

—Mr. Lowe, the English Chancellor of the Exchequer, was so certain of the passage of the match tax law that he expended $5,000 in the manufacture of stamps. As the proposed measure did not succeed, it is now suggested that the otherwise useless stamps may be sold as curiosities to collectors for their albums.

Willow Leaves for Yeast.

A correspondent of The Journal of Agriculture states that the leaves of the common basket willow (Salix nigra) make an excellent yeast, if treated in the same way as is usual with hops. "The discovery," he says, "was made in my family last summer, and after a through trial I was convinced that there is nothing equal to it, as it rises much quicker than hops—in half the time—imparts none of that hop flavor so disagreeable to some, and in fact makes better bread in every way. The thing is well worthy the attention of every good housewife; and, lest some should hesitate in consequence of not knowing the medical properties of the willow in question, I will add that it is a healthful tonic, from which no harm can possibly arise."

To Wash Calico.

To prevent calico from fading while washing, infuse three gills of salt in four quarts of water; put the calico in while hot, and leave till cold, and in this way the colors are rendered permanent, and will not fade by subsequent washings.

—One of the pent-up men in the burning mine at Pittson, (Pa.), says: "After shutting ourselves in, we sat down together, some despairing, some hoping that we would see daylight again. At six o'clock some of the men went to sleep, and I tried to wake them up, but they would sleep. Again we shook hands with each other, kissed each other and all prayed. Some of the men were crying. We who were awake were very anxious to hear some sign of salvation coming to us. I opened the door and went through to the bottom of the shaft, but almost failed to come back. Since then I remember nothing—it seems as if I had been dreaming."

—Kerosene is the best antidote for a burn or a scald. Immerse the injured part in cold water for a moment; dry with a soft cloth, taking care not to rub it at all. Then bathe in kerosene, and the terrible pain ceases. We know of a child who put his foot and leg in a pail of boiling hot water. The above remedy was applied, and in a few minutes the child's screams ceased. We know not the philosophy of the matter, but know that it is the most efficacious remedy for severe burns or scalds in the materia medica. —Exchange.

—A Judge in Memphis was lately called to preside as Chairman at a public meeting in that city. During the proceedings an exciting discussion sprung up, and amid the confusion of loud speeches, motions and cross motions, one speaker called out impatiently to have his motion put to the meeting. "Has your motion a second?" inquired the Chair. "Yes, sir, it has fifty seconds, at least." "Then let it wait ten more and the Chair will make a minute of it."

—Grace Greenwood has been looking at the heavens through the telescope at the Washington Observatory. In writing about her observations to The Golden Age, she exclaims with great appropriateness: "They are bigger and brighter worlds than ours—those planets of the first order. I wonder if they are really higher and happier. Are there no red republicans in Mars?—no prize fighters in belted Jupiter?—no whisky rings in Saturn?—no Laura Fairs in Venus?"

—One of the witnesses in the Baker case, in New Orleans, being closely pressed by one of the attorneys for the defense as to his present occupation, answered that he was in the employ of "Walker, Doolittle & Co." "What is your business," next asked the sagacious attorney. "Pressing bricks and bottoming chairs," was the prompt reply of the witness. Further inquiry showed that his answers were allegorical.

—A Kansas billiard table is thus described: "First, in the middle of the floor was a large goods box, on which was laid a wagon load of sandstone, covered with about eight yards of blue jeans. For pockets they had old boots, about No. 10; for cues they used old broken hoe handles; boiled eggs for balls; and to count this lovely game they used dried apples on a clothes line."

—He took her fancy when he come; he took her hand, he took a kiss; he took no notice of the shame that glowed her happy cheek at this. He took to coming afternoons; he took an oath he'd ne'r deceive; he took her father's silver spoons, and after that he took his leave.

—That was thoughtful economy of the Irishman in the pit of a Dublin theatre, who, seeing some people about to throw an obstreperous fellow in the gallery over the railing, and, being much exasperated by a bad orchestra cried out loudly: "Don't waste him; kill a fiddler with him."

—A physician of Springfield, Mass., was hurriedly called away from the dinner-table recently by a messenger who made the following request: "There is a child fallen into a drain and got drownded; we have got the water out of him, and now we want you to come and get the mud out of him."

—The Territorial Enterprise says: A construction camp has been established not far from the foot of the Geiger Grade, and work is shortly to be commenced on the Virginia and Reno Narrow-guage Railway.

—To remove ink spots from linen, saturate the spot with lard, and expose for a day in the hot sun; then wash and boil without soap. Fruit stains should also be washed without soap.

—The ramie plant promises to supersede cotton in Louisiana.

LEGAL.

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of state and the Treasurer of state, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said state, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of state. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bond; said coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notices of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the Capital of the State; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris, in France, and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in German, in the City of Frankfort on the Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the state; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless sufficient security shall be furnished by the bidders for the compliance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin, par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of State each to keep a separate record of all bonds sold under the provisions of this Act, showing the number, date, amount and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury; and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in section seven of this Act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value, but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bonded, which said certificate shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel each bond so exchanged, and shall indorse on such bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued in exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the State treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the State, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering therein the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the expiration of such advertisement, such bonds, unless sooner paid, shall cease to draw interest, but the money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the state, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the State treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper, published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper, published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals, at rates not exceeding par value, as may redeem the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less amount than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publications, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication; before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this Act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said interest Fund, if sufficient; and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that; the Controller of state shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. This Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for its submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the State for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this State shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act; those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same, shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and canvassed, and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Treasurer of State, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast are for or against this law, as aforesaid, are in favor of this Act, then the same shall have effect as hereinbefore provided, and shall be irrepealable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation thereof; but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have this Act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceeding the next general election, for which publication no greater allowance shall be made than the rates allowed by law to the State Printer.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, H. L. NICHOLS, Secretary of State of the State of California, do hereby certify that the annexed is a true, full, and correct copy of Chapter Four hundred and Eighty-four, Statutes of California, Eighteenth Session, approved April 2, 1870, now on file in my office.

WITNESS my hand and the great seal of the State, at office, in Sacramento, California, the twenty-fifth day of May, A. D. 1871.

HOW THE INJUN CAUGHT THE NEW FASHIONED BUFFALO.

There ain't much fun in an Injun:
If there is it's deepish dow;
And don't er pout at uncommon times,
As it does in a mule or a clown.
Or a Dutchman or a Yankee,
Or any 'them 'ere chaps
That always are gay at the gravest of times,
And never give heed to mishaps.

No, Sir, them red-skinned pirates
Mean blood, and a good deal more;
And when you are least expecting the same
They're jest outside o'yer door,
With torch and a knife and an arrow,
And a whoop of demoniac mirth—
And away they ride by the glaring light
Of your fiercely blazing hearth!

I haven't much luv for an Injun:
And when there's a joke worth while
Played off on the sneaking varmint,
I can't keep back a smile—
No more than I can a bullet,
When I see them prowing about
What a [illegible]
That's watchin' along the route.

'Twas down in the "Cheesnut Gulch"
I'd been hunting for 'bhy a week;
And all the luck I ever had,
That was about the poorest streak.
I was feelin' blue end tired
As I lay thar on the ground,
But mighty quick, you bet! I was roused
By a nice coo-omm n sound.

It came: I soon diskivered;
For the great Pacific line
Run close along, and thar were the cars—
I tell you the sight was fine!
On looking down the track,
An injun, with a stout lasso
Fastened around his waist, I saw
Was watchin' the injine too.

I just laid low for music,
For I knew there'd be a tune,
With the injine's shriek, and the Injun's whoop,
Like a thunder storm in June.
On, on like the wind it came!
Firm stood that cussed "Red;"
And when it got within easy range,
His lasso caught its head!

"Sold! sold!" cried I, while the Injun
And the cars went out of sight;
But never shall I till my dying day
Forget his look of fright.
I haven't much love for an Injun,
But I almost pitied him
For being jerked to the spirit Land
By a buffalo so grim.

Arizona News.

We take the following from The Miner of June 10:

Saturday last, a large party of Indians stole four horses and mules from some poor ranchmen on the Upper Verde, after accomplishing which they set out for Bowers' Agua Frio ranch, about sixteen miles east of Prescott, and on Monday afternoon, just as the herders had got through watering the stock, in the creek, but a short distance below the house, a large body of savages fired on the two herders, killed one of them named Gantt, we believe; shot the other herder's mule from under him, and with wild whoops started mules, horses and cattle towards the East. Word was immediately brought to Whipple and Prescott. Col. Brown, commanding at Whipple, immediately sent Sergeant Kelley and three men men with an express to apprise the commander at Camp Verde. Serjeant Kelley soon made Ash Creek station, and four fresh men and animals then started, by which means the news was got to Gen. Grover in seven hours from Whipple. That officer sent Lieutenant Morton and some cavalrymen to head off the Indians. Meantime, a large party of citizens started from this place, and were joined by others at the Agua Frio. Up to this writing, Friday forenoon, nothing has been heard from citizens or soldiers. The entire number of animals stolen exceeds 160, and were mostly owned by Herbert and F. B. Bowers, upon whom the loss will fall heavily. Then, the poor man who lost his life; will not some wife, father, mother, brothers, sisters, feel and weep o'er his untimely end?

The country around Prescott has, for several weeks past, been filled with Indians, who have amused themselves by firing the grass and trees, and who, unless they are driven out, will soon enact some bloody tragedy.

By letters from Tucson we have information the effect, that on the 15th ult., the "Friendlies" at Camp Apache, turned the arms and ammunition they had received at that post, against their benefactor, the commanding officer, and "asserted their independence" in first-class style. Nor did they leave the reservation empty-handed; for, not satisfied by the acquisition of the Government herd, which they captured and took along with them, they overhauled the mail-carrier at a distance of less than two miles from the post, and carried off the mail. Would it not have been a pity to have massacred these faithful subjects while they were plotting this scheme on their reservation?

Laborers are in great demand. One cannot hire a man at all, at all. But, it is said, there is a rush of men coming, and perhaps, some of them may be induced to work for greenbacks, awhile, before advancing on the mines for big things.

Good Advice.

The Louisville Courier-Journal has the following:

If Mr. Davis would be a hero with the children—a hero with posterity—the hero of a household fairy tale, bedewed with tears, sanctified by blood, animated with glory in which each little one has an inherited portion—he had better have done with balconies and drums and fifes and drunken brawlers, that do no credit to the cause he has led and lost. He should seek to stand behind the mist which is slowly gathering between the past and the future. It is, as it were, a decent drapery, which conceals his faults and only shows his virtues.

Free Schools in the South.

The New York Sun says: About three thousand schools have been established under the present common school system in Mississippi, during the past six months, with upward of eighty thousand pupils, under the tuition of nearly four thousand teachers. This may be considered as some atonement for a good deal of rascally legislation by the State Government. Gov. Davis of Texas—perhaps the best of all the Southern Governors—reports a school population of over one hundred and sixty thousand in that State, the larger part of whom are without educational advantages whatever. The Legislature failed to make any appropriation for schools at the last session; but from the income of the permanent school fund and other sources about half a million of dollars is available for educational purposes. Maryland has thirteen hundred and sixty schools, forty thousand one hundred and fifty-one scholars in attendance, and fourteen hundred and twenty-seven teachers. The average duration of schools in Nevada is eight months and eighteen days. Male teachers there average $125 59, and female teachers $97 97 a month—higher wages probably than are paid in any other State. The Legislature of Kansas refused to pass a bill prohibiting corporeal punishment in the public schools of that State.

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY,

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER.

JAS. E. PARKER, | P. A. CHALFANT

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, July 1.....1871.

OUR SECOND YEAR.

According to our conceptions of right, we deem it out of taste for a journal to be continually making editorial reference to itself, as is too much the case with many papers which are now paying golden tribute to their owners. But there are times when such reference and a few statements are not out of the pale of strict propriety, even when indulged in by those who, as a rule, avoid it.

For one year, or fifty-two weeks, THE INYO INDEPENDENT has been a regular visitor to its patrons, but with what interest it has been read, or in what esteem it is held, is a matter we have no means of knowing. But none are more competent than the conductors of a journal to say whether or not it really contains the matter it should—to judge if it has attained its objects in the past or gives promise of so doing in the future. When, however, THE INDEPENDENT has failed to be readable, or to properly chronicle events, the reason for such failures can readily be made manifest, for it is simply that the support accorded it has not been such that the editors were allowed a moment's respite from the practical drudgeries of the office. The proper editorial conduct of a paper requires time, exhaustive research and the closest personal examination into every resource of the country whose interests are supposed to be reflected.

At one time the outlook was so cheering as to seem to warrant a material enlargement and consequent increase of expenses, and in accordance a prospectus was issued announcing the proposed improvement, and appealing to the county interests and local pride for an effort to increase our subscription list and advertising patronage in a degree commensurate with the increased value of the paper. But, so far as our enterprise was awarded, the paper must remain in its old condition, or go the way of fifty-nine other newspapers on the coast which have died during the year. The remedy could not be in recklessly advancing capital for carrying such a plan into effect, for no person with the required means will ever use it in the establishment of a country newspaper.

For a time, at the start, our enterprise met with a perfectly senseless and foundationless opposition from a part of the community, who claimed that it would not equally represent Lone Pine with other portions of the county because it was not located there. That place is a town of equal or larger size than Independence, and nearer the principal mines, but which was not the county seat, where the Courts and litigants must assemble. However, thanks to a few square-minded friends, this ill-will has fairly blown over, without reference thereto on our part.

Two of the principal items which regularly enter into the meagre count of support for a country paper, are county patronage and election advertising and work. Deducting $100 for blanks supplied to the County Clerk and the Sheriff, the net amount received for the former item has not exceeded $90 cash, the usual delinquent tax list not being published, as according to Inyo's District Attorney, the law does not require it. Whatever business accrues from the latter, is yet to be summed up. Another fact or two in this connection may be here introduced: In Nevada now, and formerly in this State, the net proceeds to the county paper from the publication of a Sheriff's sale ranged from $25 to $40, while here, under the Litigant law, from $7 to $10 are the figures. These sales are invariably set for thirty days ahead, while they are advertised but three weeks. On our local advertisements the rates are now twenty per cent. less than any other paper in the State. In the matter of job work, the first inquiry of a majority of patrons (always excepting a notable few) is, "What can it be done for in San Francisco?" As a consequence our prices have been reduced to the very lowest, while our office has been supplied with unsurpassed material, of the newest and finest description.

We have enumerated the foregoing, not as complaints nor in a spirit of faultfinding—for it is certainly our privilege to quit—but to the end that our friends and those interested in the facts may know the same.

A few words, also, in explanation of the difficulties of getting and properly placing before our readers a certain class of news, will not be amiss. Independence is 40 miles north from Cerro Gordo, and not on the line of travel over which the bullion shipments pass. With no one sufficiently interested to report these and the mining items, our position might as well be a hundred miles distant; in fact, the Los Angeles papers have been able to correctly report these matters while this one has not. Early in the year we placed in the hands of all the furnace and mill men in the country an abundance of blanks, most conveniently arranged for the simple, easy transmission to us of the bullion shipments. Although well satisfied that the heads of the Beaudry and Brady furnaces are not unfavorable, their assistants have but once in a great while taken the slight trouble necessary to return the filled out blanks. Of the miners, they themselves will best understand what efforts we have made to collect statistics concerning that industry, and what use we propose making of the information.

THE INDEPENDENT stands upon its own basis, with no rents or interest to pay: if it can not be made a success in this county no like institution need ever attempt it. Three thousand dollars have been sunk in purchasing material, building office, in establishing and in running the paper a year; the coming two months will determine to what point of usefulness and value it may aspire and attain in the future. With the present number, four-fifths of the subscriptions and advertisements expire, and we solicit the people and business men of Inyo and the immediately adjoining counties to say that the same shall be continued and more than doubled. Avail yourselves of the advantages offered by an advertising medium, a means of inter and outside communication, to the extent that skilled labor can be employed thereon, and its editor allowed time and liberty to devote proper attention to his duties. Let all signify their intentions at once, for no paper will be sent longer than to allow time for renewal.

With all its enormous wealth, vast mineral and agricultural interests, our county is yet in its infancy. As its population, wealth and fame shall grow, and as its valleys and mountains shall teem with busy life and turmoil, THE INDEPENDENT proposes to proportionately expand its influence, value and importance; so extend to it but a moiety of the amount sent abroad for older and larger papers, to the end that it may take the place of and equal them. It is far from the intentions of the proprietors of this paper to remain its publishers if its resources and the support accorded it will not allow of an advance upon the respectable mediocrity which too often contents the provincial printer.

OUR BULLION PRODUCT—THE FIGURES.

We are indebted to M. W. Belshaw, Esq., for the following communication, which gives more solid information than we have hitherto been able to obtain concerning this, our principal industry. The "ventilating" item was a desperate attempt to find out whether anything in THE INDEPENDENT was read or not. We have found out, and own that Mr. Belshaw has rather the best of us. Following is his letter:

CERRO GORDO, June 28.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Having a healthy fear of ventilation (see last week's INDEPENDENT), ventilation being what at this altitude we are most troubled with, I hereby send you statement of bullion product of the Cerro Gordo furnaces of V. Beaudry and ourselves since August 1st, 1870:

No. bars made (at our furnace) 23,680. Weight, 2,060,160 pounds. Days running time, 273; 14 days lost in repairing boiler, 14 days lost for want of water, and 31 days lost in repairs of furnace. Size of furnace 22 inches inside, and 8 feet high. Only one furnace.

V. Beaudry's furnace since October 1st, has produced 11,995 bars; weight, 1,019,575. Running time about 110 days. Size of furnace same as above.

Yours truly,

M. W. BELSHAW.

A WAR CLOUD AT HOME.

At a late hour yesterday was received the communication from Deep Spring Valley, given elsewhere, which apprises us of some singular movements on the part of the Indians. The writer is well informed on Indian affairs, and seems deeply in earnest. We think the statement of facts therein will warrant the promptest measures for ascertaining, if it be possible, the real intent of the Indians. This time it appears to be a well founded alarm; let but one agressive act come from them and lightning-like blows will fall until they sue for mercy. The Indians east of the mountains are only held in abeyance by a fear of the soldiers, and let a drop of white blood be shed and the warring fiends should be swept from existence.

Lotteries.

The Sacramento Union advertises the lotteries because "nothing is so likely to sicken the people of the infamous act," and "hasten its repeal as reading of the evidences of the demoralization it has wrought." This argument is like The Union's particular enemy, Charley Crocker's railroad. "Very thin, gentlemen, v-e-r-y t-h-i-n!"

RAILROAD TALK.

The Reno Cresent says the work of construction will soon begin on the Reno and Virginia City Narrow Gauge railroad. The iron and rolling stock has been contracted for and the speedy completion of the road is considered a certainty. The Crescent is urging an extension of the road south of Virginia, with the view of diverting the trade of this section from Los Angeles to Reno. A branch from the foot of the Geiger Grade is suggested, which is to run through Washoe and Carson Valleys through to Cerro Gordo, making the entire length of the road about 265 miles. Such a road, says The Crescent, would open and develop the Walker river country, Washington, Silver Mountain, Aurora, Pine Grove and a dozen other mining districts. It would secure the trade and transportion for Reno, in addition to the foregoing, of Benton, Columbus, Silver Peak, Palmetto, Montezuma, Deep Springs, Kearsarge, Eclipse, and Cerro Gordo, in every one of which valuable and extensive mines are being profitably worked, with all their attending disadvantages. At the present time the Cerro Gordo and Columbus freights aggregates near one thousand tons per month; with the reduced rates and increased speed that would be afforded by this route, The Crescent thinks that amount would be quadrupled in two years. We think that a very moderate estimate. The road would extend through an almost continuous line of valleys rich in grazing and agricultural resources, and in close proximity to hundreds of good mines included in the districts named. From these facts it is not in the least extravagant to assume that almost every station on the railroad would become a depot for quantities of freight which, in the aggregate, would far exceed the above estimate, and furnish ample business for any railroad, wide or narrow gauge. In short we do not believe there is any road in contemplation on the Pacific coast that offers superior inducements for the investment of capital than the one outlined above.

The Crescent truly says: "The south-eastern portion of Nevada and the adjacent mining sections of California are too rich in resources always to remain isolated, and if the enterprise that opens the world to them is not done from this direction, it will be done from the direction of the Southern Pacific railroad. Let us act now while the prize is open to us alone." The extension of the Southern Pacific road through the Tehechepi Pass would place Cerro Gordo and the southern portion of the county within 140 miles of a railroad from which, doubtless, a branch would soon be extended in this direction. Unless Reno itself should become the objective point for ore shipments, the southern connection would be most conducive to the interests of our present principal mining district, but a road from the north would command a much greater expanse of mining and agricultural country, and be more certain to remunerate the builders. This road would have thousands of mines tributary not only to itself but to the town of Reno, if the present plans are carried out. That point possesses every natural advantage for the establishment of the most extensive and perfect reduction works for ores, and on the line of this proposed road the ores exist in inexhaustible quantities—iron, lead, silver and gold, to say nothing of numerous other minerals like salt, borax, etc. It matters not from which direction it comes, a railroad is an essential to the proper development of our vast mineral wealth, and the sooner we have it the better. We hope the people of Reno, whose interests are so much involved, will not permit this matter to rest at least until it receives a thorough investigation.

Latest from Arizona.

We give below an account of the chase after the Indians that run off the stock from Bowers' ranch an account of which appears in another column:

At Camp McDowell, June 12, Lieut. Morton, with 29 men and a party of sixteen citizens, had just returned from a most successful scout, having killed fifty-six Indians, recaptured five of seven horses, and all the beef cattle, fifteen head, stolen from Bowers' ranch on the 3d inst. Rations for the men had given out and they were forced to return. At old Fort Reno they met Captain Mills with forty-five men well equipped, who will follow the trail, and it is expected will be favorably heard from.

On the Upper Santa Cruz, June 8th, a son of Peter Kitchen, eleven years old, was shot by Indians about 200 yards from his home.

The body of Hon. Rees Smith was found near Rhodes' ranch. He had evidently been murdered, but by whom is not known.

Salt Lake City is to be lighted by gas. Brigham is bound to have more light.

On the 20th of June, Queen Victoria completed the thirty-fourth year of her reign.

AN INDIAN WAR!

DEEP SPRING, June 26.

EDITORS INYO INDEPENDENT: I hastily drop you a few lines to inform you that on yesterday a threatened Indian war burst like a thunder cloud over the valley. When Joe Bowers left here three days ago, he told us that the Indians were going into a big war; he was then going out to inform the soldiers and talk to the Indians, and then return to the Post and inform the Major. He told the Piutes that if they went to war with the whites there would be no Indians left. They tried to get the Indians of the valley to go in with them, but Joe would not allow it. An old Indian arrived here yesterday and said that Joe was in a good deal of trouble; the Fish Lake Indians were going to put another Captain in his place; they call him "the white man's Captain." It is said here, from information received from Joe, that the Big Pine Indians won't fight, but all the Bishop Creek Indians so far north as to include the Mono Lake Indians, with Fish Lake, Columbus and all the Indians scattered over that country, are to be joined with a large band of Shoshones, and a branch of the main tribe who emigrated and settled east of Silver Peak. Kimball and family, so many years with that tribe, speak of a branch leaving the main tribe on account of freemasonry or some secret society that got among those who left. We have heard that the Bishop Creek Indians have sent away their families; if so, and any Indians are lying around the Creek, they should be taken and forced to make their families return.

It is very certain the Indians will not fight or take chances of their lives, but will make raids and plan massacres. They were generally successful in the murders they undertook in the valley.

All the places north of Bishop Creek and Deep Spring Valley should immediately prepare for any emergency. There are about thirty men in here poorly armed, as are the people of Columbus. Major Egbert is advised of these facts by a letter of this date, and requested to send arms. There can be a good number of men got from both these camps to defend the farmers of Fish Lake Valley.

The squaws and children are away from here; Joe Bowers secured them, being afraid that the others would come in and butcher them. Joe has told the Indians that there are enough of white men to cut them down like grass. The Indians don't believe it. All the old Indians are with Joe at present; there are a few boys here who are anxious for him to return. As soon as he comes we will know how things are going. It is very evident that one of the greatest efforts will be made by the Indians that ever was made.

Joe highly deserves the wages he gets from the Government; were it not for him the people might be taken unawares. His situation is such that he can know their combinations and give the whites a chance to defend themselves.

A HOME-SICK NEW YORKER.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

JERSEY CITY, N. J., June 13.

DEAR INDEPENDENT: I have traveled far and in many a clime since leaving home, but I have yet to see the place that I would prefer to my ranch in Owens River Valley. I am getting tired of this everlasting din, hurry, worry and brain-work, and would love dearly to go back to the old ranch and take a rest. Just think of the mass of humanity of metropolitan New York—2,220,627 inhabitants, who are divided as follows:

¾	per cent.	live in	Orange Co.,	N. Y.
1	"	"	" Rockland "	"
1½	"	"	" Richmond "	"
1½	"	"	" Fairfield "	Conn.
6	"	"	" Westchester Co.,	N.Y.
23¾	"	"	" Long Island.
24¼	"	"	" New Jersey
41½	"	"	" the City of New York.

There are more people within fifteen miles of the City Hall of New York than there is in a strip of land 250 miles wide, commencing at the North Pole and ending at the Isthmus of Darien. Each one of these individuals is in search of the almighty dollar, and what they don't think of to accomplish their purpose is hardly worth thinking of. The chances of making a fortune here is about equal to being struck by lightning. Californians stand the best show; they have more vim, more sabe, and are generally very clanish—that is, they will all stick to one another, as much so as if they were of another nationality.

Living here is much more costly than in the valley. For instance, my living costs me $3,000 per annum, and I do not live any better than I did on my ranch. A decent, comfortable house in a respectable neighborhood costs from $8,000 to $15,000. Then there are gas bills, coal bills, wood, and internal, external, infernal and eternal revenue, or tax bills. A lot 25 by 100 feet costs here from $500 to $500,000, and the man who owns the roof that covers his head is considered fortunate.

There is a bright future for Owens River Valley; it possesses within itself all the combined elements of wealth, and a climate that, compared to this, is like a bright, sunny day and a dark, stormy night. If we could only know when we are well off, and be satisfied! It has been truly said that "Contentment is better than riches."

POLITICAL NEWS.

The Democratic State Convention met at Sacramento on Tuesday. Nearly every delegate was present in person. The Sacramento Union of Wednesday morning says: "The Convention was very largely attended, and it was generally remarked upon as being composed of material far above the average of similiar bodies in this State. There was an unusual proportion of tax payers, and much less than the usual attendance of street corner and cross-roads politicians. The subsidy element was in so small a minority as not to be able to make any show of opposition worthy the name.

Hon. J. W. Coffroth, was chosen President of the Convention, which was organized on Tuesday; the Committee on platform not being able to report, no nominations were made that day. On Wednesday the report of the Committee was adopted without a dissenting voice, amid great applause. We find the following in The Bulletin.

The resolutions declare:

First—Waiving all differences of opinion, the Democratic party of California accepts the natural and legitimate consequences of the war.

Second—We regard the Constitutional amendments as a settlement in fact of all issues raised by the war, and no longer before the country.

Third—The old rules of the Democratic construction are to be applied to the Constitution as it is.

Fourth—Declares in favor of universal amnesty.

Fifth—Condemns riotious demonstrations and unlawful combinations, but denounces the Kuklux bill, enacted for no other purpose than to complete the work of centralization.

Sixth—Is in favor of tariff for revenue only, and denounces the protection system.

Seventh—Opposes the acts of Congress granting lands and subsidies to enrich corporations.

Eighth—Denounces Congress for various sins of omission and commission.

Ninth—Is uncompromisingly opposed to railroad subsidies in this State, and asserts that the five per cent. law should be immediately repealed.

Tenth—Is in favor of amending the State Constitution so as to prohibit subsidies.

Eleventh—Is in favor of liberal legislation for labor interests.

Twelfth—Is opposed to Chinese immigration.

Thirteenth—The public lands must be reserved for the use of the actual settlers on the most liberal terms.

Fourteenth—Denounces interference by the President with military power in elections as treason to the Constitution.

Fifteenth—Protests against leading measures of the National Administration and pledges the Democratic party to economy, retrenchment and reform.

Sixteenth—Pledges the party to carry out all that is necessary to this end.

Seventeenth—Endorse the Democratic State Administration.

The following nominations were then made: Governor, H. H. Haight by acclamation; Lieutenant Governor E. J. Lewis; Supreme Judge, short term, Jackson Temple; long term, Selden S. Wright; Secretary of State, W. B. C. Brown; Attorney General, Jo Hamilton; Controller, R. O. De Witt; Surveyor General, J. W. Bost; Clerk of the Supreme Court, Thomas Laspeyre; State Printer, John T. Barry; Superintendent of Public Instruction, Rev. O. P. Fitzgerald; State Harbor Commissioner, I. Friedlander; State Central Committee, First Judicial District, W. J. Graves, San Luis Obispo; Second, W. P. Tilden, Chico, Butte; Fourth, J. C. Pennie, San Francisco; Fifth, J. W. Mandeville, Columbia, Tuolumne; Sixth, J. W. Coffroth, Sacramento; Seventh, Wm. McPherson Sonoma City; Eighth, T. M. Brown, Orleans Bar, Klamath; Ninth, B. G. Lathrop, Horsetown, Shasta; Tenth, John Boggs, Colusa; Eleventh, J. F. Treat, San Andreas, Calaveras; Twelfth, John Ardley, Redwood City, San Mateo; Thirteenth, J. N. Walker, Millerton, Fresno; Fourteenth, Jos. Walkup, Auburn, Placer; Fifteenth, Stewart Menzies, San Francisco; Sixteenth, A. C. Lawrence, Havilah, Kern; Seventeenth, W. A. Conn, San Bernardino. To these were added McCoppin in the First Congressional District, Second W. M. Watt, Third, James A. Johnson.

The Democrats of Tuolumne county have put forth the following county ticket: For Senator, W. A. Eakin; Assembly, Geo. A. Whiting, and W. C. Connelly; County Judge, James Letford; Sheriff, D Munn; Clerk Hugh Farley; Treasurer C. E. Lang; District Attorney, Caleb Dorsey; Assesser, T. C. Birney; Superintendent of Common Schools, R. de Haven; Surveyor, W. S. Cooper; Coroner, F. A. Freund.

The Union Democat says the Republican Convention was to come off last Saturday, June 24th, and that there would probably be some strife on nominations for Assembly, Sheriff and Clerk. Andross, for Senator, and McNeil, for Judge were likely to be successful, as they had no opposition.

George Archer, of Santa Clara, has received the Democratic nomination for Congress in the First Congressional District, beating Axtell, Sawyer, Wand and all the rest.

El Dorado and Mono Counties send delegates to the State Convention for Booth and Sargent. El Dorado instructs. This convention also adopted a resolution demanding that the Legislature reduce the rates of railway transportation, and against granting subsidies to them.

John M. Coghlan, of Solano, has received the Republican nomination for Congress in the Third district. George Pearce, of Sonoma, has received the Democratic nomination for the same office in the same District.

J. W. Coffroth received the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Second (Sacramento) District.

The Republican County Convention of San Joaquin County adopted strong anti-subsidy resolutions.

Another negro cadet has arrived at West Point, Henry Alonzo Napier, from Tennessee. He is about 18 years of age, and darker than Cadet Smith.

The Tuolumne re-union picnic held at Martinez, on the 10th ultimo, was a grand and brilliant affair. Two thousand persons went from San Francisco on the steamers.

Gen. Horatio G. Wright, Gen. John G. Foster, Dr. W. Newcomb, United States Commissioners to examine the Sutro Tunnel project, and Major Wm. King, Secretary of the Commission, left Chicago, June 21, for the Pacific coast.

Dall's mill, Washoe, Nevada, which was burned June 19, was insured for $80,000.

It is said that under the terms of peace treaty of 1783, the property of Trinity church, New York, belongs to the United States, and the Secretary of the Treasury is being importuned to sell it on the part of the Government for $25,000,000.

The amount due the Government from Collectors of Internal Revenue is near three million dollars, which it is thought, will have to be collected by suit against the bondsmen.

Active operations have commenced on the Virginia and Truckee railroad. The extension is from Carson through Washoe Valley to the Central Pacific at Reno.

Indians are becoming very troublesome on the upper Missouri. Several attacks have recently been made on settlers and others.

Susanville, Lassen county, is said to be very lively, owing to a rush to the Big Valley mines.

UNION REPUBLICAN

Primaries and Convention.

AT A MEETING OF THE UNION REPUBLICAN County Central Committee, held at Independence June 24th, 1871, the apportionment of Delegates to the County Convention was made as follows:

Independence	3
Lone Pine	4
Cerro Gordo	5
Bishop Creek	4
Round Valley	2
Fish Springs	2
Kearsarge	1
Big Pine	1
Swansea	1
Deep Spring Valley	1
Camp Independence	1

The primaries will be held on the EIGHTH DAY OF JULY, at from 2 to 7 o'clock P. M., at the following named places in the several precincts, viz.: Independence, store of J. B. Rowley; Lone Pine, store of Mr. Stratton; Cerro Gordo, D. Williams' saloon; Swansea, Docweiler's Hotel; Kearsarge, Kearsarge office; Fish Springs, house of George Sheld; Big Pine, D. Naylor's store; Bishop Creek, Sneden Hall; Round Valley, house of J. Bircham; Deep Spring Valley, L. Wicks' store.

Test: All persons who voted for Grant in 1868, or who should have done so had they been entitled to vote, will be allowed to vote at the primaries.

The delegates then chosen will meet in convention at the town of Independence, on SATURDAY, JULY 15TH, 1871.

J. EARL, Chairman.

M. S. CLARK, Secretary pro tem. jy1n53td

J. F. DILLON

WOULD RESPECTFULLY ANNOUNCE HIMSELF as a candidate for the position of County Assessor, subject to the action of the Democratic County Convention.

H. C. MORSE

ANNOUNCES HIMSELF AS A CANDIDATE FOR the office of County Assessor—subject to the decision of the Democratic County Convention.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ NOTICE.—All political notices of whatever nature MUST BE PAID IN ADVANCE. This rule is ABSOLUTE. All Job Work executed at this Office must be settled for on delivery, unless for those having standing advertising accounts.☜

 All advertisements, to insure insertion in these columns, must be handed in on or before 2 o'clock P. M., Friday.

The Fourth.

With the exception of Benton, there appears to be none of our little towns making preparations for a day-light celebration of the day on which Americans are enthusiastically inspired. At the place named the fun arranged to come off has been advertised by posters, and consists of a procession, an oration, races, etc., winding up with a grand ball at the Partzwick Hotel. Lone Pine has a general good time during the day, with an anvil salute, and a ball at the Lone Pine Hotel at night. The attendance of Cerro Gordoans will perhaps be divided between that place and this. The arrangement made for observing the Fourth at this place, have been confined to making preparations for the ball to be given by the fire company. Independent of the worthy object and the enjoyable dance itself, there is certainly none but who can well afford to attend a ball on this day, if on no other. The accommodations at the new hall are ample for the large number of dancers who will be present, and the supper, at the Inyo House, will be unexceled. This will be reasonable enough, and the ticket for yourself and partner costs but $3. Go to one of the stores and get your ticket.

Delegates Elected.

The Democratic primaries, held last Saturday, passed off quietly, resulting in the election of the following named Delegates to the County Convention, which convenes on Saturday, July 8th: Round Valley, David Olds, John Laird; Bishop Creek, T. K. Hutchinson, J. D. Spray John Crough, John Blair; Big Pine, Gus. Baker, —— Malane; Fish Springs, J. W. McMurry, Matt. Stewart; Independence A. N. Bell, J. A. Lank, Jas. E. Parker; Kearsarge, —— ——; Lone Pine, W. C. Columber, I. S. Freeborn, N. F. Coburn, F. P. Ball; Cerro Gordo, W. L. Hunter, John Beveridge, James McKenney, W. O'Malley, J. A. Mallon, Charles Anderson, J. A. Hannah, Chris. Zinkard. Deep Springs, J. H. Kincaid, J. Chastine.

The New Mill at Benton.

Messrs. Greeley Brothers, of Aurora, are the contractors engaged in building the new mill in Hot Springs District. It is located in Blind Spring Valley, about three miles this side of Benton; is to be a 10-stamper and first class in every particular; most of the machinery is on the ground. A Stedefeldt furnace, we believe, is to be added, the whole making a reduction works of the most complete character. It is understood that San Francisco men are the owners.

Fun at Lone Pine.

St. John's day, the 24th instant, was observed in Lone Pine by the Spanish and Mexican population, who indulged in a general jollification. Eating, drinking, dancing, etc., interspersed with many daring and skilful feats of horsemanship; formed part of the programme of amusements. In celebrations, and occasions of this kind, the Spaniards, Mexicans and Chilanos are the most hearty, hospitable people in the world.

Shingling.

A grand shingling match for coin was arranged to come of on Wednesday last, on the new stable of Messrs. White & Brown, by a couple of experts in that line of business. Some wonderful feats in laying shingles were raked up and canvassed, but when the time came the weather was most too much for the boys, and a withdrawel of the stakes was the result.

Milton School.

The school in Milton District closed on Tuesday, the 27th ult., for a short vacation. Following are the names of pupils who attained a place on the Roll of Honor, having reached an average of 90 in recitations and deportment during the term: Masters Guy C. Earl and George M. Gill; Misses Carrie Duval and Kate Schalten.

New Flag Staff.

At Camp Independence, in front of the Commanding Officer's quarters, has been erected a flag staff, upon which is thrown to the breeze the noblest banner of them all. The staff is 102 feet in hight, of the fairest proportions, and presents an imposing appearance, even from a distance.

The New Road.

The Deep Spring Valley road over the Inyo mountains, is being energetically put through by the Greenley party. The work is much more difficult than was anticipated, but it will be completed by the 20th inst. A portion of the party are engaged in sinking for water, near the summit.

Water Turned On.

The four-mile water ditch of the Eclipse company is now completed, and the water turned on and at the mill. Much credit is due all the parties interested for so successfully surmounting all the difficulties which presented themselves.

Arrived.

Our "returned" notice of last week should have included the names of Mr. V. Beaudry and J. W. McMurry. The usual load of passengers arrived on the last stage; among the rest we note the return of Superintendent Tregellas, of the Eclipse.

Monthly Meeting.

There will be a regular monthly meeting of One's Company, at the Sazarac saloon, next Monday night. The members know the importance of the business to come up, and can hardly fail to be promptly on hand.

Will Not Take Place.

A note from T. D. Lewis, Esq., of Bishop Creek, informs us that he will be unable to give the proposed party at his place on the coming Fourth, on account of sickness in his family.

Started Up!

Beaudry's furnace was again started up week ago last Wednesday, and in the first 24 hours run out 114 bars of bullion.

Ice Cream.

Peter Margalot has ice cream to-morrow, and hereafter on Sundays only. He can no ketchem icey, you see.

Elixir.

Go to Wallace's and get some of that "cherry bounce." It's nifty.

You George,

Who wanted the Fly papers, come and get them.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CENTRAL COMMITTEE.

INDEPENDENCE, June 24, 1871.

At a meeting of the Union Republican Central Committee of Inyo County, convened at Independence, June 24, 1871, the following business was transacted, viz.:

The apportionment of delegates as folfows: Independence, 3; Lone Pine, 4; Cerro Gordo, 5; Bishop Creek, 4; Round Valley, 2; Fish Springs, 2; Kearsarge, 1; Big Pine, 1; Swansea, 1; Deep Spring Valley, 1; Camp Independence, 1.

The primaries will be held in the several precincts July 8th, 1871, at the following named houses: Independence, at the store of J. B. Rowley; Lone Pine, store of Mr. Stratton; Cerro Gordo, D. Williams' saloon; Swansea, Docweiller's Hotel; Kearsarge, at the office of the Kearsarge Mining Co.; Fish Springs, house of George Shedd; Big Pine, D. Naylor's store; Bishop Creek, Sneden Hall; Round Valley, house of J. G. Bircham; Deep Spring Valley, store of L. Wicks; Camp Independence, store of Earl & Harris. At the above named places the polls will be opened at 2 o'clock P. M. July 8th, 1871, and closed at 7.

Test: All persons who voted for Grant in 1868, or who should have done so had they been entitled to vote, will be allowed to vote at the primaries.

The delegates then chosen will meet at the Court House, in the town of Independence, on Saturday, July 15, 1871.

J. EARL, Chairman.

M. S. CLARK, Secretary pro tem.

Not Received.

We are in receipt of a note, dated at Bishop Creek, wherein we are supposed to have suppressed certain manuscript relating to a question that has, at different times, been discussed in these columns. We are not disposed to treat our correspondents with such discourtesy, particularly the one referred to, whose right to the closing argument we do not contest. In the present case we suppressed no such manuscript for none such was ever received by us. Send it along, and we will very willingly give it publication.

Never Think

Of trying to get along without attending the ball next Tuesday night. If you want to make yourself agreeable, take your lady and go; if you want a night's enjoyment, go; if you want to celebrate the day of days, go; if you want a fire engine in this place, go.

Announcements.

In the proper place will be seen the announcements of two new candidates for the office of County Assessor, subject to the decision of the Democratic Convention Both are well qualified for the position, and both old Inyoans and well known.

The Dates.

By the published proceedings and advertisement, it will be seen that the Union Republican primaries will be held on Saturday, July 8th, and the Convention on Saturday, July 15th. For appointments, etc., see official notice.

Religious Notice.

There will be services at the School House at Georges Creek, on Sunday, July 2, at 11 o'clock, A. M. Also, at the Court House, in Independence, at 7½ o'clock P. M., by Rev. A. Clarke. The public are invited.

Silver Sprout.

We understand that the Silver Sprout company are about to let a contract for running a tunnel 600 feet in length, on their mines on Kearsarge mountain, to tap their principal ledges.

Read.

We respectfully direct the attention of everybody to the article on the editorial page headed "Our Second Year." Read it and then form a club of subscribers of at least one—yourself and a hundred others if possible.

Union Mine.

This old company are making preparations to sink a shaft upon their ledge, which is situated in the Inyo range, about two miles south of the Eclipse.

Bullion Shipment.

On the 28th ultimo there were shipped, by Wells, Fargo & Co., 3 bars of bullion from the Kearsarge, weighing 2,556 ounces.

A Dinner.

The Oasis Lodge of I. O. G. T. will enjoy an oyster supper on the evening of the Fourth, at Bishop Creek. No wine!

Bullion from Benton.

Albert Mack shipped from Benton, on the 24th instant, 1,932 ounces of bullion, the result of a short run of his mill.

Bancroft's Tourist's Guide.

Bancroft has just issued one of the neatest and most complete guide books for noted localities around the Bay, Yosemite, Big Trees and other places of interest, that has met our observation. This common-sense hand-book informs tourists where to go; how far it is; how to get there; when to start; whom to stop with; how long it takes; and how much it all costs.

From Los Angeles

A dispatch from Los Angeles under date of June 20th, says:—A Californian, named Manuel Murrillo, who has just completed a term in the penitentiary for stealing, stabbed and killed Mariano Villa, in a bar-room on Negro alley, about 11 o'clock last night. Murrillo was quarrelling with the barkeeper, when Villa entered and remonstrated with the parties, whereupon Murrillo drove a knife through his heart, causing instant death. The murderer has escaped.

A vein of coal recently discovered 30 miles south of Los Angeles, 7 miles from the coast, crops out 9 feet thick, 3 feet wide, and the indications are favorable for an extensive bed of coal, and it is believed here that the Pacific mail steamer will shortly commence calling at San Pedro on regular trips to and from Panama.

June 18, Visalia was visited by a severe storm, commencing in the evening and lasting through the night, raining at intervals. Many large trees were torn up by their roots, others broken off and carried several rods. The roads leading north and south were blocked by fallen timber, and telegraph poles prostrated in many places. Some houses in the outskirts of the town were badly damaged.

—Good backing—A three-storied brick house leaning against a drunken man.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Thiers states that the German war cost France three milliards of francs.

The French Loan is popular in Germany, and arrangements are being made to take a large portion of it.

The trial of the Communist leader, Rochefort, was to commence June 28.

McMahon wants to resign.

There were some indications of a renewal of the insurrection. Multitudes of workmen openly insult soldiers and attempt assassination.

To avoid trouble the Prussian commander is requested not to permit his officers to enter the city.

The destruction of life and property vastly exceeds the Government newspaper accounts. The Paris workmen were almost unanimously Communists, and are bitter because defeated. They hate Thiers and hate the Bonapartes, and many will emigrate to America.

A correspondent says on May 21, when a body of Communists entered Minister Washburne's house with the intention of committing depredations, the commander of the Prussian forces to the northward of Paris said that if Washburne was not held inviolate in person and property, the city would be bombarded in twenty-four hours. This warning had its effect, so that Paris was at the mercy of the American Minister, and at his word a thousand guns would have opened on the city.

The census in England and Wales gives a population of 22,700,000, and in Ireland of 5,400,000.

Accounts from Rome say that the Pope, on the twenty-fifth anniversary of his Pontificate, received deputations from all countries—even from Poland. At least 2,000 delegates and 800 ladies waited on him during the day.

Divisions of the Northern Pacific Railroad.

The Northern Pacific Railroad is divided into six great sections, as follows:

1. From Lake Superior to the Yellowstone River, 550 miles. 2. Along the Yellowstone to Bozeman's Pass, 420 miles. 3. Bozeman's Pass to Hellgate River, Mountain Division, 225 miles. 4. Hellgate River to Pend d'Oreille Lake, 205 miles. 5. Pend d'Oreille Lake to the mouth of Lewis River. 6. Mouth of Lewis River to Puget Sound, Columbia Valley Division, 337 miles. The estimated cost of building and equipping the road will be $85,277,000, or an average of $82,648 per mile.

Josh Billings on Marriage.

Sum marry bekause they have been highsted sum way; this iz a cross match, a bay and a sorrel; pride may make it endurable.

Sum marry for love withont a cent in their pocket or a friend in the world, nor a drop of pedigree. This looks desperate, but it is the strength of the game.

Sum marry because they think wimmen will be scarce next year, and live to wonder how the crops hold out.

Sum marry the twiste time to get even, and its a gambling game; the more they put down, the less they take up.

Sum marry to be happy, and not findin' it they wonder where all the happiness goes tu when it dies.

Sum marry, they can't tell why, and live, they can't tell how.

Almost everybody gets married, and its a good joke.

Sum marry in haste, and then sit down and think it carefully over.

Sum think it over carefully furst, and then sit down and marry.

Both ways are right if they hit the mark.

Sum marry rakes too convert them.

This is a little risky, and takes a smart missionary to do it.

Sum marry coquetts. This is like buying a poor farm, heavily mortgaged, and working the balance of yure days to clear oph the mortgages.

But, after all, married life is full az certain az the dry goods bizziness.

No man can swear exactly where he will fetch up when he touches kalico.

No man can tell jist what kalico has made up her mind to do next.

Kalico don't know even herse'f.

Dry goods ov all kinds iz the child ov circumstances.

The man who stands on the bank shivering, and distant, is more apt to ketch cold than him who pitches his head furst into the river.

If enny boddy asks you whi you got married (if need be) tell him you don't recollect.

Marriage iz a safe way to gambel. If you win yu win a pile, and if you lose anything, only the privilege of living dismally alone, and soaking yur own feet.

Petrified Whales.

The following appears in The Los Angeles News:

While "Uncle" Billy Rubottom was engaged, a few days ago, in quarrying stone near the top of a very high hill near his residence, he struck a promising lead of petrified whales. The bones are very numerous and completely turned into stone. The vertebræ, particularly, were found in great numbers, and are easily recognizable from their peculiar form. How the whales got there, and how long they have been there, are questions for geologists, to whom the discovery offers a fine field for examination and research. The presence of the remains of marine animals upon such an elevation is a fact difficult to explain.

Tanning Sheep-skins with the Wool On.

About every six weeks we have an inquiry as to the best method of tanning sheep-skins with the wool on for use as door-mats, rugs, etc. Here are the directions:—Tack the skin upon a board with the flesh side out, and then scrape with a blunt knife; next rub it over hard with pulverized chalk until it will absorb no more. Then take the skin from the board, and cover it with pulverized alum, double half way over with flesh side in contact, then roll tight together, and keep dry for three days, after which unfold it, and stretch it again on a board or a door, and dry in the air and it will be ready for use.

Schoolma'ams.

A late number of The Alpine Miner says.:

Schoolma'ams are evidently in great demand in Monitor. During eight or nine years of our residence here we have had a voice, as school Trustee, in the employment of a good many female teachers, and not one of them who was eligible to matrimony but has found her destiny here. The last is announced under the proper head to day, snapped up before the school is half done. Sich is life. Who'll be the next? is the anxious inquiry of scores of bachelor miners still on the lookout. We wish the newly married much joy.

Angel Songs.

Senor Dominguez, of Clear Creek county, has a large herd of burros (donkeys) which are sometimes quartered on the greens at Idaho. Last Sabbath, as one of the local preachers was expatiating on the truths of holy writ, he had occasion to use the quotation, "Hark, I hear an angel sing," when just as the words were uttered, there came a fearful blast from the lungs of the biggest jackass in the heard, which caused a broad smile to creep over the faces of the congregation, 'and the subsequent proceedings interested them no more."—Idaho Register.

—Bowen, the bigamist, has led a varied and successful career. He commenced as a brick-layer, was afterwards a Confederate soldier, then a loyal member of Congress, and all the time a polygamist. As a soldier he managed to avoid a calamity that would have made widows of three Mrs. Bowens; and as a member of Congress he availed himself of his honorable position to take another step in his matrimonial career. There is nothing fascinating in the man—physically, morally, politically, as a soldier, or in his heavy character as a bigamist.

LEGAL.

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of State and the Treasurer of State, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said state, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bond; said coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notices of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the Capital of the State; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris in France, and for the space of one month in a daily news paper published in German, in the City of Frankfort on the Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the state; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless sufficient security shall be furnished by the bidders for the performance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin, par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of State each to keep a separate record of all bonds sold under the provisions of this Act, showing the number, date, amount and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the general Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury; and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in section seven of this Act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value, but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bonded, which said certificate shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel each bond so exchanged, and shall indorse on such bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued in exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the State treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the state, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering therein the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the expiration of such advertisement, such bonds, unless sooner paid, shall cease to draw interest, but the money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the state, to be computed by the Controller of state, on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the State treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper, published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper, published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals, at rates not exceeding par value, as may redeem the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less sum than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publications, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication; before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this Act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said interest Fund, if sufficient, and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that the Controller of State shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. this Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for its submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the state for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this state shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act, those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same, shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and canvassed, and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Treasurer of state, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast are for or against this law, as aforesaid, are in favor of this Act, then the same shall have effect as hereinbefore provided, and shall be irrepealable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation hereof; but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have this act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceeding the next general election, for which publication no greater allowance shall be made than the rates allowed by law to the State Printer.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, H. L. NICHOLS, Secretary of State of the State of California, do hereby certify that the annexed is a true, full, and correct copy of Chapter four hundred and eighty-four, Statutes of California, Eighteenth Session, approved April 2, 1870, now on file in my office.

WITNESS my hand and the great seal of State, at office, in Sacramento, California, the twenty-fifth day of May, A. D. 1871.

An Unfortunate Family.

The local of The Gold Hill News is responsible for the following:

Returning from a visit to the Rhode Island Mill, Lower Gold Hill, the other day, we chanced to meet an old California acquaintance. He had evidently been drinking, for he was pretty tight, but he recollected us forthwith, and his style of greeting was as hearty and affectionately boisterous as one could well desire. It was not the first time we had seen Bob tight, but he looked considerably worse dilapidated than ever before, and after a short talk we asked him the reason of it. "You remember my six brothers, don't you?" says he. "Oh, yes, very well indeed, every one of them." Well, you see, we was a mighty unlucky family, somehow; worst luck you ever saw. The old man used barrels and barrels of whisky tryin' to cure the heart disease, brought on by my mother scoldin' him so much; didn't do no good though, and he died drunk. Gabriel he took to drinkin' through sorrow after his first wife died, and his second wife was so mean he couldn't let up, so he drank himself to death. Sam got jilted by a Massachusetts schoolmarm, and went the same way. Phil's was a terrible critter, and he couldn't get no peace, so he got even with her by coming home drunk as often as he could. Hezekiah's wife drove him to drinkin' pretty much for the same reason. Dan's old mother-in-law got him started inside of six months, and he never rested till he drank the vicious, quarrelsome, old critter into the grave, although it killed him too. Dave was the only one off the lot that really follered drinkin' because he liked it, and he wouldn't done it only he was led into it by a good lookin' grass-widder who kept a tavern close by where he lived. Dave won't last long, you bet, the way he's a going on. As for me, I jest drink out of pure sympathy for the rest of 'em. Don't catch me a gittin married. These wimmen jest drives more men to drinkin' than their heads is worth. Not one of us boys, or the old man either, ever cared to—but there goes the bus, and I'm goin' up to Virginia. See you again sometime, and we'll have a drink over old times.

Adoption of New Text Books.

At the last session of the State Board of Education a proposition was received from Messrs. Ivison, Phinney, Blakeman & Co. for the introduction of Swinton's Condensed History of the United States into the public schools of California, whereupon, on motion of O. P. Fitzgerald, the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, That this Board hereby adopt Swinton's Condensed History of the United States as a text book for the public schools of California; said book to be introduced at half rates, $1 50 being the maximum full rates for three months from the beginning of its introduction in each school district of the State; provided, That the price of the book shall not be increased during the period of its adoption; and provided further, That California shall have the benefit of any further reduction that may be made in the regular price of the book; provided also, That the materials of said book shall be equal to the sample copies furnished members of the Board.

Resolved, That this arrangement for the introduction of said book shall be in force until July 1872.

On motion of Mr. Fitzgerald it was

Resolved, That Swinton's "Word Analysis" be adopted for use in such public schools of California as may wish to use it as supplementary to Wilson's Spellers, without interference with the course of study as now arranged.

The "Pike."

A correspondent of The Boston Evening Post tells this of our California ex-Missourians:

The Pike is also found in Colusa County, where he is the hero of numerous droll stories. As, for instance: "I was determined," said a citizen, "to keep the Fourth of July; but these Pikes don't understand anything about it. So last year two or three of us took an old anvil down to the river, loaded it up and began to blaze away. By and by I saw a lot of objects bobbing up and down on the river, always up stream. I thought they were ducks at first, but presently discovered them to be a lot of Pikes, swimming the river, with their rifles held out of the water. Soon they came along to us, and the head man, a gaunt six-footer in butternut, sung out to me, 'Stranger, where's the war?'"

"I couldn't get their whisky strong enough for them," said Nick, a droll fellow who had kept a "saloon," which is Californian for bar room, in Colusa; "so, after trying every way, I at last made a mixture of poison oak and butternut. That fetched 'em. I called it the sheep-herder's delight; and it was a popular drink. The first Pike I tried it on yelled with delight; the next one took two drinks and turned a double summerset in the road before the house. A pedler came along, and after he took several drinks of my sheep-herder's delight he went off and stole his own pack and hid it in the woods. When he came to himself he made a complaint of the theft, but I guessed how it was and helped him to find the goods."

—They contend in an English court that a man who says "handsome-ver" is not a gentleman.

Why England Relinquished Oregon.

Every disciple of Izak Walton knows that salmon will not take the hook in their spawning journeys, but it is not generally known that the inhabitants of British Columbia attribute to this fact the loss to England of Oregon and Washington Territory. In a recent speech delivered by Dr. Helmkean before the Colonial Assembly at Victoria, on the San Juan boundary question, he gave the following explanation of the causes that led to the cession of that country to the United States. "In 1845, when negotiations were pending between Great Britain and the United States in regard to the boundary line, Great Britain claimed the country known as Oregon and Washington Territory. The British ships-of-war were sent out to examine the country and report to the British Ministry upon its value. The Earl of Aberdeen was Premier at the time; the commander of one of the ships was the Earl's brother, and he with with others went ashore and tried to catch salmon with flies. The salmon wouldn't take the flies, and the officers caught no fish. When they returned to their ship the Earl's brother wrote home that the country was not worth a farthing! and the British Ministry relinquished all claims to it."

Farmers' Wives

If I had the ability I would like to write a plea for farmers' wives. They are not slaves to fashion and etiquette, as your city ladies are (poor creatures!) and they know something about toil and care and anxiety. But notwithstanding the grandeur and glitter, and fascination of city life, I had rather be a farmer's wife and wear out in honest toil and labor of love, and gain my bread by the sweat of my brow, than to bow down to the goddess Fashion, with her ridiculous flummeries, and exhaust what few brains I have in studying etiquette, gentility and style. Better spend our strength in useful labor while the hours pass swiftly by, than to be dying with ennui as many idle fashionable people are, not knowing what to do with all their time. Preserve me from walking on the "upper crust," feeling all the time that it may break and let me through! I would rather walk on the green grass with the blue sky overhead and feel that I stand on terra firma.—Household.

Coast Railroad Survey.

The San Buenaventura Signal mentions the arrival at that place, in Santa Barbara County, of E. N. Robinson, who is now at the head of the corps of engineers making a preliminary survey for a narrow-gauge road along the coast between San Francisco and some point yet to be determined, perhaps San Diego or Fort Mohave. Mr. Robinson states that since leaving San Francisco his engineers have encountered no obstacle that may not be overcome in building the road, and that there is but little doubt as to an early commencement of work and speedy completion; in fact he predicts that, when once undertaken, it will be completed in less time than any road of its length ever built in the world. Another corps of surveyors will probably be put on the work, to commence at the town of Santa Barbara.

From Oregon.

Oregon dates to June 30th have the following:—The son of O. W. Vallmor, 22 years of age, was drowned last evening by jumping from a leaky boat in which he was riding.

The river is at a stand-still to-day. It has risen but one inch since noon yesterday.

Sauvier Island is almost entirely covered with water. Loss to crops and animals on the Island will reach $50,000. The Cascade Railroad is entirely covered with water—no trains can pass over it.

A dispatch from Halsey, June 30th, says:—The body of Samuel Wilhoy, who was drownded while swimming in the lake near Lancaster, yesterday evening, has been recovered.

This town is being built up rapidly, and lots are in demand at constantly increasing prices.

Water from Lake Tahoe.

The Carson Register learns that Mr. Monroe, who has within the last year or two surveyed much of the land in the eastern part of the State, is about visiting Lake Tahoe with a view to ascertaining the possibility of taking water into Virginia City. This would be a gigantic undertaking, but at the same time a remunerative one. The people of Carson City could take part in the enterprise and divert sufficient of the water for the use of our own people.—Gold Hill News.

Executive Clemency.

Governor Haight has pardoned M. J. Dunn, the Hoodlum, who nearly two months since was convicted in Santa Clara County of raising a disturbance while on an excursion, and sentenced to seventy-five days' imprisonment, having served out fifty days of his time, his health having become quite poor.

JUSTIFICATION.

[Correspondence of The Inyo Independent.]

BISHOP CREEK, June 28, 1871.

MESSRS. EDITORS: Having noticed in your columns, a short time since, a short piece written by one of our bachelor friends in regard to school matters, I, being one of your subscribers, thought I would take the liberty to say something in justification of myself as well as of my neighbors.

There was a four month's school taught by Mr. Clark which closed some time last March or April, since which time there has been none. It is true there was a division of the district, or at least report says so, and here I shall be under the necessity of placing a portion of the blame upon another bachelor friend, Mr. Symmes, for at the time of the division there was but two Trustees in the district, and one of them, Mr. Powers, was not altogether satisfied to remain in the new district; the other one was not in the district, neither will he be during the Summer. For that reason there was no one to make a move. To the best of my knowledge neither one of the Trustees had been notified of the division of the district, and neither one was in possession of form, blank or a copy of the school law. They would, in my judgment, need to be experts in school affairs to be able to act without them.

The only one that was notified of the division, to the best of my knowledge, was E. P. Welch, and he has gone to Columbus. Now, Mr. Editor, I am inclined to the opinion that you are something of a stranger on Bishop Creek, and I will here inform you that there is a number of marriageable young ladies here now. Don't understand me to say our "Bachelor correspondent" wishes to marry, but it would look that way to a man up a tree, for in case he should ask the consent of the old folks after the publication of his letter showing the interest he takes in the rising generation, they would at once come to the conclusion that they could not do better, and all I have got to say is "sail your boat, brother bachelor."

THE BACHELOR'S FRIEND.

War in Amador.

The Miners' League are on a heavy strike in Amador County. The militia were ordered out but are detained in Sacramento, while Governor Haight, Latham and McDonald go there in the hope of effecting a compromise without a collision with the state authorities. Local political demagogues are said to be at the bottom of the strike, which is generally deprecated by the citizens of that county.

Since the above was in type we learn that a new set of men have been put to work pumping out the mines, which would soon have been ruined, and that the strikers have abandoned the contest.

ATLANTIC AND PACIFIC RAILROAD.

It is said the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad Company, having secured a liberal grant of land, and perfected all preliminaries, has set about the construction of their road and will complete it in the shortest possible time. The several other proposed trans-continental railroads have occupied so much of public attention that we have heard but little of this, the most flattering in its prospects, the Atlantic and Pacific or 35th parallel railroad; the chances are this will be the first completed; among them all there is none that so nearly concerns the interests of our own section.

The Atlantic and Pacific road is to be on the most direct route from St. Louis to San Francisco, by the general route of the 35th parallel. There can be no doubt but this affords the very best route for a trans continental railroad. It has no Rocky Mountains to ascend, nor no Sierra Nevada to tunnel through; no snow sheds to build, nor snow and ice to contend with. Notwithstanding there are barren plains and sandy deserts to span, this road will have a greater expanse of country, rich in mineral and agricultural resources tributary to it than either of the others. From Springfield, Missouri, it passes through the Indian Territory to Fort Gibson, at the head of navigation on the Arkansas River, connecting at that point with the Memphis and Little Rock, and the Missouri, Kansas and Texas railroads, thence through New Mexico and Arizona, entering this State in San Bernardino County, crossing the Sierras into the San Joaquin Valley (if run on the most direct route), through Walker's Pass, which will bring it within seventy-five miles of our own locality.

This company have a land grant amounting to about fifty-five million acres of land; it now runs a completed road to Grand River in the Indian Territory a distance of about 500 miles, and expects to have about 200 miles more in operation the present year. The engineers have been some months in the field surveying a route for the California end of the road from the Colorada to San Francisco. The Directors are about to visit our State in a body. Within three years it is believed this road will be completed.

FOREIGN NEWS.

In case the French Assembly, after the new elections, shall show a majority in favor of a monarchy, the Orleanists will move the establishment of a Constitution and offer the throne first to the Count de Chambord, and if he refuses, then to the Count de Paris.

The Emperor and Empress of Brazil will remain in Europe till next February. By a majority of twenty-eight the Brazilian Chambers sustains the bill for the emancipation of the slaves belonging to the crown.

Great uneasiness is felt in England about the relations with Germany, and some of the ablest English statesmen believe that war will come.

The Supreme King of Siam is said to contemplate a visit to Europe and the United States.

A Paris dispatch says that revenge is the uppermost thought with that people, and their hope is to get back the lost territory from the Prussians.

Grand Duke Alexis, of Russia, will shortly visit the United States at the head of the finest naval squadron that ever crossed the Atlantic.

The people of the Canadian provinces are still dissatisfied with the treaty and acting as if they did not know the mother government had ratified it.

EASTERN NEWS.

The Connecticut Legislature has voted $500,000 for a new State house at Hartford.

The recent movement in Ohio to enforce the Sunday law is creating a commotion.

George Woodruff, the oldest trainer and driver of trotting horses in the world, was killed by a locomotive, June 28, while crossing a railroad track near Boston.

Long Island, Staten Island and New Jersey were considerably shaken up by an earthquake, June 18.

A narrow gauge railroad is projected, to run from Leavenworth to Denver, a distance of 600 miles. Thos. A. Scott, President of the Pennsylvania Central, favors it.

The statement is officially confirmed that the Treaty of Washington has been ratified, and that Halifax will soon cease to be the rendezvous for the British North American fleet, and that the fleet in Canadian waters will be reduced to a Commodore's ship.

A Bold Challenge.

Lucien B. Maxwell, of Santa Fe, New Mexico, offers to run his mare, Fly, against any horse in the world four hundred yards, catch weight, for from $5,000 to $40,000.

POLITICAL NEWS.

The Republican State Convention met in Sacramento June 28, Judge C. E. Filkins, of Yuba, being elected President. Newton Booth was, by acclamation, nominated for Governor, Selby having withdrawn. Contrary to expectation the proceedings passed off in perfect harmony and good feeling. Our townsman, P. W. Bennett, received a very flattering vote, though he was not nominated; he was second on the list and on his motion the nomination of his leading competitor for the Controllership was made unanimous.

We endorse, and commend to the attention of our readers, the fifth section of the platform, the whole of which we give below. We bespeak for the principle involved in that section the hearty support of the people, irrespective of political bias, and hope our Legislative representative, whomsoever he may be, will see that some action is taken upon it in the ensuing Legislature.

Following are the names of the candidates, all of whom are spoken of in high terms, though but few of them are generally known in public life:

For Lieutenant-Governor, Romualdo Pacheco; Secretary of State, Drury Malone; Controller, T. J. Greene; Treasurer, Ferdinand Baehr; Surveyor-General, Robert Gardner; Attorney General, John Lord Love; Supreme Judge, short term, A. C. Niles; long term, A. L. Rhodes; Clerk of the Supreme Court, Grant I. Taggart; Superintendent of Public Instruction, Professor Bolander; Harbor Commissioner, John A. McGlynn; State Printer, Thomas J. Springer.

Following are the names of the members of the State Central Committee:

First District—Walter Murray, San Luis Obispo.
2d—Watson Chalmers, Butte.
3d—I. A. Ammerman, Alameda.
4th—E. P. Buckley, San Francisco.
5th—H. S. Sargent, San Joaquin.
6th—A. J. Rhoades, Sacramento.
7th—John Orr, Sonoma.
8th—R. S. McClelland, Del Norte.
9th—C. H. Pyle, Siskiyou.
10th—W. K. Hudson, Yuba.
11th—H. F. Page, El Dorado.
12th—J. P. Ames, San Mateo.
13th—S. C. Bates, Mariposa.
14th—James E. Hale, Placer.
15th—H. R. Reed, San Francisco.
16th—J. E. Goodall, Mono.
17th—A. Brunson, Los Angeles.

To these were added as delegates at large: Eugene L. Sullivan, Morris M. Estee, W. W. Dodge and O. F. Wiley, of San Francisco, and W. W. Crane, Jr., of Alameda.

Henry Edgerton of Sacramento, in behalf of the Committee on Platform and Resolutions (ascending the rostrum) read the following:

Resolved, First—That the Republicans of California by their representatives in State Convention assembled, avow their determination to maintain and perpetuate the principles of the National Republican Party. That we recur with pride and satisfantion to the many practical and substantial triumphs of those principles achieved during the past ten years; in the coercion by force of the rebellious States into obedience of the Federal Constitution and laws; in maintaining through a long, severe and bloody struggle the authority of the General Government against powerful armies in front, English and French interference on the flank, and the Democratic party in the rear; in rooting out the Democratic institution of slavery, and banishing it forever from the jurisdiction of the United States; in prohibiting any State from abridging the privileges of any citizen of the Republic; in providing irrepealable guarantys for the payment of the public debt incurred in suppressing the late rebellion, and securing the people of all the States against being taxed for the payment of the debt of the late rebel Confederacy; in declaring the civil and political equality of every citizen, and in establishing all these principles in the Federal Constitution, by amendments thereto, as the permanent law.

Second—That in Ulysses S. Grant we recognize a large measure of the patriotism, ability and honesty which distinguished the Presidential career of Abraham Lincoln, and we feel assured that the storm of falsehood and petty slander directed against him by the malice of defeated enemies will no more prevail in depreciating his character, in the minds of the people, than when the same means were employed by the same agencies to destroy his great co-laborer and predecessor; that his services, both military and civil, entitle him to the regard and confidence of the whole American people, and give assurance that the wisdom, perseverance and capacity which commanded success at the head of great armies, will in the civil affairs of the Government accomplish results equally important and valuable.

Third—That the present National Administration, inaugurated amid political, civil and social disorders incident to civil war, and confronted by complications foreign and domestic, unparrelleled in their difficulty and extent, has thus far achieved a most gratifying success and given universal assurances of the stability and power of popular government. That by its judicious conduct of our foreign relations, its firm and impartial attitude toward the great Powers of Europe, recently involved in a desolating and destructive war; its prompt and rigid enforcement of the laws of neutrality; its successful solution of grave and threatening issues long pending between our own country and Great Britain; its wise and economical management of the national finances; its correction of frauds in the revenue, and efficient collection of the same; its retrenchment of expense in all the departments of Government; its reduction of the public debt by more than two hundred millions of dollars; its diminution of taxation eighty millions of dollars per annum, and its establishment of the public credit upon a secure basis, it commands universal respect at home and abroad, and deserves the continued confidence and support of the American people.

Fourth—That the concentration of the landed property of the country in the possession and ownership of a few, to the exclusion of the many, is in contravention of the theory of American government, subversive of the rights, liberties and happiness of the masses of the people, and, if permitted, would inevitably terminate in the speedy establishment of an aristocracy upon the ruins of our free institutions; and we are in favor of such legislation, both by the nation and the States, as shall secure a just and equal distribution of the public lands remaining to them respectively, to actual settlers and proprietors, in small quantities, at the lowest reasonable prices, and for homestead purposes only.

Fifth—That the safety and perpetuity of republican institutions depend mainly upon popular education and intelligence. We therefore approve and recommend a common school system that shall not only extend its benefits to all, but which shall be compulsory upon all—and we are inflexibly opposed to any application of the public school moneys with any reference to distinctions in religious creeds.

Sixth—That religious liberty in its broadest sense is a fundamental principle of American government; and legislative enactments having in view the establishment of creeds, the regulation of modes of worship, or the enforcement of religious observances of any kind, are inconsistent therewith, and invasions of rights of citizens.

Seventh—That the presence in our midst of large numbers of Chinese who are incapable of assimilation with our own race, ignorant of the nature and forms of our Government, and who manifest no disposition to acquire a knowledge of the same, or to conform to our own habits, manners and customs, is a serious and continuing injury to the best interests of the State; that their employment under the plea of cheap wages is offensive to the exalted American idea of the dignity of labor, detrimental to the prosperity and happiness of our own laboring classes, and an evil that ought to be abated; that while we unsparingly reprobate and denounce all acts of violence wheresoever and by whomsoever committed upon them, we are inflexibly opposed to their admission to citizenship, and demand of the Federal Government the adoption of such treaty, regulations and legislation as shall discourage their further immigration to our shores.

Tenth—That the scandalous abuse of power exhibited by a Democratic Legislature in the creation of useless offices, boards and commissions, and the exorbitant increase of salaries and fees, for partisan purposes; its palpable and wanton violation of a plain provision of the Constitution by the infamous enactment commonly known as the "lottery bill;" its measureless subservi-ency of a corrupt lobby, evinced by numerous profligate grants of subsidies to railway companies; official sanction of most of these pernicious measures, including the aforesaid "Lottery bill," by the present Democratic State Executive, and in addition thereto, his offical approval of a series of Legislative enactments, whereby railway corporations have been subsidized to the extent of $4,000,000, afford convincing proof of the apostacy of a Democratic administration to all the pledges upon the faith of which it was elevated to power, and that the affairs of the State cannot with safety be recommitted to its control.

Eleventh—That we extend to our newly enfranchised citizens a cordial welcome to the rights of citizenship now permanently secured to them after a hard fought struggle with their old oppressors; that they do not under estimate the responsibility which rests upon them as freemen, we fully believe, and as they advance in the path of freedom and intelligence, none will regret the act of justice by which the Republican party gave to them by constitutional guarantees civil and political equality.

Eighth—That the subsidizing of railroads, or other private corporations by grants of public lands, or by taxation of private property, in any form, is contrary to sound maxims of government, productive of gross corruption and abuse, and a plain invasion of the rights of the citizen. And we hereby pledge the Republican party to an uncompromising opposition to any and all legislation for such purpose, and whereas the Supreme Court has decided that such legislation is not in conflict with the Constitution, therefore resolved, That we are in favor of an amendment to that instrument prohibiting the enactment of any law granting such subsidies.

Ninth—That we demand an immediate repeal of the act of the last Legislature commonly known as the "five per cent subsidy law."

Tuolumne.

Following are the candidates for the several offices of Tuolumne County, as nominated by the Republicans:

For Senator, M. C. Andross; for Assemblymen, P. B. Bacon, Wm. G. Long; County Judge, H. B. McNeil; Sheriff, J. A. S. Trout; Clerk, John York, Jr.; Treasurer, D. M. Kenfield; District Attorney, E. A. Rodgers; Assessor, Geo. D. Fonda; Surveyor, A. B. Beauvais; Coronor, C. Burden; Superintendent Common Schools, J. S. Congdon.

THE COREAN FIGHT.

We take the following from The Sacramento Union, of July 1st:

The peninsula of Corea lies between the Sea of Japan, east, and the Yellow Sea, west. The first separates it from the islands which form the Empire of Japan, the last from China. It lies between latitude 34 degrees south and 45 degrees north, and its average width is about 150 miles. The rivers of the peninsula are all short. The capital city is Kingkitao, situate in latitude 38 degrees, and at the head of a small river. It is about 80 miles from the Yellow Sea. At the mouth of this river is located the fortified port of Kianho, spelled in our dispatch as "Kang Noe." This port is the defense of the capital, and has been before assailed by a Western Power, but ineffectually. The attack of Commodore Rodgers appears to have been a brilliant success, resulting in a complete victory and giving him possession of the forts and citadel. Five forts in all have been taken, which were defended by 11,000 troops. There was hard hand-to-hand fighting, and the Coreans lost 243 killed. The Commodore's loss was so trifling as to suggest their utter inability to cope with our arms and valor. Whether this victory, which was achieved on the 10th and 11th of June, will be followed up by an advance upon the capital, is not known. But we think it probable the Commodore will make no new movement without fresh orders. He has, at least, got a footing in the country, at a very cheap rate, and may be able to command a favorable peace without any more fighting.

The following was received at the Navy Department June 28th:

COREA, June 23, 1871.

To the Secretary of the Navy: The Coreans not apologizing for their treacherous attack, on the 10th we landed on Kang Noe, took and destroyed the lower fort and munitions. On the 11th we took another fort and then stormed and captured the stronghold. Five forts have been taken. The troops which defended them are reported as numbering 11,000. There was desperate hand-to-hand fighting in the citadel. The ordnance was destroyed—480 pieces, principally small brass pieces. Very many small arms and 50 flags were taken. We counted 243 dead Coreans around the citadel. We had three killed. These were the gallant Lieutenant McKee, who was the first man inside the citadel, and killed with a bullet and spear; marine Dennis Hanrahan and landsman Seth Allen. Our nine wounded are all out of danger, and doing well.

(Signed) JOHN RODGERS,
Commodore U. S. Navy.

An Oregonian in a Quandary.

The East Portland Era tells the following good story of an old settler: A gentleman near East Portland sold his farm a few days ago to Ben Holladay for $65,000. He took his check to the bank and demanded the coin. The cashier brought out several boxes of coin and commenced counting the amount out in $20 pieces. The luckman spread out upon the counter a common bandana hankerchief, thinking that it would hold the amount conveniently. The cashier kept on counting the $20 pieces until the hankerchief was filled, and still the sum had not reached what the check called for. Mr.——was puzzled; he had never seen half so much money before. After studying a moment he went out and procured a buggy and commenced to fill it with the precious metal. After receiving $45,000 he concluded that it was all the buggy would safely carry, and he asked the cashier to hold on until he could find a place to empty it. He then drove around the streets of the city in company with his wife, stopping at such places as looked strong and safe, and deposited $2,000 in one place, $5,000 in another, $10,000 in another, and so until he got rid of his load, and then returned for the balance, which was disposed of in a similar manner. So much money was never dreamed of before. Before Ben Holladay came to the State $5,000 would have bought all of his possessions.

Chewing Gum.

The habit of chewing gum is almost as bad as chewing tobacco. It grows on a person who indulges in it as much as does drinking liquor, and the sudden breaking off of it is injurious. A young girl who has "chawed" regularly for years, swore off last week, and since that time has had the regular dum-fummicks, and has to be set up with every night. A young man sets up with her, however, and she don't mind it so much. Girls that don't want to be set up with had better quit chewing gum.

Bad Prospects.

We find this in the Los Angeles Star.

The ranch owners in the vicinity of San Jose, on the road to San Bernardino, are entirely without feed for their stock. A gentleman in town from that region gives the most deplorable account of the country, owing to the grasshopper plague. Everything green has disappeared; the whole country for many miles is but a blackened heath; stock is in a wretched condition with no prospect of amelioration.

New Volume.

The Sonora Union Democrat on the 1st instant commenced its eighteenth volume and has, consequently, been seventeen years in existence. We heartily wish it success; and it strikes us that the many old Tuolumneites here should send for it.

—Texas has more milch cows than any other State in the Union. You can buy one for six or eight dollars in Houston, but milk is scarce and butter 60 cents a pound.

Shad Culture.

The Sacramento Record, of June 24, has this:

That delightful fish, the shad, familiar to those brought up on the Atlantic side of the continent, is about to be introduced to our Sacramento waters. Yesterday some 15,000 diminutive specimens of the species arrived here in tin cans, filled with water, on the train from the East, and were taken on the Oregon Railroad in the afternoon to Sesma, on the upper Sacramento river where they are to be allowed their freedom in the river, in order to propagate and furnish us Sacramentans, in years to come, with the most delicious of food. These shad were brought here by Seth Greene, of Caledonia, New York, who is one of the New York Fish Commissioners. They were hatched a week ago last Sunday night in the Hudson river, the spawn having been obtained 300 miles away. Mr. Greene was met here by B. B. Redding, one of the California Fish Commissioners, who accompanied the little visitors to the north. Our own Commissioners are allowed $5,000 for the purpose of introducing rare specimens of fish from from other States or countries to our waters, and for protecting our own fisheries. Through our Commissioners these shad have been brought here, and the result of their endeavors will be looked for with much interest by the people of the State. The experiment has proved a success in New York and Connecticut, and why not here?

—Mr. Whitehead, the inventor of the "fish torpedo," will, it is said, get $75,000 from the English government in consideration of his making over his invention to it.

Application for Patent.

(NOTICE NO. 3.)

U. S. REGISTER'S OFFICE,
Aurora, Nevada, July 1st, 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT A. L. AND J. L. GREELEY have this day filed in this office a diagram and notice of application for patent from the United States, under Act of Congress approved July 26, 1866, for four thousand feet of the LAST CHANCE LODE, situated in Esmeralda Mining District, Esmeralda County, Nevada, and particularly described as follows:

Commencing at a post, the point of notice near the east end of the town of Aurora, about 5 chains north-easterly from the Monroe House, and about six chains north-easterly from the Wide West mill, running thence along the lode line

1. N. 54 deg. E. 4 chains.
2. N. 69 deg. 20 min. E. 2 71 chains.
3. N. 70 deg. 10 min. E. 7 23 chains.
4. S. 23 deg. 19 min. E. 8 50 chains.
5. N. 86 deg. 59 min. E. 6 02 chains.

Thence to the Westerly boundary of the Juniata lode claim, with a surface width of one hundred feet on each side of the lode line; also the mill site of the Wide West mill, described as follows:

Commencing at a post from which the South Westerly corner of the Wide West mill bears N. 54 deg. 20 min. E. distant 3.41 chains, and running

1. N. 11 deg. 28 min. E. 4.50 chains.
2. S. 78 deg. 32 min. E. 7.50 chains.
3. S. 11 deg. 28 min. W. 4.50 chains.
4. N. 78 deg. 32 min. W. 7 50 chains.

All of which is more particularly described by the diagram posted in this office and on the claim.

Earthquake.

Wednesday July 5th, at 8 minutes past 2, quite a severe shock of earthquake was felt here. Parties in Harris & Rhine's store at the time evacuated it on the double quick—not that they were frightened at all, but just to see how things out-side were affected. As an indication of its severity in this office (which is on the second floor), we note that it very suddenly brought to his feet a sleeping hombre who was assiduously endeavoring to recuperate from the effects of attending the ball of the night previous. Judged by this standard the shake was about a two-horse power, since it usually takes four loud calls to wake this individual when in an ordinary doze. Persons on the street did not notice anything unusual, while others heard only a noise, like distant thunder, doubtless pertaining to the shake. The weather was warm, cloudy and inclined to be showery.

At Swansea.

A correspondent from Swansea, writing on the 6th instant, relates the occurrence of the earthquake there as follows: "Yesterday this place was visted by several shocks of earthquake. The first occurred a few minutes before 1 o'clock, and was light. It was not observed by any who were not at rest, either sitting or standing. The last came a few minutes past 1, being preceded by a rushing, rumbling sound; it was very severe, causing the house to raise and crack and tremble as if it would fall, and all who were inside to rush out. However, there was no damage done." The shake at Lone Pine, also, seems to have been equally severe, causing a general commotion everywhere. It appears to have traveled northward, and we conclude, from reports, that it was not much shakes by the time it got to Bishop Creek.

Consolidation.

As there are not sufficient funds in either Milton or Independence School Districts to maintain a school but a few months in the year, it is about decided to consolidate the two. By this plan it is thought one good school can be kept up the entire year, three-fourths of the time at Independence and the remaining fourth at the Milton School House. Mr. Hardy, the present efficient teacher at the Milton School will probably be employed to take charge, and school will begin in this place in about two weeks.

The Indian Business.

We learn from a gentleman just in from Deep Spring Valley that Joe Bowers talked to the Silver Peak, Palmetto and Fish Lake Valley Indians six or seven days, accompanied by the old Indians of the tribe. Joe says there will be no more war. He does not know any thing about the Shoshones, but that they will go to Belmont, steal horses and take them South to a renegade tribe that lives about three sleeps east of Independence. He says that he don't know much about the Bishop Creek Indians.

Arrivals at Deep Spring.

One of the most notable of events in the setting up of new mining camps is the arrival of the first lady. Mr. Walker and wife, Mr. Ober and wife and Mrs. J. B. Hiskey arrived in Deep Spring June 30th. Prospectors in considerable number are arriving, and a newspaper correspondent in the interest of The Chicago Tribune is looking at the country.

The Fourth Elsewhere.

The Fourth was observed at Lone Pine by the firing of the national salute and by general festivities. The dance at the Lone Pine Hotel is reported to us as having been thoroughly enjoyed by those who attended. At Benton the day passed off in the most pleasant manner imaginable—the oration being spoken of as a peculiarly happy effort, attentively listened to by a goodly audience of ladies and gentlemen.

Application for Patent.

"Notice No. 3" comes from old Esmeralda, the Messrs. Greeley making application for a United States patent on the Last Chance lode and the site of the Wide West mill. Several other parties are about making application for titles—and the far-famed old mines are yet to be worked, and Aurora will recover from the effects of the general mining crash which occurred in 1865-6.

A New Firm.

The new merchandising house recently established at the old Beaudry stand, near Camp Independence, by Earl & Harris, has received a new stock of dry goods, groceries, grain, etc., and seems to be doing a lively business already. They keep, also, a series of the standard school books. The place is bound to become a popular one with buyers and traders.

Independence School District.

According to the report of School Census Marshal Goodale, there are in this district 28 white children between five and fifteen years of age; under five years, 9; negro and Mongolian, none; Indian, 15. But 11 children have attended public school during the year, and 7 have attended private schools.

The Ball.

We are too lazy to write a full report of the ball, but it was very largely attended and kept up until a late, or rather an early hour. Couples from all parts of the county lent their presence; scores of handsome ladies with elegant toilets graced the occasion, and everybody seemed to enjoy themselves.

Democratic Convention.

The Democratic County Nominating Convention will be held at the Court House to-day, for the purpose of selecting candidates for the various county offices. Most all of the delegates are in town, and the fight will be a lively one. May the best men win!

Primaries.

The Republican primaries will be held at the various precincts in the county to-day, for the election of delegates to the County Convention. Although but few candidates are in the field, the indications are that the contest will be a warm one.

Fish.

We credit Mr. G. W. Warden for a mess of delicious Kings River trout, which that gentleman presented this institution.

Somebody

Go to the Inyo House and get a small cloak which was left at the Masonic Hall on the night of the dance.

How it Was.

There was too much tarantula juice imbibed by at least one of our citizens on the Fourth, so there was too much noise and "fursing" and wanting to whip somebody; there was two Sheriff's deputies and a citizen or two, too, all of whom together found it too much of a job to peaceably get the said pugnacious citizen where the dogs could not lacerate his tender epidermis, so vi et armis, they took him any how, but nobody took much beefsteak for breakfast next morning, all because there was a dearth of butchers.

Admitted.

P. Reddy, of Inyo County, California, was yesterday admitted to practice in the Supreme Court of Nevada.—Gold Hill (Nev.) News.

We are advised by a private letter that Mr. Reddy's reception by the learned Judges of our neighboring State was of the most social and distinguished character. Further advices state, also, that he was as brave as a sheep in the presence of a locomotive; he wasn't the least bit scared.

A Needed Institution.

Public attention is invited to the advertisement of Mr. B. F. Welch, who has just established himself in the tin and copper smith business at this place. He comes provided with all kinds of machinery necessary for doing any description of work in his line.

Livery Stable.

Thomas J. Goodale has leased his stables to a couple of well known gentlemen by the names of "Mac" and "Al.," but who are called John Collister and A. K. Briggs for short. They know how to keep a horse hotel, and merit a share of the public patronage. See advertisement.

Short Paper.

In common with about five thousand weekly papers all over the United States, we have this week to present our readers with a paper void of news, interest or anything else, except advertisements, on account of an "indisposition" to work—all hands were drunk as usual.

Sentenced.

Wm. Brown, whose arrest for robbing an Indian of a horse and pistol we have mentioned, was last Monday indicted by the Grand Jury for highway robbery, and on Thursday came up for trial. He plead guilty, and was sentenced to a term of four years in the State Prison.

Gone Hunting.

A party of eight Kearsarge sportsmen are out in the mountains hunting and fishing. Game of all kinds is reported to be abundant, and they will doubtless return with something good to eat and a lot of bear stories.

McMurry's

New stock of goods for the store at Fish Springs has already arrived and is now on sale. The store is at a good business point, and the wonder is that a large supply of goods have not been kept there all the time.

Bullion Shipment.

On the 21st ultimo there were shipped from Hiskey & Walker's mill, at Deep Spring Valley, 2 bars of bullion, weighing 22[illegible] ounces, valued at $150.

New Store.

We understand that the store room in the new Masonic building is already let to a party who designs to put in a stock of clothing and furnishing goods.

How He Plugged up that Hole.

There is more than one way to skin a cat, and a fellow up at Marysville has found a new way to plug a hole, according, to The Marysville Appeal:

A few days since Bill Winkley, or "Dutch Bill," as he is familiarily called, took into his head that he would tap a barrel of lager. Preparing himself with a spigot, he commenced operations. After starting in the cork, instead of striking the final blow and sending the spigot in fast and secure, he kept tapping it until the cork went in and the lager spirted out, drenching the ceiling overhead and nearly drowning Bill with the frothing, seething mess that covered him from head to foot. The shock was so great that the spigot flew out of his hand and beyond his reach. "Hant me down dot schpigot," sputtered Bill, as he frantically clawed one finger into the hole in a vain attempt to stop the flow of the seething beverage. "Got in himmel, poys, hant me dot schpigot, zo I blugs up dis hole," he cried, in a smothered tone. "Ain't you tam fools shust now?" he continued to the yelling crowd, who were nearly dying with laughter. "You let a man drown mit his fingers in der hole, nice fun for you, don't it—let me got dot schpigot in dis hole vot runs avay mit der peer, und den you vill shust go right avay out of dis blace." Finding no one could or would help him, he wheeled around, and sitting down on the hole as he wiped the lager from his face: "Vell, dis beats efery tings vot I nefer hafe seen, (just then one of the boys handed him the spigot). He got dot beer shtopped now, but how can I get dot schpigot in dis hole?" How the query was answered we know not, but the tailor had an order for a new pair of pants for the wild Dutchman.

Burst his Coat.

One evening Carlotta Patti sang in one of our large American cities.

Just as Ferranti, the buffo, was leading her out of the door, upon the platform, some one in the ante-room behind him cried out to him that his coat had burst at the seam in the back.

It was too late to go back, for the audience had seen him, and the two singers advanced to the footlights.

The knowledge of this mishap took all the humor out of Ferranti, and the duet—which was sung in Italian—was so dolefully devoid of its usual humor Patti noticed it before they were half through, and dropping the text of the duet, she fitted the following words to it, in Italian:

"What is the matter with you to night? I don't understand your nervousness. Nobody laughs at you!"

Whereupon Ferranti in mellifluous Italian, responded;

"By the saints, I have burst my coat! Everybody will laugh when I go off the stage, if they don't now!"

At this unexpected interchange of personal feeling, Max Maretzex and his orchestra began to laugh immoderately. Then the people in the front seats, seeing the orchestra and artists laughing, joined in themselves, and the merriment presently broke out in applause all over the house.

"Ah," said one of the papers next morning, "there is always something majestic in Ferranti's singing of that song. People burst into sympathetic laughter without being able to tell why!"

"Poor Paris."

An American who saw Paris burn from the roof of a house in the suburbs, says: "At about five or six in the afternoon the fire reached the hight of its fury, spread itself more widely, and broke out also on the left bank. As the flames mounted higher and crossed their forked tongues in air, men and women and women would wring their hands, crying, 'Poor Paris!' 'Poor France!' They would clasp their foreheads or breasts, bow down and bury their faces between their knees, crying, 'Unfortunate nation!' 'Voila the Commune!' The French people are never heard to speak of their disasters as a natural consequence, but as an unhappy circumstance; never in the light of a crime, but an accident. They turn away as if they were powerless to mend and had been powerless to prevent."

The Magdalena Bay Swindle.

Letters from Lower California state that of all the emigrants who were recently landed at Magdalena Bay, only about a dozen remain. The rest—there must be some sixty, including men and women—have left in disgust, on foot, and are now scattered over the peninsula. A number of them have been taken care of by the Mexican commandant at La Paz, and all of them are utterly destitute. The heartless promoters of this outrage have their headquarters at San Francisco, and embrace some prominent men of business there and in Eastern cities.

—There is a little three-year-old colored girl at Horn Lake, Mississippi, who has gray hairs in her head, and who presents the appearance of an old woman. She possesses a wonderful memory. Without knowing a single letter in the book, she can spell correctly any word in the English language that has ever been spelled in her hearing; and even words that she never heard before, she spells phonetically, leaving out no letter that is not silent when the word is pronounced.

—A trial trip was made recently with Nairn's patent steam omnibus from Edinburgh to Portobello, Scotland, and back. The trip was considered satisfactory, and it is stated that the owner of the omnibus intends running it daily.

—A husband of forty, at Danville, Illinois, has a wife aged twelve and a half years.

LEGAL.

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of State and the Treasurer of State, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said State, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bond; said coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notices of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the Capital of the State; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris in France, and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in German, in the City of Frankfort-on-the Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the State; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless sufficient security shall be furnished by the bidders for the compliance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin, par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of State each to keep a separate record of all bonds sold under the provisions of this Act, showing the number, date, amount and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in section seven of this Act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value, but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bonded, which said certificate shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel each bond so exchanged, and shall indorse on such bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued in exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the State treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the State, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering therein the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the expiration of such advertisement, such bonds, unless sooner paid, shall cease to draw interest, but the money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the State, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the State treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper, published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper, published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals, at rates not exceeding par value, as may redeem the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less amount than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publications, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication; before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this Act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said interest Fund, if sufficient; and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that the Controller of State shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. This Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for its submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the State for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this State shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act; those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same, shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and canvassed and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Governor of state, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast are for or against this law, as aforesaid, are in favor of this Act, then the same shall have effect as herein before provided, and shall be irrepealable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation hereof; but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have this Act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceeding the next general election, for which publication no greater allowance shall be made than the rates allowed by law to the State Printer.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, H. L. NICHOLS, Secretary of State of the State of California, do hereby certify that the annexed is a true, full, and correct copy of Chapter four hundred and Eighty-four, Statutes of California, Eighteenth Session, approved April 2, 1870, now on file in my office.

Fever Incidents in Buenos Ayres.

When the yellow fever broke out in Buenos Ayres, now nearly six months ago, the population of that city was estimated at from 200,000 to 240,000. The fever has at last run its terrible course, and the correspondents are figuring up the list of the dead. The New York Herald resident correspondent puts the number at the frightful figure of 30,000! or 15 per cent. of the population of the city. The lowest estimates say 15,000. Among the victims some fourteen Americans are named, including four ladies. This correspondent sends the following incidents of the plague:

In March last a confectioner broke open his coffin while being carried to the South Cemetery, and, feeling faint, weak and horrified, he rushed into a neighboring pulperia for a glass of brandy. After drinking it he said to the pulpero, "I cannot pay you, as I have no money; I have just broke out of my coffin." Every occupant of the house fled as though a fury was pursuing them. A street messenger, carrying an empty coffin, enters a grog shop and putting the coffin on the counter, drinks until he falls to the floor, and is carried away with the coffin. An engine driver on the Northern Railway line was lying in his bed. Suddenly he starts up and rushes from the house a maniac. He meets a fellow workman and tells him "I am going to catch my train." His comrade took him back to his home, but he died two hours after reaching it. In the conventillos, a class of poor alleyway tenement houses, the mortality was dreadful, and as many as seventy dead bodies are reported to have been taken from one of these fever dens, and the scavenger carts were employed in the removal of the corpses, sometimes actually breaking down from the weight. At one time coffins were publicly hawked or peddled about the streets, and later the Popular Commission distributed them gratuitously to the poor. One day a man came up and asked for a coffin from the Commission to bury a dead relative. The burial case was furnished, and two days later he appeared and asked for a coffin for the same person as the first one was asked for. It finally turned out that he had with some acquaintances been indulging in a drunken spree, leaving the relative unburied. At last one of the acquaintances died of fever, and his body was promptly put into the coffin; "and now," said he, "we are going to bury both together."

In the haste of flight from the city, many houses were abandoned, with all their contents, and at once the thieves set up a profitable business by watching their opportunities and carting away all the furniture and other effects. This has occurred in scores of instances, and the police now hold large numbers of keys of abandoned dwellings. During Holy Week—which terminated April 9th—the plague reached its extreme violence, and it was at that time that coffins, or rather simple boxes, were peddled in the streets. At this time also the new cemetery at the Chacarita was opened, and the workmen employed as grave-diggers actually pursued their ghastly calling far into the night, being unable to inter the bodies as fast as they arrived during the day. It may interest many persons also to learn that among these grave-diggers and mortuary laborers there was a smaller ratio of deaths than among any other class of people.

Mrs. Fair.

The indications at present are that Mrs. Laura D. Fair, the murderess, will not be executed on the 28th instant, as decreed by the tribunal before which she was tried, convicted and sentenced. The feeling in the community is strong both for and against the law being vindicated in this instance; indeed the case has taken such a strong hold upon the minds of the people, that a candidate for office, who should declare openly that he believed Mrs. Fair should be executed for her great crime, would not receive the votes of men of his party who were of the opposite way of thinking and vice versa. As the members of the Supreme Court are human and have political aspirations, it is more than likely that it was this excited state of public opinion that induced them to defer the hearing of the appeal for a new trial until the October term of the Court. An effort is being made on the part of those who sympathize with the unfortunate woman to have her execution postponed until after election, when they hope, by creating a strong and general feeling of sympathy in her favor, to obtain a new trial, a commutation of the sentence or a full pardon. A second effort to secure an order for a new trial failed in the Fifteenth District Court yesterday, Judge Dwinelle taking the ground that the case had passed from his jurisdiction.—Alta.

—The wife of Stephen Small, of Eldora, Iowa, presented him with twenty-one pounds of boy babies last week. There were three of them, and all are doing well. The father is sixty-two years old; "and yet he is not happy."

—Mrs. Woodhull openly declares herself in favor of a state of society where every woman will be at liberty to choose the father of her children, and argues that it would lead to such refinement in taste that only superior men would be favored with the privilege.

A Bear Vanquished With Salt.

We find the annexed in The El Dorado Republican of June 29th: A couple of residents of Georgetown started out on a hunting expedition about twenty miles east of town. On arriving at the scene of operations, it being late, they concluded to camp for the night; early next morning one of the party decided to go to some convenient spot and prepare what the hunters call a "deer lick." He started out with an yeast-powder can full of salt and an augur. While pushing his way through the bushes he suddenly came face to face with a huge black bear, the bear reared up, and prepared to fight. The hunter and bear were so close to each other that neither could very well back out; the only weapons the hunter had were the salt and augur; believing that the salt was the best weapon at hand, he dashed the can full of salt directly in the bear's eyes, and while bruin was scratching the salt out of his peepers the hunter pegged away on his head with the augur, until his bearship gave up the contest and fled. The hunter, not caring to follow up his advantage, returned to camp to relate his adventure.

Battle between Frogs and Toads.

A gentleman in Lynn, Massachusetts, while passing a pond in that city a few mornings since, witnessed a singular scene, which he describes as follows: "Around the margin of the pond, in the water, there was a large collection of common toads; close beside them was an equal gathering of bull-frogs; and a battle between the two was in progress. The frogs, being the most powerful, were busily engaged in drowning the toads. One or more frogs would seize a toad and hold his head under the water until he was drownded. Sometimes a frog would find himself overmatched, and then he would utter a peculiar sound, when one or more of his comrades would come to his aid, and the toad was sure to go under, never to rise again. This battle continued for several minutes, until the toads were 'cleaned out,' when the frogs joined in one triumphant croak."

A Model Obituary.

Mr. J. K. Smith, who recently lost a fine little boy, contributes the following "editorial note" in reference to his affliction, to The Los Angeles Star: It is with a heavy heart that we indite these few lines to the memory of Mr. Smith's little boy who died in this city a few days ago of green apples. He was a rare child, and never told a lie in his life, which was seven years. He leaves a mournful family to lament his loss, which are his afflicted parents and eleven brothers. A remarkable coincidence were that a few days before death stole him away like a green apple his faithful dog Bull howled sorrowfully and his brother William said somebody hit him with a rock, his family sympathize with the community in their loss which is his gain.

Bachelors Attention!

Sally Grubbins, of "filadelfi" wishes to get married. Her "card" speaks for itself. Here it is:

"A Husband wanted by a young ladeye of inconsiderabul pursenal detractions, and edikation. She is under fifty years of age, of tall and delicate figer. She has one very fine i, having losed the other by a awful fit of the small pecks; her accomplishments consist of whislin, with grate pour and sweetness, and plantin perraturs. She has been takin lessins in boxin, and she is willin to give ampill proffs to who soever marries her. Aph at 147 more street filadelfi."

—The day before General Harrison's inauguration Mr. Van Buren called upon him and asked: "Is there anything I can do to oblige you?" "Yes," said General Harrison, "my son-in-law, General Pike, fell on the battle-field and left an only son, whose inclinations are, as his father's, for the army. I can not appoint him." "Is that all?" said Van; and in two hours the commision was signed and sent to the young man.

—A curious fact is, that about thirty thousand foreigners served in the army of the Parisian Commune. According to The Gaulois, eighteen thousand of them were Garibaldians; seven thousand English and Irish Fenians; twelve hundred Greeks; six hundred Americans; and six hundred Germans, Spaniards, and others.

—An English medical journal mentions it as a singular fact that women as a rule will not confide in the physicians of their own sex. They will talk to men about the most delicate symtoms incident to sickness, and postively refuse the same information to a woman doctor.

—It will probably surprise many people to learn that the territory commonly called the "British Isles," of which Great Britain and Ireland are the cheif, lying off the European Continent, are fully five hundred in number, and that one hundred and seventy-five are inhabited.

—It is stated that this year foreign tobacco has been sold and smoked in Havana, and also that Florida tobacco has been imported there, manufactured into cigars, and then sent abroad again as legitimate Vuelta Abajo.

"BUCKSKIN'S" FATE.

Our readers will recognize the name of Buckskin as that of one of the notorious cut throats who murdered the Bilderbeck brothers, last January, in the Tejunga canyon, near Los Angeles. The search after the murderers has been prosecuted with unrelenting energy for months, and has at last been crowned, we are glad to say, with partial success at least.

Sheriff Burns, of Los Angeles from information received a few weeks ago started for Lower California, and procured the necessary papers from the Governor of that province. After a long search the pursuers came within ten feet of Buckskin before he was aware of their presence. Buckskin grabbed one of the men's guns, which went off; the ball entered his left side below the heart. He died in two hours. He made a lengthy confession of the murder. Al. Henry and Gardner murdered and buried the Bilderbecks, but Gardner did the shooting. Henry accompanied Buckskin in his flight but is now missing.

It is much to hoped that he may yet be caught, and expiate his share of the crime at the end of a rope.

Alanson Gardner, who was captured at the time still remains in the Los Angeles jail.

INVENTIONS FOR SAVING METALS.

America excels in invention, says The Alta; and this age is especially successful in utilizing the waste which preceding generations rejected as valueless. Before the late war in France a wealthy association devoted a large capital and all the resources of chemistry to experiments on the waste material of all kinds of factories. Their success, by last accounts, had realized very fair dividends. In the majority of factory rufuse they found some element which they turned to profit. We desire to present to the notice of those French enterprisers the rich waste of our gold mines—of all wastes the richest and the most hopeful for reclamation. It can not be generally known that, after all the complex outlays and risks of gold and silver mining, we are content to extract say one-half of the gold which by fire assay we know to be in the rock. It seems incredible that we pay so largely for mining ores, and yet our method of extraction is so imperfect, that of $15,000,000 that thus yearly pass through our hands, our boasted Yankee ingenuity is unable to win more than $25,000,000; we lose $20,000,000 yearly. What is the reason of this destructive waste? Surely if every miner will observe and give his views, so that experience can be accumulated, we shall find, first, the cause, and next, the remedy.

Brogan Shoes.

A new style of brogan shoe has been produced, made principally of elm wood, in Massachusetts. The sole is divided at the ball of the foot and reunited by a hinge of sole leather of suitable thickness, two inches wide, so as to give free play to the toesf A portion of the uppers is made o leather, but they are toed and heeled with wood. They are, however, shaped in the modern style, and not like the sabot of France, which is all wood and turned up at the toe, "Heathen Chinee" style. In the fastenings copper rivets are made use of, and all the parts where the wood and leather unite are packed with Indian-rubber. These shoes will cost less than a dollar per pair.

Railroad Accident.

A Western bound freight train on the Central Pacific Ralroad met with rather a rough accident, July 4, not to be accompanied with loss of life. A heavy cloud-burst in the mountains had washed down a huge pile of trees, rocks and other debris upon the railroad track. The train came along at a good rate of speed, and the engine, tender and ten or twelve cars went over the embankment. Considerable damage was done, but fortunately no one was killed. The passenger train waited at Truckee till the the road was cleared and it could get through.

Kern County.

The Courier says that the Republicans of that county are going to put a full ticket in the field, believing that the influx of strangers since the last election has so changed the political complexion of the county that they can elect their ticket. Be that as it may it is well to have an opposition ticket.

INDIAN MATTERS.

The Nevada State Journal states that the Indians in Lassen County, about the Big Valley mines, are becoming troublesome again. A large number of cattle have been lately driven away by them, and arrows found sticking in a few stragglers left behind. It seems from this that the Indians are not content with the thorough drubbing they received at the hands of the military under the direction of General Crook, some four years ago, and we may soon expect lively work for the few soldiers along the Nevada and Idaho frontier. No doubt this comes from old Winnemucca and a few of his sullen, treacherous warriors who refused to go on to the reservation at Camp Mc Dermit, two years since, saying they would never make friends with the whites. Winnemucca and some fifty or sixty of his men were allowed to remain in the Steen mountain country. We hope that they will receive such punishment this time, at the hands of the military, that they will gladly make peace and go upon the reservation. There has been enough dallying with this old scalper; and the sooner he is made to understand that he must not rob and murder those who are trying to develop the rich agricultural valleys along the line of Nevada, Idaho and Oregon, the better it will be for all. Enough blanket-giving warfare has been practised in Arizona, and we hope that if such a policy is continued by the Government authorities, the citizens will rise en masse and make short work of the few Indians in and about Steen's mountain, and not retard the development of our northern country and allow our best and most hardy and enterprising farmers and their families to be murdered without punishing the red devils thoroughly. We are among those who believe that the present Indian policy of the Government costs more property, money and lives than any ever thought of, and as a consequence is ruinous to the further development of our frontier; and the sooner Government learns the necessity of punishing instead of fostering the redskins engaged in murdering and plundering, the better it will be for civilization and humanity.

A GALVANIC PENHOLDER.

To those familiar with patent records, there is no lack of inventions notable, not for their usefulness, but their oddity, and for the misconception of cause and effect shown in devising them. One of these is mentioned by The American Artizan as an illustrative example. For instance, a gentleman with a genius as unique as inventive lately incurred the expense of an English patent for a device for securing steadiness to the hand of a penman by a novel application of galvanism. He makes the pen-holder of an outer tube copper and an inner one of zinc; the former being perforated, so that, when grasped by the fingers and thumb in the act of writing, a portion of the inner will be brought in contact therewith. The moisture of the skin is expected to produce a gentle voltaic action between the two metals, and this, acting on the hand, is designed to steady the shaky nerves, and thereby secure comparatively faultless samples of chirography. Ridiculous as this seems, there would be little surprise if, in some cases, the desired result was actually obtained. Imagination has a mighty influence upon the control which people have of muscles, nerves, and tendons, and the man who can persuade himself that his hand is steadied by the mysterious influence of a two penny galvanic pen-holder may, perhaps, improve his handwriting as the result of credulity, if not of science.

A Mistake.

Congressman Bowen made a mistake when he was elected to Congress. He should have gone to Utah. His "religious principles" would have sustained him there, and he would at once have had high rank in the church. Many people do not know what climate is good for them. During the bigamy trial Bowen's third wife, Mrs. Susan Pettigrew King Bowen, authoress, testified that before she married Bowen she had hunted from Maine to California for wife No. 2, and was satisfied that she was dead, and thereupon marries Bowen. She is a dashing, handsome woman, and her appearance upon the stand created quite a sensation. The forged divorce record was a development most unexpected, and adds not a little to the mysterious surroundings of the marriages of Bowen.

However, since he has received a full pardon from the President, Mr., and the several Mrs. Bowens, may all be happy yet, without worrying Brother Brigham with their presence.

The new smelting works just below Reno, Nevada, was lately destroyed by fire.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

The Sutro Tunnel Commissioners are busily engaged in their investigations They appear highly pleased with the country and impressed with the magnitude of our mining interests. Their stay will probably be prolonged two months.

The proprietors of the Etna foundry, San Francisco, have a contract to construct three steam wagons. Recent experiments with these wagons have proved quite satisfactory.

Gen. Crook went to work within an hour after his arrival in Arizona, preparing to clean out Johnny Apache, and the Arizonians are much elated at the prospect of his success.

The Fish Commissioners talk of enforcing restrictions on the salmon slaughter in the Sacramento river, to save this fine fish from extinction.

A mixed taste for the beautiful and substantial is shown by citizens of Los Angeles, who plant roses and cabbages in their front yards.

S. O. Houghton has received the nomination for Congress in the First District, against Judge Archer. This completes the Congressional nominations of both parties for the State.

It is now said that the Central Pacific railroad company is considering a project for building a railroad across the mountains by the Big Tree route, thence east through the central portions of Nevada and Utah to Ogden, to connect at that point with the Chicago, Northwestern, and Pacific railroad. Guess that road is only "projected."

J. J. Monahan was killed in Pioche, on the Fourth of July. A row was in progress in the street and as Monahan stepped to the door of his saloon he received three shots in the breast and stomach. He leaves a wife and two children in Gold Hill, Nevada.

A telegraph line has been completed to Yosemite and is doing a good business.

It is rumored that a new line of steamers is to be put on between San Francisco and San Pedro. The mail contract between those places has been let to Hartshorn & Morton.

Plans for the San Pedro breakwater are completed and have been sent to Washington for approval. Upon their return work will be immediately commenced. It is anticipated that from 3,000 to 4,000 feet of it will be completed the present season.

The Nevada mill, belonging to Dunn & McCone, situated in the canyon leading from Eberhardt to Hamilton, Nev., was destroyed by fire on the Fourth of July. Loss, $80,000.

Our earthquake of the 5th instant shook them up at Visalia.

Slavery in Brazil.

The abolition of slavery in Brazil is exciting an animated discussion in the Chamber of Deputies, where considerable opposition to the bill is exhibited The proposed law emancipates all slave offspring hereafter born, subject to apprenticeship until 21 years. The owners of the slave mothers of the liberated offspring are to receive as a compensation either the services during the apprenticeship for 21 years, or else $20 per annum during 30 years, for each child reared to the age of eight. The slaves belonging to the Emperor and to public institutions are to receive their freedom at once, and those belonging to monasteries within seven years. An emancipating fund is established, and slaves are allowed to hold and inherit property, and to obtain their freedom at oficial valuation. A registration of every slave is also to be made.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Count De Chanbord, legitimate heir to the French throne has issued a proclamation in which, he says he leaves France to prevent agitation, but if Frenchmen are willing, will return and found a government, based on liberty and universal suffrage.

The Pope is to remain at Rome.

Only forty-five per cent of the French loan will be allotted to subscribers—so much money having been offered the Government.

France has already paid 325,000,000 francs to Germany as indemnity, and the Paris forts will be evacuated when 1,500,000 francs more have been paid.

Approximate returns from thirty-four departments give fifty-four Republican delegates and twelvec onservatives.

No Fooling About It.

H. M. Yerington, Superintendent of the Virginia & Truckee Railroad, visited our sanctum yesterday. He informed us that he had put on a corps of engineers to make a final location of the road, and that they would immediately commence their labors; that as soon as possible a hundred men, already engaged, would commence grading and track laying; that the picks, shovels and necessary tools were here for that purpose. Mr. Yerington says the Company means business, and will push the road right along. 'Tis well—we may be happy yet. We believe in railroads and can see no valid objection to encouraging capital from seeking investment in our county and adding to the taxable property therein.

EASTERN NEWS.

New Orleans is again flooded from a break in the Claiborne Canal, which was cut in five places by some miscreants, who made good their escape. The moving of families from the submerged districts still continues.

The ratification of the Washington Treaty was officially proclaimed July 4.

A stay of proceedings has been granted Foster, the New York street car murderer, on a writ of error.

Governor Hoffman opposes the "new departure," and Gen. McClellan favors it.

Captain John Nye, brother to Senator Nye, of Nevada, died at Washington City on the 7th of July.

The President will soon start on a visit to Ohio and other Western States, and about the 15th of August will start for California.

General Fredrica Covada, who succeeded Gen. Jordan as commander-in-chief of the Cuban army, was captured by the Spanish troops a few days ago, and ere this has been murdered.

A Chicago dispatch of July 6th reads:

A most revolting case of child murder came to light yesterday, at Gillman, Illinois. It has been discovered that Martin Meara, an Irishman living near that place, about the 4th of June, so brutally whipped his little son, aged 10 years, that the boy was unable the next morning to move. The father dragged him from bed and held him on a hot stove until he was horribly burned, and then took a heavy whip and beat him to death. Yesterday Meara was arrested and lodged in jail. Last night 250 armed men took him out of jail and hanged him to a tree.

Dates from Birmingham Connecticut says:

Public sentiment is setting strong against Mrs. Sherman, the alleged poisoner of three husbands and eleven children. Correspondents visiting her are cordially received, but she postively declines the advice of counsel to refer to the case, and her examination before a Justice is set for to-day.

A Reminiscence of the Early Days of Virginia.

A correspondent of The Pittsburg Commercial writing from Steubenville, Ohio, under date of May 25th, 1871, says:

A few weeks ago a most extraordinary character and pioneer died at Bridgeport, a few miles below this city, and immediately opposite the city of Wheeling I refer to Joseph Worley, whose early history and subsequent career have been so intimately connected with the frontier annals of this section of country that it is a wonder that his death has been unnoticed by the local press.

Joseph Worley was born in 1769, just one hundred and two years ago His relatives say that his birth-place was at West Liberty in Ohio county, now West Virginia, but it is certainly true that whether born there or not, his early childhood was spent in that locality, which is not more than twelve miles distant from that spot where he died. At the time of his birth this part of the West was an unbroken wilderness. It was yet thirteen years before the first white man had fixed his abode west of the Ohio river; a few hunters held Kentucky against the Indians north of the river, and sustained with that region the primitive relations of horse stealing and scalping; in Virginia, the frail and lonely settlements (of which West Liberty was one) creeping westward, made friends with the desert and produced a population nearly as wild as its elder children, and quite as fierce and truculent.

Into such a heritage was young Worley born; and from his earliest childhood he discovered an aptitude for frontier life. He was particularly skilled in the use of the rifle, and all his early thoughts and plannings had reference to the savage foes that surrounded him. The numerous expeditions for which he was chosen showed the confidence his fellow pioneers had in him. Simon Girty, the notorious white renegade, was at this time with the Indians on the Sandusky plains, and frequently headed their maurading raids upon the settlements. It was the aim of the settlers to vanquish this formidable foe, and Worley, with others, undertook the task of capturing him. In this work Girty, at the head of the Ottawa warriors, was pursued across the Ohio, at Meigs Island, up to the water of Cross creek, and far into the interior of what is now the State of Ohio, his pursuers enduring unparalleled privation and encountering perilous difficulties, but always unsuccessful in his capture.

Sometime early in life Worley and his brother Jacob, who seems to have been as heroic as the other, drifted toward Fort Henry, occupying the point where Wheeling now stands, and here became acquainted with the famous Lewis Wetzel, one of the most noted Indian hunters of American pioneer history. Worley, who was several years Wetzel's junior, was his very intimate friend, and his almost constant companion in the woods. On one occasion, having discovered fresh signs of the presence of Indians in the neighborhood of the settlements, Wetzel and Worley undertook to ascertain their whereabouts. They followed their tracks for several miles, and became so intent upon their prey as to scarcely become aware of the distance they had wandered from the settlement, until they had gone eleven or twelve miles south, and nearly opposite to the point where the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad now strikes the Ohio river. Here they came upon a camp of Indians, who discovered the hunters about the same time they were themselves discovered.

Both parties took to the trees, after the custom of Indian fighting, but the Indians greatly outnumbered the others. Six or seven stalwart and trained Indian warriors of the Huron tribe were now pitted against two determined hunters; and, as if to add to the danger of their position, Wetzel was recognized by the Indians as their implacable and life-long enemy. Now began a duel—a running fight—a life-and-death contest. No reinforcements could reach the hunters until they had traveled at least ten miles, and long before that their only foes would overpower them in all probability. Yet they determined to sell their lives dearly. Wetzel took command, and Worley obeyed him implicitly. In recounting it oftentimes afterward, Worley grew animated, and nobly attributed to Wetzel the salvation of his life.

A tall Huron warrior was the first to fall. He rushed out of his covert with a demoniac yell, thinking that they were unprepared for a sudden attack, or would readily yield to the force of superior numbers. But in this he was mistaken, and his life paid the penalty. For a moment or so afterward the other Indians were silent and apparently awe struck, but in that interval Wetzel had again loaded his gun. Several shots were fired at him, but he was securely shielded by a tree. And so from tree to tree, for four exciting miles, the hunters dodged and crept. Another warrior, in seeking stealthily to cut off their retreat, was killed, and the others became more cautious.

Once Wetzel put his cap on the ramrod, as though he was peering around the tree, and when the Indians shot a bullet through it, he let it drop to the ground. The Indians all rushed out, when two others fell. The movements were now carried on, on both sides with the utmost caution. The hunters now worked their way gradually toward the fort, the three remaining Indians becoming every moment more anxious. One of their number, perhaps while carefully climbing a tree, on the opposite side from the hunters, with a view of startling them from their lurking place, unconsciously exposed himself, and was wounded by one of the hunters, whereupon the other Indians, having trusted so long to the superiority of their numbers, and having a peculiar awe of Wetzel, stole away into the depths of the woods, leaving the hunters to return to the fort to recount what was even then esteemed a marvelously heroic feat. The circumstance was related to your correspondent years ago, when Joseph Worley was even then called an old man.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

NOTICE.—All political notices of whatever nature MUST BE PAID IN ADVANCE. This rule is ABSOLUTE. All Job Work executed at this Office must be settled for on delivery, unless for those having standing advertising accounts.

 All advertisements, to insure insertion in these columns, must be handed in on or before 2 o'clock P. M., Friday.

Earthquakes Again.

We learn by a private letter from Bishop Creek that several earthquake shocks have been observed in that locality: one on Wednesday last, about 12 o'clock, M., and one about 9 o'clock on the evening previous. In consequence of the violence of the quake, parties residing at Owensville left their houses. About 7 o'clock on Tuesday last a slight shock was observed in this place, but it was not considered any "great shakes," since but few noticed it. A correspondent from Swansea, to whom we are under obligations, writes us that at that place, about 7:30 P. M. Tuesday, there was a violent shaking of the earth, even more severe than that which occurred on the 5th instant. The vibrations were nearly north and south, and lasted several seconds. About 12 o'clock of the same night there was another vibration of the same character, though not so severe; and at the same time on the succeeding night there was still another quite as heavy as any of the others. A rumbling noise accompanied the quakings. Something's busted somewhere.

When School will commence.

A meeting of the Trustees of Independence and Milton school districts was held July 10, at which it was decided to consolidate the two districts. This arrangement will enable us to maintain a nine months school, open to the children of both districts. The school for the first six months is to be in this place, and the remaing three months at the Milton school house. This is doubtless a very good arrangement for both districts since neither alone can command donated or public school moneys sufficient to procure the services of a good teacher, as owing to our isolated position it is not to be expected that teachers from a distance will come so far merely to take a school for three or four or even six months, and neither of these districts at present could guarantee more. Mr. Hardy, late of the Milton school, and a very excellent teacher, will take charge of the union school which will begin in this place, July 24, one week from next Monday.

Lucky.

An hour or two after the adjournment of the convention on Saturday last, the County Clerk happened to go into the Court-room, and found the matting on the floor to be on fire. As it was, but a small hole was burned in the floor, but had it not been for the accidental entrance of the Clerk there might have been a lively time. We hear of many embryo fires being fortunately discovered just as this was. We hope that equal good luck may always attend us.

A New Order of Things.

It is not generally considered a good stroke of business to "carry coals to Newcastle," but the principle seems contradicted in the present opportunity to send to Cerro Gordo for all kinds of goods. Mr. V. Beaudry as may be seen by advertisement elsewhere, is selling out his large stock at cost, to close out the business—and so it is made advantageous to send where things are the most valuable to get the best bargains.

Hemp.

Last Spring Joe Fernbach planted several hemp seeds in his grounds at the brewery in this place; the stalks from these seeds have now attained a hight of eight feet, still growing and looking as thrifty as any ever grown any place. Independent of the possible advantage and economy of producing at home this essential for hanging people, it occurs to us that hemp raising in this Valley might be made a very profitable industry.

Improvements.

Lone Pine seems steadily on the up grade in the matter of improvements. We note the fact that the Lone Pine Hotel is receiving a new front and a thorough overhauling. Mr. Burkhart, the energetic jeweler of that place, is erecting commodious buildings for dwelling and shop. Messrs. A. M. Loomis & Bro. are about making an extensive addition to their store room, rendered necessary by their increasing business.

Withdrawn.

Sheriff Elder has withdrawn from the field as a candidate for a re-election, and will not be before the nominating Convention to-day. We understand that he has sold his water interests in Cerro Gordo and intends to go into business elsewhere. From an early day Mr. Elder has been identified with every interest of the country, and we can ill afford to loose him.

The Pioneer.

Messrs. Brown & Co., of the immense new stable opposite the Court House, this week make official declaration of their intentions to do a wholesale business. The enterprise displayed by these gentlemen in fitting up such a fine establishment in a new place denotes that they sabe a thing or two, and merits liberal patronage. See "ad."

Forwarding.

Wm. M. Osborn, the well known forwarding and commission merchant, of Los Angeles, has been circulating around the country for the past few days, attending to matters connected with his business. As will be seen by advertisement, he still promptly forwards, at lowest rates, all goods shipped in his care.

A New Paper.

We have it from reliable authority that the first number of a new paper, bearing the appropriate name of "The Sorehead," will make its appearance early next week. It will probably be continued as a campaign paper, the organ of those defeated in both Conventions. Our Lokleitems takes stock in it.

Returned from the War.

P. W. Bennett, Esq., Delegate to the Republican State Convention, returned home the present week, after having assisted in selecting the captains of the host marshaling for the September scrummage.

Organized

The new Democratic County Central Committee met at the County Clerk's office on Saturday last, and organized by electing A. N. Bell Chairman and H. M. Isaacs Secretary, for the ensuing two years.

Religious Notice.

Mr. John Tamblyn will preach in this place in the Court House, Sunday, July 16, at 11 o'clock A. M. The public are invited to attend.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE DEMOCRATIC COUNTY CONVENTION.

INDEPENDENCE, July 8, 1871.

The Democratic County Convention met at 10 o'clock, and was called to order by the Chairman of the County Central Committee, S. P. Moffat.

On motion of J. A. Lank, Mr. J. W. McMurry was chosen temporary Chairman.

J. E. Parker was elected temporary Secretary.

On motion of A. N. Bell, a committee of five was appointed on credentials and permanent organization. The Chair appointed as such committee Messrs. Bell, Hutchison, Lank, Blair and Coburn.

On motion, the Convention adjourned for twenty minutes.

Upon re-assembling, the committee reported the following named gentlemen as duly accredited Delegates:

Cerro Gordo—W. L. Hunter, John Beveridge, proxied by W. L. Hunter, James McKinney, proxied by W. L. Hunter, W. O'Malley, John A. Mallon, Charles Anderson, John A. Hannah, Chris. Zinkard. Lone Pine—W. C. Columbo, I. S. Freeborn, proxied by N. F. Coburn, N. F. Coburn, E. P. Ball, proxied by W. C. Columbo. Independence—A. N. Bell, J. A. Lank, J. E. Parker. Kearsarge—John O'Haloran. Fish Springs—J. W. McMurry, Mat. Stewart. Big Pine—W. A. Baker, John Malane. Bishop Creek—T. K. Hutchison, J. D. Spray, J. Crough, J. Blair. Round Valley—David Olds, John Laird. Deep Spring Valley—W. F. Kincaid, J. Chastine.

The report was adopted.

The Committee on the permanent organization reported as follows: For Chairman, James E. Parker; for Secretary, Henry M. Isaacs.

On motion, the report was adopted, and the officers as recommended assumed their duties.

On motion of Mr. Hunter, a committee of three was appointed on Order of Business: W. L. Hunter, John Crough, A. N. Bell.

Moved and seconded that a Committee on Resolutions, consisting of five delegates, be appointed by the Chair. Carried, and the following named gentlemen were constituted such committee: D. Olds, W. F. Kincaid, J. A. Lank, J. W. McMurry, J. D. Spray.

On motion, the Convention adjourned until 1 o'clock, at which time said committees were instructed to report.

1 O'CLOCK, P. M.

The Convention assembled, and was called to order by the Chairman.

The Committee on Order of Business submitted the following report, which was accepted and the committee discharged:

1. Nomination for Sheriff.
2. " " Clerk.
3. " " District Attorney.
4. " " Treasurer.
5. " " Assessor.
6. " " Coroner & Pub. Ad.
7. " " Surveyor.
8. " " Sup't Pub. Schools.
9. " " Assemblyman.
10. " " County Judge.
11. Selection of a Central Com. of nine.

On motion, the report was amended so as to make the nomination of a candidate for Assemblyman the first on the order of business.

The Committee on Resolutions submitted the following report, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved—The Democracy of Inyo County in convention assembled do hereby indorse and fully subscribe to the platform of the Democratic State Convention, convened and begun at Sacramento on the twentieth day of June, A. D. 1871, and we do hereby pledge our unqualified support to the platform and the nominees of said convention.

2. Resolved—That all candidates, before being nominated by this convention, shall indorse the foregoing resolution, and pledge an unqualified support to the State and County nominees of the Democratic party at the ensuing election.

3. Resolved—That a full and complete victory at the ensuing election is within our reach, and every delegate at this convention will use all honorable means to secure that result.

4. Resolved—That when this convention adjourns it do adjourn to meet at the polls on general and special elections of the present year, there to consummate the proceedings this day begun.

The Chair announced that nominations for Assemblyman were in order.

M. Stewart nominated D. B. Curtis.

A. N. Bell nominated James E. Parker.

Mr. Parker declining to become a candidate for the nomination, it was moved and seconded that D. B. Curtis be nominated by acclamation, which was unanimously carried.

After some debate, it was decided that all voting should be done by ballot.

The selection of a candidate for Sheriff being in order, W. L. Hunter placed in nomination P. Harrington. J. D. Spray nominated C. Mulkey. W. F. Kincaid put in nomination W. T. Grant.

All the gentlemen having come forward and indorsed the State platform and nominations, and pledged their support to the County ticket, the Chair appointed the following tellers: John Mallon, J. D. Spray and W. F. Kincaid.

On the first ballot Harrington received 13; Grant, 3; Mulkey 12.

W. T. Grant then withdrew, and the second ballot resulted as follows: Harrington 14, Mulkey 14.

Second ballot—Mulkey, 14; Harrington, 14.

Third ballot—Harrington, 14; Mulkey, 14.

Fourth ballot same as before.

Moved and seconded that the nomination for Sheriff be deferred until after the nomination of a candidate for Treasurer. Carried.

For Clerk Mat. Stewart nominated J. B. White; D. Olds nominated I. P. Yaney, and John Blair nominated W. L. Moore.

Each took the required pledges, and the Chair appointed Coburn, Bell and Crough as tellers.

First ballot—White, 9; Moore, 6; Yaney, 13.

Second ballot—White, 10; Yaney, 18.

On motion, the vote was made unanimous, and Mr. Yaney declared duly nominated.

For District Attorney, E. H. Van Decar was, on motion, nominated by acclamation.

For County Treasurer Henry M. Isaacs was unanimously nominated by acclamation.

Adjourned for 10 minutes.

On motion, the nomination for Sheriff was postponed until after all other nominations had been made.

For Assessor W. C. Columber named Mat. Stewart; and J. A. Lank nominated J. F. Dillon.

On balloting Dillon received 18, and Stewart 11. On motion, the nomination of Mr. Dillon was made unanimous.

John A. Lank was nominated by acclamation for Coroner and Public Administrator.

On motion of Mr. Hunter, the County Central Committee was empowered to select a candidate for the office of County Surveyor.

For Superintendent of Public Schools, J. A. Lank proposed John W. Symmes, who was nominated by acclamation.

John A. Hannah, John T. Ryan and I. S. Freeborn were placed in nomination for County Judge. Mr. Freeborn's name having been withdrawn, the vote resulted: J. A. Hannah, 21; J. T. Ryan, 7. Mr. Hannah was declared the nominee.

The selection of a County Central Committee being in order, it was moved and seconded that the Chair appoint a committee of one delegate from each precinct, who were empowered to select a Central Committee of nine. Carried, and the Chair appointed the following as said committee: Hunter, Columber, Bell, O'Haloran, McMurry, Baker, Hutchinson, Laird and Kincaid.

Convention adjourned for 10 minutes.

Upon reassembling, the special committee reported the following as constituted the County Central Committee:

I. S. Freeborne, Lone Pine.
J. L. Porter, Cerro Gordo.
H. M. Isaacs, Independence.
A. N. Bell, "
S. P. Moffat, "
J. E. Parker, "
T. K. Hutchison, Bishop Creek.
John Laird, Round Valley.

The Chair announced that the nomination of Sheriff was in order, and instructed delegates to prepare their ballots.

The fifth ballot resulted as follows: Harrington, 13; Mulkey, 15.

On motion of W. L. Hunter, the nomination of Mr. Mulkey was made unanimous.

A vote of thanks was tendered to the Chairman and Secretary respectively, and the Convention adjourned sine die.

The Delegates.

Following are the names of the Delegates to the Republican County Convention which assembles to-day: Cerro Gordo—J. N. Stauffer, W. H. Wallace, A. J. Gould, Chas. F. Duval, P. L. Peterson; Lone Pine—J. Rittgers, Henry Crane, A. H. Johnson, J. S. Brown; Independence—J. N. Rose, I. Harris, P. A. Chalfant; Kearsarge—T. F. A. Connelly; Fish Spring—John Westerville, D. The Orleans Hotel, Grasshoppers in Tulare.

The Visalia Delta of June 22d has the annexed:

We learn that within the past two weeks the destruction of vegitaton between Tule river, White river and Posey creek by grasshoppers is unprecedented. The ranches of the Rumford Brothers (Orange Grove) south of Tule; Baker and his vicinity, south of Deer creek; Stone and others of north Deer creek, have scarcely a green thing left. At Enlow's 18-mile house, on the Visalia and Portersville road, the grasshoppers have eaten the leaves from off all the cottonwood trees, and many of the little branches are entirely eaten away, from the points down to the size of a man's finger. Burton, who has just returned from this locality, says he has never seen anything like it before. The high winds of Sunday and Monday were very destructive to the grasshoppers. They were blown pell-mell with the sand across the desert plains, and lay dead in heaps where the wind had left them in the gulches and little ravines. The well at Enlow's is nearly stopped up, and horses refuse the water, no matter how thirsty. At the sheep ranch of Hilton, this side, the sheep camp was full of the dead, and the well so filled that no water could be obtained. At Marshall's place, beyond Enlow's the China locust trees are destroyed, the branches being eaten off the same as the cottonwoods.

More Natural Curiosities.

The Fresno Expositor learns from Mr. Powell, a civil engineer of Fresno county, that near the confines of Fresno, Tulare and Inyo counties, in the vicinity of the head-waters of the Kaweah, there exists a remarkable piece of country. The Indians say it is the abiding place of the Evil Spirit. The country is ragged and rocky mountains, with deep valleys and precipitous cliffs. Snakes and reptiles of every description abound in untold numbers, and, taken in all, it is a wild and most uninviting region. But aside from this a most curious phenomenon exists. The ground trembles and quakes almost continuously, and the abundant rocks grind and grit together as if being urged by some terrible influence. Frequently deep discharges are heard, muffled and dull, like the distant sound of heavy artillery. At night the sounds seem to be more abundant than in daytime. No Indian can be induced to venture near the locality, regarding it with superstitious horror. No theory is advanced by any to account for the strange phenomena mentioned. We also learn from William Faymonville that above the head of Crane Valley, in this county, another place similar to the one mentioned exists. Parties who have visited the last place named describe the sounds mentioned as like muffled thunder.

Thirteenth Volume.

The Visalia Delta has entered upon its thirteeth volume. The new manager, E. M. Dewey, is making a fine paper out of The Delta.

LEGAL.

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of state and the Treasurer of State, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said State, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bond; said coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notices of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the Capital of the State; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris, in France, and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in German, in the City of Frankfort-on-the-Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the State; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless sufficient security shall be furnished by the bidders for the compliance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin, par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of State each to keep a separate record of all bonds sold under the provisions of this act, showing the number, date, amount, and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury; and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in section seven of this Act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value, but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bonded, which said certificate shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel each bond so exchanged, and shall indorse on such bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued in exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the State treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the State, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering therein the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the expiration of such advertisement, such bonds, unless sooner paid, shall cease to draw interest, but the money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the State, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceeding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the State treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper, published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper, published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals, at rates not exceeding par value, as may redeem the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less amount than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publications, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication; before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this Act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said interest Fund, if sufficient, and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that; the Controller of State shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. This Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for its submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the State for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this State shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act; those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same, shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and cancelled, and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Treasurer of State, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast are for or against this law, as aforesaid, are in favor of this Act, then the same shall have effect as herein before provided, and shall be irrepealable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation hereof; but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have the Act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceding the next general election, for which publication no greater allowance shall be made than the rates allowed by law to the State Printer.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, H. L. Nichols, Secretary of State of the State of California, do hereby certify that the annexed is a true, full, and correct copy of Chapter Four hundred and Eighty-four, Statutes of California, Eighteenth Session, approved April 2, 1870, now on file in my office.

WITNESS my hand and the great seal of said State, at office, in Sacramento, California, (SEAL) this the twenty-fifth day of May, A. D. 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT A. L. AND J. L. GRADLEY have this day filed in this office a diagram and notice of application for patent from the United States, under Act of Congress approved July 26, 1866, for four thousand feet of the LAST CHANCE LODE, situated in Esmeralda Mining District, Esmeralda County, Nevada, and particularly described as follows:

Commencing at a post, the point of notice near the east end of the town of Aurora, about 6 chains north-easterly from the Monroe House, and about six chains north-easterly from the Wide West mill, running thence along the lode line

1. N. 54 deg. E. 4 chains.
2. N. 69 deg. 20 min. E. 2.71 chains.
3. N. 70 deg. 10 min. E. 7.23 chains.
4. S. 23 deg. 19 min. E. 8.50 chains.
6. N. 86 deg. 59 min. E. 6.02 chains.

Thence to the Westerly boundary of the Juniata lode claim, with a surface width of one hundred feet on each side of the lode line; also the mill site of the Wide West mill, described as follows:

Commencing at a post from which the South Westerly corner of the Wide West mill bears N. 54 deg. 20 min. E. distant 3.41 chains, and running

1. N. 11 deg. 28 min. E. 4.50 chains.
2. S. 78 deg. 32 min. E. 7.50 chains.
3. S. 11 deg. 28 min. W. 4.50 chains.
4. N. 78 deg. 32 min. W. 7.50 chains.

All of which is more particularly described by the diagram posted in this office and on the claim.

"Buckskin" at Bay—His Confession and Death.

[From The Los Angeles News, July 1.

On the 14th of the past month Sheriff J. F. Burns, of this county, accompanied by Philip Crossthwaite, Under Sheriff of San Diego County, arrived in San Rafael Valley, Lower California, on the track of the notorious outlaw commonly known as Buckskin. Just five months before, on the 14th of January, Buckskin had murdered in cold blood, and under circumstances of peculiar atrocity, the Bilderback brothers, in Tejunga Canyon, and had ever since been an outlaw, wandering from place to place among the mountains, frequently, but hitherto vainly, followed by the officers of the law. On arriving in the valley, Sheriff Burns at once sent his papers to the Governor of the Territory, Don Manuel Clemente Rosa, at Mesa Redonia. The Governor promptly issued an order to the police department of the frontier, the Inspector of which ordered the Chief of Police to organize an expedition of five men and capture Buckskin, Henry and Kreis, the murderer of Dr. Herold, of San Bernardino, all of whom were supposed to be together. They were, according to the terms of the order, to be taken to the boundary line, and there delivered to our authorities, as represented by the Sheriff. On Sunday the 18th ult., the expedition started, Don Justo Chaves, Chief of Police, in command. It was accompanied by a number of Indians as guides and scouts. At length, after seven days hard travel, when near the the summit of the Sierra Madre, on the Colarado side, they came in sight of the desperado at the distance of five hundred yards ahead of them. He was at once recognized by his singular appearance, his squaw, and the gray horse she was riding; he himself was mounted on a mule. The party separated, two going out on each side and one remaining in the rear; the leader's order was to charge simultaneously until within six feet of their object. This was done but the man left in the rear, Carino Edalecia, was unable to check his horse until it had run directly against that of Buckskin. Buckskin dropped his rifle, grasped that of his assailant near the muzzle and was endeavoring to wrest it from his grasp, when—it being at half-cock—it went off and the load entering the outlaw's left side, passed quite through his body. He was taken from his horse, pinioned and laid on the ground, but an examination of the wound revealing the fact that it was mortal, he was released; no sooner was this done than he made an effort to seize a weapon, but was prevented. Then being asked if he had anything to say, Buckskin made a confession; acknowledged he killed the Bilderback boys; said Gardner was the principal, and had done the shooting with the Henry rifle; that he and Alfred Henry had assisted him in the murder, and afterward in disposing of the bodies. He said he knew that he had to die, and would rather be shot than hung; being questioned, he refused to give any information respecting Henry, his accomplice; said that his true name was Stevenson Samsby, but refused to answer any further questions about himself. Nothing more of importance was elicited from the wounded man, and about two hours from the time of the shot he breathed his last. His left foot was cut off at the ankle, and his body stripped and buried near the spot where he met his fate. The country around is extremely rugged and barren, very thinly inhabited, and only by Cucapah Indians. It is about a hundred miles in a direct line from the boundary. The rifle which had been for years the outlaw's companion, his clothes, and the contents of his pockets were secured and brought away; his squaw and her infant taken to San Rafael, where they were left.

Buckskin's squaw, who gave her name as Sarah Jane Stevenson, had been living with Buckskin between seven and nine years. She belonged to a Kern River tribe, and had followed the murderer in all his wanderings since the commission of the crime. Her infant was born at some time during the flight. The route from Tejunga Canyon, as given by the squaw, was first to the San Bernardino mountains; thence to the Temecula mountains, where they remained seven days; thence to Milquitay Valley in San Diego county; here they camped for twenty days. Palm Valley, across the line, and the San Rafael mines were successive halting places, but the fugitives never camped more than two nights in the same place, but fled at the first sight of even an Indian, remaining all the time among the mountains, and depending on game for a subsistence. On one occasion they went for three days without eating. From the route pursued, the intention must have been to go through the Cucapah country to the lower Colorado and to cross over into Mexico.

There were found on the dead man's person two almanacs, sewed together, and a list of his camping places badly written on the back of a prescription; on the margin of the pages, the owners true name was written in several places, and scraps of memoranda such as "Sarah Janes baby borned on the twelft day of May," and "killed a bare" on such a day. Besides the words "Slipertes Whiper Co" were found, and are supposed to indicate the original home or at least some former place of residence of the deceased. In his pockets were eight dollars in coin, and the squaw had exactly the same amount; the supply of tobacco, also, seemed to have been equally divided between them. The squaw persistently refused to take anything which had belonged to her late master saying that he was a bad man and had "killed heap of Americans."

Buckskin's last murder, however, was committed on a wretch who deserved no better fate, his fellow murderer Henry. While lurking among the Temecula mountains, both the men were compelled to visit Wolf's store to procure supplies. While there they learned that the bodies of their victims had been found, and their accomplice (Gardner) captured. Soon after their return to camp, they went out a hunting together. Henry never returned. It is most probable that, being the only eye-witness of the murder, he fell a victim to his comrade's fears and suspicions. Buckskin told the squaw that Henry had gone to San Diego to look for work, but it is certain he never went there. The trophies—rifle, clothes and foot—were brought to this city, and attracted considerable attention yesterday at the Sheriff's office. The foot was deformed, the fourth toe, though otherwise well formed, projected above and over the others, which grew closely beneath it, rendering the wearing of a boot or shoe impossible.

A California Monte Christo.

Alvinza Hayward is the hero of a story equal to "Monte Christo." He is a Vermonter, who operated with a man named Chamberlaine in a gold lead which was full of indications, but yielded nothing tangible. Chamberlaine at last went away disconsolate, giving Hayward all his interest. The latter worked away for months, and was buried deeper and deeper into the ground, but at last his family were next to starving; all his laborers left him, and he knew of no friend in the world except his old friend Chambelaine.

"My God!" he said to this man, who had in the meantime been engaged in stock-raisng. "I am on the verge of a great strike. I know it! Can you give me a little money?"

Chamberlaine had been on the verge himself several times, and he shook his head sadly. But he had $3,000, his all, buried under a haystack near by, and he went and dug it up.

"Take it, old fellow" he said, with old California heartiness, "do your best!"

With this money Hayward recommenced, and he had worked until it was all spent, and his men were reduced to a bag of beans for nourishment, when to the gleam of hope the precious ore blazed suddenly up; the Amador mine was the richest in the world. When this mine was paying $40,000 a month, Hayward made over to his friend one perfect third of it. Chamberlaine retired upon $1,500,000, and moved East to educate his children, Hayward buying back the whole. Finally, even Hayward grew tired, and he sold out the mine to a stock company, of which Gen. Colton is President. The mine will make $450,000 net this year, and Colton said recently:

"The Amador mine will hold out longer than we will!"

Hyde Steam Wagon.

The Corinne Journal says the Hyde overland steamer was trotted out the other day, and gave satisfaction even to the croakers, all hands having a free ride. It is to be shipped at once to Lake Point and put to work hauling ore, etc. The Reporter says: It appears to swing around in the road, at command of the steering apparatus, easier than a man could turn a wheelbarrow on a matched floor! This great engine will draw its thirty or forty tons of freight in trained vans or wagon as readily as it moves unloaded. It is the king of the road in every way. In twenty feet it turns completely around going at its speed, stops with the touch of a valve, and when desired to move on, takes up its march with a step that ordinary obstructions can not retard.

A Glue Which Will Unite Even Polished Steel.

A Turkish recipe for a cement used to fasten diamonds and other precious stones to metallic surfaces, and which is said to firmly unite even the surface of polished steel although exposed to moisture, is as follows: Dissolve five or six bits of gum mastic, each the size of a large pea, in as much spirit of wine as will serve to render it liquid. In another vessel dissolve in brandy as much isinglass, previously dissolved in water, as will make a two ounce vial of strong glue, adding two small bits of gum ammoniac, which must be rubbed until dissolved. Then mix the whole with heat. Keep in a vial closely stopped. When it is to be used, set the vial in boiling water.

Robbery of the White Pine Stage.

A special dispatch states that the White Pine stage was robbed three miles south of Mineral Hill that morning, by two men who succeeded in getting away with Wells, Fargo & Co.'s treasure box and other valuables. They tied thirteen passengers down and overhauled them, but only got $5 from a woman. They demanded what whisky there was on board, and a bottle or two were handed out. Wells, Fargo & Co.'s loss is not known yet.

REGISTERING.

In order to facilitate the registry of persons living at a distance from the county seat, it is desirable that some person in each of the out-lying localities be deputized to receive applications. The matter of appointing deputies for this purpose rests with the County Assessor alone, it appears. Our worthy County Clerk proposes to visit Lone Pine, Swansea and Cerro Gordo for the purpose of receiving applications but as his time is necessarily limited it is better to have the deputies just the same, not only for those places but Bishop Creek and others to the north. The law does not specifically empower the Clerk to appoint deputies for this purpose nor will it make any difference if the Assessor fulfils his obligations. It occurs to us, however, that it would not be illegal for the Clerk to make these appointments, since he may appoint deputies for his office where the work has finally to be completed, no matter by whom sent in. Without regard to party considerations we hope to have a full vote at the ensuing election and it must be borne in mind that registration is a pre-requsite. Any resident of the county whose name stands on the Great Register of some other county must procure a certificate of cancellation from Clerk of said county before his name can be registered here A simple application by letter, stating name and occupation as originally given, is all that is necessary, except that a return envelope should be forwarded at the same time. The Poll Lists are considered closed from and after the thirtieth day preceding the day of election. Between these days no new names can be admitted without sufficient proof of previous inability to make application Parties who have not already taken steps to obtain a cancellation of former registries had better attend to it at once, if they wish to save themselves trouble in getting on the Poll Lists, as there is but little time to spare.

Section 33 of the Registry law makes it the duty of every Justice of the Peace, Constable, Judge and Inspector of elections, and every Supervisor, Assessor and Deputy Assessor to use all practicable diligence to notify the inhabitants of his county, township, districts or precinct, to register their names in the proper register and poll list; it is also the duty of these officers to give special and personal notice, as far as practicable, to every person coming hereafter to reside in their respective localities.

American Newspaper Directory.

We have received from the publishers, Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., 41 Park Row, New York, the American Newspaper Directory. The book contains nearly 600 pages of accurately compiled statistics pertaining to the various points bearing upon the advertising and newspaper business, and, in addition, is a marvel of typographical beauty and excellence. Few works of any description have ever reached such perfection of details, and the labor involved must have been immense. In its directory of the counties in the United States, where newspapers are published, it says of this: "Inyo County—Population 1,960. Independence, a town of 400 population, inland 500 miles from San Francisco, the principal point in a large agricultural valley, surrounded by a rich mining region." Of THE INYO INDEPENDENT it states: "Published on Saturdays, four pages; size 21x28; subscription $5; established 1870; Chalfant & Parker, editors and publishers; circulation 384; the only paper published in California east of the Sierra Nevada mountains; the largest circulation of any paper in two counties." Correct, Mr. Directory, except that we now claim nearly double the circulation indicated.

Has, by action of the Democratic State Central Committee, been put on the Democratic ticket as a candidate for the office of Harbor Commissioner vice I. Friedlander, who declines to run.

Fire in Yreka.

About one-third of the town of Yreka was burned on July 14th, and the loss of property is estimated to exceed $300,000, of which about $100,000 was insured.

RIOTING IN NEW YORK.

On the 12th day of the present month New York was the scene of another of those disgraceful riots for which that city has established such an unenviable notoriety. That day was the 180th anniversary of a battle that was fought on the river Boyne between Protestant and Catholic Irishmen, or the Orange and Ribbon men. To Orange men, the victors in that battle, the recurrence of the anniversary has been a day for celebrating and the occasion of numberless riots and much bloodshed, not only in Ireland but in all parts of the world wherever any considerable number of the two factions might be gathered together. In the present instance the Ribbon men, to the number of about 12,000, had organized to resist the celebration of the Orange men Some of their printed circulars, detailing plans and points of attack, fell into the hands of the police. Mayor Hall became alarmed and forbid the proposed procession, an act that all free minded citizens, native or adopted, must condemn. On the other hand Bishop McCloskey endeavored unavailingly to restrain the Hibernians or Ribbon men. As soon as the facts of the case came to the knowledge of Governor Hoffman he declared that the Orangemen should have every protection the military and police of the city could afford, and by proclamation, rescinded the Mayor's order, so the procession was put on according to programme. The entire military (including the 69th regiment), and police force of the city were held ready for action. A number of collisions occurred during the day, and a large number of persons, estimated at about 400, killed and wounded. Some of these were innocent lookers on, but the greater portion were rioters. Col Jim. Fisk while at the head of his regiment had his ancle broken and had to be stowed quietly away the succeeding night to avoid an attack on his house. At one time during the day Harper's publishing house was threatened, but the police prevented a direct assault

Although the battle of the Boyne marked an era in the progress of enlightenment over oppression and ignorance, it is not in that light that the present occurrence becomes a subject of reference and importance. The spirit and administration of our form of government recognizes no distinctions between Catholicism and Protestantism; perfectly equal rights and privileges are accorded to all denominations It is perfectly plain that if the twenty-fifth pontifical anniversary of Pope Pius IX, and other similar public observances pertaining exclusively to foreign governments, may be universally and uninteruptedly celebrated by one sect, and a perfectly equal right for similar observances belongs to those of opposite beliefs on different occasion. We are of those who believe that evil will eventually result to our free institutions in thus keeping alive, by publicly celebrating, occasions and objects wholly foreign. The adoption of a new allegiance or citizenship is a perfect absolution from every previous obligation to prince or potentate, and the sooner all such past obligations are displaced by present and future duties and interests the better for all; that will be the best assurance possible that no efforts are to be made to displace the best principles of our free government by the worst of those from across the sea. In this view of the case, then, these clannish demonstrations, based on obligations to foreign rulers, is in bad taste, to say the least. So long, however, as such are free to one sect or party it must be to all; the rights of Orange men for special celebrations are just as good as those of any class in existence, and we are glad to know that this right is to be sustained, though it takes blood to do it.

Not Needed.

A London dispatch of July 11th reads:

There is a struggle among Americans in Paris to secure possession of Communist prisoners as colonists. Some want them for Colorado and others for Lower Caliiornia and Arizona. The Government is puzzled to decide.

It is to be hoped that the Government may remain puzzled for an indefinite time before their fractious people are permitted to immigrate to these parts.

The Rural Press.

Believing as we do that every farmer in our Valley would be well repaid for the expenditure of a few dollars in procuring a good paper specially devoted to the agricultural interests of the Pacific coast, we commend The Pacific Rural Press as the best one within our knowledge for the purpose. Any of our subscribers desiring a specimen copy can have it by application at this office, and in a club with this paper subscription can be had at reduced rates.

THE NO-FENCE LAW.

It seems to be a foregone conclusion that no candidate for the Legislature from any of the southern counties will stand a ghost of a chance for election unless decidedly in favor of a no-fence law. If it is desirable to have such a law for this county the next Legislature is the one to pass it, for the sooner the question is settled the better. If acted upon then it will save much unnecessary expense; if not decided then two years must elapse before any action can be taken, during which time much fencing will have to be done or other expense entailed to save growing crops. So far as the general interests of the valley are concerned there can be no question but that they would be best subserved by a no-fence law. It is cheaper to take care of the limited number of stock there is in the valley than to protect by herding or enormously expensive fences such a large number of exposed fields. It is quite beyond the means of the majority of our farmers to put secure fences around their places yet the presence of a small band of stock in a neighborhood may cause a heavy expense or loss to every farmer in it. However, it was not with the view of arguing the merits of the proposed law in reference to this section that we have alluded to it, but merely to call the attention of those mainly interested to the matter, and obtain an expression of their views.

AN IMPORTANT ENTERPRISE.

There is a delegation of San Buenaventura gentlemen now in Cerro Gordo, including in the party Captain Johnston of the steamer California, who are visiting this county for the purpose of turning the bullion shipments from Los Angeles to San Buenaventura, and with a view of establishing general freight communication between that point and this, over a new road intersecting the present Cerro Gordo and Los Angeles road. The party is an influential one, and doubtless something will be done to shorten communication and lessen freight tariffs. The new road was talked of a year ago, but the project has never been fairly agitated until the present time. The Ventura Signal devotes considerable space to the matter, and we shall take occasion to refer to it more at length next week. We hope the party will visit all portions of the county before returning home.

Appleton's Journal

Will, for some time to come, have a special interest to residents of this sage brush land as the only special newspaper correspondent accompanying the Wheeler expedition is "doing" the country for The Journal. An article entitled "The Two Brothers," written by this correspondent, Fred. W. Loring, appears in one of the June numbers.

FOREIGN NEWS.

There were riotous demonstrations going on in the city of Nice. This city was acquired by Louis Napoleon from Italy by treaty, an arrangement that the resident Italians did not consider over nice, hence the riots.

A powder magazine exploded at Vincennes, July 14, which shook all Paris and killed a large number of people.

An attempt was made to assassinate the Chief of Police of Dublin on the day of the Orange procession. He was merely wounded—by a Fenian.

The effective French army is estimated at 230,000.

Of the 140 members returned at the July supplemental elections, to the French National Assembly, 120 are Republicans.

Mining in the Territories.

[From The Gold Hill News, July 14.]

Gold and silver mining in several of the intermediate Territories between the Missouri River and California is proving to be unusually prosperous this season. The population of Utah has been nearly doubled since the 1st of January last, in consequence of the discovery and development, in districts adjacent to Salt Lake, of a number of vastly rich silver quartz veins, some of which are yielding as high as $1,000 per ton by working process. As an item in reference to these mines, we may mention that during the past four months fully 2,000 tons of the selected ore have been shipped daily in sacks by the Union Pacific Railroad to New York, and thence by sailing vessels to Swansea and other points in Europe, for reduction by the smelting process. In Montana Territory, which has been short of water during the past three or four seasons, there is now an abundant supply, a great demand for labor at high prices, and the most positive evidence of unprecedented prosperity among her people. While possessing an endless number of rich gold and silver quartz leads, yet the great resource of Montana, which is now being most profitably worked, is in her numerous gold placers, where the poor man has as good a chance as the rich to accumulate wealth. From this source alone it is estimated that $25,000,000 will be taken out in Montana this year. And this golden-ribbed Territory, for six hundred miles in length, forms the grand keystone in the continental span of the North Pacific Railroad.

EASTERN NEWS.

The excitement in Chicago and other cities over the New York riots was very great. Governor Hoffman is denounced by the Tammany Ring, and all the Irish Catholics are deeply incensed at him, some to the extent of threatening to take his life. He is also severely censured by most of the leading papers for having withheld his order until Wednesday morning, when he was acquainted with the facts on Monday or Tuesday, when such an order would have effectually prevented the Hibernian demonstration and many lives have been saved. The New York Times, The New York Tribune and other papers denounce Mayor Hall in unmeasured terms for his truckling order, and say that if he has a particle of self-respect remaining he will at once resign a position his cowardice impels him to hold. The action of the Ribbonmen is rated as simply outrageous and deserving even greater punishment than they received, and this seems to be the general verdict. The San Francisco Monitor, Catholic organ of this coast, endorses this view of the case, and only expresses sympathy for the many helpless widows and orphans of the killed. On the other hand Mayor Hall is sustained in his order by prominent New Yorkers of both parties. As a temporary expedient to avoid bloodshed his course was doubtless the best, but on any other grounds the American people can never accept the justification. No combination of people, foreign or native, can have an exclusive patent to our streets, and if the results of this have not sufficiently demonstrated that fact it may be considered cheaply purchased. For this reason no blame, except by those immediately interested, can ever attach to Governor Hoffman, save only that he hesitated too long before giving his order.

The 69th (Irish) regiment were found wholly unreliable in the emergency, many of them having got away by squads to assist the rioters. The remainder were locked up in their armory and kept there through the day. The demand will be made upon the Governor for the disbandment of this regiment.

An order will soon be issued from the War Department announcing that no more applications for discharge of private soldiers will be entertained, as our army has been reduced to 30,000 men, in accordance with the recent act of Congress.

A dispatch from Virginia City, Nevada, dated July 14th reads:

George Kirk, who was warned out of town by the Vigilantes, when Perkins was hung, some time since, was called out of a house ill-fame last night, taken by a party of forty men to the neighborhood of the Nevada mine and hanged. He had returned to the city two or three times since and was warned away, but didn't remain after dark.

A party returned July 7th, says The Los Angeles News, from an unsuccessful search for the platina mine, said to exist near Bettis Springs, in San Bernardino County. The parties of prospectors are still out hunting for it.

The following letter is a perfect model in its way: "Dear Brother—I've got one of the handsomest farms in the State, and have it nearly paid for. Father got to be rather an incumbrance, and last week I took him to the poor house. Your affectionate brother."

Long Separation.

[From The Eureka Sentinel, July 9.]

Two days ago there arrived here a lady from the East, with a brother. Both had seen, some years ago, the joyousness of youth and the life of favored ones in society. Years ago she said "last words" to this youngster, and he resolved to seek his fortune in the rich placers of Califorfornia, where he would find as much of wealth as was necessary for him to occupy the position he wished at home. He set his heart on $50,000, and deemed it a small matter to accomplish. A year passed away and he concluded $25,000 would be "pretty good." He went to Gold Bluff, Cariboo, Frazer River, Idaho, Montana, and finally to White Pine. A year ago his views were materially lessened, and he resolved that $1,000 would be sufficient for him, and he would get that much and then visit the home of his youth. He has been here for some months and has succeeded in gathering a few shekels, and was calculating to go to the East in a few weeks. Changes have been going on in that old home. The father who was unwilling that the young man should become a member of his family, has passed away—the widow soon followed him—two brothers were killed at Gettysburg, and another left his bones in the prison pen at Andersonville. Of a large family there are only two left, and both are fully provided with this world's goods They came to find the acquaintance of early years. There was a meeting, and mutual histories exchanged. Both are in the meridian of life, and will return at once to the East. He has given away his prospects—said last words to his old acquaintances, and is now at Palisade, where to-day at 1 P. M. he will be married by Judge Hickey, to her who has been so faithful for many years. We heard the story from themselves, and were pleased to know that in these latter days there were cases in which early promises were not forgotten, and where happiness is the result of truth and steadfastness. There are several gentlemen here who would be nonplussed if an early flame should arrive; but very few need fear that a fine looking lady of fortune is anxious to get a man whose experiences are quite as varied as most men have been in the mines of the Pacific slope.

—A mysterious deaf girl has been agitating San Francisco. A reporter went to interview her the other day, and while taking down the points indulged in remarks which would not have been complimentary if she could have heard them. She stood it for some time, but finally emptied the coal-scuttle over him and pitched him down stairs. He doesn't believe she is deaf.

—A New York Alderman driving in Central Park, past the Humboldt bust, indignantly exclaimed: "Well I'd like to know who they won't put up a statoo to next. What's he ever done to have a statoo? He never done nothin'." "Who?" inquired his companion, "Why, Humboldt, that Buchu doctor, don't you see?" was the response.

WITHDRAWAL.

INDEPENDENCE, July 18th, 1871.

COUNTY REPUBLICAN CENTRAL COMMITTEE—Gentlemen: On examination of Article Fourth, Section Fifth of the Constitution of the State of California, I find that a candidate for the office of Assemblyman has to be a resident of the District and County for the term of one year preceding the election. Therefore, as I have not been a resident of the County of Inyo for the term required by law, I wish to withdraw my name as a candidate for the Assembly.

Respectfully yours,

Lieut. Wheeler's Expedition.

A detachment of Lieut. Wheeler's party, under command of Lieut. Lyle, consisting of 25 men, arrived a few days since and encamped a short distance above Camp Independence. From a few moments conversation with the gentlemanly young Surgeon, Naturalist, etc., of the party, Dr. Hoffman, we learn that Camp Independence is to be a general rendezvous for the entire party, the larger portion of which, under Lieut. Wheeler, is in the vicinity of the Armagosa mountains; his division will probably reach this place in about two weeks, when, after recruiting a short time, a "new departure" will be taken. This is not, as generally considered, strictly a surveying expedition, but one the primary object of which is a full and complete report of the geology, entomology, fauna and flora of these regions unknown to science. To the mere casual observer, intent only on passing it over as quickly as possible, the region of country generally that is to be visited by this expedition is uninviting and forbidding in the extreme. For leagues there is not to be found aught but arid mountains, or dry, hot, and sandy plains. In portions of the route water exists only at long stretches, and generally when found is but little less vile than concentrated ley, yet are there exceptions; beautiful oasis, with pure living streams surrounded by an abundant vegetation will occasionally gladden the eyes of the weary traveler. Valuable minerals in unlimited quantities are known to exist throughout this vast region. To the man of science it affords a field unequaled in interesting and profitable research. The labors of the scientists of this party will afford astonishing results. Already much that is entirely new in minerals and other objects of study have crowned their labors. The chiefs of the detachment now here, are quite young, full of vim and energy and general qualifications, and are just the men for the business in hand. Lieut. Lyle thinks he has definitely established one point in the ethics of religion; he is satisfied hell does have a veritable existence, because at one point on the route hither, it crops several feet out of the ground. He made some reckless efforts to get at the bottom of it, by means of a long pole, a proceeding we would advise him by all means to forego in the future. It's best not to rush into trouble; it will come in due time.

In a Quandary.

The citizens of our burg are in some thing of a quandary, They are somewhat non-plussd as to what plan they shall adopt to relieve one old gentleman (?) from a great trouble there is on his mind. This old slush is troubled with little boys and girls to a cosiderable extent. He is very valorous, is this old antediluvian, so he is not afraid to knock these little boys and girls down and give 'em good sound kicks after they are down. How to relieve him of this penchant for knocking down and kicking little boys and girls is the question. Blisters to his feet have proved unavailing; the application of tar, it is thought by some, would meet the exigencies of the case; others hold that the most effectual remedy would be to allow him free access to 40 gallons of whiskey; it is thought this plan would relieve the old buck's mind (what there is of it) and the community at the same time; but the plan, it is generally conceded, would not be effectual unless the remedy was doubled in quantity, and as the object to be gained would scarcely warrant the extra expense, the question remains in abeyance awaiting developments.

Supplementary.

Lieut. Lyle, with four or five men and several pack animals, started across the Inyo mountains yesterday afternoon, for the purpose of meeting and guiding in the detachment of the expedition under Lieut. Wheeler himself. Dr. Hoffman, also, started out, but was thrown by a fractious, "bucking" mule, and narrowly escaped serious injury; his foot caught in the half-turned saddle, and he was dragged some distance by the kicking, vicious animal. C. F. R. Hahn, late of Cerro Gordo, the noted mountaineer and linguist, goes with the party as guide. The curious looking, one-wheeled vehicle called the "odometer" (the boys religiously call it the G—d d—niter) is dragged along by one mule. The thills of the concern, strapped to the sides of the mule, maintain the wheel in its perpendicular. The principal use of this institution, as we understand it, is to tell the boys when they have gone far enough to camp, and must be highly appreciated these hot days.

Another Escape.

Mr. Brown who left this place last Saturday under charge of Sheriff Elder, made his escape while en route to San Quentin to serve a four years' term for highway robbery. The particulars of the escape are about as follows; Mr. Elder had in charge Johnny Ryan, an insane prisoner, destined for Stockton. While stopping over night at a place on Kern river known as Whiskey Flat, Ryan became furious. The Sheriff stepped across the street to procure a sedative for Ryan, leaving Brown securely ironed in the bar-room and in comyany with a number of strangers. When the Sheriff returned a few minutes afterward his prisoner was gone, no one knew how or where. Poor Johnny had become perfectly wild, requiring the utmost energies of the Sheriff to keep him within restraint, so that no effective pursuit was possible.

A Rich Thing.

From what we hear of its contents the appearance of "The Sorehead," a paper being printed by Old Dad and Bill Grant, will create some little flutter among the numerous jokers attacked thereby. We understand that both of the editors have made it convedient to go fishing, and will probably remain absent for a month or so. The news agents distributing them will be duly armed with pocket pistols to draw in self-defence, but expect to get badly shot anyhow. Appropos to the sanctimonious character of the sheet, it will appear on Sunday morning, from the office of The Sorehead Publishing Company, at Lone Pine.

The Tickets.

In our advertising columns will be seen the complete tickets of both political parties, from Governor down. In the county tickets, both contain good names, and both have some who are indifferent as candidates. We hear that an independent fusion ticket is being talked of, and may be put in the field. Trot them out, gentlemen—the more chance the people have tue better the chance for the election of officers who suit the popular will; besides, the more the merrier. But, individually, we opine that any of the gentlemen nominated will satisfy the people as public officers.

PROCEEDINGS OF THE REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION.

INDEPENDENCE, July 15, 1871.

The Republican County Convention was called to order by J. Earl, Chairman of County Central Committee, at 10 o'clock A. M.

P. A. Chalfant was chosen temporary Chairman, and R. S. Peterson temporary Secretary.

On motion the Chair appointed a committee of three each on credentials, permanent organization, order of business and resolutions.

Committee on Credentials—Johnson, Rose, Kingsley, Gardner and Rittgers.

Committee on Permanent Organization—Gould, Harris and Wallis.

Committee on Order of Business—Earl, Garrettson and Peterson.

Committee on Resolutions—Love, Connelly and Gardner. On motion, Stratton and Chalfant were added to this committee.

Convention then adjourned to assemble again at 1:30 P. M., at which time it was called to order by the Chairman, pro tem.

Committee on Credentials reported the following gentleman as entitled to seats as Delegates to this Convention, which report was adopted: Cerro Gordo—R. S. Peterson, A. J. Gould, W. Wallis, C. F. Duval, W. Wallis, proxy, J. N. Stauffer, A. J. Gould, proxy; Swansea—T. A. Gardner; Lone Pine—A. H. Johnson, J. S. Brown, W. H. Crane, R. A. Loomis, proxy, I. P. Rittgers; Independence—P. A. Chalfant, J. N. Rose, I. Harris; Kearsarge—T. F. A. Connelly; Camp Independence—Josiah Earl; Fish Springs—David Love, J. R. Westerville; Big Pine—David Naylor, J. R. Westerville, proxy; Bishop Creek—J. L. Garrettson, Jas. Shaw, J. C. Kingsley, A. Cochran; Round Valley—W. W. Vaughn, Richard Hilton, David Love, proxy.

Committee on Permanent Organization reported as follows: For Chairman, P. A. Chalfant; for Secretary, R. S. Peterson.

Report adopted.

Committee on Order of Business submitted the following order, which was adopted:

1	Nomination for	Clerk.
2	" "	Sheriff.
3	" "	District Attorney.
4	" "	Treasurer.
5	" "	Assessor.
6	" "	Coroner & Pub. Ad.
7	" "	Surveyor.
8	" "	Supt. Pub. Schools
9	" "	Assemblyman.
10	" "	County Judge.
11	" "	County Cen. Com.

Committee on Resolutions submitted the following resolutions:

Resolved—That the Union Republicans of Inyo County hereby signify their full and unqualified approval and indorsement of the principles of the Republican platform, as set forth by the Union Republican State Convention, assembled in the City of Sacramento, on the twenty-eighth day of June, 1871.

Resolved—That each and every candidate, before receiving a nomination by delegates in this Convention, be required to endorse the Republican State platform, and pledge a full and perfect support to the nominees of this convention and to the Republican State ticket as now presented, and furthermore to use his best endeavors to secure the election of each and every nominee upon our State and County ticket.

Resolved—That we hereby endorse the past acts and honorable intentions of our present County Central Committee, in the belief that every act of that committee has been actuated by a desire to promote the best interests of our party.

D. LOVE, Chairman.

Moved and seconded that the third resolution be stricken out. Lost.

On motion, the resolutions as reported by the committee were adopted.

On motion, the Chair appointed two tally men, D. Love and T. F. A. Connelly.

J. Earl moved that a committee of three be appointed to levy an assessment on each candidate. Carried.

Moved and carried that each nominee pledge himself to support the platforms of the State and County Conventions and all their nominees.

Committe on Finance submitted the following report: That every candidate for a nomination before this Convention be required to pay into the hands of the Secretary the following respective sums, viz from Clerk down to Treasurer, $5 each, the remainder $2 50 each. Adopted and carried out.

The following gentleman were put in nomination for Clerk.

By A. J. Gould: M. W. Hammerstrand, of Cerro Gordo.

By Jas. Shaw: M. S. Clark, of Bishop Creek.

By Mr. Stratton: R. A. Loomis, of Lone Pine.

Nominations for Clerk then closed, and on motion it was decided that a test vote be taken on nominations for each position.

The informal vote stood: Hammerstrand 12; Loomis 6; Clark 6.

A formal and deciding ballot was then taken with this result: Hammerstrand 14; Loomis 6; Clark 3.

Mr. Hammerstrand was declared the nominee for County Clerk, and on motion the nomination was then made unanimous.

A motion for a recess of 15 minutes was put and lost.

Nominations for Sheriff being in order the following gentlemen were put in nomination:

By Mr. Kingsley: S. G. Sneden, of Bishop Creek.

By Mr. Westerville: T. J. Goodale, of Independence.

By A. L. Johnson: Thomas May of Independence. Nominations then closed, and an informal ballot gave this result: Sneden 13; Goodale 5; May 6.

Mr. May then withdrew; on the formal ballot the vote stood: Sneden 15; Goodale 9; Mr. Sneden's nomination was then made unanimous.

For District Attorney Mr. Gould nominated F. K. Miller, of Cerro Gordo.

Mr. Westerville placed A. C. Hanson, of Independece, in nomination; Mr. Hanson declined to accept, so Mr. Miller received the nomination by acclamation.

There being no opposition J. B. Rowley, of Independence, was unanimously declared the nominee for County Treasurer.

J. N. Rose put J. R. Westervslle, of Fish Springs, in nomination for Assessor; Mr. Johnson placed J. S. Brown, of Lone Pine, in nomination; Mr. Garrettson nominated Jas. Brown, Bishop Creek. The two last named gentlemen both declining, Mr Westerville was nominated by acclamation.

Mr. Earl nominated J. Willette for Coroner and Public Administrator; Mr. Willette declined the nomination.

G. W. Todd was nominated by Mr. Harris; nominated by acclamation.

Lyman Tuttle was placed in nomination for Surveyor; nominated by acclamation.

Mr. M. S. Clark was nominated for Superintendent of Public Schools; Mr. Clark declined. J. W. Symmes was put in nominated; carried by acclamation.

The following gentlemen were then put in nomination for Assemblymen: J. L. Garrettson, Peter Bennett, S. V. Stevens, Duncan Campbell. The names of Messrs. Garrettson and Stevens being withdrawn, the rule requiring an informal vote was suspended and a formal ballot taken with this result: Campbell 12; Bennett 11; blank 1. It was decided not to receive blank votes so a new ballot was taken with this result: Campbell 10; Bennett 14. Mr. Bennett was declared duly nominated.

The following gentlemen were put in nomination for County Judge; P. A. Chalfant, D. Love, D. D. Gunnison, O. L. Mathews. Mr. Chalfant declined the nomination.

On motion it was decided to take an informal vote which was done with this result: Love 12; Gunnison 3; Mathews 8; blank 1.

The name of Mr. Gunnison was withdrawn and a formal ballot taken with this result: Love 13; Mathews 11.

Mr. Love was declared duly nominated.

An adjournment of ten minutes was then had. On re-assembling it was moved and carried that the Chair appoint a committee of seven to serve as County Central Committee. The Chair named as said committee: A. M. Loomis, Lone Pine; A. J. Gould, Cerro Gordo: P. W. Bennett, J. N. Rose, Independence: J. L. Garrettson, Bishop Creek: J. Earl, Camp Independence: Geo. Shedd, Fish Springs.

Mr Rose declining to serve, on motion, Mr. Chalfant was substituted.

Delegates from Supervisor districts Nos. 2 and 3 were requested to name a candidate for Supervisor in their respective districts.

The delegation from Supervisor district No. 2 nominated J. N. Rose.

The delegation from district No. 3 nominated Wm. Barrows.

These nominations were endorsed and were ordered placed on the Republican county ticket.

A resolution of thanks to the officers of the Convention was then passed, when on motion, the Convention adjourned sine die.

Good Prices.

Produce, corn, and small grain command much better prices than was predicted by the lugubrious croakers who formed opinions a month or so ago. From all parts of the valley reports come which indicate an unusually good crop generally. The first and largest crop of barley of the season, raised by I. Schalten, one of our most enterprising farmers, was, on Thursday last, purchased by Harris & Rhine, at four cents per pound, on the field. From these early purchases by the above named firm, our principal grain dealers, it is certain that farmers will enjoy good prices and a steady market for their grain.

Sent to Stockton.

On Saturday last an examination was held by Surgeon White, Dr. Smith and County Judge Hanson on John T. Ryan, who was pronounced insane, and on the following day was, in charge of Sheriff Elder, started on his way to the Asylum at Stockton. Mr. Ryan was one of the pioneers of this county, a man of considerable talent, and for whom there is much sympathy. His malady is connected with spiritualism; and, although of a mild type, he was thought to be dangerous. We sincerely hope that his terrible misfortune is only temporary.

The Store at the Springs.

J. W. McMurry, the old quartz man and resident of Fish Springs, this week makes official proclamation of the fact that he has re-established the old Westerville & Ryan store, and embarked in the merchandising business. Every article usually found in a number one country store can be obtained of him, and at as low prices as any other house in the county.

A Brilliant Meteor.

Persons who happened to be out doors about 8 o'clock on Saturday night, were witnesses of a large and brilliant meteor. Its flight described an arc over the valley to the norhward of town, and brightly illuminated the country around. The duration of flight was eight or ten seconds, leaving a brilliant streak of light on the course over which it passed.

The Mines.

We acknowledge a most lamentable lack of mining news in our columns during the past few weeks. A thousand other matters have so absorbed our time and attention that personal visits to the mines have been out of the question, and it seems that, despite our efforts, the necessary information can be obtained in no other manner.

Liquids.

The Lone Pine Pioneer Saloon is about to be thoroughly refitted and embellished, and its exterior and interior made more in keeping with the really fine stock of liquors and cigars which it contains. Charley Begole, the inimitable curley-headed dad of Lone Pine dispenses the good things in the best style.

Committee Meeting.

The Republican County Central Committee will meet next Tuesday evening, for the purpose of placing a candidate upon their ticket, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the withdrawal of Mr. Peter Bennett. It would be a good idea for the friends of aspirants to be present and urge the claims of their favorites.

Business Combined.

Messrs. B. L. Brown & Co., of the Pioneer Stables, have purchased the lease of Collister & Briggs of the Eagle Stables, and, for a time, will run both establishments.

Bullion Shipment.

Yesterday there was shipped by Wells Fargo & Co., from the works of J. W. Mc Murray, at Fish Springs, 67½ ounces of gold bullion, valued at $17 per ounce.

THE WAILINGS OF A SOREHEAD

[COMMUNICATED.]

EDITORS INDEPENDENT:—There is a something in the human heart, which, when overburdened with sorrow or disappointment impels it to open its most secret recesses to some sympathizing friend from whom it can look for consolation, be it even of ever so poor or trifling a quality; therefore, Messrs. Editors, you being the only friends to whom I can look up to in my present agonizing sorrow, please permit me in your valuable columns, which is to gladden our eyes on Saturday the 22nd proximo, to state my grievances. Upon the advice of many friends, knowing ones—mind you, and shrewd political ones at that—I was informed that if I would permit my name to be mentioned for, well, say an available candidate for the Legislature at the ensuing convention, (now past) I could be sure of the nomination. Mr. Pumpernickle of Bend City, positively averred on the honor of a gentleman! (Oh! Oh!) that if I would only consent, the whole delegation from that influential burg, were for me to a man. Messrs. Broke, Bummer & Co., of the city of ten thousand churches, known all over the civilized world by the sweetly, soft sounding name of San Carlos, begged me with tears in their beautiful, innocent looking eyes to do the delegation, of which they were the spokesmen, the honor, pleasure and unspeakable happiness of permitting my valuable services to be placed at the disposal of their beloved country.

Again, flocking into my six by nine bachelor-like shanty, in fine studied style, their countenances beaming with intelligence of the highest order, the delegation from Death Valley (who, by the by, held the balance of power in their hands) earnestly soliciting me—yes, my dear Messrs. Editors, almost with tears in their eyes—tremulously requesting me, I say, to become that bright particular star which was to shine so luminously in that haven which is to appear in the Capitol at Sacramento sometime next January—yclept the California Legislature.

Now, my dear friends Chal and Jim, to you who know me so thoroughly and well, to you who are so perfectly acquainted with my native modesty, industry, temperance, religious habits and unsophisticated style, to you do I propound the following proposition:

Under such exigent and pressing demands, backed by eloquence which beat that of Cicero, Demosthenes, Henry Clay and Webster all to nothing, could I do anything but yield and accept? Of course, as sensible men and editors of a liberal turn of mind, you will surely say no, no, NO.

May I intrude a little more on your time, patience and space, Messeurs le Editares? A smile on your benignant countenances replies affirmatively.

From hoeing corn, whacking bull-teams, selling Chevalier's hair restorative, keeping a livery-stable, driving a quill, practising law or whatever you may choose I suddenly found the daily duties of my regular avocation neglected, and that Mr. Pumpernickle and his tentonic crowd from Bend City and myself frequently discussing the political state of affairs over foaming lager, principally at my expense of course, while Messrs. Broke, Bummer & Co. and their influential friends drawled out their brilliant arguments on the forthcoming campaign while sending ceiling-ward curled wreaths of smoke from the most expensive, fragrant Havanas, and semi-occasionally, or rather frequently occasional moistening their manly throats with old bourbon to render the act of speaking more pleasant and easy. And then—the Death Valley delegation!! What dear, social fellows they were Whiskey straight. No trouble for bar keepers in fixing their drinks. And then so modest too in their behavior. Not one of them possessed the ungenmanly habit of even trying to insult me by tendering the first quarter of a dollar in payment for anything. By Jupiter! what magnanimity! what liberality!! what whole-soul edness!!! Perhaps nowhere on the whole globe: but in open-hearted, open-handed California can such noble traits be discovered.

A trifle more patience, my dear Editors and I am done:

The memorable day of the Convention arrived, and with it every delegate from every precinct. Hans Pumpernickle and his crew are enthusiastic in my cause; Broke, Bummer & Co., with their (and mine of course) intellectual backers, and also the wealthy and influential delegation from the land of paradise, Death Valley.

There was quite a stir, as you know Messrs. Editors, in our usually quiet little village. It was button-holeing, buzzing, (principally buzzing). Knots of threes and knots of fours huddling together in all kinds of out-of-the-way places and corners, deliberating on the grand issues about to take place. Your communicant feeling positively assured of his nomination, smiled on all alike with as charming a serenity as that of the inimitable Mr. Pickwick himself. But time's up. A grand rush to the court-house, where after the usual preliminaries are settled, serious business commences—the first in order of which is nomination for the legislature. I could not help smiling to think how merely formal that part of the proceedings would be as my nomination for that honorable position was sure to be by acclamation. 'Twas a settled fact between me and myself that it would be an affair alike unto that of the great Julius Cæsar when he declared a grand victory in that terse but eloquent sentence of vindi, vidi, vici. Hans Pumpernickle with a bland smile on his genial countenance puts forth my name. Herr Limburger of Bend City ditto. Any more nominations for the Legislature, inquires the chairman in a rather sonorous voice? One moments pause, and then almost at the very time the chair was about suggesting that the nomination be declared unanimous, another name—yes, and yet another was shouted forth as candidates. Before I could fairly recover from my unutterable surprise the clerk informed the chair of the result of the ballot, which stood thus:—Number of votes cast, 100; for myself (Mr. Sorehead) 2; for Hans Pumpernickle, 84; and for Dead Broke 14. Amidst the immense cheering which followed the declaration of Pumpernickle having obtained the nomination I groaned in agony of spirit on the mutability of human affairs in this mundane sphere, and something like a second-self whispered in my ear that the vindi, vidi, was all right, but the vici was not "thar."

Bewildered and almost crazed with the treachery of my political friends, I madly rushed from the unholy precincts of the Court House at a rate which my friends afterwards assured me was tall—yes, very tall, and seeking a quiet, secluded spot in the sage-brush close by, where some innocent natives were playing Piute poker (four bits ante,) I ruminated upon the vanity of all earthly aspirations, chewed the cud of bitterness to the full, and determined henceforth to stick to my legitimate occupation and let politics, accompanied by Hans Pumpernickle, Broke, Bummer & Co. and the Death Valley delegation go to the Devil's Gate, Hong Kong or the Fiji Islands.

I am yours, "Out of the Ring."

The Polar Expeditions.

Captain Hall's expedition to the North Pole has sailed from New York, and in a few days Octave Pavy, a member of the French and American Geographical societies, will leave San Francisco for Kamchatka, where, after laying in supplies and equipments, shipping will be taken to a point north of the Gulf of Anadyr, whence the expedition will go overland a distance of 300 miles to the north coast of Siberia, and thence, after a brief stay, will move on to Killet's Land. A boat made of gutta percha covered with canvas, capable of floating 10,000 pounds, and which can be rolled into a small compass and strapped to the sledge, will be taken by Pavy. He is provided with apparatus for taking photographic views and making scientific observations, and communication will be kept up with the Russian port at Cape Jakin by means of carrier pigeons carrying photographic copies of his journal. It has been sufficiently demonstrated that commerce can gain nothing by the discovery of a northwest passage, but certain mooted questions among scientists may be satisfactorily settled.

LEGAL.

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of State and the Treasurer of State, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said State, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bond; said coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notices of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the Capital of the State; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris, in France, and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in German, in the City of Frankfort-on-the-Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the State; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless sufficient security shall be furnished by the bidders for the compliance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin, par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of State each to keep a separate record of all bonds sold under the provisions of this act, showing the number, date, amount and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury; and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in section seven of this Act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value, but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bonded, which said certificate shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel each bond so exchanged, and shall indorse on such bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued in exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the State treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the State, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering therein the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the expiration of such advertisement, such bonds, unless sooner paid, shall cease to draw interest, but the money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the State, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the State treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper, published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper, published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals, at rates not exceeding par value, as may redeem the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less amount than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publications, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication; before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this Act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said interest Fund, if sufficient; and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that the Controller of State shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. This Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for its submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the State for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this State shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act; those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same, shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and canvassed, and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Treasurer of State, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast are for or against this law, as aforesaid, are in favor of this act, then the same shall have effect as hereinbefore provided, and shall be irrepealable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation hereof; but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have this Act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceeding the next general election, for which publication no greater allowance shall be made than the rates allowed by law to the State Printer.

SMILE WHENEVER YOU CAN.

When things don't go to suit you,
And the world seems upside down,
Don't waste your time in fretting,
But drive away the frown;
Since life is o'er perplexing,
'Tis much the wisest plan
To bear all trials bravely,
And smile whene'er you can.

Why should you dread to-morrow,
And thus destroy to-day?
For when you borrow trouble,
You always have to pay.
It is a good old maxim,
Which should be often preached—
Don't cross the bridge before you,
Until the bridge is reached.

You might be spared much sighing,
If you would keep in mind
The thought that good and evil
Are always here combined.
There must be something wanting,
And though you roll in wealth,
You may miss from your casket,
That precious jewel—health.

And though your strong and sturdy,
You may have an empty purse—
And earth has many trials
Which I consider worse—
But whether joy or sorrow
Fill up your mortal span,
'Twill make your pathway brighter
To smile whene'er you can.

The Corean War and "Bombshell Diplomacy."

[From the Sacramento Union.]

Under the heading of "Bombshell Diplomacy," the New York Tribune has published an editorial condemnatory of any further proceedings in the Corea, and predicting that if the Administration continues the war, though it must prove a victory to the American flag, it will be a defeat to Grant in the next Presidential campaign. We can readily understand that this nation does not desire to enter upon a long and expensive campaign; but to withdraw now, without further attempting to achieve the object for which the expedition was fitted out, would by the Coreans be attributed to fear, and the crew of the next American vessel wrecked on the Corean coast would share a similar fate to that of the ill-fated crew of the schooner General Sherman, wrecked there in 1867, who were cruelly massacred. Every American will indorse the instructions to Minister Low and Admiral Rodgers, that "the President principally aims in the mission, to secure protection and good treatment for such seamen of the United States as may unhappily be wrecked upon those shores;" while, like the President, they will be pleased if a commercial treaty should also be negotiated. The character of the people with whom Admiral Rodgers and Mr. Low have to do, is evident from the treacherous manner in which they opened fire on our fleet, which had on board shipwrecked Coreans, whom our people were taking back to show how civilized nations treat castaway mariners. The Coreans have no excuse for their conduct, for in the Japan Herald of the 22d of May we find a statement that they had been collecting large quantities of ammunition, and were imagining that they would serve the American fleet as they did the French in 1867.

The Tribune in its simplicity says that the Coreans have a right to remain perfectly isolated, and that there have been sufficient reprisals inflicted for the murder of the shipwrecked Americans. The European papers published in China, the writers on which may be expected to be tolerably posted on Corean affairs, state that this desire for isolation arises solely from a purpose not to give up plundering vessels which come into their power. The Japan Herald, before quoted, says: "To attempt to treat them in a conciliatory manner, or to endeavor to negotiate and form amiable relations, would prove to be utterly futile."

We deprecate making political capital out of this Corean difficulty. No matter who may reside at the White House, it is the duty of the Administration to secure protection to those of our seamen who are unfortunately wrecked on a foreign shore. That this was President Grant's only object is evidenced from the fact that the instructions to Minister Low were written in April, 1870, and the expedition was only deferred because of the absence of Consul Seward, who was to take charge at Pekin, while Minister Low was with the fleet. We do not forget that it was American enterprise that, in latter times, opened Japan to the commerce of Western nations, and if our representatives are not successful in a similar errand to Corea, it will still remain to the credit of the United States that it was attempted. On the importance of the expedition being carried to a successful issue, the Shanghai News Letter thus comments:

There prevails a degree of anxiety that the expedition shall prove successful, which is not measured by the immediate consequences. It is felt that failure will embolden the anti-foreign party in China, and increase the difficulties and dangers of the situation here. The topic is not a pleasant one, and we will not dwell upon it.

Under all the circumstances we look forward with some anxiety to the next dispatch from Admiral Rodgers, and we trust that the Administration having once taken action, will not from any wavering policy endanger American interests in these Eastern waters.

—Several hundred of the Irishmen of San Francisco have formed an organization to support the best men for office, claiming that many Irishmen are Democrats from association only, and that this organization will seek to induce them to cut loose from the party.

—We have heard of but one old woman who kissed her cow, but there are thousands of young ones who have kissed great calves.

THE COREA FIGHT.

We extract the following additional details of the Corea fight from the Japan correspondent of the Sacramento Union:

As they had agreed to do, the squadron awaited two days, and then the party to explore the river started on their mission, composed as follows: Monocacy, Captain McCrea, 170, officers and men; Palos, Lieutenant Commander Rockwell, 50, officers and men; steam launch of the Alaska, Lieutenant Commander Chester; steam launch of the Benicia, Master Schroeder; steam launch of the Colorado, Lieutenant W. W. Mead; steam launch of the Colorado, Lieutenant G. M. Totten. Eleven men in each launch.

The launches carried 24 and 12-pounders in the bow, and the steamers had decks all cleared, guns unlimbered and ready for action. The tide at this point is very strong, and runs at about six knots with a rise and fall of from thirty to forty feet. With the launches ahead, and the tide at flood, the boats swept up the Kang-hoa river, making soundings and doing the usual routine of survey duty. About ten miles from the anchorage is a narrow passage and sharp bend, and on either side of the stream two forts built of red sandstone; as the launches neared this point, a large body of Corean soldiers, clad in white and armed with matchlocks, were seen on the dexter bank, where a bluff arises almost precipitously from the river. The number of the soldiers was about one thousand, and it was supposed they were in sight to make a show of Corean strength, but as the launches swept around the bend, the fort and soldiers opened a tremendous fire and started the fight.

The water was in a foam all around the launches, as the shot and pieces of scrap-iron with which their guns were loaded struck the surface; the onset was terrible, and dire would have been the result had not the guns of the Coreans been elevated too greatly, thereby allowing the missiles to pass over the boats. Instantly the launches turned "bows on" and commenced to shell the forts, while in the rear the 8-inch guns of the Monocacy and Palos aided the work. As the shells fell into the forts and burst and the walls began to fly in pieces, the yells of the astonished soldiers betokened their terror, and in a very short time the whole force broke and ran for the woods, leaving their forts defenceless. The launch Benicia had dropped astern some two miles on account of a slight mishap, but Schroeder, who was in command, kept on his course, and when the launch reached the fort he was met with a rapid fire, as the soldiers had returned, after the first party had gone past, to which Schroeder responded with vigor, again driving the Coreans to cover. The fleet passed around the bend and anchored, where it was found that three men were hurt, one fatally, and that one of the iron-plates of the Monocacy had started off by grazing a ledge of rocks. This comprised the list of casualties.

At this point a halt was made, and at slack water the expedition started down the river, first shelling the forts over the bluff, and for the third time forcing the Coreans to leave their intrenchments in a panic. Without any further fighting they steamed down the river and joined the squadron. The next day the Palos left for Chefoo with dispatches for Washington and a telegram from the Admiral of 200 words, which will have reached you long ere this. Meantime the squadron waits, and if the Coreans are not belied by Jesuits who resided among them, the Admiral will have not work before his feet tread the streets of the capitol.

The Great Register.

The law contemplates the printing of the Great Register once in four years. There are peculiar reasons why this should be done in Los Angeles county. Every one at all conversant with the facts understands the necessity for it. A thorough and complete revision is necessary, in order that the real voice of the people of this county may find expression at the polls. A former Grand Jury has reported some four hundred fraudulent names upon the pages of the pages of the present register. Can the legal adviser of the county find no method by which these names can be removed? If printed at all, the copy must be in the hands of the printer on or before August 1st. There seems to be an indisposition on the part of the authorities to have the reprinting performed. We are aware that the plea of economy will be urged, but we apprehend that the people of the county will gladly assume the few hundred dollars of expense, in view of the manifest advantages to result. It will assist in obtaining an honest vote, and that is what the people desire.—Los Angeles News, July 8th.

One Year Ago.

This being the 16th day of July, reminds us that exactly one year ago to day we commenced the publication of the Sentinel. It would require more space than we can spare to recount the various changes and improvements that have taken place in Eureka since that (to us) eventful day. Suffice it to say, they have been many and great. Should the same success attend the town another year that has the past, we feel warranted in saying that this will be the best business town in the State.—Eureka Sentinel.

Fatal Accident in Tulare.

The Visalia Delta of July 13th has this:

It is seldom we have to record so sad and sudden a calamity as the one which befel one of our best known citizens on the evening of the Fourth of July. Robert Ray and eight others, including his two sons Willie and Robert L., left their home on Deer creek in the morning. In the evening they camped on White river with a band of sheep, which they were driving to the mountains. The company spread their blankets underneath a large sycamore tree on the south bank, near the road. About 11 o'clock, when all were quietly resting, the tree fell down upon the sleepers, killing Robert Ray instantly and wounding four others, viz: Charles Harper, Herbert Southworth, Pat Cantigan and James Hobbs. The other four escaped unhurt. Willie J. Ray was sleeping on the same blanket with his father at the time of the accident. It is supposed that the tree was thrown down by the shock of an earthquake, the evening being very calm. Ray is to be buried this evening. He was a well-known man, a good citizen, and highly esteemed by all who had the pleasure of his acquaintance. He leaves a wife and five children; would have been 48 years of age on the 14th of the present month.

Electric Telegraphy in 1787.

An old work, "Arthur Young's Travels," published in 1793, has a few words on electric telegraph device which is worthy of passing note in these days of telegraphic progress, and of honor to those whose efforts have made this application of electricity a practical success:—

"In the evening to Mons Lomond, a very ingenious and inventive mechanic. * * * * In electricity he has made a remarkable discovery. You write two or three words on a paper, he takes it with him into a room, and turns a machine inclosed in a cylindrical case, on the top of which is an electrometer, a small, fine pith ball; a wire connects with a similar cylinder and electrometer in a distant apartment, and his wife, by remarking the corresponding motions of the ball, writes down the words they indicate, from which it appears that he has formed an alphabet of motions. As the length of the wire makes no difference in the effect, a correspondence might be carried on at any distance; within and without a besieged town, for instance, or, for a purpose much more worthy and a thousand times more harmless, between two lovers prohibited or prevented from any better connection. Whatever the use may be, the invention is beautiful."

Good Joke on the Judge.

The Los Angeles News, of June 7th, is responsible for the following:

While at San Bernardino holding Court a few days since, Judge Morrison was called upon to administer the oath of citizenship to numerous applicants. Just previous to taking his seat, the Judge had been discussing politics with several friends of the Democratic persuasion. Taking his seat the first applicant for the honors of American citizenship made his appearance to be sworn as in such cases made and provided. The Judge, momentarily absentminded, gravely pronounced the following: "You solemnly swear that you will bear true allgiance to the Constitution of the United States and to the Democratic party so help your God." The roars of laughter recalled the Judge to a sense of the ludicrous situation, and the proper oath was hastily administered.

—Nelaton, the celebrated French surgeon, relates the following anecdote: A wounded Communist was brought to him. After examining the man's injuries, the doctor said to the Communist's wife, who was standing by with a very anxious face: "Oh, this is not very serious. Your husband will be all right again in three months." "Three months!" she cried in despair, "that is terrible; then he cannot be present at the pillage of the city!"

—A tunnel under Boston Bay is projected to connect East Boston with Boston. The expense is estimated at two million dollars, while the ferries, which are free, now cost one hundred thousand dollars a year. The plans have been made with two tubes, each with an inside diameter of twenty-one feet, and to accommodate horse cars, teams, and pedestrians.

—A dyspeptic read that by sending a dollar by mail he would receive a cure for dyspepsia. He sent the money, and received a slip with the following printed on it: "Stop drinking and hoe in the garden." The man was mad at first, then laughed, and finally went to hoeing and stopped drinking, and is now as well as ever.

—A highwayman in the Western wilds asked his victim whether he would prefer to give up his money or life. The reply being that neither was preferred, the gentlemanly but abrupt robber said, "But, my dear sir, you are wandering from the subject," and took both.

—The most remarkable recommendation of a watering place yet offered to the public is that of an enthusiastic admirer of a resort in New York. "At the foot of Ball's Hill," says he, "there is a plot of ground covered with stones, where parties can kill twenty-five rattlesnakes any warm morning."

Gold Mining.

[From The San Francisco Alta, July 9.]

Australia sends to our next Fair a gilded pyramid, representing the annual gold product of one of its great mining districts. It is 3½ base and 2 feet high, representing 7½ millions of dollars.

This suggests a pyramid to represent the twenty-six millions of gold yearly produced in California. There is an impression abroad that gold mining don't pay; and that as to business it is extra hazardous; a species of gambling. The Press of our city has done a great deal to give it this character; perhaps not by direct attack, but incidentally, in writing up the farming and land speculating interests. It is wonderful how generally land speculators and the Press have got the idea that the best way to help speculators in town lots and wild lands is to run down mining as an investment. We are beginning to see the insanity of this. The effect is plainly discernable. We have inflated lots and lands to our own destruction. The revulsion proves that as an investment, they are subject to quite as much risk as they have charged to mining. Now we make bold to say that, if gold mining were as well understood as speculating in lots and lands, it would appear that our best-paying investments are the gold mines; and that prudent men, who look before they leap, and who go into mining with competent capital and reasonable economy, seldom fail to make dividends as regularly as any other business. Indeed, very few industries pay so large returns. Circumstances are not favorable to manufactures. We have double the number of shops that can earn subsistence. Farming is yet to be tried. Ranching is not farming. A city like San Francisco can not be sustained in its present valuations, without increased development of the great specialty we possess on this coast above all the rest of the Union. All the world produces wheat, and, we feel its terrible fluctuations from the weather and capricious markets. These are risks exceeding those of gold mining.

It has come to pass that we have run speculation in the ground, from which it has no inherent power of redemption. We must quit speculation and go to work for awhile. What have we to do that will pay and give employment to keep with us the population that is now nearly half idling around, if we do not go to mining? Ask every man, woman and child what is your greatest desire? The answer is gold! Every tongue proclaims it. Have we gold for all? Assuredly. Then, what hinders us from picking it up? Nothing in the world, but fair showing of what gold is being yearly picked up by those who are mining. How steady is the business can be shown by the steady prodiction. Nothing can give a fair conception of the success of gold mining equal to the exhibition of a column representing $26,000,000 of gold produced, year by year, with the steadiness almost of clock-work. Let men talk it down, as their supposed interest prompts; all talk goes for naught before such a pyramid of solid demonstration. It is a sight that memory never can forget; an argument that needs no enforcement. Let us have a golden pyramid!

"The universal idol, Gold!
In homage each unites:
Without a temple He's adored,
And he has no hypocrites!"

Run on Beecher.

Henry Ward Beecher doesn't believe in turning the other cheek. He says when a fellow smites you, "Hand him one on the bugle."—N. Y. Independent.

Misinformed. Beecher never uses slang. He merely said, "Poultice him on the snoot."—N. Y. Ledger.

Ridiculous! We are informed by parties who ought to know, that the words used by Mr. Beecher, were: "Bust his bazoon."—Ogdensburg Journal.

All wrong, gentlemen: the elegant divine merely used the classical expression, "Swat him on the gob."—Waterton Post.

Lord! his reverence didn't say that! He said, "Give him one on the pastehorn."—Malone Palladium.

No such thing. He said, "Put a shanty over his eyes."—Potsdam Courier and Freeman.

Gentlemen you wrong the reverend divine. He placidly remarked, "Raise a cupalo on his lemon."—Burlington Free Press.

"Our Tom," who was present, understood Mr. Beecher to advise "Putting a French roof over his skylights."—Swanton Journal.

The Independent is correct. Henry Ward simply intimated that you should "Draw the fellow's claret."—Exchange.

No he didn't, either. He only hinted that you might "Lend him one on the mug."—N. J. Mechanic.

All willful misrepresentation. Our devil says his holiness very piously remarked: "Strike B flat on his tuber."—San Joaquin Argus.

Not much! He simply insisted that one should "put a moss-agate under his eye."

Steam Power.

That steam power is practicable on earth roads seems to be pretty thoroughly settled by the fact that 500 steam engines are now in use on highways in Europe.

THE SAN BUENAVENTURA ROUTE.

The business men of San Buenaventura have at last determined to take some steps towards securing a portion of the interior trade, particularly that from this county. Two prominent business men of San Buenaventura, Messrs. Chaffee and Johnson, of the respective firms of Chaffee & M'Keeby and Goodall & Nelson recently came over the route to this place, and from the representation of facts offered by these gentlemen it is evident our bullion shippers and merchants would make a material saving if all their shipments were made through San Buenaventura instead of, as at present, through Los Angeles. This assertion is proven by this statement: The road to San Buenaventura from this section is the same as the Los Angeles route to a point known as the San Francisco ranch; from that point it is a little less than 50 miles to San Buenaventura, the road extending all the way down the Santa Clara river, and over good, hard and almost level ground. From the point of divergence the distance is almost exactly the same to the two shipping points, Los Angeles and San Buenaventura, but in the nature of the ground to be traveled the difference is greatly in favor of San Buenaventura, having none of the heavy mountain travel like that on the other road, besides the saving in tolls. From the San Francisco ranch to Los Angeles it costs each team $7 50 toll for the round trip. On the San Buenaventura road there are no tolls at all.

The principal inducement, however, to bullion shippers, via. San Buenaventura, is in this fact: there is besides the toll on the teamsters a clear saving of railroad and lighter charges, amounting to $5 on each ton of freight. Messrs. Chaffee & M'Keeby will give bonds to shippers to the amount of $1,000,000, if desired, for the fulfilment of this offer; they will receive all bullion consigned to them, from the wagon at San Buenaventura, and deliver to order in San Francisco at a cost not exceeding $4 per ton.

Similar inducements are offered to importers, so that altogether there is certainly a great inducement to shippers to test their offer.

There is a tri-monthly steamer running from San Buenaventura to San Francisco. This steamer is independent of the combination lines, and importers of goods are guaranteed freight at reduced rates. The two lines of steamers now running to San Pedro are likely soon to be merged into one; the Holladay line having sunk about $450,000 since the opposition was put on. That being the case it is quite likely the present state of affairs will soon cease, when freights will very soon go up to $10 per ton.

We should be sorry to withdraw the value of our trade, whatever it may be, from Los Angeles, since the people of that place have always manifested a lively regard for our welfare; but if a transfer is to result in such a material gain as that above alluded, it is clearly our duty to make it. Believing the foregoing statements to be true, we commend their consideration to all interested.

Rochefort's Indictment.

Paris dates to July 19th says the indictment upon which Rochfort is tried contains four counts: 1st. Provocation to hatred among citizens. 2d. Incident to civil war and pillage. 3d. Publication of false news and spurious dispatches counterfeiting public and private writings. 4th. Complicity in murder by instigating the arrest and execution of hostages.

Will not Exchange.

It has been discovered that the National Banks continue to hold their six per cent. bonds, and that they advise their depositors who are holders to keep them. It is said from these banks the most serious impediment comes against the success of the new loan.

Public Lands.

The Secretary of the Interior has decided that a town with less than one hundred inhabitants can enter public lands for a town site under the act of 1867, reversing the decisions of the late Land Commissioner.

Godey's Magazine

For June, is bright and beautiful, as it ever is. Its very appearance will render a parlor cheerful.

Archbishop McCloskey.

These were the words spoken by the Archbishop on the Sunday previous to the Orange parade in New York:

Let those Orangemen alone. Let them severely alone. Let them parade until they are tired. The public sentiment will condemn them. It is ready to do so now if you do not change it. Public opinion is against them; but if you violently interfere with them it will be against you.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

Some fears were entertained of another religious riot, this time in San Francisco. The Italians were to parade Sunday last in celebration of the occupation of Rome by Victor Emanuel. The general feeling among the strongest Catholics, however, was against any interference.

A storm of wind, hail and rain accompanied by very heavy thunder, visited Carson Valley and Virginia City, Nevada, last week.

News from Tucson states that Gen. Crook has taken the field with five companies of cavalry, and fifty picked Mexicans, with five of the best scouts in the Territory. Gen. Crook is personally in command. Lieutenant W. J. Ross is acting Field Quartermaster, and Thomas Moore Master of Transportation.

The Visalia Delta protests against the order removing the troops from the Reservation. A protest against the removal is being numerously signed.

A fatal horse disease prevails in Fresno County.

Marysville was visited by another fire on the 17th instant, which destroyed $100,000 worth of property.

John O'Pie was killed at Parkes's tailing mill, Virginia City, July 14th by being caught in the large driving wheel.

The Methodist Episcopal Church, a large, handsome brick building, costing originally some $75,000, suddenly crashed to the ground on the night of the 16th instant. Some neighboring buildings were damaged, but no lives were lost. The cause of the fall is attributed to defective construction. So says The Gold Hill News.

Two hundred and fifty railroad men were to have arrived in San Francisco last week.

A consolidation of the railroad interests of the State under one management, is said to be in consideration.

A Portland, Oregon, dispatch of July 18th says:

The steamer Owyhee, while on her trip from Celilo to Lewiston, with a cargo of merchandise and passengers, struck a rock at Washtukua Ferry and sunk; no lives were lost. The cargo was mostly saved by the ferry-boat, but the steamer, one of the finest of the company's boats above the Dalles, is probably a total wreck. This undoubtedly closes the navigation of the Upper Columbia this season.

There is more trouble anticipated at Sutter Creek. The Miners' League have resolved that the men who went to work in the mines during the strike should quit. They, on the 31st went to the Keystone mine at that place and forbade the men working there, but these miners refused to quit, and the Leaguers say they will shut the mine if they are not discharged.

An incendiary fire at the town of Truckee, on the night of the 20th, destroyed property valued at $50,000

A water spout broke recently at a point on the Central Pacific Railroad about 18 miles west of Oreana. The track was flooded about a quarter of a mile, and the passenger train was ditched but no one was hurt.

A bugler at Camp McDermit was shot at a target practice on the 25th of June, and through the neglect of a Lieutenant in command he bled to death. The Lieutenant has been put under arrest.

A dreadful catastrophe is reported from Mexico. At the silver mine of Quebrilla, one of the three great mines of the State of Zacatecas, a fire has occurred, by which over one hundred miners lost their lives.

EASTERN NEWS.

The following dispatches relating to the late riots are to July 16th:

Daniel Galvin, proprietor of a drinking saloon in Brooklyn, in a quarrel last night stabbed Michael Campbell dead with a large sheath knife. The quarrel arose from a difference of opinion concerning the riot.

The Board of Police has assured the officers of the Eighty-fourth regiment that the conduct of that regiment during the riot was entirely justifiable and proper under the circumstances. General Varien, commander of the brigade to which the Eighty-fourth regiment belongs, has sent a letter to Lieutenant-Colonel Mitchell of that regiment, stating that the only reason for changing the position of the regiment during the riot on Wednesday, was because of the severity of the first attack on that regiment. General Varien also states that the attack required prompt and immediate repulsion, and if present he would have given orders to fire without hesitation.

The officers of the Ninth regiment last night voted to expel Lieutenant Macklin of Company C, and to take steps to court-martial him for cowardice and conduct unbecoming an officer. They also adopted resolutions complimenting the police for gallant conduct during the riot.

Two German clubs have been organized in Brooklyn since the riot, each member pledging himself that he would vote only for citizens of American birth to hold office.

Edward Jaffney a member of the Ninth regiment, was detained at the Fifth Avenue Hotel on the 12th, by the sickness of his wife. In the evening he was terribly depressed when he learned of the riot, and hearing to-day comments on his absence from the post of danger, he became excited and cut his throat from ear to ear, expiring instantly.

The officers of the Irish Brigade Association held a meeting at the Astor House to-day, and adopted resolutions deploring the events of the 12th, and denouncing as slanderous the insinuations or assertions that the great body of Irish citizens of New York are in any manner responsible for the occurrences. They also declare that they saw no evidence that the trouble was so much that it could not have been suppressed by the civil power, and therefore believe that the employment of the militia and firing upon the people ought to be investigated.

Valuable gold mines have been discovered in Monroe county, Tennessee. Gen. Vaughan calls for 100 hands to work them.

The latest revised tables at the Census office show the following aggregate of populations of all the States and organized Territories: White, 33,581,680; colored, 4,879,323; Indian, 25,733; Japanese, 55; Chinese, 63,196; total, 38,549,987.

Highest Peak of the Pacific.

[From The San Francisco Bulletin.]

For some years Mount Shasta was believed to be the higest peak on the Pacific Coast, if not, in the United States. The California Geological Survey determined its altitude at 14,440 feet. But in 1863, when the survey pushed its explorations to the previously unknown region at the sources of the Kern and King Rivers, in the southern part of the State a peak was found which was proved to be about 15,000 feet high, dominating the most elevated region on the continent, a number of adjoining peaks rising to the hight of 10,000 to 13,000 feet, and several hundred square miles of the country having a general elevation of 8,000 feet—really surpassing the Alps. Clarence King, who was a member of the State Survey, under Prof. Whitney, ascended the highest peak nearly to the summit, and calculated the total hight to be at least 15,000 feet. This great mountain was named after Prof. Whitney. The grand and peculiar character of the country surrounding it is graphically described in Mr. King's late contributions to The Atlantic Monthly, under the title of "Mountaineering in the Sierra." King always intended to make the complete ascent, and attempted it three times. He has latterly been Chief of the Government Survey along the fortieth parallel. His headquarters being temporarily in San Francisco. This season, he started for Mount Whitney again approaching it this time from the eastern, or Nevada side, via Owens Lake, and we learn that on the 22d of June he succeeded in reaching the summit. As the result of this daring feat we shall doubtless soon know the exact elevation. It is probably not under that already mentioned, which is the highest that has ever been reached by a mountain climber in the United States. The three great peaks on this coast are now known to be about as follows: Mt. Whitney, 15,000; Mt. Shasta, 14,440; Mt. Rainer, 14,400. The two first are in California, the third in Washington Territory. Mr. King will probably write up an account of his late trip for The Atlantic, as the conclusion of his series of mountaineering papers, which are to appear finally in book form.—Bulletin

BELMONT DISTRICT.

We take the following from the Eureka Sentinel, the 16th:

From Messrs. C. C. Goodwin and E. P. Raines, who have just returned here from a tour of inspection of the mines in the above named district, which is situated about 115 miles south of here, we glean the following information in regard to the "doings" in that section of our rich mineral belt. The Monitor mine is reported as shipping a very high grade of ore to Austin—one batch of 27 tons lately milled, yielded to the owners $19,000, and they have "a few more left" of the same productiveness. James Dawley is handling the Transylvania mine and mill of ten stamps, and will be ready to crush in a short time—when the repairs are all completed—and will astonish the natives at the quantity of high grade ore that will be put through this mill from the company's mine.

Messrs. Canfield & Co., are running with success their ten stamp mill on high grade ore from their mine.

James Groves & Co., the merchants of the place, are doing a slashing business in their line of trade.

These gentlemen report that the lodes of this district, as a general thing, are looking far better than their most sanguine hopes had led them to believe before interviewing them. The population of the district at present is 250 and is steadily on the increase, and from present appearances Belmont will be quite a lively camp. Judging from the recent developments of several abandoned ledges in time past, this district is bound to resume its place among our many rich ones in Eastern Nevada, and garner its lost prestige as one of the richest.

These gentlemen speak in high terms of praise of the manner in which they were universally treated by all, and especially do they speak of Messrs. W. F. Leon, Robert Mullen, Charles Singletree, Canfield & Co., and as a shaper to the list of names mentioned, Old Grimes, the irrepressible, whose jolly ways and ruby countenance debars no one from his bibulous establishment.

Messrs. Goodwin and Raines will return there shortly, to invest in some of the silver veins that now so quietly slumber in the bosom of the earth, and it only needs to have energetic men to expose them to make them yield up their plentiful richness.

FOREIGN NEWS ITEMS.

London dates to July 15th, say:—

The Times makes the New York riots a text for an article upon the condition of affairs in Ireland, which concludes as follows:

"If Irish feuds are as implacable in America as they are in Ireland, and more sanguinary, Irishmen must ask themselves whether Irish nature is not more responsible for troubles in Ireland than English misrule."

There is a terrible fire among the shipping: thirty barks, half loaded with hemp and corn have been burned, including the American bark Hillers. The fire is now under control.

A proposition is before the Spanish Cortes to send 30,000 troops to Cuba to crush the rebellion.

DIED.

At Cerro Gordo, July 26th, 1871, JOHN A. MALLON, a native of Ireland, aged about 38 years. Mariposa papers please copy.

NEW ADVERTISEMENTS.

CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

HAVING RECEIVED FROM THE HANDS OF the Republican party the unexpected honor of a nomination for Assemblyman of Inyo County, I deem it fair and proper to briefly state my views upon two of the most important questions concerning the future of this County and State. I am decidedly in favor of the enactment of a No-fence law for this county, and if elected, shall work to that end. I am also in favor of a general school law for the State, similar to that proposed in section fifth of the Republican State Platform. I endorse and will sustain to the best of my ability the principles of the Republican party, as set forth in the State Platform, and on these grounds most respectfully ask the support of all citizens favorable thereto.

Murder Will Out.

On the 9th day of July, 1867, three roughs were engaged in drinking and carousing in a place known as Mountain View, Santa Clara county. While thus engaged an old man, whose name we have not ascertained, stepped into the bar-room where those three were, who at once commenced a tirade of abuse against him. After keeping this up for some time, one of the roughs, named Jim Haun, called the old man outside, and almost without speaking a word, presented a pistol at his head and blew his brains out. Haun left at once; the other two were arrested for the murder and after a full investigation were acquitted, it appearing that they were not implicated in the murder itself. It was a most unmitigated, cold-blooded murder. Every effort was made to bring the murderer to justice, and until within a month past, it was generally believed that Haun had got off to Arizona or Mexico. Instead of that, however, the murderer only got as far as our neighboring town of Lone Pine, where for the last few years he has been quietly engaged in blacksmithing, being known as James Wilson. Sheriff R. N. Harris, of Santa Clara, hearing of his whereabouts, at once started over to arrest him, which he succeeded in doing on Monday last. When making the arrest, Mr. Harris led Haun, alias Wilson, to believe that it was on a charge of burglary committed three years since in Sacramento. Haun, knowing that he could easily establish an alibi on that charge submitted to the arrest without any resistance. He was immediately brought to the jail in this place and fitted with a set of irons rivcted on in accordance with the nature of his terrible crime. He remained in profound ignorance of the real cause of his arrest for two days, and when finally addressed by his real name and charged with the murder of the old man, he was for a time completely unnerved. He made no denial of his identity, but gave the details of his escape. After the murder he remained hid away in the neighboring foot hills for over a month, during which time some of his numerous relatives supplied his wants, and furnished him a miner's outfit for leaving the country. He traveled two nights immediately after starting, in which time he reached the San Joaquin river at Firebaugh's ferry, after which he traveled in the day time, coming directly over the Kern or King's river trail to Lone Pine, where he has remained under the assumed name of James Wilson. He has a wife and family in that place at the present time. The marriage of his step-daughter, which took place some three years since, occasioned a great deal of remark from the fact that she was but nine years old at the time. Wilson, since he took up his abode here, has generally conducted himself very well, working on his ranch or in his shop, though rated as something of a desperado, especially when under the influence of liquor. No one anticipated such a desperate charge, although a number of persons knew or strongly suspcioned that he had killed a man before his arrival here. He now says he would not have submitted to the arrest on the real charge had he been aware of it at the time, as he had a pistol in reach at the time and would have used it. He informs us that that is a "put up job" for which several persons in Lone Pine are responsible—notably Charley Begole and C. Mulkey. As before stated Haun has a large number of relatives in Santa Clara, some of whom are quite respectable and wealthy, while others are desperate characters. The brother of this man was instantly killed and his father badly wounded, some years ago, in a desperate assault on a man named Colby, (we believe). The mother took a part in that fight, and it was with the greatest difficulty Colby could get off without killing her. This Jim Haun, previous to the murder of the old man, was considered a desperate character, having been engaged in several drunken broils, though none that resulted in loss of life until he killed the old man, which was done, we are informed, without any provocation whatever, and no shadow of excuse except a drunken frenzy, and desire to maintain his reputation as a desperado; a desire that has very likely to result in the well deserved forfeiture of his own miserable life.

Duncan Campbell.

This gentleman, by action of County Central Committee, has been placed upon the Republican ticket for Representative, vice Bennett, resigned for ineligibility. The candidates for this position on both tickets are representative farmers of our county. The interests of both gentlemen are closely identified with the county, and no matter which may be elected their interests will be fairly represented. Mr. Campbell was beaten by only a few votes in the nominating convention, therefore his appointment by the committee is considered in keeping with the general desire of that body.

Singular Effects of the Earthquake.

We hear that several wells in Lone Pine were totally dried up by reason of the earthquake on the 5th instant. The water in a well belonging to Mr. Van Reed of Lone Pine, suddenly became like milk in color and soon after every drop of water disappeared, the bottom of the well now being perfectly dry. The water in other wells of the place were muddied up and still remain so, though some attribute this effect to other causes then the earthquake. A spring of water situated some five miles from Cerro Gordo became perfectly dry, but after a few days the water appeared as before.

Operations Suspended.

We understand that the Swansea works have suspended operations for the present, owing to some misunderstanding relative to the manner in which the mine was to be worked, from which cause the supply of ore was not sufficient to keep the furnace running. No doubt the suspension is but temporary.

Bullion Shipment.

There were shipped from the Kearsarge mine, July 14, per Wells, Fargo & Co., 5 bars of fine bullion, weighing 616 pounds, and valued at $2,080. From the same mine, July 22d, there were shipped, via. Visalia, 2 bars of fine bullion, weighing 211 pounds, valued at $900.

Married.

We hear of several twoicides being committed recently in different parts of the county. We hereby file our protest against anybody marrying without sending us official notice of the consummation thereof.

The Next Term

Of the County Court will begin September the first. This will be the last and only opportunity to obtain naturalization papers previous to the next general election.

THE TOPOGRAPHICAL EXPEDITION.

One day, during the past week, we paid an editorial visit in force to Lieutenant Lyle's encampment, which is located about a mile above Camp Independence. By the politeness of several gentlemen remaining in camp, particularly Dr. Hoffman and Mr. Klett, we are enabled to report a number of interesting details of their labors.

Dr. Hoffman has a fine collection of beautifully executed flower paintings, drawn from living specimens discovered by him on the route hither. On examination of his collection it would be something of a surprise to nearly all old residents of this sage brush land, from the fact that none but experts would believe so many ever find an existence in these regions. Since the arrival of the detachment here, Dr. Hoffman, who is Naturalist to the expedition, has made some valuable and interesting collections of

BUTTERFLIES

Which appear more abundant than any other class of insects—five or six new species have been discovered; also a rare one, belonging to the family Colias, known as Colias Edwardsii and named after the Edwards of Lepidoptera notoriety. About

TWO THOUSAND BEETLES

Have been captured, exclusive of the eight or nine thousand found in Nevada. Very many are new, and some are extremely rare, the chief ones betonging to the families of Omus, Cicindela, etc.

There is still a great deal of work to be done in Herpetology (reptiles). The

LIZARDS AND SNAKES

Are generally avoided by collectors, but nearly all those found between the Sierra Nevada's and Rocky Mountains and south of the C. P. R. R. are new and undescribed species. The country lying between the places mentioned is of such a character, that a single individual could not make a trip into it; and to get up an expedition for the sole purpose of making collections in Natural History would be next to impossible. This accounts for the many forms of animals and vegetable life without any scientific cognomen. The chief

BOTANICAL SPECIMENS

Found, (beside a few fine flowering plants) are grasses, which are of essential interest to all. The country through which the party passed is nearly destitute of trees and therefore birds are not very abundant. The only places where nests can be found are in the canyons and the cliffs. Birds breeding in such places are nearly all rapacious. The more beautiful species, such as the warblers, finches, etc., are nearly always found in well-watered and wooded districts.

Some magnificent and unique

MINERALOGICAL SPECIMENS

Were found in various regions. Rare crystalizations and compounds which are generally thrown aside by the miners as "quartz."

It was many years before the miners at Cumberland, England, were aware that what they had been throwing aside as "Dry Bones" and "Black Jack" was zinc blende, one of the most valuable compounds of that ore. At Frieberg, and Saxony, all the miners are instructed so as to be able to distinguish all fine specimens, which are sold, and the proceeds given to the wounded and disabled miners. The custom is a good one and would bear imitation in this country.

A view of Mr. Klett's (Topographer and Assistant Surveyor,) elaborate field notes satisfied us on two points, viz: that his office is

SO SINECURE,

And, secondly, that no ordinary amount of cash would induce us to undertake the reduction of those notes to an intelligible form. We feel assured that Mark Twain's celebrated war map is simplicity itself compared to these scientifically executed field notes, and with our thanks to Mr. Klett for his kind endeavers to explain them and the uses of the many fine instruments with which the party is so well supplied, we will notice the proceedings of

THE ASTRONOMERS.

One of the principal features in this exploration is the establishment of Astronomical Points, to surround as near as may be he area traversed by the expedition. This duty is assigned to very able hands we have reason to believe. Mr. Austin, chief astronomer, and Mr. Marvin, assistant, have established an observatory on the parade at Camp Independence, where nightly they pursue those mysterious, not to say wonderful, investigations of the starry firmament. One result of their labors which is tangible to common understandings, will be the exact mathematical determination of our geographical position on the earth's surface. In the view of marking a meridian, a man was sent, mounted on a fractious mule, to plant a pole on the line; the mule objected to carry a man with such a long pole, so it was necessary to leave the latter for a time at some distance from camp, while the rider returned for a wagon to convey it to its destination. During his absence, some man with an eye single to the material fitness of poles independent of science, appropriated this one to his own private uses, so the establishment of that meridian was necessarily delayed.

METEROLOGICAL OBSERVATIONS.

The duty of making these observations devolves upon Mr. Bradley, and may be considered rather onerous, as the readings have to be reported hourly both day and night. Other points of interest connected with the objects of the expedition we will have to forego for the present. As this expedition is somewhat identified with our locality, we subjoin names of the officers and men of science pertaining to it.

PARTY NO. 1.

Now in the field in command of Lieut. Wheeler, chief of expedition; surgeon, A. H. Cochrane; hospital stewart, Frank Hecox; secretary, Fred W. Loring; secretary and clerk, W. D. Wheeler; chief geologist, G. K. Gilbert; meteorologist and assistant geologist, C. A. Ogden; collector, P. Bischoff; chief topographer, P. W. Hamel; assistant topographer, Chas. E. Fellerer; photographer, T. H. O'Sullivan; assistant surveyors, Frank R. Simonton, John Smith and E. M. Smith; chief packer, John Corless; cargadore, Juan Major; packers, Andrew Michell, Abram Job, Oliver Price, Wm. McGeary, Wm. P. French; cook, Wm. Roberts; drivers, Wm. Geo. Salmon and Henry Cocks; blacksmith, P. Monto; cook to officers mess, Geo. Phifer; escort, Sergeant Enoch Proudlove, Corporals John McGill, John Sullivan, and privates Clark, Copley, Drake, Hubert, Lewis, Kerius, King, Shea, Sheets, and West.

PARTY NO. 2,

In charge of Second Lieutenant D. A. Lyle, Second U. S. Artillery; surgeon, Walter J. Hoffman; hospital steward, Theodore V. Brown; collector, John Koebler; astronomer, E. D. Austin; meteorologist, Wm. J. Bradley; chief topographer, Louis Nell; assistant topographer and surveyor, Francis Klett; assistant surveyor and artist, E. M. Richardson; guide Wm. Hohn; chief packer, Mason McCoy; cargodore, David Mears; packers, G. W. Evans, Asa Miles, J. Wilson, B. F. McGerrity, Hubert Cheneworth, and Ira B. Harries; cook, Wm. Jones; cook to officers mess, Hugh Ross; escort, Coporals Wm. W. Allen and James Brown; privates Folsom, Hutchins, Lowry, McDermott, McComb, Reynolds, Minor, Richter, Sanett, Wallager and blacksmith Wm. Lyon.

Republican Central County Committee.

At a meeting of the above named Committee, held pursuant to notice, at the office of P. W. Bennett, in Independence, on the 25th day of July, 1871, at 8 o'clock P. M. Duncan Campbell of Big Pine was unanimously nominated for Member of Assembly, to fill the vacancy occasioned by the withdrawel of Peter Bennett.

J. EARL, Chairman,
P. W. BENNETT, Secretary.

At Benton.

We respectfully direct the attention of our readers to the advertisement of the principal business house of Benton, the proprietor being our well-known friend "Bob" Morrison. Benton is decidedly on the upgrade, and is probably one of the most lively of our inland towns, and Morrison's enterprise is fully up to the requirements. He has plenty of everything, and all goods at the lowest rates for cash, coin money, or will probably take gold notes at par.

Application for Patents.

The Silver Sprout Company publishes notices No. 4 and 5 of application for United States patent to the Silver Sprout and Lamb ledges, which are located in Kearsarge Mountain. The Silver Peak, Kearsarge, Romelia and San Carlos mines will follow next in order. This is a very sensible movement on the part of the companies, and it is to be hoped that mine owners generally will follow suit.

Gen. Ord.

This distinguished officer is now en route to pay an official visit to Camp Independence. Lieut. Haskell with a small detachment started via: the Kern river trail to meet the General at Visalia and to escort him thither. Dr. McMillen, the popular ex-surgeon of this Post is, we understand, in General Ord's staff, and will be here to review the scenes of his past labors.

Sudden Death.

Under the appropriate head will be noticed the announcement of the death of John A. Mallon, of Cerro Gordo, which occurred at 8 o'clock, on the evening of the 26th instant. His disease was pneumonia, surviving but a few days after the first attack. Mallon, was a generous, warm-hearted man, and his untimely end will be mourned by the entire community.

Arrested on a Charge of Insanity.

Sostenas Guerera, a Mexican, was arrested by Under-Sheriff Talcott, and held for examination, set for Wednesday last, on a charge of insanity. No witnesses appearing the prisoner was discharged. It is believed, however, that he will soon have to be again placed in confinement.

John Doe in Trouble.

This well known individual, whose name so often figures in legal transactions, was snatched up the other day and fined $5 and costs by Justice Gunnison, all because he happened to have in his possession a common curry-comb that did not belong to him. Sich is life.

Board of Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors will have their next meeting one week from next Monday, August 7th. The establishment of some new polling precincts and filling vacancies on Election Boards will be the principal business to be considered.

"Excelsior."

Residents of Benton, and the hosts of travelers passing through that place will note the fact that Mr. B. B. Alverson holds forth at the "Excelsior" Saloon, and will dish up and deal out every description of the finest drinkables in a manner satisfactory to the most fastidious.

August the 7th,

Which, if nothing occurs to disarrange the present order of things, will be one week from next Monday, is the last day for enrolling names on the poll lists. Parties unregistered had better attend to it at once if they desire to vote at the next election.

For Santa Clara,

Sheriff Harris, of Santa Clara, started by the Southern route Thursday morning for that place, taking Jim Haun, alias Wilson with him.

Quit Again.

H. C. Morse has disposed of his shop and blacksmithing business to Messrs. Welsh & Stevens, for a comfortable figure.

The Board of Supervisors.

The regular term of the Board of Supervisors will be held at this place on Monday, August 7th.

Arrived.

We learn that John T. Ryan has arrived at the Asylum in Stockton. Poor Johnny will not long survive.

Handsome Obituary.

Every man don't live to read his own obituary—but our cotemporary of The Enterprise has that pleasure. He will no doubt enjoy the following eulogy with more than ordinary zest, as he is rusticating over at Lake Tahoe, reveling among the Muses under tall pines. The San Francisco Alta of Saturday morning contained the following:

It is said a private dispatch was received in this city, last night, announcing the sudden death, at Salt Lake, of Joseph T. Goodman, editor and proprietor of The Territorial Enterprise, Virginia City. In the absence of press dispatches or private dispatches to this office, there is room for hope that the report is incorrect. Mr. Goodman had recently returned from a second visit to Europe, and had gone to Salt Lake, from Virginia City, on a pleasure trip with his personal friends, Mr. Edwin Adams and Mr. John McCullough. If the report prove true, the profession of journalism on this coast will have lost one of its most brilliant lights, and his death will be mourned by a large circle of warm and devoted friends.

It was the death of Henry M. Goodman (of the firm of Daley & Goodman) who was buried in Virginia City on Sunday, and who died at Salt Lake City last Tuesday, which gave rise to the premature obituary of our friend of The Enterprise, who is as handsome and sprightly as ever, and bids fair to live for many years yet.—Gold Hill News.

R. R. for Alpine.

It is rumored in San Francisco that the California Pacific Railroad Company have under consideration a project to build a road over the Sierras, by the Placerville or Big Tree route, and make a junction with the projected Chicago, and Northwestern Railroad at some point near Ogden.

A railroad by either of these routes would pass through Alpine, thus giving us communication east and west such as the immediate prospective importance of our country will require.—Alpine Miner.

A Farmer's Experience.

That the success of farming is in experience.

That to ask a man's advice is not stooping, but often of much benefit.

That to keep a place for everything, and everything in its place saves many a step and is pretty sure to lead to good tools, and to keep them in good order.

That kindness to stock is like good shelter, is a saving of fodder.

That to fight weeds, is to favor grain, and to do justice to your neighbors.

That in making home agreeable, you keep your boys out of the city.

That it is a good thing to keep an eye out on experiments, and note all, both good and bad.

That it is a good thing to grow into farming—uot jump into it.

That it is a good rule to sell your grain when it is ready.

That the first mellow soil in the spring is your mellowest, and should be first put in.

That all farming is summed up in the manure heap on the farm.—Prairie Farmer.

To Keep Milk Sweet.

A tea-spoonful of fine salt or horse-radish, in a pan of milk, will keep it sweet for several days. Milk can be kept a year or more as sweet as when taken from the cow, by the following method:—Procure bottles, which must be perfectly clean, sweet and dry; draw the milk from the cow into the bottles, and, as they are filled, immediately cork them well, and fasten the cork with pack thread or wire. Then spread a little straw in the bottom of a boiler, on which place the bottles, with straw between them, until the boiler contains a sufficient quantity. Fill it up with cold water, heat the water, and as soon as it begins to boil draw the fire and let the whole gradually cool. When quite cold, take out the bottles and pack them in sawdust in hampers and stow them away in the coolest part of the house.—Southern Farmer.

Twiaba.

Abe Sower has this celebrated hair restorative for sale. Its virtues can not be too highly extolled, and bald heads owe the inventor, Dr. Herrick, a debt of everlasting gratitude. We say Dr. Herrick, for his scientific analysis of the compound revealed its wonderful virtues, and induced John Dennis to buy a bottle on his pate. The effect is marvelous, an undergrowth somewhat resembling young white sage is now struggling in a tangled mass on his cranium, and will certainly bloom before fall if an early frost does not nip it. Seriously speaking, the stuff is said to possess virtue, and is cheap.—Reese River Reveille.

Sad News.

Thomas (or "Tad") Lincoln, the youngest child of our late patriot President, and who seemed to be the sunlight and heart hope of his father, when in life, died in Chicago last Saturday, of a suddenly contracted pleuristic complaint, which resulted in dropsy of the heart. This sad news will be received with sorrow by those whose hearts were in true sympathy and regret at the fate of the Nation's murdered President.

Paris.

The city of Paris will issue a loan of 600,000,000 francs, to be expended in reconstructing and restoring the buildings and public places in that city.

—A few weeks ago, Duke Ernest of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, the brother of the late prince-consort, complained, in the presence of Prince Bismarck, that the order of the Iron Cross had been distributed too freely and indiscriminately. "I do not know about that," replied Bismarck; "the order is conferred on two classes of persons: first, to those who have really distinguished themselves during the war; and, second, as a matter of courtesy, to men such as your highness and myself." The duke made no reply.

—Vallandigham killed himself while demonstrating how another killed himself. Last week another man was killed in Ohio while demonstrating with a loaded pistol how Vallandigham killed himself. That it can be done successfully is pretty well established now.—Carson Register.

The Texas Pacific Railway will be 1,515 miles long, and for 250 miles it will be an air line without the least deviation. One stretch of 815 miles will have only six bridges. Its length is 398 miles less than the distance by rail from San Francisco to Omaha.

—A dividend is the surplus, the remainder, the result, the end of a transaction, divided among the shareholders—hence the word divide-ends. An apothecary originally carried his medicine about in jars—he was a pot-carrier—thence the word a-pot-he carries.

—Robert Jackson, a colored individual, native of Denmark, was this morning admitted to citizenship by County Judge Greene. Jackson is the first colored citizen ever manufactured in the county of San Joaquin.—Stockton Republican.

—There are in the United States one hundred and fifty-three monasteries, or religious houses for men leading the monastic life of the Roman Catholic Church, and three hundred and thirty-six convents, or cloisters for women.

—A little boy, who had been making the air melodious with his uproarious crying, was asked what was the matter, to which he replied: "I've got the stomachache, and I'll have it again if I've mind to."

—A horse attracted some attention on Main street, Los Angeles, lately, by drinking a river in the nozzle of a hose pipe.

LEGAL.

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of State and the Treasurer of State, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said State, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the state affixed thereto, and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bonds; such coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notice of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the City of the State; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris, in France, and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in German, in the City of Frankfort on the Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the State; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless sufficient security shall be furnished by the bidders for the compliance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that at said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin, par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of State each to keep a separate record of all Bonds sold under the provisions of this Act, showing the number, date, amount and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury; and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in section seven of this Act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value, but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bonded, which said certificate shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel each bond so exchanged, and shall indorse on such bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued in exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the State treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the state, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering therein the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the expiration of such advertisement, such bonds, unless sooner paid, shall cease to draw interest, but the money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax, on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the state, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the state treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the State treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper, published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper, published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals, at rates not exceeding par value, as may redeem the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less amount than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publications, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication; before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this Act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said interest Fund, if sufficient; and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that the Controller of State shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. This Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for its submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the state for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this State shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act; those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and canvassed, and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Treasurer of State, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast shall be for or against this law as aforesaid, then if it be for this Act, then the same shall have effect as herein before provided, and shall be irrepealable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation thereof; but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have this Act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceding the next general election, for which publication no greater allowance shall be made than the rates allowed by law to the State Printer.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, H. L. NICHOLS, Secretary of State of the State of California, do hereby certify that the annexed is a true, full, and correct copy of Chapter Four hundred and Eighty-four, Statutes of California, Eighteenth Session, approved April 2, 1870, now on file in my office.

Witness my hand and the great seal of the State, at office, in Sacramento, California, the twenty-fifth day of May, A. D. 1871.

SUMMER.

[From Orpheus C. Kerr's "Versatilities."]

The fickle year is in its golden prime;
The world is dreaming in a hazy lustre,
And round the altars of our sunny clime
The blushing roses cluster.

Upon the mountain dwells impassioned light,
And in the valley sleeps a shade depressing,
While fields of wavering wealth enchant the sight
Like gold of God's own blessing.

The ploughman rests beneath the wayside tree,
The stream curls slowly round the hoofs of cattle;
And o'er the meadow floats the droning bee,
Fresh from his flowery battle,

Soft through the southern meshes of the vine
I hear the birds unto each other calling;
And in the casket of the eglantine
The tropic dews are falling.

Far in the distance rolls the sluggish sea,
With not enough of life in all its breathing
To bid the sail from its rude bonds go free,
And spurn its hempen wreathing.

On all there rests a lull and a hush,
The spell of poesy is on the blossom,
And nature's spirit slumbers in a blush,
Caught from high heaven's bosom.

The past and future blend in one sweet sleep,
The world's a dream, and care a hidden murmur,
Whose tears, however sadly he may weep,
Are but the dews of summer.

PIOCHE ITEMS.

[From the Pioche Record, July 23.]

Just about this time there is considerable talk in Pioche of going to Arizona, and not a few are making preparations to strike out at an early day for that far off region, around which so many golden visions hover, and are visible only to the eye of the veteran prospectors who have tramped the entire coast over and over again in search of something equal to that on which Breyfogle was permitted to feast his eyes, in the southern portion of this State, for a few brief hours and then passed forever from his sight—all search for the lost mine afterward proving fruitless. The immediate cause of this movement toward Arizona at present is the presence of Gen. Crook, a noted Indian fighter, in the "Land of the Apaches," and who is making preparations to move against these treacherous savages, and miners now begin to think they can prospect in Arizona with more safety than at any time previous. Sacramento District seems to be the place for which all are shaping their course, with the intention of venturing further after Gen. Crook has cleaned out the Apaches.

Here in Pioche, when it becomes necessary to "mist" in some provisions it is well to go in pairs, to draw up articles of agreement binding yourself to stand by your "running pard" to the last and fight, if necessary, these presumptuous little pests—flies. If a second St. Patrick would rise up and banish the flies his name would be honored until the end of time. In comparison, St. Patrick of old would sink into insignificance. Were the fly pest removed we of Pioche might stand an even chance for Heaven with the rest of mankind, but while they remain our chance will be proportionately slim, for we can never cease to damn.

Mayne Reid and Ned Marshal.

Mayne Reid, the prolific author of wild stories for little and big children, was once a gallant soldier, and distinguished himself in the Mexican war. After the capture of the city of Mexico, he was wont to empty his trunk in adorning his person before calling upon the fair Guadaloupe, and while so doing would stir up his enthusiasm by reciting poetry, much to the wrath and disgust of his brother officers, who had no fine clothes and no loves. One day while dressing he roared out:

"At midnight, in his guarded tent,
The Turk lay dreaming of the hour
When Greece her knees——"

"I say, Reid," interrupted Ned Marshall, "why did she grease her knees?"

"What?"

"You said 'grease her knees.' Now the question that agitates the country is, why did she grease her knees?"

The gay lieutenant gazed for a moment in blank amazement, and said sternly:

"You're a fool."

A duel was the consequence, in which Ned Marshall, with his usual luck, got the worst of it.

Engineering Triumph.

The great engineering work of deepening the Illinois and Michigan canal, so that the water of Lake Michigan may flow through Chicago river, and finally to the Gulf of Mexico, was completed lately, and Dam Summit, the highest point between the two water sheds, removed. The water rushed through with great force, and to-day the horrible stench of the Chicago river, noted as the most terrible in the world, has disappeared, and the blue waters of the lake have replaced its inky current. There is immense rejoicing among the people, as the benefit to the city in a sanitary point of view is incalculable. Many doubts had been expressed as to the final success of this work, which has cost the city over three million of dollars, but now it is believed that it will prove a complete triumph of engineering art.

The Costs of Law.

Two citizens of Medora, Jackson county, Indiana, went to law about five years ago, over a rail fence, the value of which was, probably, $25. The case is now before the Supreme Court for final adjudication, and, up to the present time, the costs amount to $3,000.

—Six miles of the Fresno irrigating canal are completed.

THE IRISH FACTIONS.

[From the Chicago Evening Post, July 13th.]

The calamity that has befallen New York city is the direct result of causes which, in addition to the brutal legislation of England, have made Ireland what she has been for three centuries, and what she will continue to be as long as the demon of faction possesses and infuriates her wretched people. There is no people on earth in which faction thrives as it does there. No motive of self-interest, no desire to regain what the nation once had—autonomy, wealth and civilization—no impulse of love of God or man, can unite her few millions of citizens for any object, good or indifferent. She is a perpetual national suicide.

The parties existing on the island are as numerous as they are devilish in their hatred of one another, and as surely as any new political question arises, one or the other of the existing divisions breaks turbulently into newer sects as hateful of their late brothers as of their oldest foes. It is not easy to classify the parties as they are to-day, and a single wave of popular sentiment to-morrow would unmake any previous classification. There are at least:

1. The Orange faction. It is extremely protestant, no man being admitted whose parents or himself were ever Catholic; its oath includes a declaration of hatred to the Catholic church, and a solemn promise to oppose it under all circumstances. In this country it is denied that the organization has any political significance; but in Ireland it is solidly opposed to any and every attempt for national independence; it glories in the traditions of English victories which reinstated English domination over Ireland, and swears loyalty to the British government. From the constitution of the society, it will be seen that its theology is as exclusive and vindictive as that of any Catholic sect.

2. The Ribbon faction. It exists for the sole purpose of hating and murdering Orangemen; avenging every Irish defeat, and caring more for breaking Protestant heads than for striking a blow for Irish independence. Like the Orange Association, the Ribbonmen are a secret sworn body, originally Catholic, but under the ban of the church both in England, Ireland and the United States. The fact of their having a secret oath is self-excommunication. They are the terror of the law-abiding people of Ireland, who, without distinction of religious faith, look upon them and the Orangemen as savage mastiffs living only for mutual destruction.

3. The Conservative Catholic faction led by Cardinal Paul Cullen. It upholds English government over Ireland because "it exists;" believes in the divine right of kings, excommunicates Fenians, Ribbonmen, and Orangemen alike; is of two extreme classes, the one luxuriously wealthy, the other in squalor, poverty, and abject obedience to all masters, religious and political. This faction is petted and toyed with by the English Government, who recognize it as a substantial footstool for royalty and an enduring support against Irish revolutionism.

4. The liberal Catholic faction, headed by the Archbishop of Tuam. It is irrevocably opposed to the legislative union between the two islands, demands favorable Irish legislation and legislative independence by moderate means; or, after reasonable efforts, revolution; but it keeps Catholicity above nationalism.

5. The national party. Its cornerstone is absolute separation of church and State; the Union of Catholics and Protestants, Orangemen and Ribbonmen, Radicals and Conservatives, Irishmen of all classes, political opinions and religious creeds, for one gigantic effort toward national independence and a republic. However wild and chimerical the aim may be, it is certainly entitled to the most cordial American sympathy; and it will not fail to be noticed by the American people that when O'Donovan Rossa, the recognized representative of this party in the United States, ascended the rostrum last Monday night in New York to make an appeal for peace and order, the Ribbonmen not only hustled him off the stand, but hissed him to his seat. Irishmen of the national party, both Republicans and Democrats, implored Mayor Hall, weeks in advance of this trouble, to interfere by protecting the Orangemen in the exercise of their legal right, and prevent the Irish Catholic demonstration; but the cowardly demagogue either turned a deaf ear to their words, or hid himself that they might not reach him.

In addition to these five factions, Ireland is harrassed by poverty, weighed down by laws and customs, the remnants of penal days; oppressed by an ignorant priesthood, by heartless landlords, by tithes to church and State that draw the life-blood from the peasantry; her politicians in Parliament traitors, her leaders demagogues, her commercial classes toadies to those above them and oppressors of those below. What is to be hoped for such a country?

Un Huevo Grande.

Can any one beat this egg story? Andrew Clemens had a hen that died the other day. The symptoms, during her ailment of a week, were so peculiar that a post mortem was deemed advisable. The verdict was, in plain English, died of an egg. The egg measures 10 inches in circumference one way, and 14 the other. Any one who don't believe the story can see for themselves by calling on Mr. C. We are obliged to Joseph Bath, of the Colonia, for the particulars.—Ventura Signal.

BRIEF HISTORY OF CALIFORNIA.

The starting date in the modern history of California is the year 1542, when Cabrillo, a Spanish explorer, first discovered and landed upon the shore of what is now called California. He named Cape Mendocino after Mendoza, the Viceroy of Mexico. Thirty-seven years later, in 1579, the English navigator, Sir Francis Drake, then Captain Drake, discovered and landed upon the coast at or near the bay still called by his name.

In 1596, Viscaino, a Spaniard, landed at La Paz, in Lower California. In 1602, he made another voyage, in which he entered the harbor of San Diego, and afterwards landed at Monterey.

The first Mission in California was founded by the Spaniards, at San Diego, in 1769.

The Bay of San Francisco was discovered in July, 1769, by Father Junipero Serra, but good authorities claim that the discovery was made by Don Gaspar de Portala, at the head of a small expedition, marching north from San Diego. The first ship entered the Golden Gate in June, 1775. The Presideo or garrison, in what is now San Francisco, was established September 17, 1776. The Mission of San Francisco de Assissex was founded October 9th, 1776, the year of American Independence.

During the Mexican war California was occupied by United States forces. Its naval and military governors were, in order:

Commodore Sloat, Commodore Stockton, John C. Fremont, General Kearney, Colonel Mason and Bennet Riley.

California came into the Unian September 9th, 1850. It became the 31st State—the figures 3, 1, just reversing the figures 1, 3, which expressed the number of original States at the time of the Declaration of Independence.

The first Governor elected by the people was Peter H. Burnett. He was elected November 13th, 1849. His successors have been: McDougal, J. Bigler, J. Neely Johnson, J. Weller, Milton S. Latham, John G. Downey, Leland Stanford, Frederick F. Low and Henry H. Haight, the present incumbent.

Signs Warranted Good.

To take down a gridiron from the nail where it is hanging, with the left hand, is a sign that there is to be a broil in the kitchen.

If a woman cuts her nails once a week it is lucky—for her husband.

To lose a very fine pocket-book, containing a thousand-dollar note, is very unlucky.

If you carry a spade, shovel or hoe through the house in Winter, it is a sign that you want to clear the snow from the front porch; if in Summer, it is a sign that it is nearer to the garden through the house than around it.

To meet a funeral procession at 3 o'clock in the afternoon is a certain sign of death.

To have sixteen warts on the left hand is decidedly unlucky. But to have seventeen on your right hand and one on the end of your nose is a sign that you are very unfortunate.

If a married man, in the presence of his wife, takes a bottle of old rye from the shelf of the pantry with the right hand, it is never-failing sign that she will soon be out of spirits, and that her husband is going to liquor.

Hanging and Haying.

The Gold Hill News, of July 17th has the following amusing incident:

The other night, as the Vigilantes were having a neck-tie-sociable out on the Geiger Grade, in the neighborhood of the new "gallus" strike of the Sierra Nevada mine, a rancher by the name of Andy Brown arrived in the vicinity of the party, with a load of hay—singular as it may seem, but nevertheless true. He and his team were stopped by the pickets of the camp, who presented arms. The man of hay dismounted, and trying to reason the matter with the pickets, whom he mistook for highwaymen, telling them he had done nothing, that he had no money, that he was an orphan, a single man, and that he had a lame horse, etc. He was requested to keep quiet, and to take a walk up the road where the meeting was being held, which he did, leaving his team standing. He came back shortly, terribly frightened, exclaiming as he reached the lead horse of his team, "Oh, my Mary! I want to sell my hay! oh, I want to sell out! I want to go home! Oh, my——!"

A Wonderful Vegetable Product.

There is a species of cactus, which grows in Mexico, and in some parts of Arizona, which may justly be ranked among the wonders of nature, and which is thus described by a late correspondent of the Alta: It rises in the form of a beautiful fluted column, as regularly grooved from top to bottom as if done by the chisel of an artist. The columnar stem or trunk is about three feet in diameter, and keeps its size and symmetrical form to the hight of forty and sometimes fifty feet. The edges of the grooves running perpendicularly from top to bottom of the gigantic plant, are thickly studded with long thorns, hard as steel and as sharp as a cambric needle. Not a limb nor a leaf mars its artistic contour, and were it not for their dark green color and the corona of crimson flowers at their top, one might think them to be the productions of art rather than a natural vegetable growth.

INDIANS IN IDAHO.

By a private letter from Boise City, Idaho, we learn that the Indians in that section are conducting themselves in such a manner as to excite general apprehension that a serious outbreak is in contemplation. They have congregated at Big Camas, sixty miles southeast of Boise City, to the number of six or seven hundred, where, they also have a large band of horses, which they say they intend to take over the Rocky Mountains to trade to the Bannacks for buffalo meat. They say the Bannacks want their horses for breeding purposes, but as only about one-fifth of these are mares, the whites think they are destined for other uses, particularly as they are all saddle horses. They are well supplied with whiskey, and consequently are very saucy and impudent in their relations with the whites.

Settlers have made application to the new Governor to have some action taken for their protection, but as he is just from the "States," he does not know what to do. Prompt action on the part of a Governor fitted for the station, would possibly avert a bloody Indian war, and right here is another evidence of the injustice and bad policy of selecting Territorial officers from the Eastern States, when men better qualified in every particular could be selected from local residents who are fully versed in the needs and requirements of their own section.

THE SOLEDAD ROAD.

The people of Los Angeles as we learn by the Star, are awakening to the necessity of doing something to retain the Kern river and Inyo county trade, so there is a strong probability that the Soledad road will soon be completed. We think something more than the completion of that road will be necessary. If our statements of last week relative to the advantages offered by the San Buenaventura route are true, (and we have no reason to think otherwise), it is obvious that a material reduction in the cost of shipping, via Los Angeles, will have to be made very soon, as well as an improvement on the road itself. A clear saving of from $5 to $7 on each ton of freight will certainly sooner or later determine the question in favor of Ventura, notwithstanding the prestige now held by Los Angeles. That city must look to her laurels.

The Police of New York.

Governor John T. Hoffman has written a letter to Superintendent James J. Kelso, thanking the Metropolitan Police force for their eminently faithful discharge of duty in the riots of July 13th. Gov. Hoffman states that what he saw on the day mentioned satisfied him that, as a body of disciplined, intelligent, dutiful and fearless men, the cause of public order cannot anywhere in the world muster for its defence their superiors. The conduct of the police, he says, reflects great credit on themselves, the Department of Police, the city and the State; and, as Governor of the State, he desires to express his thanks to them and to their Superintendent.

Sale of a Railroad.

The Central Pacific Railroad Company have finally effected the purchase of the California Pacific Railroad, with the boats of the late Steam Navigation Company. The Central Company now own every road in the State, except the Copperopolis and Stockton. Virtually they own the State, and will run it to suit themselves. It is a fearful monopoly.

State Elections.

Kentucky voted last Tuesday; Vermont and California will on the first Tuesday in September; Maine will vote on the second Monday of the same month; Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana and Iowa, on the second Tuesday in October, and New York in November.

Enlarged.

Our neighbor just across the Big Ridge, The Fresno Expositer, comes out greatly enlarged. Glad to see it, and hope the improvement may result as satisfactorily to the editor as it is sure to do to his readers.

Strike at Schell Creek.

We learn that a number of Schell Creek adventurers who recently left here for the new diggings have made a big strike. The ledge assays four quarts to the gallon, in rot-gut whiskey.—W. P. News.

THE EDUCATIONAL QUESTION

The question of compulsory education as advocated in the fifth section of the Republican Platform, is attracting considerable attention throughout the State. The principle is strongly advocated by a majority of the journals of both parties, though there are some who oppose it bitterly. It is not at all probable that any of these journals that argue against this measure do so from any opposition to the cause of education itself, but from what they conceive to be the arbitrary method by which it is proposed to be brought about. All admit the importance, the necessity, of educating the rising generation. Here we have those growing up to whose care and control the future of our country is to be committed; is it not desirable that they should be educated and intelligent freemen; that they be able not only to distinguish between good and bad, between virtue and vice, but to comprehend the principles of Republican government, and give an intelligent support to the institutions of the country. Up to this point, all are agreed, but in applying this principle to the actual condition of the people at large, we find that this desirable state of affairs does not exist. We find a large class of people who are not educated, who, being themselves ignorant, permit their children to grow up in ignorance, leading inevitably to vice. Are these uncared-for children to be permitted to grow up, to be a drawback to the community, instead of striving with the others to promote the progress of the country? Certainly not. It is the duty of the State to see that nothing injurious to the health of the people shall be permitted to exist in the midst of a community; hence, laws are enacted to empower the proper officers to abate all nuisances. The same principle holds good as to the education of the people. The Republic rests on the intelligence of the people; let ignorance generally prevail, and the designing demagogue will soon have control of the reins of government. It is not argued by any that certain schools must be attended; it is not proposed to interfere with the education of any; it is not proposed to adopt a religious system in any school; there is no interference intended with any educational establishment; but simply, where children are neglected, are growing up in idle, vicious habits. It is proposed that the State shall enact a law whereby authority will be invested in some one, to compel the parents or those having charge of these ignorant waifs, to send them to some school a certain length of time every year.

Laws of the kind proposed are already in force in a number of our sister States, and by actual trial, have given perfect satisfaction in every instance. An educational law has been for many years an active principle in Germany, while nothing of the kind has ever found a place on the statutes of France. Note the difference: Factious Communes, red-handed Jacobins, and other promoters of evil to every form of government, find no foothold among the almost universally educated masses of the German states. Yet this general intelligence of the people, the only security against bloody revolution under any form of government, is due solely to laws enforcing education.

The following which we clip from the Los Angeles Star of July 22d, is suggestive:

On Saturday night last, at the Democratic meeting, toward the last of the proceedings, Mr. McFadden, the County Superintendent of Public Schools, a candidate for re-election, was called to the stand, and during his remarks on the subject of education, made this most startling statement, that of the number of children in the county, of the age to attend school, amounting to five thousand, there were three thousand six hundred who did not attend school—who received no education whatever. It is unnecessary to add, that Mr. McFadden is in favor of the adoption of a law to rescue those unfortunate victims of ignorance from their degraded condition. And who would not be? Here is this disgraceful fact brought home to our own doors—no use going abroad any more for instances of the necessity of enforcing education. We have thousands among ourselves to whom the passage of such a law would be a blessing, and we hope those members who may be elected from this county will have sufficient intelligence if not to promote this object, at least not to place any obstruction in the way of extending relief to those three thousand unfortunates. We have been told by those men who seek nominations for the Legislature, that the matter of education should be left to the parents. Will they make such a statement, after the appalling ignorance, the criminal indifference exposed by Mr. McFadden on the part of the parents of this country? We think not—we cannot conceive they will be indifferent to the fate of the rising generation. We are satisfied they will see the importance, the necessity of enacting a law to rescue from ignorance the children of the ignorant and debased. The man who values education at its just importance, the first essential of a human being, will not be slow in adopting any means to compel the attendance of children at some school a given portion of time each year. Opposition to such a course will argue ignorance on the part of its promoters.

We were glad to hear Governor Downey insisting, in his closing remarks at the meeting, on the necessity of compelling the attendance of all children at school, and going even still further, of furnishing the children of the necessitous with clothing, so that they might make a neat appearance at school.

MAIL ROUTE NEEDED.

There is no regularly established mail route between this city and the Owen's River country, notwithstanding the fact that the bullion product of the mines in that region finds its way to market through Los Angeles, and the supplies of various kinds intended for consumption there are forwarded from our depot. Considerable business is thus created, and the consequent need of postal intercommunication is obvious. A route to Havilah for the same manifest reason is desirable. The only route maintained by the post-office department from the several towns in the Kern River and Owens River districts is that connecting them with Visalia, and remotely with the outside world. The want is widely complained of and would doubtless be remedied upon representation of the facts in the case being made to the proper authorities. All citizens of both the towns interested, should unite in petitioning for the additional facilities required. At present there is a weekly private mail over the route, but this, no matter how faithfully conducted, does not meet the wants of the people, and should speedily be succeeded by a regular government contract.

The foregoing is from the Los Angeles News, of July 22d. If any argument is required to show the actual need for a direct mail between Los Angeles and this section, it is shown in the date of the paper from which the above is taken. Papers or letters are rarely, if ever, received here from Los Angeles in less than two weeks time from their dates. Yet, by far, the greatest part of our business with the outside world is with and through Los Angeles. Mr. Robinson runs a private freight and passenger express three times per month between the two places, but this does not answer our needs. Mr. Robinson has the best wishes of this entire community for his success in his endeavors to establish a weekly express, and it would still be more pleasing if he could obtain a mail contract.

We believe there is a mail and passenger coach running semi-occasionally from this place via. Visalia to San Francisco, but that affords no direct communication with Los Angeles and other points south. In furtherance of the suggestion offered by the News, we will say that if any man having enterprise and "get up" enough about him to run a stage line, will circulate a petition for a direct mail, we will guarantee that it will receive enough signatures if that will effect anything.

Indian Murders in Death Valley.

From Harry Newton, in from Troy, we learn indefinitely of an extensive murderous foray, supposed to have been perpetrated by indians. Tom Shaw and party, eight men in all, were working a gold-bearing quartz lead, using arastras for amalgamating. The camp was below Montezuma District, in the upper end of Death Valley. Last Monday, Garrett, of the firm of Garrett & Josselyn, merchants at Hot Creek, brought the news to Troy of the murder of the greater part, if not all, of the Shaw party. Five bodies were found; Shaw and one other missing. It is hoped the two men not found murdered made their escape. Bob Steen, Sheriff of Nye county, started off at once for Belmont, to procure a sufficiently strong party to safely proceed to the ground in search of the murderers, and to dispose of the bodies. The locality of the murders is supposed to be in Nye county. The men must have been killed about ten days ago. Tom Shaw formerly lived in Ione, and is well known by many of our readers.—White Pine News.

Since the foregoing was in type we find the following in The Reese River Reveille of July 26:

The above rumor is undoubtedly false. Mr. Stansbury, who is now in Austin, was at Silver Peak on Monday, 17th instant, at which time Tom Shaw was there to get his mail matter, intending to return to his arastra on the following day, Tuesday, 18th. Moreover there are not eight men in Shaw's party. He has but one partner, and they are the only two white men there. Scott and Black are at work several miles this side of Shaw's place, and these four men comprise the whole of the white population in that section.

An Important Announcement.

Among the dispatches to the Associated Press, we find one of the most important announcement of the day. It is this:

PHILADELPHIA, July 13th.

To-day the first narrow guage passenger engine ever built in America, the "Montezuma," will be shipped from this city to its place of labor beneath the shadows of Pike's Peak.

Think of it—the first narrow guage engine ever built in America! To operate at Pike's Peak—a few years ago, considered a desert. We hope soon to be able to make the announcement that one has been ordered for our own district. Look at the vast fields of mineral lying waste and unoccupied, for the want of facilities for transportation of ore and the necessities of life. Who will give us a coast line, connecting with a line to the rich mines of Kern, Cerro Gordo and Clark District?—Los Angeles Star.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

The Carson City Register and Virginia Enterprise are carrying on a very bitter newspaper war—flinging mud at each other at a terrible rate. The Reno Crescent thinks that if this fight should terminate as did that of the Kilkenny cats, the result would be eminently satisfactory to all true patriots and good citizens. We concur.

Ben. Ellsworth, a teamster, and an old and respected citizen of Carson was shot in the groin, July 25th, in Pine Nut Valley, Douglas county, by a Mexican named Edward Rodriquez. The shot was intended for another Mexican, with whom Rodriquez was disputing about the title to a wood ranch. It is supposed Ellsworth cannot recover.

Details of the plan of the Central Pacific air line from San Francisco to Red Bluff are being made public. It is certain that no time will be lost in the construction of the line and that Oregon and Eastern passengers will be brought through upon it, the Western Pacific track being used only for freight and way travel.

Judge Stanly, in San Francisco, has admitted Chinese testimony in a suit for debt where a white man was party to the suit, appealed from a Justice's court, and rendered a decision in favor of the Chinese defendant therefor.

A reign of terror has again been inaugurated by the Leaguers in Amador county. Numbers of them in masks are prowling around seeking an opportunity to murder persons connected with the Amador mine. One of the Leaguers named Hugh M'Menomy made an attack upon Hatch, book-keeper of the mine. James Bennett, foreman of the mine, shot and killed M'Menomy, and at the same time it is supposed accidentally shot Hatch, who has since died from the injuries received in the melee together with this shot. The National Guard has been ordered ready to march at a moment's notice.

A dispatch from Sutter Creek, dated July 26th, reads: Things are quiet, as far as the late trouble is concerned. A fire has just broke out in the Badger shaft of the Amador mine. Great efforts are being made to extinguish it. Most of the people of this city are present at the mine, and excitement prevails. The shaft is closed and they are running water down into it.

A late number of the Arizona Miner says: The rainy season has now fairly set in, and the entire face of this section of the country is changed for the better. Corn, wheat, vegetables, etc., are growing rapidly.

One day last week, as the few soldiers who carry and escort the mail from Camp Verde to Prescott, once a week, were approaching Brananman's ranch, on their way to Prescott, a large party of Indians were seen running on the hills near the trail, with the view of cutting off and capturing the escort. They were, however, baulked in their scheme by the watchfulness of the soldiers.

"Moreland City," is the name of the city recently mapped out, on the flat below the Tiger Discovery claims, Bradshaw. It was christened after D. Moreland, the discoverer of the Tiger.

Sheep are being imported to Prescott from New Mexico, and flour brought from the same Territory retails for $8 50 per cwt. in currency.

The Record says considerable sickness prevails in Pioche at present. It develops itself in the shape of dysentery of a very weakening and dangerous nature. By many the water from certain localities is supposed to be the cause.

A double track is to be laid by the Central Pacific Railroad Company from Sacramento to Vallejo, and a line built from Davisville to Red Bluff.

Major Bronson, of the First Regiment of the National Guard, late in command of the troops at Sutter Creek, died from the effects of camp fever.

The injunction has been raised, and Von Schmidt's dam at the outlet of Lake Tahoe will now be hastened to completion, with the view of supplying San Francisco with Tahoe water.

A Mrs. Dorr and daughter have been arrested at Truckee charged with setting fire to that town. They gave bail in $1,000 to appear before the Grand Jury.

Within nine months Truckee has suffered three times by destructive fires.

It is generally reported that the opposition steamer, Wm. Tabor, has been bought off the San Diego route, and the old line's fares and freights have advanced already. The Orizaba left July 27th, loaded almost to the guards with passengers at $10 for steerage and $15 for cabin, and freight at old rates.

The transfer of the California Pacific Railroad to the Central Company was to take place the first of this month.

It is said that the female suffragists propose to nominate Mrs. Laura De-Force Gordon as State Senatoress from San Joaquin county.

EASTERN NEWS.

The great Louisville million dollar greenback lottery, started recently under the management of Charles, of San Francisco, late manager of the Mercantile Library Lottery, is not a success. Letters state that no excitement whatever attended the opening, and no considerable number of tickets have been sold up to date. Peters is greatly disappointed with the enterprise.

Shocking Barbarities by Blackfoot Indians.

The Milwaukee News of a recent date gives a most harrowing detail of the sufferings inflicted by Blackfoot Indians upon a French boy, who was captured by them at the St. Cloud massacre in 1864, and made his escape six years after from his captivity, and when the News published its account of his sufferings he had reached Manisloe, Michigan, on the way to find an uncle who lived at Grand Haven. The News says that he was subjected to a rigid cross-examination, but his story was so straight that no doubt was entertained of its truth. The name of this youth is Benillan Wood, and the family consisted of the father, mother, three girls and two boys. When the Indians made their attack they killed all but himself and a sister younger than he was. His father was scalped, his mother and a baby brother were put to death under circumstances of the most horrible cruelty; and two sisters, who had reached womanhood, were nailed by the hands and feet to a wall and scalped. The boy fainted at witnessing the dying agonies of his relatives, and when he returned to consciousness found himself and his sister captives. He was then twelve years old.

The Indians carried them to the western slope of the Rocky Mountains, and on arriving there set a mark upon their prisoners by chopping one of the boy's arms off, and both the girl's ears. The boy was also emasculated.

The unfortunate children were then separated and never saw each other after. He was kept under close surveillance during the whole time of his captivity, and until he learned their language was treated with great cruelty. His principal food while with them was raw meat.

About a year ago he made his escape while the camp was asleep, and having only one arm he was unable to carry a gun to kill game to live on, and had to subsist on such herbs and roots as he could procure in his rambles. The first white settlement he struck was Pike's Peak, where his arm, on which there had been a running sore from the time it was chopped off, was reamputated. From Pike's Peak he made his way by slow stages, and mostly on foot, as few believed his story, and assistance and sympathy were meager. When he reached Manisloe he found friends, who furnished the means necessary to carry him to his journey's end.

The News says the boy is honest and simple, bears the indelible marks of the torture he has endured, and wept while describing the murder of his people. It is the intention to bring the matter to the attention of Senator Ferris, in hopes of procuring Government aid for the recovery of the boy's sister.

An Earthquake Fills a Mine.

The Los Angeles News of the 16th says: On Sunday last a severe shock of earthquake was felt at the Joe Walker mine in Kern county. The mine almost instantly filled with water, compelling the suspension of operations until the necessary engines for pumping out the water can be obtained from San Francisco. For this item and others relating to occurrences in the same part of the country the News is indebted to George Andrews, the enterprising proprietor of the Havilah stage line.

Dunderberg Mine.

The Carson Register says: We learn that our fellow townsmen, Dr. Munckton, the principal owner of the Dunderberg mine, is about making arrangements to place the mine or a portion of it where we can all have a chance at it. He proposes to get up a grand lottery and place some of the shares in the market in the shape of prizes. He will in addition put up as a prize his fine two story brick drug store, situated on Carson street; also, several other valuable buildings and lots in Carson city, and a number of gold coin prizes. The Dunderberg mine is undoubtedly a valuable piece of property, and the object of the Doctor is to raise capital to carry on the work successfully. We have no doubt but the public will take hold of the matter in earnest.

From San Diego.

The Tucson Arizona Citizen has the following, dated July 22d: "Intelligence has been received of an attack by Indians on a beef herd at Camp Bowie on the 20th inst. The Indians were very bold, and came right on the military reserve within gunshot of the parade ground while the herd were drinking at a spring. A butcher, D. McDengal, was killed, also a Mexican. Nearly all the troops are in the mountains, and Gen. Crook's command had gone southward a few days previous, of which the Indians must have been advised. Lieut. Drew, and a few men at the post, with a few laborers, made a gallant fight, and killed and wounded Indians, but at latest accounts had recovered none of the stock. A sergeant wounded, and a couple of horses killed, constitutes the loss on our side. Ira O. Tuttle, known about Oakland and San Francisco, was engaged in the fight and was slightly wounded."

The Way to Do It.

Persons often say that they should be delighted to sing, if they could only remember the words. Amateur vocalists pay but little attention to the words. People with short memories may sing something like the following:

Oh! if I had lumty tum, lumty tum too,
In the land of the olive and fig,
I would sing of the lumti, tum tumti to you,
And play on a thing-a-me-jig.

And if in the tumti tum battle I fall,
A tum-a tum is all that I crave,
Oh! bury me deep in the what you may-call',
And plant thy gumboes over my grave.

Joe Bowers.

The Sheriff of Nye county dispatched a runner to Deep Spring Valley to hunt up Joe Bowers, Chief of the Piutes, with a view of getting him to come to Belmont and go with the Sheriff's party in search of the supposed Shoshone murderers of the Shaw party—some account of which murder will be found in our news columns. After a long search Capt. Joe was found some miles further down the Inyo range, but having a wholesome dread of the Shoshones, declined to go and see them unless accompanied by a strong party of white men. Beyond these meagre details we have nothing to relate concerning the movements of the parties engaged in the search for the bodies of the men alluded to in our extract from the White Pine News, nor the supposed Indian outbreak. There are a large number of renegade Piutes and Shoshones congregated in the Death Valley region, and though no apprehensions of a general Indian war need be felt, yet it is quite probable we may hear of other outrages at their hands upon other small parties over in that section.

Deep Spring Valley.

Messrs Hiskey & Walker are running a tunnel for the Julia Dean ledge, and are now in 160 feet. They have struck a fine stream of water in this tunnel, and in a very few days expect to reach the ledge. This is the first time in that camp, or in fact any of our mines, that water has ever been struck in mining tunnels and is therefore something remarkable. These gentlemen have, at considerable expense, built a reservoir in the stream that supplies power for their mill, but with this aid are enabled to run their machinery but a small portion of the time, so they will soon put in an engine—Mr. Walker having now gone to Silver Peak to obtain one. There is an abundance of good ore there, but until the mill is supplied with a reliable motive power, there are no means of reducing it.

Our School.

The school in this place has now been in operation two weeks; and under the efficient administration of Mr. Hardy, is progressing finely. There are 36 pupils in attendance. We will here say to parents that it is a matter of importance to the entire school that children should be kept regularly in attendance, or kept away entirely. There can be no system in teaching, or satisfactory results to pupils if they are allowed to attend school one day and be absent the next, and though no complaints from this cause have yet been offered, it is well enough for parents to take this matter in consideration in time.

Committed to Jail.

Santiago Cosa, a Mexican, committed an "assault with intent to do great bodily injury" on some one, a few days since, in Cerro Gordo, and he was snaked up before Justice Hannah, (not the Hannah that was sailing,") and sentenced to pay a fine of $80, or be boarded 40 days and 40 nights in the County Jail. Santiago sabes somethings, so he preferred the board and accordingly came down here on a commitment not directed to anybody in particular, but he scorns to take advantage of any such trifling oversights, and though not legally bound to do so, he is always within hearing about "grub time."

A Valuable Book.

Mr. Rowley, of the Postoffice, offers for sale a full and complete history of the late war between Germany and France. This fine work of 740 pages, which is sold by subscription only, is profusely illustrated with portraits of the distinguished actors, maps and battle scenes, and is a valuable addition to any library. Mr. Rowley will also fill orders for books of any kind. See his advertisement.

All a Mistake.

It appears we were wrongly informed as to the cause of the stoppage of the O. L. S. L. Company's furnace. There was no "misunderstanding" as to how the mine was to be worked thereby causing a scarcity of ore. Repairs to the blast furnace were necessary, and hence the stoppage. The furnace will be fired up again by Monday next, if not to-day, and there is ore enough now on hand for a lengthy run.

Sold Out.

We understand that Judge O. L. Matthews has disposed of his fine place near town to Mr. Frank Hutchinson, of Bishop Creek. The Judge, with his family, designs the long and weary pilgrimage, the "plains across" to Kansas, taking with him a large band of horses. We thought the idea of families emigrating to the East was played out long since, but here is proof of our mistake.

See to Him.

We hope people down about Lone Pine, Cerro Gordo, and that country generally, particularly those who have a little cash on hand, will see that our Junior, who is straggling around there, doesn't get into trouble. He is running for no office, it except the office of THE INDEPENDENT, and therefore is worthy of moderately fair treatment, especially from the fair.

To Whom it May Concern.

Certain parties will do well to read, and better still, to heed, the advertisement with the above caption, to be found in this issue. To steal money, horses, etc., is considered somewhat criminal; to steal water under circumstances like that mentioned in this advertisement is no better.

"Ebony" and "Sheep Driver."

P. W. Bennett offers the above named well known horses, together with wagon, harness, etc., for sale, as may be seen by referring to his advertisement. Parties standing in need of a good team of horses for buggy or wagon should take a look at them before purchasing elsewhere.

A Kicking Horse,

That was tied evening before last, near Mr. Dow's dwelling in this place, exercised his heels upon the side of the house to such an extent as to knock in about four feet square of it, and greatly frightened two ladies who were inside.

Very Good.

Toward the close of the last run of the O. L. S. L. Company's works, there were several tons of bullion run worth $700 per ton, while the average is from $250 to $280 per ton. If the "blowers" up at the boasted Eureka mines can beat this we would like to know it.

Attention, No. 1's.

The regular monthly meeting of Independence Engine Co. No. 1 will take place next Monday evening. It is to be hoped every member will attend, as there are matters of importance to be considered.

The Cause of it.

Any improvement (?) typographical or otherwise, observable in this issue, may be attributed to the total absence, (not abstinence) of the boss printer, likewise the devil, both of whom have "ganged awa."

Board of Supervisors.

The Board of Supervisors meet Monday next, when, in addition to other business, there may be a vacancy to fill in an important county office.

Personal.

James Brady, Superintendent of the O. L. S. L. Co., arrived by the last stage from an extended visit to San Francisco and the East.

Bullion Shipment.

Four bars of bullion were shipped from the mill of Messrs. Hiskey & Walker, Deep Spring; two, each on the 8th and 31st of July, the whole weighing 464 ounces, valued at $335.

Committee Meeting.

Members of the Democratic Central Committee will please note the call for a meeting to be found in our advertising columns

For Supervisor.

The Democratic County Central Committee have placed A. N. Bell, Esq., in nomination for Supervisor of this district, against J. N. Rose, the Republican candidate.

Street Improvements.

Our Roadmaster has for some days been engaged grading down the banks at the creek crossing on Edwards street, and other similar needed street improvements.

The Cerro Gordo Furnaces.

Belshaw's furnace is running continuously; Beaudry's has just shut down for repairs. At these two furnaces there are now 7,000 bars of bullion on hand awaiting transportation.

CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

HAVING RECEIVED FROM THE HANDS OF the Republican party the unexpected honor of a nomination for Assemblyman of Inyo County, I deem it fair and proper to briefly state my views upon two of the most important questions concerning the future of this County and State. I am decidedly in favor of the enactment of a No-fence law for this county, and if elected, shall work to that end. I am also in favor of a general school law for the State, similar to that proposed in section fifth of the Republican state Platform. I endorse and will sustain to the best of my ability the principles of the Republican party, as set forth in the State Platform, and on these grounds most respectfully ask the support of all citizens favorable thereto.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, August 5.....1871

—An amusing incident took place, the other day, at a trial. The counsel had just arisen to state the case for the plaintiff, and had get no farther than: "May it please your honor and gentlemen—," when he was rudely interrupted by a small juror, whose head was just visible above the box, with; "Cut it short!" To him straightway the barrister turned; "Sir, I will cut it almost as short as you are!" He was not interrupted any more by the little juror.

—They have had an Indian raid up at South Pass. One hundred and fifty Sioux came within one hundred yards of the hospital at Camp Brown and got away with five horses. Red Cloud is said to be on the war path again. The commanding officer at Fort Laramie telegraphs to General King at Cheyenne that Red Cloud says "he will not give a d—n for the flour, coffee, sugar, etc., but says he will fight and drive away all the white persons from his grounds."

—A lecturer undertook to explain to a village audience the word phenomenon. "Maybe you don't know what a phenomenon is. Well, I'll tell you. You have seen a cow, no doubt. Well, a cow is not a phenomenon. You have seen an apple tree. Well, an apple tree is not a phenomenon. But when you see the cow go up the tree tail foremost to pick the apples, it is a phenomenon."

—A Sunday school teacher was giving her class a lesson on Ruth. She wanted to show the kindness of Boaz in commanding the reapers to drop their bundles of wheat.

"Now, dear children, Boaz did another nice thing for Ruth. Tell me what it was."

"Married her," replied one of the boys.

—A temperance lecturer at Detroit, Mich., posted bills all over town with big letters, "Muzzle that dog." The people thought it meant business, and came from the Chief of Police, so they muzzled their dogs before night. The dogs didn't know what to make of it until they saw the bills around.

—"Is your father at home?" inquired a man of the little girl who admitted him.

"Is your name Bill?"

"Some people call me so," he replied.

"Then he's not at home, for I heard him tell John if any bill came, to say he is not at home."

—A burglar who attempted to enter a house in Germantown, Pa., through a window, startled a little girl who was sleeping in the room. Half awake she exclaimed, "Don't touch that candy!" and the burglar fled.

—A man has just been hauled out of the swamps in North Carolina, who went there to avoid the draft in 1864, and until he was discovered, did not know the war was over.

—"People," says a modern philosopher, "go according to their brains; if these lie in their head, they study; if in their belly, they eat; if in their heels, they dance."

—Why is your older brother like a field of grass? Because he's past your age (pasturage).

—In very hot weather you may be as disagreeable and disobliging to your friends as you please. If a coolness arises so much the better.

—A Connecticut man ardently wants to "represint the michandick and laboring men in the state assemble irrespectiv of pollytics, relijion or eddicashun."

—Florida feeds her prisoners on ham and eggs, and everybody is trying to get into jail.

—Humboldt county has been favored with seventeen earthquakes during the present year.

A Minnesota juror addressed a note to the judge, in which he styled him as "Onerable Jug."

—"Poast no bils" is the last bad spell.

Attention Farmers

One of our most successful gardeners informs us that the terrible pest, the "cabbage louse," can be prevented from doing damage to garden stuff by following his directions: Boil the leaves and stalk of the elderberry bush, and sprinkle your plants with the water. Commence early, before the lice get a start, and don't be fearful of getting on too much. It is well known that the lice will not touch this bush, there being something about it particularly offensive to them, and as it does not injure the plants in the least, it is well worth the trial.—Plumas Nat.

LEGAL.

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of State and the Treasurer of State, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said State, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said Bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bond; said coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notices of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the Capital of the state; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris, in France, and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in German, in the City of Frankfort-on-the-Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the state; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless sufficient security shall be furnished by the bidders for the compliance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin, par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of State each to keep a separate record of all bonds sold under the provisions of this Act, showing the number, date, amount and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury; and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in section seven of this Act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value, but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bonded, which said certificate shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel each bond so exchanged, and shall indorse on each bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued in exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the State treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the State, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering thereon the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the expiration of such advertisement, such bonds, unless sooner paid, shall cease to draw interest, but the money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the State, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the State treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper, published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper, published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals, at rates not exceeding par value, as may redeem the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less amount than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publications, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication; before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this Act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said interest Fund, if sufficient; and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that; the Controller of State shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. This Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for its submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the State for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this State shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act; those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same, shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and cancelled, and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Treasurer of State, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast are for or against this law, as aforesaid, are in favor of this Act, then the same shall have effect as hereinbefore provided, and shall be irrepealable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation hereof, but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have this Act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceeding the next general election, for which publication no greater allowance shall be made than the rates allowed by law to the State Printer.

A COMPLAINING HUSBAND.

BY FRANK CLIVE.

Say, Squire, I've quit on Susan and I want a bill to show
That she hain't got no claim on me, but's got to hoe her row—
And 'twixt us, Squire, she jest can hoe it like any other man,
For she is keen to hatch, and gritty to carry out a plan.
Ye see, she's a woman-righter and thinks her sex ain't free,
And to vent her spite agin the law, she makes it hot for me.
I call it rough, but Susan seems to think it's strictly just,
Because the law's agin her, to make me git up and dust!
We didn't hitch well from the start, for I was on the trade,
And swopped a cow for three hound pups, the peartest ever made.
The cow her father gin her—but a man's wife things is his:—
Wal, from that day, agin my trades she's had a prejudice!

She scolded when I traded off ten South-Downs for a gun—
We missed the wool and mutton, but a man must have some fun—
And when I swopped her chickens for a patent milking-stool
She snarled, "What good's a milking-stool without a cow, ye fool?"
I've allus had a hankerin' for labor savin' tools,
But Suke says patent-rights is only traps for ketchin' fools;
The woman is that contrary she's allus been disgusted
Sence my patent steam egg hatcher knocked her over when it bursted!

Ye see till we was married, I wasn't wuth a red,
But, turning Susan's things, I got a heap of stuff ahead—
Dogs, guns, steel-traps and patent-rights of things that's labor savin'—
But every strike I made was sure to set that woman ravin'!

She twitted me of fooling off her property for trash,
And tried to shet down on it. Now wasn't that rather brash?
I told her I was boss, according to the law's idea,
She grabbed the tater-masher and forthwithly went for me!
We had a little interval of explanation then,
In which she vowed she wouldn't stand the tyranny of men!
I told her I could stand some tater-smasher or abuse,
But if she tried to henpeck me, I'd raise the very deuce!

"I'm too much of a man," sez I, "for you to snooze around,
And in this roost I weigh jist sixteen O Z to the pound!"
Ye see this scar behind my ear! Wal, when I spoke of it
She flung my patent mop-stick, and that there's the mark it left.

She took to running after these here woman suffrage critters,
Which so disgusted me I took to runnin' after bitters:
I'm satisfied she don't respect her husband as she ought to;
Which comes of the condituned rebellious notions they have taught her!

For femi'ine equality she says she's an aspirant,
And vows she "will not change her vote for no mom's le tyrant!"—
That's me, ye know—yet there's one chore she likes to do for me,
She dusts my jacket and cleans me out with pesky energy!

I'm peaceably inclined myself, but Suke is quarrelsome,
You don't hear no complaint from me if we don't have a crumb
For three days on a stretch; but Susan she'll git no an! care
About such little things as that, enough to raise yer hair!

I like a lively woman, but Suke carries things too far!
I s'pose she'll be disgusted when she finds I've quit on her
But I'm a man of spirit and won't be licked, you see,
Day after day, without one break for death or victory!"

LATER.

Squire, never mind the paper; Suke has advertised, for spite,
That she won't pay no debts for me! That's where she's got me tight!
For I'm dead broke. She says I must light out. 'Twixt you and me
She's got me in one of these things they call a "quandary."

The California Labor Exchange.

In a late report, the Secretary of this institution makes this statement:

The necessity of the existence of our Labor Exchange has never been more apparent than at present, and we leave the public to judge of the truth of this statement from the facts which we herewith submit. By comparing the orders enumerated above with those engaged, it will be seen that the cry of no work is utterly without foundation, my orders being in excess of places filled by several hundred. The truth seems to be that most applicants do not want work but in picked places. In Mendocino county there is a great demand for laborers in the woods and saw-mills, and 500 persons can be supplied there with situations at $30 per month and found. Our mines, also, are in constant need of men; for example, an order from a quicksilver mine in Lake county for twenty-five men at $40 per month and found, having remained eight days, and is still unfilled. Kern and other lower counties can employ a thousand persons in their grain-fields and grazing lands; but the majority of applicants, unwilling to leave the city, prefer idleness here, and lament to uninformed sympathizers that they cannot obtain employment. In proof of this it can be shown daily at the Exchange that places as laborers at $20 per month and found, or as potato-diggers at $25 per month, are scornfully rejected. The plea that they have no money to carry them into the country is an open but plausible sophism; a month's work in our sand-hills will supply them with ample means for that purpose. In effect, this false cry of no work from a few city idlers, is preventing immigration of laborers from other States, as an extensive correspondence with the Eastern and Western States fully proves that a strong inclination toward our shores exists, but is repressed by misrepresentations. The expenses of the institution during the past month have been $474 60.

Crime in Arizona.

According to the following, which we find in the Arizona Miner, of July 15th, it would seem that the demon of crime was turned loose in Arizona:

A letter from Florence under date of July 6th, brings us an account of the death, by violence, of Thos. Ewing, which happened on the 25th ult. It appears that deceased, while in a state of intoxication, had gone to the residence of Col. Ruggles for the purpose of raising a difficulty either with that gentleman or his employee, a boy named Throag. Declaring his purpose in forcible and boisterous terms, as he approached the house, he was met just outside the door by Throag, (armed with a shot gun,) and by him ordered to leave the premises. Paying no attention to this command he became more abusive, and, evidently, determined to force his way, attempted to draw his pistol from the scabbard. He had no sooner placed his hand upon this weapon than Throag fired, killing him instantly.

The next case took place in Prescott: A sergeant from Fort Whipple came near shooting a man, with whom he exchanged a few words, on the plaza, on Monday. The sergeant maintains that the deringer which he happened to hold in his hand, at the time, was discharged by a mere accident, and that it was not drawn on any one. This may seem improbable, but from anything we can learn it is the truth in the matter.

On the 7th inst. a difficulty arose between two men, at Bradshaw, named Fine and McClusky, which resulted in the latter being stunned and disabled from the effect of repeated blows on the head by a heavy revolver in the hands of the former. McClusky will, however, recover from the effects of his injuries.

The fourth and last case happened at Fort Whipple, on Saturday last, and is by far the most tragic and deplorable. The parties in this were Jessie A. Hawkins, firm of Kelly & Hawkins, Government contractors, and Joseph Mally, one of his herders. The nature of the difficulty seems to be that Mally maintained he had sold certain cattle to Hawkins—setting their value at $1,500, and that he had never received anything in payment although he had frequently demanded a settlement. On the other hand, Hawkins denied ever having purchased any cattle from Mally, and, when the latter asked for a settlement, proffered to pay him wages as herder, in which capacity he was, in the meantime, serving. This he refused to accept, stating, at the same time, that he would have a fair settlement or no settlement at all. So the matter stood until Saturday morning last, as Hawkins was preparing to return to the Little Colorado for the balance of his herd, when Mally again called and demanded a settlement. But few words were exchanged before Hawkins insinuated that he might "shoot for a settlement," and at the same time pulled his pistol and fired. This shot inflicted a fatal wound; yet Mally lived long enough to draw his pistol and fire two shots, but fell dead as the fifth shot fired by Hawkins took effect in his heart. One of Mally's bullets traversed Hawkins' breast and passed through his right lung, lodging at his back. He was taken to the hospital at Fort Whipple where he lingered until Tuesday morning, when death carried him off—the victim of his own rashness.

Of Mally it is said, he was an exceedingly dangerous man, who had done his utmost to stir up strife and dissension between Hawkins and his herders. Little is known of him here except that he had resided in New Mexico.

Hawkins was, we have been told, a native of Missouri, and likewise a dangerous man. He has a brother living in one of the Northern Territories. It is said that his wife accompanied him to this Territory and is now at one of the military posts. Before dying he made a will, conveying considerable money and property to both his wife and brother.

Depreciated Gold Coin.

The report of the Assayer of the United States Mint contains some interesting information in regard to the various methods of counterfeiting gold coin, or abstracting from them a part of their value. In one lot of $1,000 there were thirty-four double eagles. Two of these had been burned or blistered, but as they were very slightly under weight the object of roasting has not been discovered. The other pieces were all from 10 to 20 grains light—that is, reduced from 40 to 80 cents in value. One was filled smoothly nearly all around the outer edge, but all the others retained the "milling" which had been restored after the filling. In this way fifty cents' worth of gold was taken from each without sensibly diminishing its diameter. In one or two cases, where from 22½ to 58½ grains had been taken away, the eye would detect the loss. One piece was reduced by the use of acid. This treatment makes the surface rough, so that it is easily detected. In the same lot there were ten eagles which had been filed, and two treated with acid, the latter being quite spoiled. A number of counterfeits were found in the same lot. The best piece was light only 2½ grains, but some of its lettering was very bad. This piece contained about 69 per cent. pure gold, the genuine coin containing 99 per cent. Some of the poorer pieces contain only about 50 per cent. Another lot of coins had been split and filled with platinum. The best method of detecting filled or counterfeit pieces is by finding their specific gravity by weighing in water.

A Leaf from three Lives.

[From the Eureka Sentinel.]

In a camp a few miles from here, last week, there occurred a very strange and unexpected meeting. Among the early settlers of San Francisco were two brothers of the name of Thompson. Both were young and it was resolved that they should become rich, and the better to accomplish this one of them was to go to the mines, and the other was to remain at the city of San Francisco, and trust to the chances of gathering gold pieces. It was decided by an arrangement common to the country that the elder should go, but in the meantime he had fallen in love with a young woman who had left an Eastern State to try her fortunes on the Pacific. The marriage was consummated, and in a few weeks the great mines in the north were opened, and with many good wishes the husband and brother started for the scene of the excitement. He reached the mines, and had varied fortune, but was not satisfied. He went to the Indian country, and in the camps of the red men he was miner, hunter and trapper. Still going to the north, he reached the Frazer river excitement at its best, and made 200 pounds of gold dust, which he expressed to his wife and brother at San Francisco. He still delved on, and in sluices, banks and rivers he pushed his fortunes. He did not learn anything from his brother after he sent the money. He wrote frequent, but could not receive a reply. He finally wrote a friend, and was informed that his wife and brother had left and that they could not be found. Broken-hearted and dispirited, he joined an expedition to the Great Slave Lake, and for three years he was entirely beyond the reach of mails and letters. On his return to Victoria, there was an expedition fitting out for Idaho, and he joined it. He was blest with the usual luck of miners, and went from Idaho to Montana, where he remained until 1866, when he went to Salt Lake City and remained there two years. White Pine then became the excitement, and he was among the early prospectors of that district. There he was one of the few who had small pox and recovered from it. His features were not improved by a two years residence, and he looked for a new place. He found that there was no smile for him that would come in coin. He was dispirited, and was calculating to go with the first company he could find going to Arizona. His existence was given to excitement and an effort to forget. A party was made up to go, and in the outfit was a man of the same name. A little inquiry and the stranger was found to be the brother he had left in San Francisco in 1851. And, the wife, she had been at the beautiful valley ranch she had purchased with the money he had sent to her. The brother had been for fifteen years prospecting and looking for the elder one, of whom for 20 years one of them could find no words equal to his hate. She had been doing her duty, and as a discreet widow, had become rich in this world's goods. Ere this there has been a meeting. The decline of life will be passed in ease and comfort by one who had supposed that the perfidy of woman had been his ruin. She has been the true woman, and while he has been wasting his time she has been accumulating wealth for him.

The Anxious Passenger.

One of the best known politicians of Brooklyn, noted for his waggery (i. e., the politican, not the city,) stopped the conductor of an Albany-bound train on which he was journeying last Winter, and asked innocently if the next station was Poughkeepsie. "No," said the conductor. On his next fare-collecting round the conductor was again asked if the train was nearing Poughkeepsie; to which he again replied negatively. Again and again, as the official made his rounds, the same question was asked by the anxious passenger, until at last the man of checks replied, with some little irritation in his tone:

"No, sir; we are not yet near your stopping-place. Pray, trust to me, and I will let you know when we shall get there."

The passenger thereupon relapsed into silence, and the official, engrossed with other duties, forgot his case until the train had left Poughkeepsie about half a mile to the rear, when, recollecting himself, he hastily backed the cars to the station, and running up to the troublesome passenger, cried out:

"This is Poughkeepsie. Hurry up and get off. We are behind time."

"Oh, thank you," deliberately drawled the quondam questioner; "but I'm going through. My daughter cautioned me particularly to take a pill at Poughkeepsie. That's all."

The pill was taken—and so was the joke—by the passengers.

In favor of Hanging.

The trial of one Herbert F. Nourse, recently, indicted for the murder of Wm. Park in Laramie county, Wyoming, resulted in a verdict of murder in the first degree. Part of the jury were women. Some of the counsel are said to be in favor of making this a test case to decide as to the legality of a verdict found by a jury of which a part are women.

"Suicides."

The following is from the Wyoming Tribune, of July 22:

"A few days since, three men, supposed to have been guilty of stealing ropes with horses attached, were ornamenting a telegraph pole near Wahsatch station. It is supposed that they committed suicide."

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY,

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER

JAS. E. PARKER, | P. A. CHALFANT

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.;

Saturday, August 12,..... 1871.

WILSON, alias JIM HAUN.

Sheriff Harris, of Santa Clara county, who left here three weeks since with Jim Wilson alias Haun, arrived safely in San Jose, August 1st, with his prisoner. There is a report current here that Wilson made his escape, but from the foregoing and other particulars which we find in the San Jose Patriot, it is quite certain that he was safely lodged in jail, in Jan Jose, first, where he is apt to remain until wanted elsewhere.

Mr. Harris pronounces our "log-cabin jail" anything else but a bastile, and with reason, since it would require but little assistance from friends outside to cut out in an hour's time.

As we learn by The Patriot, the name of the old man, whom Haun murdered, was Thomas Walker, and the date of the killing was June 23d, 1867. Haun and his two accessories, Jones and Craig, being indicted on the 9th of July following.

The Patriot gives the following particulars:

Haun says that he remained in this county, from the time of the affray, until the 11th of July, two days after he was indicted by the Grand Jury, of which Orrin Dubois was foreman. He says he was constantly armed with two revolvers; that, during the search of the officers and the posse, the then sheriff Adams passed once within twenty feet of his hiding place; but that he (Haun) took good care not to invite that relic of the officer to "come and see him." He says he would never have been taken alive, however if discovered at that or any other time, knowing that they were after him on the old charge. On the way down from the Lone Pine country, and all along the route, he amused himself by pointing out to Mr. Haun his old hiding places.

Haun has many relatives in this county, some of whom live at Santa Cruz. He says he had been in Lone Pine four years and four days when arrested. He says there were others engaged in the shooting of Walker more guilty than himself. Haun is a man of about thirty-five years of age, and wears a heavy beard and mustache, and certainly does not look like the desperado he is said to be. Sheriff Harris has been absent on this trip two weeks, and has traveled a thousand miles by stage.

THE BOARD OF SUPERVISORS.

The Board of Supervisors transacted an unusal amount of business at its last session, and, however objectionable it may be to individuals, their economical system of conducting business for the county will receive general endorsement. The highest complement we can accord any public officer is to say that he does business for the public as he would for himself. We believe that this rule has been, and will be, the guiding principle of this board, and as that is the case, they will be sustained though there is an apparent niggardliness in certain of their acts. Exceptions have been taken because certain bills were not allowed. The Board, on some of these bills at least, could do no different because the limit of their powers was clearly defined by law, leaving no discretion beyond what was exercised. Except for this restriction these bills would and should have been allowed. We shall defer any specific allusions to another time, but will say here that when an officer of the county in pursuance of his duty is obliged to expend more money for necessary expenses than the law allows for the service, there is a manifest injustice if he is not reimbursed, but this injustice is chargeable to the law alone. There is scarcely an officer in the county that is sufficiently paid for his services. The duties of some of them are arduous and yearly becoming more so, and in fairness their salaries should be increased somewhat. This is a matter for Legislative action, and if anything is to be done about it, the next session is the time to do it.

That Boy must take a Back Seat.

For years we believed that the young man who killed his father and mother, and appealed to the court for mercy, on the ground that he was a poor orphan! was at the height of the profession in that direction; but, an actual occurrence a few days since is just a little better. A woman had been tried for killing her husband, and had been declared "not guilty." She was shaking hands with her friends and approached the clerk's desk, on which lay the pistol with which she had shot him, and asked the Judge if she could have it. It was assented to, when she remarked, "this is the only thing which I have to remember my poor, dear husband by." Could feeling go further, after acknowledging that she shot him?—Eureka Sentinel.

COUNTY FINANCES.

It will be seen by reference to the County Treasurer's report that our County debt shows an increase over the amount shown in the last (December) report. But notwithstanding this showing, it will be seen on examination that our County finances are in a very healthy condition. The draft upon the General Fund during the last six months has been unusually heavy, due mainly to the numerous expensive criminal arrests and trials that have occurred. The apportionment of monies to this fund will scarcely meet the requirements, even with no extraordinary demands upon it, but in the aggregate, the end of the present year will show a reduction of not less than 20 per cent. of the whole debt. This year's taxes will amount in round numbers to about $20,000, of this sum $16,000 belongs to the County. Allowing a reasonable margin for contingent expenses, at least $7,000 of this sum can be applied to the reduction of the County debt. To be added to the above we will have the tax, not yet counted, upon some $50,000 of taxable property that will appear on the supplemental list; also, a possible increase on that already returned, by act of the Board of Equalization; also, the revenue from all licenses, (with a partial exception on one or two classes,) which, in the aggregate, will perhaps raise our available means above current expenses to something over $10,000, or 28 per cent. of the present indebtedness.

Should the next assessment skow as much of an increase on taxable property as the present one did over the last, our County will soon be clear of debt. On a fair taxable valuation we are satisfied the assessment roll next year will go above $1,000,000, even should the ratio of increase of taxable property, manifest in the last year, not be kept up. Prospects are quite favorable for even a greater increase, so that with due economy in the administration of County affairs, our debt will certainly be wiped out inside of three years, if not in two.

THE McGARRAHAN AND NEW IDRIA CLAIMS.

We see that the cases known as the McGarrahan claim, and the New Idria claim, have been finally decided by the Department of the Interior in Washington. For many years these cases have been dragging their weary length along, and now have been adjudged as belonging to the United States. How much of money, of labor, and anxiety has been expended upon these two claims, none may ever know. For years the claimants have haunted Congress, and even invaded the sanctity of the White House, in their endeavors to gain their ends. It reminds one of the unyielding and pertinacious Miss Flite, of whom Charles Dickens writes in his Bleak House—who for so many years haunted the Court of Chancery in the famous case of Jarndyce vs. Jarndyce, and perhaps they may become, through so much mental anxiety, as hopelessly insane as she was represented to be. How intricate are the ways of law, and how few live to accomplish the end long'd for through its various meshes, which, at times, holds them up with delusive hopes, and then casts them into the deepest despair. Many millions of money depended upon the decision of the Department, and fortunes were spent in order to gain these cases—and now the telegraph informs us that the decision discards all rights of both McGarrahan and the New Idria claims, and allows them no greater rights than any other citizen of the United States.

Thus ends one of the most important and severely contested claims ever presented to the Government; and, by the disposal made of the lands, hundreds of persons claiming under and by the adverse parties, will be placed in an embarrassing position, and the loss to individual parties must be immense.

To be Voted upon.

Besides the candidates to be voted for this fall, an amendment to the State Constitution will be submitted, providing that the Legislature shall have no power to appropriate funds for a period beyond the next regular meeting of that body. Also the proposition to refund the State debt, as will be seen by the Act published on our fourth page.

A New Sanitarium.

A new "health-restorer" has just been discovered in an unlooked-for place. Hereafter, invalids, instead of going to the Hot Springs, will go to Eureka and hire out to the Eureka Consolidated Company in the capacity of smelters. The Sentinel has just discovered that the fumes of lead possess extraordinary medicinal properties, and that a man engaged in smelting gains flesh at the rate of two and a half pounds per week, Fact; but mind you, this fattening property belongs to Eureka lead only, for it won't do to fool with the fumes of the lead of other places.—Reese River Reveille.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

During the quarter ending June 30th, 1871, the Land Office at Oregon City disposed of 2,603,649 acres of public lands. That was doing a "Land Office business."

A young child of David Hunter, living near the Dalles, Oregon, crawled upstairs, fell through the boards, struck the stove, upset a kettle of boiling water and scalded itself to death.

The Visalia Delta says that a family by the name of Parker, who recently moved from there to Monitor valley, beyond the mountains, have been all poisoned—the old lady fatally. They moved into an empty house, and used the contents of a box labeled "yeast powder." The material proved to be arsenic.

Mrs. Emily Pitts Stevens, editress of The Pioneer, made application to the San Francisco County Clerk to be registered as a voter; on being refused she threatened to sue him for damages.

Seventy-five Government mules were recently sold at Fort Whipple, Arizona, for $30 each.

The wharf at Wynema (San Buenaventura Landing,) is extended out about 750 feet. Only 150 feet are to be added for the present, when it will be ready for use.

A telegraph operator named N. J. Saviors, living in Stockton, abandoned his own wife and was keeping a woman named Julia Lake. Mrs. Saviors went to the house where the guilty couple were, and shot the woman three times, from the effects of which she has since died. The Vigilantes threatened Saviors with a coat of tar and feathers for abandoning his wife, and he fled the town.

Col. Von Schmidt's negotiations with the Central Pacific Railroad for constructing a tunnel through the Sierra Nevada of sufficient size to permit the passage of trains over the canal are likely to be successful. The tunnel will save seven miles of travel, over 1,000 feet of ascent and descent, and almost the entire amount of snow-sheds.

EASTERN NEWS.

The announcement is made that arrangements are completed for the exchange of money orders between the United States and Great Britain. This will be a great convenience to the people.

Charles Francis Adams is to be appointed Arbitrator on the part of the United States to meet at Geneva with those of other nations, for the settlement of the Alabama claims under the Washington Treaty.

The President has appointed Felix R. Brunot, of Pittsburg, Indian Commissioner, to fill the vacancy made by Parker's resignation.

The Secretary of the Interior has decided in effect that a patent never has been issued to McGarrahan for the Panoche Grande quicksilver mine.

The Staten Island ferry-boat, Westfield, when in the slip and crowded with passengers, exploded her boiler, July 30th killing and wounding over a hundred persons. It was a heartrending affair.

FOREIGN NEWS ITEMS.

There is anxiety touching the cholera which appears in the south of France. One case occurred at Hull. Precautions have been taken by the French legations at Dresden, Darmstadt, Hamburg and Weimar.

Prince Arthur will shortly be created Duke. He will have to worry along the best he can with a government allowance of only $500,000 yearly.

The Communist prisoners have been notified that they will soon be brought up for trial but no date is fixed.

No Commutation.

A large party of Indiana tourists telegraphed from Bitter Creek that they would be in Salt Lake on a particular night, asking what abatement would be made from the regular price at the theatre if two hundred seats were taken. The reply was that the performances were intended for the people of Salt Lake, and as such a large number visiting the theatre in one night would incommode the regular patrons or necessitate an extra night, double the usual price would be charged to the two hundred. Are our Indiana visitors going to run the Chicago business? It is said that more ten cents were taken in for private drinks during their visit than had ever been known before. The incident on the Cliff House road will hardly be forgotten: The members of the party stopped a milk cart, and after making a hard bargain, subscribed five cents apiece toward their individual treat.—S. F. Alta.

A Little Hero.

The following is related as an incident of the sacking of Paris: A boy of thirteen found fighting was taken to be shot. He took a silver watch from his pocket and cried out, "Captain, do let me take this first to a friend across the street; I borrowed it."

"Oh! you scamp," said the officer, "I understand; you want to run off."

"My word of honor, I will come back again," said the boy, and the Captain, seeing it was a child, was only too glad to get rid of him. In ten minutes the boy came back, and took his stand with his face to the wall. "Here I am—fire!" Does Roman history tell us of anything braver? The Captain boxed the little hero's ears and ordered him never to show his face there again. They could not fire on him.

Prisoners held by the Comanches

The following is from the San Antonio (Texas) Herald of June 13th:

Wm J. Sharpe, a colored man, and formerly of the Ninth Cavalry, was in our office yesterday. He tells us the following: In the spring of 1867 he was captured by the Comanche Indians, near Fort Lancaster. He says there were four hundred Indians in the crowd which captured him, and two negro soldiers were killed as he supposes, at the time of his capture. The Indians took him to White Mountain, in Mexico, where there were 5,000 Comanches. He says these same Indians had two white boys, whom they captured on the San Saba, in 1870, whose names we did not hear. They have also Mrs. Paddy Fields. Sharpe describes her as being a young woman, with dark hair, black eyes, and looks to be 22 or 23 years of age. The Indian chief, John Cavallo has her for a wife, and swears no power on earth shall take her from him. They have also a colored boy, named William Harvey, who says he was captured near San Antonio in 1869. Sharpe escaped from the Indians one dark and stormy night about eight months ago. He says his company and regimental commander refuse to recognize him, because his orderly sergeant swears he is dead. This he denounces as untrue. If his story is true he should be recognized and paid for full time. He says that the Mexicans are very friendly with the Indians, and buy from them all the cattle and horses stolen in Texas, paying for them in goods, etc. The Indians are well-armed with government arms, and are profusely supplied with cartridges.

THE OFFICIAL HISTORY OF THE War between Germany and France WITH BIOGRAPHICAL SKETCHES Of the Principal Personages ENGAGED IN THE CONTEST.

BY JAMES D. McCABE, JR.,

Author of "Paris by Sunlight and Gaslight," "Life of William, Emperor of Germany," "Life of Napoleon III," etc.

Illustrated with over one hundred Fine Engravings and Maps.

THE STORY TOLD IN THIS WORK IS THE most interesting of the century, equaling in attractiveness the history of the deeds of the Great Napoleon. It is printed from a beautiful, clear, new type, on fine calendered paper, comprised in one large royal octavo volume of 740 pages embellished and illustrated with over 100 Splendid Engravings, comprising portraits of the most prominent actors in the great drama, battle scenes, incidents of the war, localities, buildings, fortifications, sieges, etc., etc., and enriched with a series of carefully executed maps, engraved especially for this book. It will be furnished to subscribers in Fine Leathers, (Library Style) in English or German, - - - at $3 00

Send in your orders for this or any other book desired to the Post Office, Independence.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ NOTICE.—All political notices of whatever nature MUST BE PAID IN ADVANCE. This rule is ABSOLUTE. All Job Work executed at this Office must be settled for on delivery, unless for those having standing advertising accounts.☜

To Freighters.

We, week before last, published an item relative to the temporary suspension of operations at the Swansea furnaces. Though coming as we supposed from perfectly reliable sources, this statement was, in the main, an error; as we stated last week the suspension was merely for usual repairs to the furnace and nowise connected with the working of the mine. Since that was calculated to discourage freighters from going to the furnace for loads, we here allude to it again, and will take this opportunity to state by authority, that the O. L. S. L. Company have not contracted their freight to any one, reports to the contrary notwithstanding. The bullion will be shipped as usual: the first team on the ground getting the first load, so that teamsters can at all times apply for loads in the perfect assurance that no pre-existing contract of the nature of the above will prevent them from receiving all they want.

The Eclipse.

The new mill of the Eclipse Company is all complete and ready for operating with thirty stamps, except that the new turbine wheel, designed to furnish the motive power, has not yet arrived. Capt. Tregellas visited San Francisco expressly with the view of hurrying the wheel through on time; but owing to some negligence, probably the teamster's, it is now several weeks overdue, and nothing more can be done until it arrives. The new mill is said to be very perfect in every respect. The people of this valley have the success of this company almost as much at heart as do the stockholders themselves. And we have every reason for anticipating the most gratifying results under the present programme.

Improvements in Lone Pine.

Lone Pine shows the general disposition which is manifesting itself throughout the county, improvements being the order of the day. Among the rest, Mr. F. Davney is putting up an adobe building on the corner of Pine and Main streets, the dimensions being 34x40 feet. Francisco Brizzolari is engaged in putting up a large frame building, on the corner of Post and Main streets, for a store room. The new addition to the commodious establishment of A. M. Loomis & Co., is about completed, and waiting great addition to stock, now on the way. Every other house in that place is receiving additions and being generally improved.

Weekly Stage to Los Angeles.

We are pleased to state that Mr. Robinson has about perfected his arrangements to put on a regular stage once a week to Los Angeles. The new order of things will take effect next week, or at the latest the week after, when travelers and fast-freight shippers can rely on the schedule time being adhered to, no matter whether he receives a mail contract, (of which there is a strong probability,) or not. We will publish the time-table in due time.

Dancing.

The Lone Pine Hotel has almost nightly been the scene of gay parties, devoted to the worship of Terpsichore. Everybody shared the hearty enjoyment of the many participants; but, we hear, our estrayed Junior got drunk and could not attend. He was kindly cared for by some friends, who did not wish to expose his weakness. We do not particularly need him here, but wish that somebody would send him home.

The Cerro Gordo Smelting Works.

The galmadore at Lemdry's furnace has been running for the past week, accumulating slag for the furnace, which starts up on Monday next. A force are engaged in building a new galmadore, as the one is not sufficient to keep the cupola in operation. The last run continued 55 days, with an average of 110 bars per day, or 514 250 pounds of metal for the run. The next start will be for a two months run.

A neat Upset.

A gentleman of Lone Pine was, one afternoon this week, exercising a fast horse attached to a very light, single buggy. He had got through and was just making a swinging turn into the stable, when the buggy balanced for a moment on two wheels, beautifully spilling out the occupant, and landing the buggy on top. Strange to say, nothing or nobody was damaged, owing to the animal being instantly caught.

Renewing.

Not finding a purchaser for their business, Daneri & Stewart, of Lone Pine, have determined to renew their stock of general merchandise, and resume their former large business. Our old friend, J. J. Moore, will soon be boss of the institution, as Mr. Stewart is now visiting in the East, and Daneri goes below for goods.

Express Agency.

Wells, Fargo & Co., through a general agent recently over our new stage routes, have established an express line over the southern route to Visalia and Havilah, connecting at Kernville. Messrs. Daneri & Stewart have received the appointment of agents at Lone Pine. Express accommodations over this route have long been needed.

Ready for Operations.

We learn that the new ten-stamp mill, in course of construction by the Messrs. Greeley, at Benton, Mono county, is now about ready to steam up. We hope the most sanguine wishes of all concerned in that mill and locality may be perfectly realized through the result of this enterprise.

The Julia Dean

The tunnel being run for the Julia Dean mine (Deep Spring Valley,) is now in 182 feet, but no ledge yet. A correspondent says the stream of water struck in this tunnel, "is sufficient to turn a grind stone or coffee mill on a two feet overshot wheel."

For Gold Mountain.

Mr. Hiskey, of Deep Spring Valley, designs a trip soon to Gold Mountain, Silver Peak, etc. The Indian murders reported to have occurred in Death Valley, Mr. Hiskey, thinks, has no foundation in fact.

For the Sisters' School.

Miss Annie Wallace, of Independence, Miss Lizzy McMurry, of Fish Springs, and Miss Belle Smith, of Bishop Creek, departed the present week, per Robinson's stage, for the purpose of attending the Sisters' School at Los Angeles.

The Scientific Expedition.

Lieutenant Lockwood, with his command, left here Thursday last, with the design of exploring the country in the direction of "Stump Springs" on the Salt Lake and Colorado road. The remainder of the party in command of Lieutenant Wheeler himself, who arrived here some days since, will start in a very few days, taking another route to reach the same general rendezvous.

Dangerous.

A Mexican at one time confined in the jail at this place is evidently crazy, and unsafe to remain at large, although no one appears against him. A few nights ago, at Lone Pine, he fired a lumber pile, the town narrowly escaping fire in consequence. His mania seems to be a general desire for malicious mischief, which manifests itself in a hundred forms.

County Treasurer's Report.

Isaac Harris, County Treasurer, presents, per deputy Harry Isaacs, a very complete and elaborately got up report of County finances. This report, which will be found in another column of this issue, conveys a better idea of the financial condition of the several funds than any we have yet had, and is a model of order and good penmanship.

Blacksmithing.

Messrs. Welch & Stevens, our pioneer tinners, have bought Morse's blacksmith shop, adjoining their tinshop. They are now prepared to do any kind of work pertaining to either shop in a manner warranted to give satisfaction. Read their new "ad" and give the boys a call.

The Kearsarge.

Thursday last several new pans were put in operation in the Kearsarge mill, making a total of fourteen, all of which are kept steadily in motion. Other important and necessary improvements are being made, and soon everything will be in "ship shape and Bristol fashion," in mine and mill both.

One Thousand Cords of Wood.

The Owens Lake Silver Lead Company are desirous of letting a contract to responsible bidders, for the cutting and delivery at the Swansea furnace, of 1,000 cords of furnace wood. Here is a chance for a good contract. See advertisement.

For Salt Lake Lake.

Mr. Austin, astronomer, departs in a few days for Salt Lake, where, we presume, Brother Brigham's heavenly, if not earthly, stars will be subjected to a rigid, scientific course of observations.

Necklace.

Any one that will return the necklace advertised in another column to this office, or will give any information that will lead to its recovery will be suitably rewarded

Not Returned

Our Junior has not yet put in an appearance which is the more strange since he never drinks anything stronger than cider, even during election times. "Spec he's runned away."

Thanks.

The gentlemanly Surgeon, at Camp Independence, Dr. White, has placed us under obligations.

Board of Equalization.

The County Supervisors will meet next Monday, as a Board of Equalization.

Notable Arrivals.

Gen. Ord, Dr. McMillan and their escort, in command of Lieut. Haskel, have arrived at Lone Pine.

Political Speaking.

See notice elsewhere.

OFFICERS' REPORTS.

Financial Report, of I. Harris, County Treasurer, for the term ending July 1, 1871 approved.

Report of P. W. Bennett, District Attorney, filed, from which it appears that $313 63 of taxes for 1870 are returned as delinquent.

County Warrants Nos. 211 and 214 were ordered placed at the head of the list, to be paid out of the first money belonging to the County General Fund.

VACANCIES FILLED.

The following appointments were made in the several election precincts to fill vacancies:

No. 1—(Fish Springs,) J. W. McMurry, Clerk.

No. 2—(Independence,) J. B. White, Clerk, and Thomas May, Judge.

No. 3—(Lone Pine,) I. W. Hunt, Clerk.

No. 4—(Cerro Gordo,) P. Harrington, Judge.

No 5—(Bishop Creek,) A. G. Boley.

NEW ELECTION PRECINCTS.

Ordered that a new election precinct be formed from No. 3, to be known as the Swansea Precinct, and bounded as follows: Commencing at the Lone Pine bridge and on the east side of Owens River, thence southerly following said east bank thereof to its intersection with Owens Lake, thence following the east bank of said lake to a point one mile below Ferguson's Landing, thence due northeast to a point to intersect a due east and west line drawn through the initial point.

Ordered—That all of the territory lying north of a due east and west line drawn from what is commonly known as the Piute Monument and extending to the eastern boundary line of Inyo County, and lying easterly from the main summit of the Inyo Range of Mountains, be formed into a new election precinct, to be known as election precinct No. 8, (Deep Spring Valley).

HIGHWAY AND TOLL-ROADS.

On filing proof of the completion of the Deep Spring Valley Toll Road, Stephen Gregg was appointed by the Board, and Richard Hessian on the part of said Company, as examiners of said road.

Application of the Swansea Toll Road Company for the appointment of examiners was filed, and Wm. J. Moore was appointed by the Board, and C. Mulky by the Company as said examiners.

Following are the rates of toll to be allowed upon the Cerro Gordo and Owens Lake Toll Road:

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, August 12,.....1871

—A Colorado saloon-keeper said of a rough crowd: "I couldn't get their whiskey strong enough for them, so after trying every way, I at last made a mixture of poison oak and butternut. That fetched them. I called it the sheep-herder's delight, and it was a popular drink. The first Pike I tried it on yelled with delight; the next one took two drinks and turned a double somerset in the road before the house. A peddler came along, and after he took several drinks of my sheep-herder's delight he went off and stole his own pack and hid it in the woods."

—A newly fledged doctor recently settled in Havana, Ill., and the first case he had was a boy who, while shelling pop corn, got a kernel in his windpipe. The doctor examined the case carefully, looked at the patient's tongue, and then told the father of the boy to build up a hot fire. When that was done, the doctor told him to take and hold the boy over the fire till the kernel got hot enough to "pop out." The old man went up stairs to get his shot-gun, but while he was loading it the doctor escaped.

—Grace Greenwood writing about the wonderful business activity of Chicagoans, says that even the little children of that city are infected by the prevailing spirit, and carry it into their play. "A friend of ours," she says, "had occasion lately to punish her little four-year-old son by a quarter of an hour's solitary confinement in a closet. As she was about to close the door on him, he looked at her reproachfully and said: "You are making me waste my time.'"

—Recently, while passing by where a pretty smart Chinaman was working, we noticed a "Melican" man across the way "treating." Anxious to know John's views, we remarked in the "Heathen Chinee" tongue, "You muchee likee Rum, John?" "No," says he, "me no likee lumee—him heapee make Chinaman number one fool."

—The impression is gaining ground that cundurango, the new cancer cure, is a humbug, and that somebody in Washington has had a very large axe to grind in connection with the marvelous accounts of its virtues that have been so industriously sent to all parts of the country.

—A Georgia judge lately defined in terms when a man is legally drunk. Said he, "It is not necessary that a man should be wallowing in a ditch, or bumping his head against your posts, that you may know him to be drunk; but whenever he begins to tell the same thing over twice, then he's drunk!"

—A correspondent thinks that the quotation, "Foot-prints on the sands of time," should be altered so as to read "Heel prints," etc., in view of the peculiar style of shoes now worn by the ladies, which is pretty much heel.

—A romantic young lady of Aurora, Illinois, recently purchased her shroud and bridal garments, and then took strychnine, dying instantly. She had chosen the anniversary of her mother's death for the suicide.

—During the riots of 1780, most persons in London, in order to save their houses from being burnt or pulled down, wrote on their doors, "No Popery!" Old Grimaldi, to avoid all mistakes, wrote "No religion!"

—A cute young wife says: When I want a nice snug day all to myself, I tell George mother is coming, and then I see nothing of him until one o'clock in the morning."

—The leading physician of Orange, N. J., is the beautiful Miss Fowler. This accounts for the many young gentlemen in Orange needing the services of a physician.

—Grasshoppers are devouring everything before them in Los Angeles and San Bernardino counties, including grain fields and vegetables.

P. S. The News says this is not so.

—A petition containing 160,000 signatures has been sent to the English Parliament, praying that Sunday labor be abolished in her Majesty's dominions.

—An old negro, in Howard county, Mo., wears a hat which is thirty years old. It is said to be a trifle shorter than a flour barrel.

—A western railroad advertises that each train carries a coroner and six jurymen for the convenience of passengers.

—A Terre Haute editor, named Jordan, having grown rich, will start a bank. It will be called Jordan's Stormy Bank.

—The Northwestern University at Chicago, has conferred the degree of L. L. D. upon Lieutenant General P. H. Sheridan.

—The foreman of a New Orleans jury indorsed a verdict for manslaughter thus: "Virdic Guilty with muns sluter e matthews."

—Lord Courtenay, an English nobleman, has recently gone into bankruptcy with debts exceeding $4,000,000.

—A pound of wool was spun out into a thread seven miles long, at the Madison, (Iowa,) woolen mills, the other day.

—Correction does much, but encouragement will do more. Encouragement after censure is like the sun after a shower.

—The epitaph of the double-headed baby pronounced by the New York Mail, is, "She are dead; they is gone."

—"A splendid ear but a very poor voice," as the man said of the donkey.

—Punch gallantly says: "What in a woman is called curiosity, in a man is grandiloquently magnified into the spirit of inquiry."

LEGAL.

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of State and the Treasurer of State, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said State, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bond; said coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notices of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the Capital of the State; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris, in France, and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in German, in the City of Frankfort-on-the-Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the State; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless sufficient security shall be furnished by the bidders for the compliance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin, par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of state each to keep a separate record of all bonds sold under the provisions of this act, showing the number, date, amount and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury; and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in section seven of this act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value, but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bended, which said certificate shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel each bond so exchanged, and shall indorse on such bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued in exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of state.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the State treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the State, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering therein the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the expiration of such advertisement, such bonds, unless sooner paid, shall cease to draw interest, but the money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the State, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the State treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper, published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper, published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals, at rates not exceeding par value, as may redeem the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less amount than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publications, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication; before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this Act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said Interest Fund, if sufficient; and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that the Controller of State shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. This Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for its submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the State for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this State shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act; those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same, shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and canvassed, and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Treasurer of State, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast are for or against this law, as aforesaid, are in favor of this Act, then the same shall have effect as herein before provided, and shall be irrepealable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation thereof; but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have this Act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceeding the next general election, for which publication no greater allowance shall be made than the rates allowed by law to the State Printer.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, H. L. NICHOLS, Secretary of State of the State of California, do hereby certify that the annexed is a true, full, and correct copy of Chapter Four hundred and Eighty-four, Statutes of California, Eighteenth Session, approved April 2, 1870, now on file in my office.

WITNESS my hand and the great seal of State, at office, in Sacramento, California, the twenty-fifth day of May, A. D. 1871.

THE PICKNIC AT SPRAKER'S WOOD.

From "Hans Breitmann in Europe."

At de picknic out in Spraker's Wood,
Le bier was soft—de gals were good;
Oudhvon Leber, vild and rasch,
Called out for a Yankee brandy smash.

A crowd vot was walkin out on de wall
Fell dead ven he hear dis Dootchman call;
For he knew dat dropies could, py shimes!
Von de Dootch go in for Yankee drinks.

De Dootch get rich in drounk ash sin,
Dey swysh de winslows out und in;
Dey bust und bang de bar-room din,
Und call for a bucket of branntewein.

Away, avay demselfs dey floong,
Und avid infernal lied dey sung;
'Twas "Tum de wein, and vas de bier!
Ve won't care nix for de demperance here!"

"O keep a pringin juleps in,
Und baldface corn dat burn like sin;
Mit apple toss und old shtone fence,
Ve'll all get cornered ere ve go hence."

Dey dash deir glasses on the ground,
Und tanz till 'twas all to brick duss ground,
Ven dey hear von man had a ten-dollar note,
De crowd go dead for dat rich man's throat.

A demperance chap vot coomed dere in,
Vent squanderin out mit his shell bust in;
"It's valk your chalks, you lost your chance,
Dis vot ve call der Dootchman's dance."

Boot ven de law, mit his mvrmition,
Vas hear of dese Dootchmen's carrying-on,
Dey sent policemen shtern und good,
To pull dese Dooch in Spraker's Wood.

De Dootch was all gone roarin mad,
Und dried mit Spraker all dey had;
Dey shpend 'nuf money to last der life,
Und each vas tantzin mit anoder man's wife.

Dey all got poonish different vays,
Some vent to jug for dirty days;
Und de von dat kilt de demperance man
Vas kit from de alderman reprimand.

Und dus it ran: "A warnin dake,
For you mighdt hafe mate soomthig mishdake;
Now how vouldt you hafe feeled, py shing!
If dat man hat peen in de whisky ring?

"Since you votes my dicket, of course you know,
I'm pound to let you shlide and go;
But nefer on whisky trink your fill,
For your Dootchmen kon't know who to kill."

Now Deutschers all—on dis warning dink,
And don't get troonk on Yankee trink;
For neider you or oder man
Can pe hocks like de New York rowdies can.

So trink goot bier, mit musik plest,
For if you tried your level pest,
You can't be plackgaarts—taint in de plood,
Dus ended de shdory of Spraker's Wood.

Gold and Silver Product of the Pacific Coast.

The gold and silver annually produced on the Pacific coast approximates $80,000,000; an amount that will be greatly increased within the next two or three years. Only a little more than twenty years have elapsed since we began mining for these metals, during which time we have extracted and put into circulation something over $1,200,000,000; to say nothing of the other forms of wealth created by our comparatively limited population, meantime. Never before, perhaps, have so small a number of people built up and established upon a permanent footing such a broad and profitable business in so short a period. But this has not been accomplished without much loss to individuals, and even the most costly sacrifices on the part of large classes of the community. As in the founding of every other prominent industry, time and the expenditure of vast sums of money have been required to bring mining to its present state of perfection; nearly all the experiments and trials made in the furtherance of this business having been carried on under conditions involving great hardship and heavy expense.

Hence, while it has brought ample reward, and even opulence to some, it has inured only a loss to the many, who have consequently felt sore over their want of success; seeking often to attribute, and sometimes with good cause, their failure to the fault of others. Thus, the prospector and locator of the mines are prone to censure the capitalist, and vice versa; each conceiving that the other has been overreaching, remiss, or otherwise instrumental in working him a wrong. The indiscriminate indulgence of this feeling, though natural enough, is apt to do both parties injustice; since overlooking exceptional cases, a survey of the field of operations, so remote and vast, and a consideration of the troubles inherent to a new and difficult business, tend to show that these fancied wrongs were generally the result of excusable ignorance or unavoidable necessity, rather than of willful error. And as such they should be overlooked in passing judgment upon the pioneers in this great industry.—Overland Monthly.

Home Manufacture.

Two old ploughmen down East were telling tough stories of their exploits in breaking up new ground. The linen was taken off the bush by this yarn:

"'Twas up in Dixmont, twenty seven years ago this spring. I was ploughing in stump ground with a team of nine pair of cattle for Sol Cunningham; we were going along, makin' not very smooth work among rocks and stumps. Well, one day the pint o' the plough struck fair against a sound stump four foot through, split it square across the heart, and I was follerin' the plough through, when the thought flashed through my mind that the pesky stump might snap together and pinch my toes, so I jest gripped the plough handles firm and swung my feet up out of the way, and the stump sprung back and catch the slack of my pantaloons. That brought everything up stannin'. Well, I tightened my hold, and Jim Swithin, he and Sol was drivin', they spoke to the cattle and we snaked that stump right out by the roots, and it had awful long ones.'

"It must a ben strainin' on your suspenders," said the other.

"My wife knit them."

The Frauds in New York.

The transcript of the books of the Controller of the city of New York, lately laid before the public, discloses a degree of rascality perfectly astounding. The first details of the robberies come to us in the Philadelphia Day, and from them we cull the most salient ones. It is time the people of the metropolis of the Union rise in their might and choke off the vampires who are sucking their hearts' blood:

"The bills paid for the carpets for the new court house and armories foot up to $550,000! The space occupied by offices in the court house presents a floor area of 9,216 square yards, which, if covered with carpets at $5 per yard, would cost $46,080. But some of the largest rooms are not carpeted at all, others are covered with oil-cloth and matting. The bill represents carpeting for 122,222 square yards—something like thrice the area of the City Hall Park! Again—one Ingersoll was paid $170,729 60 for chairs furnished (?) for the city armories alone. This sum would purchase 34,145 chairs at $5 each! But then, an inspection of the armories shows that not a sixteenth part of that number of chairs were furnished to the armories, as indeed how could they be? Since that number of chairs could not be packed in all the armories of the city.

"Again—from July 2, 1869, to April 16, 1870—nine months—one A. J. Garvey received the sum of $2,870,464,06 for plastering and repairs of the new court house, armories and drill rooms of the city. There is very little plaster wall in the court house, the interior being largely of iron. Plasterers say that they would take the job at $2,000. Yet the plastering of the new court house cost the taxpayers no less than $208,660 25! One firm received the enormous sum of $1,476,000 for chairs and tables in the same building! Yet it is said that $75,000 would replace the furniture. The sum of $1,231,817,76 was paid to one firm for plumbing court house and armories in a term of nine months! During the same time no less than $5,663,646 83 was paid upon the checks of Ingersoll & Co., or on checks indorsed by that firm, for carpets, furniture, repairs and cabinet work, chiefly for the new court house. Many of the checks and entries are dated on Sunday, probably to take the rough edge off the fraud. Of these checks eleven were to the order of J. A. Smith, for carpets and shades, amounting to the snug sum of more than half a million. Yet the name of J. A. Smith as a dealer in carpets and upholstery does not appear in the New York directory at all. Upward of sixty thousand dollars is charged as paid to Mr. R. J. Hennessey; but Mr. Hennessey comes forward and publicly declares that he is not the lucky man who drew the money. We might prolong the agony by citing other facts less unaccountable upon any other hypothesis than that of wholesale fraud and robbery, but what good? The exposure is damning on its very face.

Now, this wholesale robbery was done over the signatures of Mayor Hall and Controller Connolly. They do not deny it. On the contrary they virtually admit that the figures published by the Times are correct. The mayor says that the Times itself flung down the barriers between rogues and the treasury. That is to say, then, that the Mayor and Controller did not disdain to be parties to a stupendous fraud when the barrier was removed.

A few years ago, Controller Connolly was a poor man. He is said to be worth five millions to-day. A few years ago Wm. M. Tweed was an insolvent debtor. To-day his wealth is almost fabulous. These men have had no visible means of support, of becoming enormously rich at least, yet they are worth millions. They stand high in Tammany Hall.

A New Invention.

A novel instrument has been invented, which marks the "ebb of time," showing how many minutes there are remaining prior to any event. If placed in the postoffice, it reads, "Mails open in thirty minutes;" one minute later it reads "in twenty-nine minutes;" then in twenty-eight, and so on. At a railway station it reads, "This train leaves in ten minutes;" then in nine, eight, etc., and when the index reaches 0 the train starts. Thus any passenger, on entering a station, knows just how much time he has got for getting tickets, checks, a newspaper and a seat, without consulting a watch or clock to ascertain the hour of the day.

This ought to be a moral lesson to the multitude, and the religious papers should take it up and use it as a kind of momentary warning of a horrible eternity.

Criticising Newspapers.

It is a very easy matter to criticise a newspaper, but to publish a live one so as to interest, amuse and instruct the public is no small undertaking. Those in this community who are so prone to find fault with every little item which does not suit their critical exalted ideas (?) should buy type, ink and paper, and publish an organ of their own. Let them try it for three months only, and if it don't give them some new ideas of the newspaper business, then we are no judge of human nature. The conceit would be taken out of such individuals so quickly that they would hardly know what was the matter with them, or whether they stood on their heads or feet.—New Jersey Mechanic.

Saxe on Women at Saratoga.

John G. Saxe has been a regular visitor at Saratoga for eighteen Summers, and hopes to be for eighteen Summers more. Talking with him the other day he discovered himself a skeptic in regard to the possession of any merit whatever by women. He says they have neither originality, invention, genius nor beauty. He quoted Humboldt, who, when some one asked why, of all creation, the human animal was the only one of which the female was the most beautiful, replied that he denied the fact. Saxe denies it too, and asserts that one of the reasons is that women are never content to let nature alone; they are always falsifying it by arts and tricks which deceive nobody, but which dwarf their own fair growth and development. Further, he rudely declares they are so foolish they will follow fashion even though it compels them to make themselves hideous and display their deformities rather than their attractions. He admits them naturally slender, graceful, spirituelle, with a delicate beauty of their own which would in all probability expand into womanly proportions if it was not dwarfed and stunted and spindled by bad habits, by late hours, by want of outdoor exercise, by adding unnatural lumps and protuberances by which no one is deceived, and which only renders them totally unlike themselves, and not at all like anything else—human or divine. He says it is "bad form," "bad art," and "bad style," and so it is.

Balloon Chase.

The Utica Herald gives an account of a singular balloon chase which occurred in the clouds over Poughkeepsie. One Squire and Miss Thurston started together, but in separate balloons. Squire ascended nearly to the clouds, but seeing that Miss Thurston was not following him very fast, descended to get her instructions. Before he reached the young lady, however, she threw out up like ounces of two sand bags and shot allowed pocket into the clouds. Squire clouds and balloon to drift under the over Hyde sight of the earth until ballast and wick, when he threw out into the clear up through the clouds must have ascend light. He says he above the clouds be nearly half a mile of Miss Thurston's he caught sight then at last four miles on, which was and looked to him above the earth. man's hat. In due time ger than a voyagers made a safe descent the aerial

A Man's Lip Bitten Off.

The Colorado Chieftain of a recent date contains the details of a most fatal affair that took place, a few days before, at Pueblo. Two men named Green and Cameron, the former a saloon-keeper, had a grudge against a colored man named Budd, and one night they got him into a room with them in the saloon and locked the door. They then floored Budd, and while Green held him down Cameron bit his bottom lip off and otherwise ill used him. The two brutes were arrested, and were subsequently committed to take their trial. The morning after, the severed lip was swept into the street when the room was cleaned. The Chieftain says the indignation of the citizens was intense against Green and Cameron, and if they had not been safely lodged in jail, they would likely have been lynched.

"H. G." Again.

The Memphis Appeal calls the attention of Hon. Horace Greeley to the following note, "in the hope that he will do justice, though the heavens fall:"

EDITORS APPEAL:—Seeing the name of Horace Greeley in the columns of your paper, I presume he is the same elderly gentleman who, when in Texas, would trifle with the feelings of a lone widow, who lost her husband in the late war, and he offered the hand of fellowship, that all parties be reconciled." As a modest woman, I did not accept his proposal, although I intended to do so, had he pressed suit. He has failed to do so, however, and I have since learned that the gay deceiver has a wife somewhere in the State of New York. Plaise pass him around. Yours, WIDOW MALONE.

Canine Sagacity.

At the recent fire, which occurred on Friday last in the old Postoffice building, an instance of canine sagacity occurred which we think worthy of mention. As soon as the doors of the building were burst open, the large Newfoundland dog owned by Alex. Brown, rushed into the room and seizing a piece of the burning canvas, from the fallen ceiling, in his teeth he dragged it into the street and then returned for more. This operation he repeated several times and it was witnessed by quite a number of spectators. His mouth was burned and his hair scorched badly by the fire. It is proposed to elect him a life member of the Hooks at the next meeting and procure him a suitably inscribed collar, etc.—Pioche Record.

The Wool Clip.

The California spring clip has ranged twenty-eight to thirty-two cents per pound. Last year it ranged from eighteen to twenty-two cents. Last year the spring clip weighing 11,000,000 pounds. If it shall weigh as much this year the increased price—ten cents a pound—will amount to $1,000,000! making the value of the entire spring clip $3,000,000.

FROM LOS ANGELES.

The Comet mine, in Yellow Pine district, (lead and silver), is reported sold in London for one million five hundred thousand dollars, subject to the approval of the examining engineer to be sent out.

The following mines in Clark district are shipping the higher grades of silver ore to San Francisco; Lizzie Bullock, Hardscrabble mine, Nigger Joe, Eugenie, via Los Angeles, and the Beatrice, via San Bernardino. At the mines there are some 2,000 tons of good milling rock on the dumps waiting the erection of a mill. The higher grades of ore have assayed from $875 to $2,286 per ton. Nine companies work about 100 men in this new district.

A short time since, during a dispute between Connor, who lives on the La Paz road, and a stranger, the stranger was shot and instantly killed by Connor, who fled to the mountains. His remains found by the pursuing party, showed he had perished miserably of thirst.

A Spanish-American Republican Club has been organized in the city.

Horse-thieves made a general raid into the city last night, visited three localities and made a clean sweep at each place.

Efforts are being made to secure a permanent steamer opposition between San Pedro and San Francisco by the purchase of part interest in the steamer Olympia by citizens of this city, at the rate of $50,000. The movement meets with but little success, and it is not probable that the sum required will be raised.

The first grapes of the season are in market, and the crop promises to be very large.

Two hundred bars of silver lead bullion, from Cerro Gordo, were received yesterday. Over 700 men are employed at the mines. [Not 700, quite.—Eds.]

ARIZONA NEWS.

The Tucson (Arizona) Citizen, of August 10, has the following:

John Wasson has been appointed one of the commissioners to celebrate the centennial anniversary at Philadelphia.

Gen. Crook and command was at the head of Uriboja canyon. The whole machinery of the command is daily improving.

The Arizona Miner of July 29, has this concerning "Thirteen good Indians."

A letter from Tucson, under date of July 17, brings news of another brush with the savages. The mail had just arrived from Apache Pass, and the mail rider brought the account of an attack made by Indians, the previous day, on the train of Messrs. Tully, Ochoa & De Long, near the San Pedro. Fortunately the train had an escort of a whole company of soldiers, and was therefore, well guarded. The indians numbered about 400 and made a vigorous attack, but were stoutly resisted by the soldiers and teamsters. After 13 of their number had been killed the Indians abandoned the contest and fled to the mountains. One soldier and one Mexican—the latter a teamster—were killed, and one soldier received a serious wound.

Several enlisted men have lately deserted from posts in this section. The cutting down of soldiers' pay; the paying of arrears, and other acts of Congress have created great dissatisfaction among the soldiers, with whom Congress should not have broken faith.

The Lake Tahoe Tunnel.

We have already stated that negotiations were pending between the Lake Tahoe Water Company and the Central Pacific Railroad Company, and that they were likely to terminate favorably. Lately, Col. Von Schmidt informed us that the arrangements have all been concluded, and the contract signed.

The estimated cost of the work is $1,000,000, and the time for construction of the tunnel and laying of the water mains, is set at five years, although from present appearances three years will suffice. All along the line of the railroad, mains will be laid for the use of cities and towns, while for mining purposes the water will be carried in ditches. The tunnel through the Sierra Nevadas will be from three to five miles in length, and will be used jointly by the Railroad and Water Company. It will do away with the railway snowsheds, shorten the railway route over the mountains by several miles, and carry the trains through a less severe temperature than they have been accustomed to. The elevation will be reduced by one thousand feet, at the lowest estimate.

The quarries will be ready by the first of September, when work will be commenced and prosecuted day and night until completed. Taken in all its surroundings, the work is a stupendous one, and if successfully carried out, will be one more testimonial of the abilities of Col. Von Schmidt as an engineer.

Col. Von Schmidt left for the mountains Thursday morning to meet an engineer designated by the Central Pacific Railroad Company to agree upon the initial points upon both sides of the Sierra Nevada for the projected tunnel, and superintend the erection of the quarters for the large force of laborers who will be put upon the work immediately. The surveys are all completed, but the railroad company stipulated in their contract for a choice of locations for the initial points as a matter of convenience for the approach of their tracks. The tunnel will be bored as first intended, by a new machine, invented by Col. Von Schmidt, driven by hydrostatic pressure and cutting out a round core seven feet in circumference, then enlarged by blasting until the stipulated size, 19 feet high by 21 feet in width is attained. The length of the tunnel will be about five miles, and its cost about $1,500,000. It will run the entire distance through solid granite, and will require very little if any timbering.—San Francisco Bulletin.

Railroad Progress.

The grading of the Reno end of the Virginia and Truckee Railroad is progressing at a very energetic rate, four miles being already completed. The track is laid from the Central Pacific Railroad as far as the river, at the point where the new bridge is being built. This bridge will be completed in about sixty days, when the laying of the rails will be done in short order and the locomotive started running over several miles of the new road. Mr. J. J. Holmes, who supervised the grading between here and Carson, is now attending to the grading at the Reno end. He has 100 Chinamen employed as graders under him, and considering that they commenced July 10, not quite a month ago, most excellent progress certainly has been made. Two months hence, at any rate, twelve miles of the road will be completed, or pretty well along toward Steamboat Springs, giving but a short piece of stage travel over the Geiger grade, to connect with the cars.—Gold Hill News.

People's Ticket.

Citizens of Los Angeles have put a People's Ticket in the field, and claim a good prospect of electing it.

From Mexico.

Juarez has been again elected President by a large majority.

TO BE VOTED UPON.

In addition to the State and County officers whom we are to choose at the impending general election, there are two questions of finance to be voted upon at the same time. Our politicians have been too busy with personal and partisan affairs to devote any time to the discussion of these two question. We deem it our duty to at least call attention to them, to the end that our votes may be cast for or against them with some degree of intelligence.

For a number of weeks past we have published, by authority, "An act to provide for the payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose." The second section of this act gives the amount of the proposed new issue, etc., as follows:

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said State, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

The indebtedness of the State at the last (December) report was $2,500,500, besides the annual payment of $100,000 interest on the Pacific Railroad bonds, and accruing 7 per cent. interest on the $3,500,500. The new bonds, amounting to $3,700,000 are to pay off this debt as follows:

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury; and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

Some provision has to be made for the immediate payment of a portion, if not all of the above outstanding bonds. The amount of cash now in the State Treasury is not at all sufficient for the purpose, so that a loan in some shape is a necessity. According to our ideas of the subject, the plan is a good one, as it will materially lessen taxation. The consolidated bonds will find a ready market at something near their par value, as our State credit is first rate. There is also a difference in our favor of at least one per cent in the rate of interest, and may be more, as European capitalists will doubtless be glad to take our securities at four per cent—three per cent less than we are now paying. The method for paying off these bonds will be understood from section 10, as follows:

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the State, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the state treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

The extension of time thus gained in paying off our present indebtedness will greatly reduce our burden of taxation by the natural and inevitable increase of taxable property upon which it is to be levied.

The following amendment to the Constitution of the State will also be submitted to the people for their ratification or rejection:

ART. 1, SEC. 22 The Legislature shall have no power to make an appropriation of money for any purpose whatever for a period longer than two years.

This question is doubtless of greater importance than the other. It will afford the best guarantee we can possibly have against rascally legislation, in thus limiting appropriations. We consider it a much needed restriction, even should we not be cursed with an unusually corrupt Legislature at any time. According to our understanding of these questions they are both worthy of general support, which we hope they will receive.

MORAL OF THE RECENT NEW YORK RIOT.

[COMMUNICATED]

It is a matter to please lovers of religious liberty that, although, the recent troubles in New York were largely attributed to the followers of a single religious belief, the mass of that same powerful and numerous sect in the United States entirely disavow sympathy with the unlawful and riotous conduct of their co-religionists. We quote from Mr. Henry Ward Beecher's paper, The Christian Union, as follows:

"In the howl of execration which the noisy exponents of the Irish party are raising in this city, (New York,) about the recent disturbances, the voice of the better class of Catholics—and Irish Catholics—is apt to be stilled.

The Boston Pilot has a very manly article on the subject of mob-law, which we should have quoted entire, had it reached us earlier. It says:

"If the Orangemen determine to parade, they have a right to parade; that is, they have as much right to parade with orange scarfs and banners, as a Fenian regiment has with green scarfs and sunbursts. But it may be that neither party has a right to parade; that they have simply been tolerated by the authorities. If it be found that such toleration is detrimental to public security, we think that every reflecting American citizen will at once say that both processions should be proscribed. The very ablest defenders of the mob say that they do not quarrel with the Orangemen simply because they are Protestants. What do they quarrel with them for? They have no right to quarrel with them for their colors, for the Fenian Legion of St Patrick, organized with a view to make war on England, flaunts the green flag of Ireland in the faces of thousands of Englishmen in New York city.

It is fair to add that there follows here some strong expressions of dislike for Orangeism in which, we must confess, we heartily sympathize."

The article concludes:

"There are two ways of getting rid of this apple of discord. The first is by an agreement between the general Irish population and the Orangemen, foregoing all right to hold processions for Irish political objects alone. This, we may rest assured, will not be easily agreed to. The second one is the best and the one that must come in the end, when America, tired out and indignant with the squabbling population, puts her foot down with a will and tells them all—Germans, French, Irish, Orange, 'You have had enough now. There is only one flag to be raised in future in this country, and that flag is the stars and stripes.'"

The Western Catholic, of Detroit, still more pronounced, says of a young man of the Ninth regiment, who is said to have committed suicide in a fit of insanity, caused by the "conflict between his duty to his regiment and to his religion:"

"This is simple nonsense. The young man must have been demented long ago, if he supposed that there was any conflict between his duty to his regiment and to his religion. His religion plainly teaches him and all others to be law-abiding and peaceful citizens themselves, and to do all in their power to help the authorities enforce the law. His duty to his religion and to his regiment were the same, namely: to turn out with his regiment, and at the command of his officers to shoot down every rioter that presented himself, as he would a mad dog. It is the first duty of every citizen of the United States, be he Catholic or Protestant to obey the law and preserve the peace."—Christian Union, July 26, 1871.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

A San Francisco dispatch says: "Col. Von Schmidt is purchasing mules for his engineering corps and making arrangements to commence work on both ends of his tunnel through the Sierra and on the Alta Water Company's works, on the head waters of the American river, with a force of 300 men or more, by the middle of this month.

The Stockton Herald of the 2d instant, says: N. J. Saviers, who was arrested on a charge of being an accessory (before the fact) to the murder of Julia Lake by Mrs. Saviers, was brought before Judge Brush to-day, for examination. No evidence being offered to sustain the charge of his being a party to the alleged murder, he was ordered discharged from custody, and the case dismissed.

Geo. C. Gorham and J. P. Jones, Republican nominees in 1868 for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor of California, are now spoken of as aspirants to United States Senatorial honors. Gorham would succeed Cole, of California, and Jones would like to rattle around in the place now filled by Nye.

Mount Cenis Tunnel.

From telegraphic advices dated Paris, August 3, we learn that the Mount Cenis tunnel will be open for traffic on the 15th inst., when an informal inauguration of the road will take place. The latest advices from this important work stated that it had been found impossible to run railway trains through the tunnel because of the absence of a draft to carry off the smoke, suffocation having resulted in several cases. We are not advised in what way this has been remedied, but probably smoke-consuming locomotives are used.

FOREIGN NEWS.

London dates to August 6, state:

A great riot occurred in Dublin today. The Board of Works prohibited the proposed Fenian Amnesty meeting, organized by Smythe, member from Westmeatte; Sullivan, editor of the Nation, and O'Bryne, editor of the Irishman. Notwithstanding, at 4 o'clock P. M., vast crowds of men, women and children assembled around the Wellington monument, in Phœnix Park, within 300 yards of Vice Royal Lodge, where the royal party were staying. A large force of police were held in readiness when the procession was formed.

Smythe, Sullivan and Nolan, at the head of 500 men wearing green, arrived. They mounted the monument and opened the meeting. The Superintendent of Police advanced. The people groaned and hissed, and the Superintendent, who showed a determination to break up the meeting, was knocked down; then the police rushed up and a frightful fight ensued. The officers drew their staves and felled the people by scores.

The conflict became hotter; stones were thrown, sticks plied by the mob, and women and children trampled.

The riot lasted half an hour, and 47 persons were known to be wounded, many seriously. Smythe, Sullivan and Nolan were badly hurt, and many of the police receive bruises. The hospitals are full of the injured. There is great excitement throughout the city. The police were attacked repeatedly, but eventually order was restored.

The leaders of the meeting will be prosecuted.

Tom Shaw and Party.

Our readers will recollect that week before last a statement was extensively circulated in all the newspapers of the State to the effect that Tom Shaw, who works an arastra on Gold Mountain, south of Silver Peak, had been killed by Indians, together with eight other white men. The news came from Hot Creek, and the names of reliable parties were mentioned as having brought it there. From information which we had obtained from Mr. Stansbury, who had just arrived here from the Silver Peak country, we pronounced the rumor false. We are happy to state that a Mr. Meyer, who arrived in Austin from Silver Peak on Saturday last, says that there is not a word of truth in the report, that no Indian troubles have occurred there, and that Tom Shaw and all the other miners of that region are at work and enjoy good health.—Austin Reveille Aug. 7.

Facts and Fancies.

Here is an incident of the recent earthquake at Valparaiso. One young lady living near Plaza, Victoria, was in the bath when the shock came, and rushed into the square entirely naked. After the shock had passed and subsiding terror had permitted her to realize her situation, she found herself near a man who had nothing on but a shirt. In an agony of shame she clutched at the man's shirt, tore it from his back, and wrapping it around her waist rushed into the house leaving the man as entirely naked as a moment before she had been herself.

Departure of the Wheeler party.

Lieut. Wheeler and command started from this place Saturday last en route for the Colorado. We are told that since this expedition left Carlin, in June last, they have surveyed topographically, something near 18,000 miles of territory. The party have already accomplished an immense amount of work, in scientific exploration. Just how much, or its value, can not be generally known until the final reports are written up and published, which will require months, if not years. Some mineral discoveries, probably of importance, have already been made by the party. We shall, however, have to look to the final report for details of this, the most interesting to the people of this coast, of all the objects of research. The method pursued to accomplish so much work, has been to keep small side expeditions constantly in the field, from each of the main divisions, and this plan will be continued until hostile Indians render it dangerous. After a thorough exploration of the Colorado by land and water, the expedition will proceed to Tucson, Arizona, and disband. Fred. W. Loring, quite a talented young writer, is, we believe, the only newspaper correspondent accompanying the expedition. His correspondence may be found in Appleton's Journal. Several interesting articles from his pen have already appeared in The Journal, portions of some of them we shall probably publish from time to time.

A County Boarder.

The Board of Supervisors at their last regular session were called upon by one Murphy for assistance, he claiming that he was helpless and without means. Under the circumstances the Board could not refuse, and accordingly quartered him at the Inyo House. The necessity for this action originated about as follows: Some time in June last Murphy and another man were engaged in timbering a mine belonging to the O. L. S. L. Company, and by carelessness of their own a small cave occurred which broke Murphy's leg. Superintendant Brady at once informed him that his wages should go on during the time he was disabled and would, furthermore pay his doctor's bills and board. For about a month this arrangement was carried out to the letter, but Murphy became tired and left with considerable money in his pocket, which he soon lost. Being unable to work, he applied, as stated, for assistance, which has been accorded by the county now for several weeks, which is all well enough, perhaps, but as a specimen of the man's gratitude we have it from reliable authority that he now proposes entering suit against the O. L. S. L. Co. for $10,000 damages. No doubt he will recover—the use of his leg.

Military Information.

Brevet Major General E. O. C. Ord, U. S. Army, Commanding the military department of California, arrived at Camp Independence on Friday evening, Aug. 11. He was busily engaged in inspecting the troops, their quarters, supplies, etc., until Tuesday morning, Aug. 14, when he left for the other side of the mountains, taking the Yosemite Valley in his route. Lieut. H. L. Haskell, 12th Infantry, and an escort went with him from the post, as guides through the mountains. The General was accomoanied by Col. Hugh G. Brown, A. D. C., Ass't. Surgeon Thomas McMillin, U. S. A. and Lieut. (and Brevet Major) J. M. Norvell, Adjt. 12th Infty. He visited the Kearsarge Mill and other points of interest while here. General Ord was born in Maryland, and is a graduate of the Military Academy at West Point, (class of 1839), has been a Brigadier General in the Regular Army since July 26, 1866, and was one of the heroes of the war of the rebellion. Early in the war he was a Brig. Gen. of Vols., was made Maj. General U. S. Vols. May 2d, 1862, serving with distinction in both the Western and Eastern armies, suffering from wounds and sickness. He was one of General Grant's favorite Generals, and commanded the old Thirteenth army corps, in the campaign against Vicksburg.

Lecture.

Mr. F. J. Mette will deliver a lecture on Life Insurance, on Thursday evening, 24th instant, charging an admission fee of 50 cts., the proceeds of which will be donated to the School fund of Independence. The subject is well chosen; one which is of just importance to the people, and of particular interest, especially when it is well handled, as no doubt it will be in Mr. Mette's able hands. We hope that every man, woman and child in the neighborhood will attend this lecture, for independent of the value of the lecture itself every cent of the small sum charged as an admittance fee, is so much contributed to a needful and worthy object—our public school in this place.

Shooting in Cerro Gordo.

Tuesday last, in Cerro Gordo, Juan Rojas got into a row with Pasqual Baker, whom he attempted to shoot. Baker received a shot in the wrist, and an innocent bystander, whose name we have not ascertained, another through the shoulder. Rojas is now in jail awaiting the action of the Grand Jury. The wound received by the stranger is a bad one, though it is supposed he will recover. We have received no further particulars.

I. O. O. F.

Members of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows are requested to meet at the Inyo House, on Saturday evening next, for the purpose of organizing a lodge. We hear that it is proposed to occupy the hall at this place belonging to the Masons. If our ideas are correct there are more odd fellows at Lone Pine than elsewhere in the valley, and would be but an even thing for them to join in and erect a hall at that place.

For Supervisors.

The candidates for County Supervisors, as put in the field by the respective parties, consist of the following gentlemen: Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo Districts, John Simpson, Democrat, and Wm. Barrows, Republican. Independence District, J. N. Rose, Republican, and A. N. Bell, Democrat.

Another Shooting Scrape.

It is rumored that another shooting affray came off in Cerro Cordo, Wednesday night, but who the parties were or what it was about, or how much good was done, we can't say.

Good.

County Scrip has advanced to 60 cents on the dollar, cash, notwithstanding the recent extraordinary outlay of money by the county. This is a good investment at 50 cents.

SWANSEA TOLL ROAD.

Upon report of Examiners appointed to view and report upon this road, it appears that said road is complete and in good repair. It was ordered that the rates of toll authorized to be charged and collected upon said toll road be fixed as follows:

One wagon and pair of horses	50 cts.
" " " each add'tl pair	12½ "
" horse and rider	12½ "
Pack animals each	05 "
Sheep, goats, hogs each	15 "
Empty wagon one way free.

The following parties were cited to appear on the 1st day of September and show cause why their assessments should not be raised, to wit:

V. Beaudry, M. W. Belshaw, J. G. Burcham, Duncan Campbell, C. & M. Cohen, Daneri & Stewart, Eclipse Mining Company, Harris & Rhine, Thos. May, H. C. Morse, Munzinger & Fernbach, Munzinger & Lubkin, O. L. S. L. Co., John Wallace, Phœnix G. & S. M. Co.

Adjourned to 1st day of September.

Interesting Fight.

Considerable public interest has been excited over a little contest now going on between some parties in Cerro Gordo and the Cerro Gordo & Owens Lake Toll Road Company. As is well known, the road belongs to M. W. Belshaw, and was partly built by him some three years since, the major portion of the road following a natural route up a canyon, which was widened and filled in places, and over a grade built by Mr. Belshaw. But, it is alleged, the most difficult part of the road was built by miners and citizens, who proclaim that it is unjust to be compelled to pay toll over the road. To test the matter, John Simpson, on the night of the 3d instant, after demanding of the toll collector his authority, refused to pay and passed the gate. Mr. Tollman reported to headquarters, and Deputy Sheriff Peterson despatched to capture Simpson, who was arrested at Lone Pine, on a charge of misdemeanor. On the 4th instant he was arraigned before Justice Barrow's court, by E. H. Van Decar for the people, and F. K. Miller and F. F. Gallardo for the defense. The merits of the case were argued until night, when a jury trial was demanded by the prisoner. On next assembling a venire of 90 jurors was exhausted in obtaining the regular number. After a day or two's work, the jury found a verdict of "not guilty," and now the case goes to the District Court, on a suit brought to recover those two bit piece. We rather opine that Belshaw has the best of it, by virtue of charter and the law, but the county should buy the road or build another and better one, from money collected in Cerro Gordo as road tax. The people there will do as much as they did on the first, and the Swansea Company will donate a good five or six miles already built. Viewed from its various points the subject is an interesting one.

Mail Contract Let.

The contract for carrying a weekly mail between this place and Cerro Gordo, has been awarded to our friend, J. Earl, of Camp Independence. Mr. Earl has filed his bonds and will at once proceed upon the contract. Now the question that concerns the people generaly of both places is whether we are to be limited to one mail per week. We know that no such arrangement will answer our needs. The business between Cerro Gordo, Lone Pine and this place already demands a daily line of stages, and such a line is soon to be put on, though we already have two lines each running a tri-weekly stage. We need a tri-weekly mail at least, and we hope by all means that the Department at Washington will order it on at once. Of course should such a needed contract be let to Mr. Earl there is no question about his ability and competentcy to carry it out to the letter, and in a satisfactory manner. He is one of our oldest and most enterprising citizens, and possessed of the necessary means and will to run a stage line for the accommodation of the public. In any case, whether it is carried by Mr Earl or John Collister, the late contractor, and popular stage man, we repeat that we need and ought to have, at least, a tri-weekly mail.

Died.

A letter from the Resident Surgeon of the Insane asylum, addressed to Judge Hanson, contains the news of the death of John T. Ryan, recently sent there from this county. We believe the immediate cause was from an abcess in the liver, although his death from general debility was daily expected. The deceased has a sister residing in St. Louis, Mo. Poor Ryan was a brilliant but erratic genius, always in his little troubles, but possessed of an inexhaustible fund of humor. He was a brilliant imaginative writer, as a great many of his effusions now before us will testify—but through all was noticeble the little eccentricities which culminated in the dethronement of reason and final dissolution.

Southern Stage Line.

Messrs. Roberts & George of the Telegraph Stage Line, running between this county and Visalia, make known the fact that we have stage communication with the outside world, and that they are running three times a week. Their enterprise, low rates and short time will make this the frequented and popular line. People will patronize a route the proprietors of which sabe enough to appreciate the similarity of interests of newspapers and lines of public travel, in preference to one which withdraws its sickly, pitiful support from a journal because it does not see fit to quietly acquiesce in incompetency and mismanagement.

Where is Hahn?

We have been waiting for an opportunity to glean some authentic information concerning the reported losing of C. F. R. Hahn, the well known guide, who went out to escort Lieut. Lyle's party to the Armagoza. It is understood that the party were lost in the mountains and traveled three days without water, and that Hahn either purposely left the party or got lost himself. Vague reports indicate that the party did not spend much time in looking for him, but the general belief is that Hahn will turn up all right yet.

Restaurant.

Peter Margarot, of the French Restaurant, this week officially promulgates the fact that he still holds forth, and that "one beer" drinks are the order of the day at his bar.

Bullion Shipment.

There were shipped this morning by Wells, Fargo & Co. from the arastras of J. W. McMurry, at Fish Springs, 75 ounces of gold bullion, valued at $1,168.

The Political Speaking.

According to notification, quite a respectable gathering assembled at the Court House, Thursday night, to hear the Hon. A. C. Lawrence, who is canvassing the county in the Democratic interest, upon the issues of the day. With no intention of expressing an opinion upon the questions discussed, we have no hesitation in saying that Mr. Lawrence as a speaker acquitted himself very well indeed, and as a gentleman has made a fine impression upon all, without regard to party. He was to speak last night at Lone Pine, and to-night at Cerro Gordo.

Stage Robbery.

Mr. George, of the Telegraph Stage Line, informs us that on Friday last the Visalia and Gilroy stage was stopped by road agents, who robbed the passengers of $4,00 but did not get Wells, Fargo & Co's treasure box. Dewey, of The Visalia Delta, was aboard, but being an editor the presumption is he did not lose anything to speak of.

Fights.

Another season of fights and drinks seems to have set in, the effects of headache-essence being visible on all sides, during the nights.

Cash.

There is cash on hand at County Treasurers Harris' office for the redemption of County Warrants No. 211, 214, 230, 231, and 232.

Meeting.

The Democratic County Central Committee will meet at the County Clerk's office to-day, at 10 o'clock.

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, August 19.....1871

—Among the piquant aphorisms up on the somewhat shaky topic of credit, may be mentioned Lord Alvanley's description of a man who "muddled away his fortune in paying his tradesmen's bills." Lord Oxford's definition of timber: "An excrescence on the face of the earth, placed there by Providence for the payment of debts;" and Pelham's argument that "it is respectable to be arrested for debt, because it shows the party once had credit."

—When Professor Felton, reading a "A Midsummer Night's Dream" to the captain of a ship, of which he was a passenger, came to the description of Oberon sitting on a promontory listening to a mermaid on a dolphin's back, the seaman was disgusted. "The dolphin's back," said he, "is as sharp as a razor, and no mermaid could possibly ride the beast unless she first saddled him."

—A white-haired old negro preacher in New Orleans thus addressed one of the meetings of dissatified darkeys recently: "What are you grumblin' about? Yer all better off dan ye ever 'spected to be—dan you deserve to be. Did yer tink when Massa Linkum guv ye yer freedom he was gwine to buy tickets in the Louisiana State Lottery for you beside?"

—It is an exploded theory that women dress to please men. They dress to please or spite each other. Any girl of sense and experience knows it is just as easy to break a man's heart in a two-dollar muslin, neatly made up, as it is in a five-hundred-dollar silk costume, made by a man-dressmaker.

—A bachelor says all he should ask for in a wife would be a good temper, health, good understanding, agreeable physiognomy, figure, good connection, domestic habits, resources of amusement, good spirits, conversational talents, elegant manners—money!

—A hack-driver in Chicago, who was arrested for cruelty to a miserable looking horse, was asked if he ever fed him. "Ever fed him? that's a good 'un," was the reply. "He's got a bushel and a half of oats at home now, only he ain't got time to eat 'em."

—Some clever fellow has invented a new kind of ink, called "love-letter ink." It is a sure preventative against all casss of breach of promise, as the ink fades away, and leaves the sheet blank in about four weeks after being written upon.

—A Maine girl being bantered one day by some of her female friends in regard to her lover, who had the misfortune to have but one leg, replied: "Pooh, I wouldn't have a man with two legs—they're are too common."

—One of the big trees standing in Calaveras county, is 3,400 years old, and was as large as that now on exhibition, in the time of Charlemagne. The big tree was as large in the days of Solomon.

—"You had better look out for your hoss' feet above here, mister," said a ragged boy to a passing traveler. "Why," said the gentleman, nervously pulling up. "Coz there's a fork in the road there," was the candid reply.

—Any one can drift. But it takes prayer, religious principle, earnestness of purpose, constant watching to resist the evil of this world—to struggle against the tide.

—At North Hatfield, Mass., it is said that in early days a road was laid out which was described as "running from Pochang meadow to the stream where old Doolittle's horse died."

—By the late Texas election law, any person in that State making a bet or wager upon the result of an election, is debarred from the privilege of casting a vote.

—A bill "for the further protection of the rights of married men" was introduced into the New Hampshire Legislature recently.

—Georgia people are wondering at a man who recently made a costly present to a church and the next day went into bankruptcy.

—Widows are estimated by the square mile in New Hampshire. Twenty to the mile is thought a good ratio.

—The New York Times says that Jim Fisk is "first in peace, first in war, and first in the pockets of his countrymen."

—"Pa, what can I do, unless you get me a riding habit, up here in the country?" "Get into a habit of walking, my dear."

—Take the world as it is, not as it ought to be.

—To be angry is to avenge the faults of others upon ourselves.

—"The way to become round" is to eat square meals.

—The tool with which editors hew their fortunes—the "ads."

—There are sixty-nine convicts in the Nevada State Prison.

—Indians are too plenty in Corinne to suit the people.

—They call dancing parties in Idaho "collarups."

Honorably Acquitted.

After a thorough and searching investigation of the facts in the case, Mrs. Malvina Crenshaw and Wm. Halford, charged with being concerned in the death of John M. Crenshaw, were honorably acquitted of the charge.—White Pine News.

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of State and the Treasurer of State, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said State, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bond; said coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notice of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the Capital of the State; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris in France, and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in German, in the City of Frankfort-on-the-Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the State; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless sufficient security shall be furnished by the bidders for the compliance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of State each to keep a separate record of all bonds sold under the provisions of this Act, showing the number, date, amount and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury; and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in section seven of this Act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value, but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bonded, which said certificate shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel each bond so exchanged, and shall indorse on such bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued in exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the State treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the state, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering therein the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the commencement of such advertisement, such bonds, unless sooner paid, shall cease to draw interest, but the money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the state, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the state treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper, published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper, published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals, at rates not exceeding par value, as may redeem the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less amount than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publication, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication; before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this Act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said interest Fund, if sufficient; and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that the Controller of State shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. This Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for the submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the State for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this State shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act; those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same, shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and canvassed, and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Treasurer of State, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast for or against this law, as aforesaid, are in favor of this Act, then the same shall have effect as herein before provided, and shall be inoperable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation hereof; but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have this Act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceding the next general election, for which publication no greater allowance shall be made than the rates allowed by law to the State Printer.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, H. L. NICHOLS, Secretary of State of the State of California, do hereby certify that the annexed is a true, full, and correct copy of Chapter Four hundred and Eighty-four, Statutes of California, Eighteenth Session, approved April 2, 1870, now on file in my office.

WITNESS my hand and the great seal of said State, at office, in Sacramento, California, this twenty-fifth day of May, A. D. 1871.

POPPING CORN.

And there they sat a popping corn,
John Stiles and Susan Cutter;
John Stiles as stout as an ox,
And Susan fat as butter,
And there they sat and shelled the corn,
And raked and stirred the fire,
And talked of different kinds of care,
And hitched their chairs up higher.

Then Susan she the popper shook,
Then John he shook the popper,
Till both their faces grew as red
As sauce pans made of copper,
And then they shelled and popped and ate,
All kinds of fun a poking,
And he haw-hawed at her remarks,
And she laughed at his joking.

And still they popped and still they ate,
(John's mouth was like a hopper)
And stirred the fire and sprinkled salt,
And shook and shook the popper.
The clock struck nine, the clock struck ten,
And still the corn kept popping;
It struck eleven and then struck twelve,
And still no signs of stopping.

And John he ate, and Sue she thought,
The corn did pop and patter,
Till John cried out, "the corn's afire!
Why Susan what's the matter?"
Said she, "John Stiles, it's one o'clock,
You'll die of indigestion;
I'm sick of all this popping corn,
Why don't you pop the question?"

A COUNCIL OF WAR.

[FRED W. LORING IN APPLETON'S JOURNAL.]

We have had a council of war. That is, it was a peace conference; but then a council of war sounds better, and I am not sure that the proceedings were quite as amiable as they were interpreted to be, so that I boldly repeat my assertion that we have had a council of war.

The big chief of the Shoshones rejoices in the euphonious name of Cowitch. He is an artistic barbarian, with an eye for color. Owing to the supposition that the object of our expedition was the massacre of all the Indians in the State of Nevada—a supposition which had its foundation in the frantic behavior of our bug-collector, who scoured the mountains around us in search of prey—the noble red man left our neighborhood. Abiit, evasit, and so on. This was not what we desired, as their information concerning the country might prove valuable. So, meeting one stray Indian in the woods, our professional pioneer gloomily eyed him, and then addressed him. Here let me state, parenthetically, that there is only one proper method of talking to an Indian. Indian talk is something like baby talk in its utter disjointedness. Remember the style of conversation of Mr. Alfred Jingle, reader of Pickwick, and adopt it when you meet a big chief. Say "heap" as often as possible. Use it promiscuously with nouns, adjectives, and verbs. Tell him he shall have a heap of muck-a-muck, assure him that he is a heap good indian, and inform him that you a heap go away through the country. Omit all prepositions and conjunctions. Never say perhaps; but use, as an equivalent, "maybe so." The sign of equality, too, finds favor with the poor Indian's untutored mind. "All the same as," is a phrase which is absolutely necessary to the success of any dialogue with an Indian. And, as a conclusion, the universal "Sabe?" a word adopted from the Mexican vocabulary, must be employed.

So our pioneer addressed the Indian: "Heap good white man—camp—see Indian—want be heap friend Indian—white man all same as Indian—come up to camp—sabe?"

The Indian did sabe, much to my surprise, as the pioneer's remarks were utterly unintelligible to me. He told Cowitch, and that sagacious chieftain, before venturing among us, dispatched Frank, his interpreter, to reconoitre.

This Frank is a refutation of the assertion that the Indian is below or above education. He speaks English fluently, having been reared in a white family whose civilizing influence was so strong that, as soon as he was old enough, he ran away and joined this tribe. He makes a very satisfactory interpreter; and, though his dress is highly Indianesque, has a quiet and subdued manner which impresses us favorably. He promised us a visit from Cowitch and his attendant chieftains on the following day, and, in a state of tremulous anticipation, we awaited his coming.

At about 9 o'clock A. M. there was a noise of horses' hoofs, and a troop of mounted Shoshones appeared, surrounding Cowitch, who, with his two squaws, his heir-apparent, and his mother-in-law, formed the centre of the group. They alighted, and immediately squatted on the ground; Cowitch and his chiefs in the middle, the others grouped around him in a ring; while the squaws, the heir-apparent, and an unfortunate chief who came late, sat at one side. The heir-apparent was a frisky little Indian baby of about three years of age, who kept bobbing into the council and disturbing the solemnity of the proceedings in a highly irreverent manner. But what pleased me especially was the state of discipline to which Cowitch had reduced his mother-in-law. That venerable old lady kept trotting back and forth all the morning, bringing drinks of water, in an old fruit can, to the assembled chieftains. Cowitch himself was dressed in buckskin trousers, a plaid red-and-white flannel shirt, and an old dress-coat with one tail. On his head was a crown, composed of crow-feathers and shirt-buttons, while his hair was plaited in two braids, and tied up with musk-rat skins. His forehead and cheeks were painted bright vermillion, and, altogether, his appearance was frightfully grotesque.

The council opened with assurances on our part of our harmlessness, and our amiable intentions toward the entire Indian race. Then Cowitch, removing his pipe, a real meerschaum with a briarwood stem, which was frequently passed round during the council, began a series of suffocated guttural sounds, whose meaning was thus interpreted by Frank:

"Cowitch says he is a good Indian. The Mojaves are bad Indians; they lie and steal, take white man's presents and grub, and then kill him. He has never killed any white man. It was Butterfield, the guide, who killed three white men in the mountains. Cowitch likes the white men, and wants to be friends with them. The white man came to his country, and Cowitch was glad; but the white man would give him no pay. No pay, no clothes, no grub. Cowitch good Indian, friend to white men; but the country was his, and the white man took it away."

Without explaining to Cowitch that a tribe of six hundred Indians, who draw nothing from the land except "the grasshoppers that sport on the hillside," could hardly be allowed to monopolize over eighty thousand acres of our richest mineral land, we proceeded to state that we wished information about the camping facilities of the Pahranagat Valley. To this Cowitch replied, through Frank:

"Cowitch good Indian; but the Mojave Indians are bad Indians, who lie and steal, and take the white man's presents and grub, and then kill them. It was Butterfield, the guide, who killed the white men up in the mountains. Cowitch has never killed any white men. The white man come to Cowitch and take his country, but don't pay him. He wants money or muck-a-muck for his braves; have nothing to eat, as there are no grasshoppers.—Mother-in-law, get me a drink of water."

Upon this we informed Cowitch that we were prepared to give him tobacco, and muck-a-muck, and clothes, and jewelry, in abundance, if he would only give us a guide from his tribe. Then the big chief laid down his pipe, and said:

"Cowitch will give a guide to the white man. Cowitch a good Indian, but the Mojave no good to white man. It was Butterfield, the guide, who killed three white men in the mountains. The white man come to Cowitch and take his country; but, when he ask them for pay, they say 'git!'"

This unexpected variation upon the original theme struck us so pleasantly, that we proceeded to distribute Indian goods in great abundance, bestowing upon the leading squaw of Cowitch a string of green-glass buttons, which her husband afterward took away from her and appropriated to his own use. Then the council broke up. Some of the chiefs rode away, some lingered around the cooks, and others peered into the tents in the hope of stealing something. I interviewed Cowitch, in the hope of obtaining some ethnological information. The only fact of any importance which I discovered will prove interesting to those Eastern gentlemen who have been recently asserting that the Indian cannot lie. There is one exception, at least, to this rule, in the case of the Shoshone tribe, and I think it likely that I shall discover others in my progress southward.

Cowitch in private was as affable as he was dignified in public. We sat down and smoked cigaritas. I endeavored to obtain from him the Shoshone equivalent of certain English words. These he declined to give, for the following logical reasons:

"White man know heap—not know Shoshone—Indian know Shoshone—white man know Shoshone, then white man all the same as Indian."

Having Frank to fall back upon, I was not bitterly disappointed. The wily Cowitch had hoped to extort a quarter from me, but I foiled him. The consciousness of this fact rendered me unusually amiable, and I beamed benignantly on the vermillion-tinged being before me. I did so wish that those of my friends who know and admire my scientific attainments could have seen me exhibiting them for the benefit of Cowitch. The compass and the deflection of the needle, the barometer, the anemometer, and the photographic camera, were all explained in detail by me to the noble aborigine, and the climax was reached when our pioneer passed by and remarked to Cowitch that I was the man who made newspapers.

I could see that Cowitch was impressed, and I mentally apostrophized the glorious power of the press which—but I will save that sentiment for the next press-dinner which I attend. Then Cowitch, with proper deference, asked me if I was a big chief.

I looked modestly conscious, and then answered boldly in the affirmative; for it was a matter of doubt, and I had a right to take any possible advantage.

Then Cowitch asked me if I had a squaw.

I told him not at present, but there was no saying what might happen, to which he assented, with the luminous observation, "Yes; heap happen," which was certainly truthful, if not profound.

"Then, as a return question, I asked him if those were his squaws, and he acknowledge them. I asked him still further if he could sabe Mormon.

He could not, and I explained as follows:

"Mormon—tribe—over there—Salt Lake—big chief heap squaws—ten—twenty—sixty—heap squaws."

What do you suppose was this sagacious chieftain's response? I glow with delight as I write it.

"No fun—heap squaws—no fun," from which I infer that, in spite of the success of his domestic discipline, Cowitch found one mother-in-law quite sufficient.

On the whole, we parted on the best of terms. I presented him with two old kid gloves, one brown and one lavender, which he drew on with great delight, and then remarked:

"Cowitch is good Indian, but the Mojaves no good. Cowitch is a friend of the white man, and never hurt him. It was Butterfield the guide who—"

Hastily interrupting him at this point, I bade him good-by and rushed into my tent.

Cowitch himself made a grand tour of the camp, saying good-by, and shaking hands with every officer, soldier, and packer, in the party.

The last words I heard were, "It was Butterfield the guide," and the air has seemed to re-echo them faintly through the entire day.

It seems to me that I ought to draw some conclusions from the scenes of this day, and yet I dislike exceedingly to generalize. The Indian is a human being, and therefore capable of civilization and education. It is his right, even if he does not claim it, and it is the duty of the Government and the people to give it to him. But the development of the county is also a duty, and that philanthrophy which denounces our settlers, who are hastening this work, as persecutors of the Indian, is as idiotic as it is ignorant.

"There needs no ghost come from the grave, my Lord,
To tell us that;"

and yet there are those who, through a sickly sentimentality or a love of notoriety, prate about the wrongs of the noble savage, who is, generally speaking, a filthy and degraded brute. This country is too valuable to humanity to be given up to grasshopper hunting. The conduct of our settlers is not perfect, but it does not deserve opprobrious reproach. There are Indians who are harmless, and who are unmolested, to be sure, but also neglected, which is wrong. There are others who are blood-thirsty, untamed, and pitiless, and these our objects of attack, which is right. And certain would-be orators, who utter much meaningless stuff about the condition of the Indian in the East, which few people attend to or care about, are raising a bitter feeling in the extreme West, and may produce disastrous results in the future.

LATER.—Since Cowitch's departure, two dippers and a tin pail have been missed, together with a Roman scarf, one end of which was incautiously left hanging out of a valise. We do not complain—we are simply thankful that his eye for color prevented him from abstracting more valuable objects. And we have every confidence in the integrity and amiability of Butterfield the guide, although we have never seen him.

The Northern Pacific Railroad.

The St. Paul branch of this road is now finished 160 miles west, leaving but fifty-seven yet to build. This is now ready for the iron, and will be in running order by the 1st of October, when cars may go from St. Paul to the Red river of the North in ten hours. The most careful estimates now figure up the total cost of building the Northern Pacific from Duluth to Puget Sound at $85,277,000, or $42,638 per mile; and this includes $7,230,000 interest on bonds over receipts during the time of constructing the road. The land grant alone, at the low average of $2 50 per acre, is worth $125,000,000, or 39,723,000 more than the whole cost of the road and equipments.

TELEGRAPH NEEDED.

In view of our present extensive and fast increasing business with San Francisco we consider a telegraph line a much needed institution, and one that we believe would pay well. We are likely to be soon well supplied with stage communications, but this alone does not answer our needs. In matters of importance constantly occurring in mining, merchandising, official and other affairs, it is almost a necessity to have telegraphic communication. By the most expeditious method we now have we can have no return from business communications with San Francisco in less than ten days, a delay that is often disastrous, if not fatal, to important operations. Taking all the business in the count, that would center at Cerro Gordo, Swansea, Lone Pine, Independence and Bishop Creek we certainly think that it would amount to enough to justify the immediate extension of either the Aurora or the Visalia line. With a fast freight here that would carry goods at fair rates the advantage of a telegraph would be still more marked.

A New Minister.

The Rev. E. K. Orne late of Carson city, Nevada, has been sent by the Methodist Conference, as Preacher in Charge for this county. Mr. Orne with his family arrived at Bishop Creek, a few days since, but designs we believe, to establish his residence in this place. Church-going people will be pleased to know that we are to have preaching in this place every Sunday, after the Quarterly Conference, which commences September 2d.

Newspaper Change.

O. L. C. Fairchild, has sold The Reese River Reveille to Andrew Casamayou and John H. Dennis, both old residents of Austin. These gentlemen pay Fairchild, the retiring editor, a well deserved compliment for the fairness and ability shown in the management of The Reveille, for the past eight years. Fairchild goes to Oakland to reside. The Reveille will be continued as before at Austin, and we wish the new managers all possible success.

FOREIGN NEWS.

A gentleman returned from Europe where he has been on intimate social relations with the French Imperial family informs interviewers of a morning paper that Napoleon believes in his early restoration; that the Government of Theirs is regarded as a mere makeshift; that his death at this time would be followed by another civil war. Gambetta is looked upon as an ambitious, intriguing, able man. Bazaine waits on history to justify him. Libre ff s a wre ched creature. The Empress is well, and intends to send the Prince Imperial on a tour through the United States when he is a little older. There are now two parties in France; the Imperialist and Red Republican. The Bourbons are nowhere. European diplomatists favor his (the Emperor's) return, believing that the restoration of Napoleon would keep in subjection the disorderly elements of the French, which now menace Europe. It is also stated that England threatens serious revolutionary troubles and it was believed that the conciliation of the Government would fail to satisfy the demands of the people.

The payment of the second instalment of half a billion of francs on account of the indemnity to the Germans has been completed. The army of occupation in France is reduced to 150,000 men. The French are doing wonders in paying off the enormous German indemnity! If they had been half as vigorous and united in fighting the Germans as they are in paying the price of French vanity and folly, they would have had no indemnity to pay.

The Lutherans of the Baltic provinces have been very badly treated by their Russian neighbors of the Greek Church, whereupon the Swiss and American Committees of the Evangelical Alliance each put in a protest to Prince Gortchakoff. THE INYO LANCET.

A campaign paper bearing the above incisive title presented itself to public notice during the past week. The Lancet is edited by Goodale, Hill & Co., who very strenously advocate an independent county ticket. It is not the aim or intention of THE INDEPENDENT to question or criticise the acts of political aspirants. We claim no jurisdiction in such cases, not at least, until the said aspirants have emerged from the chrysalis state into full blown officials. We, however, believe that this and all similar sorehead, independent movements is in bad taste, and not deserving sympathy or encouragement. It is a tacit agreement among the people that the delegates selected by them to meet in convention shall have the power to name their candidates. A majority vote of a convention is a fair expression of the people whom these delegates represent. It is not a fair or right thing to repudiate their acts, except in the most extreme cases. Bodies of men acting together are liable to make mistakes and often do, and it is quite possible that both of our late conventions made mistakes in some of their candidates, but that they acted in good faith we have good reason to believe, the assertions of The Lancet to the contrary notwithstanding. The acts of these conventions was as fair an expression of the wishes of the people as could possibly be had at the time.

These conventions were representatives of their respective parties, and their respective parties are in honor bound to stand by them, and share alike the responsibilities of their acts. Each party is sufficiently responsible for the acts of its own officers, and this gives us the only security we can have against wire working and demagogueism. In other words, our every interest demands that party organizations should be kept intact. On these grounds alone we condemn this independent movement. It is not a blow at individual candidates, but at the party they represent, and we are satisfied that all who give this matter due consideration will frown it down by ignoring their candidates on the day of election. They may name the best men, these Independents, but no matter; party faith must be kept or it will be impossible, hereafter, to get responsible men to accept nominations at the hands of a party which offers no assurance of even party support. We do not ask or council support to a candidate simply because he is a party man; if unfit or disqualified from any cause, then don't vote for him; it may go against the grain to vote for his opponent, but better that than to give countenance to such moves as this proposed by The Lancet. Its only tendency is to relieve parties of all responsibility in their nominations and make conventions a farce, or place parties entirely at the mercy (at least in all cases where party unanimity is necessary to carry an election) of any dissatisfied individuals who may come before it. In fact, it is placing a convention in precisely the same position that Goodale, Hill & Co. are so stoutly protesting against—putting it directly in the hands of a single man through fear of his threats of an independent movement, that is liable to result disastrously to the party. With such threats held in terrorem, no set of delegates can give satisfaction to themselves or to the people they represent.

Shoshones and Piutes.

The old camping ground of the Shoshones on the hill south of town has been entirely abandoned by them and is now occupied exclusively by the Piutes. The few straggters of the former tribe remaining about here are camped on the north side of, and near the town, evidently for the purpose of protection from the whites. They stand in mortal dread of their Piute brethren who have always imposed upon and tyranized over them—taking their territory, stealing their squaws and horses, killing their game and pillaging their pine-nut groves.

The Piutes are a powerful and warlike tribe, while the Shoshones are weak and inoffensive, caring more for "bisket" than for the honors of war, and attaching greater value to rabbit-skins than scalp-locks. We understand that the former demand that portion of the latter's territory lying between the present boundary, (which is somewhere in the vicinity of Cold Springs,) and the Scheli Creek range of mountains, and doubtless but for fear of interference by the whites, the demand would be enforced at once, and our Shoshone friends driven from this portion of their domain, and made to take up their residence nearer the rising sun. This we hope they will not be permitted to do; the first warlike demonstration made by the stronger tribe against the weaker should be met by interference from the whites and the intruders given notice that no further acts of aggression against their weaker neighbors will be tolerated.—Reese River Reveille.

The parties wishing to see him disappeared.

Arizona.

Correspondence from more remote parts of Arizona Territory show the present summer to be the driest and hottest ever known in Arizona. In Pine Grove district there is not water enough to work arastras. Gov. Safford, with a company of some fifty miners, has gone on a prospecting trip to the mineral districts of the Pinal country in eastern Arizona, carrying the war into the heart of the Apache country. Potatoes have been selling at twenty cents per pound in Prescott; flour, $8.50 to $10 per hundred.

Cruelty at Sea.

Almost incredible statements are published in the New York papers of the cruelty practiced on board the ship Sardis, Captain Cunningham, of Boston, from San Francisco, for Liverpool, with wheat, on December 8th. Another sickening tale is told of the ship Mary Brune, Captain Arthur, from San Francisco for Hongkong. The Sardis carried a crew of sixteen, shipped in San Francisco for the round trip; five of them arrived on the ship Prussiana on Tuesday last, and are at the new Sailors' Home on Pearl street. One of the number, Charles H. Swords, says that during the first thirty days out, the crew were treated with humanity by the captain, who seemed to spare no pains to make them comfortable; but after this Cunningham began his brutalities by knocking one of the crew in the head with the butt of his revolver. The men were put in irons, fed on sea biscuit and salt water, and not allowed to remove their clothing. Oliver Johnson, John Henning and Tourny Williams, were placed in double-irons, their hands tied behind their backs, and thus they were triced up for twelve hours. When taken down they were unable to stand, and their shoulders were out of joint, but the captain with a billet of wood beat them to compel them to rise. Finding that they were unable to do so, he jerked them up by the assistance of the boatswain, hammered their shoulders into their proper positions, and compelled them to man the pumps. He stood over them with a ratan, laying it on their bare backs whenever they slackened their speed. They were kept at this until they fell to the deck senseless. Swords and the cook interfered, backed by three or four of the crew; whereupon the captain drew his revolver and threatened to shoot them down for mutiny if they did not go forward. This they refused to do until they had taken care of the men who had been so shockingly maltreated. The captain called his mates and put the whole watch in irons, and shut them up in the hold. After this, as each watch was called, the watch below was put in irons. At first they were put on short allowance and then bread and water, and finally, before reaching Liverpool, they were given nothing but raw wheat to eat. They were compelled to work and lie in irons each alternate four hours during the remainder of the voyage. The crew of the Mary Brune numbered eighteen. They arrived at Hongkong about April 1st. From the 6th of June, when they got out of sight of land, the captain opened on the crew. A. Jackson, was one of those who deserted the ship at Hongkong, arrived in this port about a week ago from San Francisco, and is also at the new Sailors' Home. A reporter saw him yesterday and obtained the following story: Captain Arthur beat every man on the ship before they had been out three days; and then began a reign of terror. The men were beaten miscellaneously with belaying pins, capstan bars and clubs. On the 1st of January the captain gouged out Alfred Nelson's eyes and threw them overboard. Next day he tied the cook by the feet, head down, and left him there till dead. He then threw him overboard. George Harmon said that he should sweat for that when he reached port. Procuring a red-hot iron, the captain scorched Harmon's tongue and burned him on the face until he was unable to articulate. Harmon was then tied up by one wrist clear of the deck, and kept in that position until his hand turned black. Silas Wilson was forced to jump overboard from the bow of the ship at the instance of the captain, who gave him the choice between having his brains blown out and drowning. Another man named Jackson was taken sick, and the captain forced him to commit suicide by taking arsenic, threatening, as the alternative, that he should have his throat cut. He took arsenic and died.

From Winnemucca.

These items are dated Winnemucca, Nevada, August 12:

The skeleton of a human being was found about a mile and a half above this place yesterday, in an advanced state of decomposition. It is supposed to be the remains of a man who disappeared suddenly about ten months ago. Nothing was found at or near the remains that would indicate the cause of death or lead to identification.

A giant bird, the largest creature ever seen in this country with wings, and it is believed unknown to American ornithology, suddenly appeared in town at an early hour this morning, and remained several minutes quietly perched on a house-top to be gazed at by the astonished multitude.

An Indian known here as Capt. Jim, who can speak good English, says that the Piute chiefs have held a council and decided to make war against the Shoshone tribe. As the law prohibits the sale of firearms to Indians in this State, they propose sending one of their number to California in hopes to get guns and ammunition there. The immediate cause of the trouble is a dispute as to the locality of a boundary line between the two tribes.

A Noteworthy Curiosity.

Our State Mineralogist, Henry W. Whitehill, promises to give us, occasionally, a scrap from his notes of travel from Los Angeles up through the country lying below Pioche. Many strange and curious freaks of nature, and indications of art are to be observed. Here we mention a remarkable discovery, which has never yet, that we are aware, been noticed in print: Near Ivanpah, Clarke District, which lies in the southwestern portion of this State, close to the line of California, about forty miles from the Colorado river, and 250 from Los Angeles, can be seen this wonderful curiosity. On the eastern slope of Clarke mountain, near its summit, there is a perpendicular cliff 350 feet in height. At about 100 feet from the base of this cliff, on its front, are engraven the characters † I L D. The cross and letters are of immense size, being fully 60 feet in height and cut into the cliff 2½ feet deep, so that they can be plainly seen at a distance of at least five miles. By whom this strange workmanship was done, is unknown. The fact, however, that the letters are the Roman characters, and are preceded by the figure of a cross, would make it appear probable that it was done by the Jesuit missionaries, who are known to have been in this region many years ago. The Indians know nothing of its authors, nor have they any tradition concerning its origin.—White Pine News.

The Mocking-Bird.

A Nashville paper relates the following anecdote of a mocking-bird owned by a lady of Scottsville, Kentucky. The paper says: The sister of officer Harry Mansfield, of this city, had raised a mocking-bird, which she taught to go and come at her call, and which, in return for all the kindness bestowed upon it, exhibited a peculiar fondness for her. Last Monday week Miss Mansfield was taken ill, and to while away the tedium of the sick room, she had her little pet brought to her bedside, and day and night it cheered her with its sweet carols, bringing to mind many happy thoughts of field and meadow, sunshine and song. As her illness grew more alarming, and day after day brought no relief from suffering, the warbling of the little songster rather served to annoy than to please her, and so, turning wearily on her pillow, she said to him, "Birdie, hush, you worry me." Strange to say, the words seem to be understood, for immediately the song was hushed, and the bird retired within himself as it were. On the next day the lady died, leaving, it would seem, a command of silence upon the bird, which will never be broken, for although several days have elapsed since, and every effort has been made to induce him to sing, he refuses to respond with song to any lips but those of his once loved mistress.

Application for Patent.

NOTICE NO. 6.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE,
REGISTER'S OFFICE,
Aurora, Nevada, August 16th, 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT JOHN R. WINTERS, Superintendent of the Kearsarge Mining Company, on behalf of said company, has this day filed in this office a diagram and notice of application for patent from the United States, under act of Congress approved July 26, 1866 for one thousand, eight hundred feet in length of the "KEARSARGE LODE," with a surface width of fifty feet on each side of the lode. Said lode supposed to be one hundred feet in width, which belongs to the Kearsarge Mining Company, a corporation; adjoining on the East end the extension claims of James R. Wall, J. R. Hughes and G. W. Brady, and on the West end the extension claims of R. M. Shuey, J. B. Rowley and John Clarke, adjunct, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining district, County of Inyo, State of California. Notice is further given that they intend to apply for and have embraced in the said patent together and in connection with the "Kearsarge Lode," the land on which the Kearsarge mill is erected, together with a sufficient space of and around said mill for the convenient use of said mill; also the Water Right of said Kearsarge Mining Company on Little Pine Creek. The property sought to be patented together with the said "Kearsarge Lode" is known as the "Kearsarge Mill Site and Water claim on Little Pine Creek," and is described as follows, to wit: Commencing at a stump, it being the N. E. corner of what is known as McCormick, Kittleson, Cornell and Hill's cabin, 24 links from Pine Creek, from which a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears N. ½ deg. E. distant 62 links, also a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears S. 58½ deg. E. distant 64 links, thence N. 25½ deg. E. distant 4 chains to a tree blazed and marked as follows: Blazed on three sides and notched toward the creek and marked "Heart of the Kearsarge Mining Company's Ditch," thence N. 62½ deg. W. to the foot of the main mountain, thence N. 27½ deg. E. distant 91 rods, thence S. 62½ deg. E. to a stone mound on the opposite side of the creek, thence S. 27½ deg. W. along the East side of Pine Creek to a point opposite to and to place of beginning. And also all the water, water rights and privileges found upon or in any manner belonging to said tract of land—situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. All of which is more particularly described by the diagram and notices posted in this office and on the claim.

Mono County Nominations.

A correspondent furnishes us with the following as the nominations for county officers in our neighboring county of Mono: Republican—For Sheriff, J. J. Welch, of Bridgeport; for Clerk,—Mack, of Antelope; for Treasurer, A. H. Allen, of Bridgeport; for Assessor, G. W. Cross, of Hot Springs; for District Attorney, A. H. Crocker, of Bridgeport; for Superintendent of Public Instruction, —— Kerkindall, of Antelope; for Coroner, J. A. Barnes, of Bridgeport. On the Democratic side there seems to be but a partial ticket in the field, as follows: For Clerk, Z. B. Tinkum, of Bridgeport; for Assessor, Barney Peeler, of Bridgeport; for District Attorney, A. H. Griswold, of Castle Peak; for Assemblyman D. B. Curtis, of Inyo county. Our correspondent designates Welch, Kirkendall, Barnes, Tinkum, Peeler, Griswold and Curtis as the men who will be elected for their various positions.

Sudden Death.

Last Wednesday a man named Henry Grimm, a German, who has been working at Kearsarge and Swansea, died suddenly under the following circumstances: He was stopping at Lone Pine, where he had been drinking heavily for two or three days, and got on the Cerro Gordo stage for the purpose of going to that point. At Sweney's Ranch, on the River, he became offended at something and refused to travel further. Being left behind, he went into the house and threw himself down upon some blankets. An hour afterward a man went to call him and found him dead. Coroner Lank held an inquest over the remains on the following day, and the verdict was, we believe, that he had died of excessive intemperance.

The Lecture.

The lecture by Mr. F. J. Mette, which was advertised to take place at the Court House on Thursday evening last, was attended by—exactly six persons. Mr. Mette's lectures elsewhere have been received as highly interesting entertainments wherever delivered and have always resulted in quite a financial benefit to whatever object the proceeds were to be applied to. The gentleman gives this place the honor of being the first to refuse to be entertained or benefitted in a similar manner. The lecture did not come off, and will not.

Cerro Gordo.

Our Lokleitems has been to Cerro Gordo he has. By the never failing courtesy of the mine owners there, he was shown through endless labyrinths of tunnels, shafts, inclines, winzes stopes, shutes and "adits"—and comes away bewildered with the enormous amount of work done in the principal mines, and the vast wealth which has been extracted therefrom. He has a note book full of facts and figures, which he proposes to make use of when the cussed election and its absorbing work is over.

Patent Application.

The Kearsarge Company's notice of application for a United States patent appears this week. The property of this company, taken altogether, is one of the finest on the coast, according to our way of thinking. It includes a grand series of ledges in all 100 feet in width, the ore tramway, the mill and its site, with a most magnificent water power and an inexhaustible supply of timber within convenient distance.

The Breweries.

Our old friends Louey, Joe and John, of the Pioneer and Germania Breweries, located at this place and Lone Pine, this week appear in a new business card. The boys come as near knowing how to make good beer as any men in America, and they do it. Saloon men and consumers should never loose sight of the importance of patronizing home manufactures, and endeavor to keep both institutions running up to their full capacity.

Pioneer Saloon.

Charley Begole, at Lone Pine, has opened out generally in his refitted and renovated establishment. He has a cellar full of the finest cask and case liquors, and the consumptive Billy Neil and the fat Charley himself propose to dispense with the drinkables.

A New Business House.

Messrs. C. & M. Cohn have established in Lone Pine a popular business stand, which they designate as the "Opposition Store." Although new comers, they are one of the heaviest firms in the valley; their goods are all new and comprise a very large stock.

Still Running

The three furnaces engaged in reducing the Cerro Gordo ores are now in full blast, having been in operation for the past three weeks. Beaudry's stopped for three days to repair the boiler during the past week.

Election Proclamation.

We to-day publish the Governor's proclamation ordering the election, now close at hand. Owing to our remoteness from the Capitol, or the forgetfulness of some official, this matter has been delayed several weeks longer than it should have been.

Concert.

By reference to an advertisement elsewhere, it will be seen that Mr. Henry Eilert will give an entertainment of music, legerdermain, etc, at this place to-night, at the Masonic Hall.

Dressmaking.

Attention of our lady friends is invited to the card of Mesdames McNamara and Bomeisler, who have established a millinery and dressmaking establishment in town.

Insured.

At the last meeting of the Board of Supervisors, that body took out a fire insurance on the Court House, for $4,000. The Pacific, represented by Messrs. Harris & Rhine, got the business.

Improvement.

The old stable, nearly opposite Harris & Rhine's store, long an eye-sore on our principal street, is being torn down to make room for a business stand.

Odd Fellows' Meeting.

The Odd Fellows are to meet to-night at the Inyo House for the purpose organizing a Lodge.

FROM PIOCHE.

We find these items in The Record of August 12th.

On Thursday no little stir was created in Pioche by the discovery of gold in an old location south of Gleason's Boarding House. The shaft is about ten feet deep, exposing a narrow ream of red decomposed quartz, which will assay in gold over $50,000 to the ton. Mr. Egan, Superintendant of the Meadow Valley Extension Company, washed out over $5 in pure gold from two hands full of dirt. Several tons of this ore can be obtained to a certainty. To what extent the ore will hold out no one knows, but should it prove to be an extensive deposit, equal in richness to that in sight, all other "big things" will necessarily take a back seat.

Ed. Matthews, who arrived in town on Thursday last, brings some very favorable reports of matters and things in Star district. The camp is situated 15 miles northwest of Minersville, and is distant from Pioche 124 miles by stage road. He and others have located a very rich deposit of chloride, nine feet in width, called the Hidden Treasure, for which they have been offered $12,000. Messrs. Matthews, Raymond, Glassford and the Sears Brothers have several very good claims which they are now endeavoring to sell. Several sales of good mines have recently been made, among them one by Messrs. Cullen, O'Neil and Taylor, for $12,000.

On Thursday, August 10th, L. B. St James was arrested for the murder of John J. Monahan, who came to his death at the hands of parties unknown on the 4th of July last. St. James waived an examination and was held to bail in the sum of $6,000, which he gave and was discharged from custody. The following are his bondsmen: P. McCannon, $2,000; J. Lynch, $500; F. Wheeler, $1,000; Dave James, $500; John Hughs, $500; John Dowell $1,000.

EASTERN NEWS.

A Washington special says there is little doubt that the President has appointed ex-Governor Ashley, of Montana, as Minister to Brazil. It is said the President told Ashley he was now convinced of the falsity of the reports against him, and of the dishonest means used by politicians to secure his removal from the Governorship of Montana.

The Tribune says the personal views of Horace Greeley on the renomination of Grant are these: He favors one term principle, and believes that another Republican candidate for President can be selected who will encounter less opposition and win more support than General Grant, and he therefore advocates such selection; but, should his views be overruled and Grant nominated he holds his election infinitely preferable to that of any candidate the Democrats may nominate. His personal views impel him to deprecate a Democratic national triumph as one of the gravest national calamities and this is his main reason for wishing the election of a Republican candidate for President who will be more certain of success than Grant.

The Fenian Brotherhood and Irish Confederation have unanimously ratified articles of union and consolidation.

Louisa Muhlbach, the German authoress, will visit the United States during the present year and give public readings in the principal cities.

Another coal mine catastrophe has occurred at Pittston, Pennsylvania. A "black damp" explosion took place in one of the coal pits at that place, and some twenty poor miners were wafted in by it to suffocate. Everything that was possible was done to reach them, and on Tuesday they had all been recovered dead.

A New York dispatch of August 15th, says:

A Democratic meeting last night denounced the Chamber of Commerce for its refusal to examine the city accounts and condemned The Times for slanderous attacks on the Mayor and Controller declaring these gentlemen should be heard before condemned. Another meeting declared Hoffman responsible for the bloodshed on the 12th of July, and resolved to oppose him for any office.

Mrs. Vallandigham died at Cumberland, Md., August 13.

The coroner's jury on the Westfield explosion return a verdict that it was caused by a defective boiler and a careless engineer, and that the ferry company are responsible for both. On this verdict warrants have been issued for the arrest of the President, Director and Superintendent of the company who will probably be indicted and tried for manslaughter.

From Los Angeles.

A Los Angeles dispatch of August 18, says:

Some little excitement is arising relative to placer mining in San Gabriel canyon. Two companies have purchased old claims worked by Mexicans, and are commencing the development of very rich diggings. New claims are being taken up through the canyon. It is reported that as rich dirt as can be found in the State is being washed.

A dispatch from Los Flores this evening gives the following relative to a quarrel among San Luis Rey Indians on the 14th at Pola: Indians about 100 strong, under Manuellago and Olegardo, attempted to capture and depose the chief, Manuellilo, who with his family and a few relations escaped, except one, who was taken prisoner, tied to a tree, and so cruelly treated that he died soon after. Another was captured, but escaped. Olegardo, the new captain, and party are still in pursuit of Manuellilo. As both parties are armed, serious results may follow.

Ludicrous Mistake.

Lawyer B., of Sacramento, some months since invited a widowed sister of his wife to resume in his family while he was engaged in settling her late husband's estate. The wife and sister are in appearance so much alike that one is often mistaken for the other. One hot day in July, a friend of the lawyer, whom he had invited home to dinner with him, called at his office and found him engaged in a referee case, the close room crowded with the contending parties and their friends. The time for adjournment was half an hour ahead yet, and the heat being so oppressive, the lawyer asked his visitor to go to his house and wait for him. He did so, and the widowed sister of Mrs. B. received him. The parlor window had been open all the morning, and the hot air filled the room. "Oh, Mr. Smith," exclaimed the lady, "how dreadfully hot it is here!" "Yes, Madame," replied Smith, "pretty warm, but not half as hot as the place where your husband is."

Stage Robbery Near Gilroy.

The San Jose Patriot of August 12th has these particulars in regard to this affair:

Sheriff Harris to-day received a letter from Deputy Sheriff Harry Woodruff at Gilroy, giving some particulars of the robbery of the Visalia stage at Soap Lake, eight miles from that city. The robbers were three in number, all young men, well dressed, and finely mounted. They broke down a fence and compelled the driver to take his stage through into a field, out of sight from the road. The passengers were then required to deliver their valuables. Subsequently the robbers stopped a traveler and robbed him, and, still later, served a teamster in the same manner. They then took to the mountains. This morning's Associated Press dispatch states that the robbers relieved O. Simmons, canal agent, of $105, two other gentleman of $155, and the stage driver of $25. Wells, Fargo & Co.'s express box was saved through the coolness of Miss Murphy of San Joaquin Valley, she having pushed the box under the seat and concealed it from view with her dress.

Fire Devastation in Fresno County

The Expositor of August 9th has the annexed:

The fire of which we made mention as existing in the grass and timber about the Fresno and Chowchilla rivers, is still raging with unabated fury, and is devastating the country over which it is raging. The settlers are fighting energetically, and are in hopes of subduing it. Thus far the only damage of consequence done to the improvements of any of the settlers is to E. Zaber, who resides on Crab Gulch, one of the tributaries of Fresno River. The entire fence around his land was destroyed.

Man Shot in Idaho.

On Tuesday, August 2, a man named Jacob Drake, shot and it is thought mortally wounded another man named Kingsbury, while the latter was at work threshing grain in the field. The difficulty was about money matters.

The Idaho Statesman says there is a singular fatality connected with that little patch of land. Last year Wethered killed Richards on the same ranch, and that paper is informed that altogether there have been nine other men shot on the same ranch, or right close by it. Instead of Dry Creek, it ought to be called Bloody Run.

—A venerable woman, eighty-two years of age and very poor, who lives in Oxford county, Maine, has for four years been working hard for twenty-five cents a day, and now she has given her wages for four years toward building a church,—Exchange.

This is very creditable to the old lady and in the next world she will obtain her reward. The man who took the poor old thing's money will also obtain his reward; but we doubt if it be of such a character that he will be in a hurry to claim it.

—"Sally Jones, have you done that sum I set you?"

"No, thir; I can't do it."

"Can't do it! I'm ashamed of you. Why at your age I could do any sum that was set me. I hate that word can't! for there is no sum that can't be done, I tell you."

"I think, thir, that I know a thum you can't thifer out."

"Ha! well, Sally, let's hear it."

"It ith thith, thir:—If one apple cauthed the ruin of the whole human rath, how many thuch will it take to make a barrel of thider, thir?"

"Miss Sally Jones, you may return to parsing lesson."—"Yeth thir."

—An Irishman, who was standing on London bridge, accosted a youth standing beside him, saying:

"Faith and I think I know yees; what's yer name?"

"My name is Jones," replied the youth.

"Jones, Jones," said the Irishman, "and I know two old maids by that name in Doublin, was either of them yer mother?"

—When a Bristol girl is kissed, she says she is taking chloroform, and remains insensible as long as the operation lasts.

—Experience in Eastern Oregon shows that sage-brush land, when irrigated, always produces good crops of hay, grain, etc.

—A Baltimore poet, taking up an old theme, gives the end of Cleopatra in this style:

"She got a little p'ison snake,
And hid it in her gown;
It gave its little tail a shake
And did her job up brown.

She tumbled down upon her bed,
Where she was wont to lie,
Removed her chignon from her head
And followed Antony."

—An Irishman being called on for a toast, responded as follows:

All hail to the American eagle!
Proud bird of freedom, all hail!
The fowl that no one can invagle,
Or put salt on his beautiful tail!

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of State and the Treasurer of State, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said State, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bond; said coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notices of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the Capital of the State; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris, in France, and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in German, in the City of Frankfort-on-the-Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the State; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless sufficient security shall be furnished by the bidders for the compliance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin, par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of State each to keep a separate record of all bonds sold under the provisions of this Act, showing the number, date, amount and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury; and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a funded debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eighteen hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding soldiers' relief bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in section seven of this Act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value, but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bonded, which said certificate shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel each bond so exchanged, and shall indorse on such bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued in exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the State treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the State, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering thereon the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the expiration of such advertisement, such bonds, unless sooner paid, shall cease to draw interest, but the money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the State, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceeding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next ten years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year, and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the State treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper, published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper, published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals, at rates not exceeding par value, as may redeem the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less amount than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publications, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication; before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this Act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said interest Fund, if sufficient; and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that the Controller of State shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. This Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for its submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the State for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this State shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act; those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same, shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and cancelled, and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Treasurer of State, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast are for or against this law, as aforesaid, are in favor of this Act, then the same shall have effect as hereinbefore provided, and shall be irrepealable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation hereof; but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have this Act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceeding the next general election, for which publication no greater allowance shall be made than the rates allowed by law to the State Printer.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, H. L. NICHOLS, Secretary of State of the State of California, do hereby certify that the annexed is a true, full, and correct copy of Chapter Four Hundred and Eighty-four, Statutes of California, Eighteenth Session, approved April 2, 1870, now on file in my office.

WITNESS my hand and the great seal of State, at office, in Sacramento, California, the twenty-fifth day of May, A. D. 1871.

A Determined Indian Fighter.

A correspondent of The Chicago Tribune gives a graphic description of an Indian fighter. He says:

At Fort Davy Russel, near Cheyenne—which is no fort at all, but merely a beautiful village of barracks, officers' quarters, cottages, and a long green lawn, where a band of music plays every evening—I heard an account of an officer celebrated for Indian prowess. The subject was the war in Arizona and Crook's substitution for Stoneman. "Oh, Indian hunting is Crook's speciality," says one. "The fact is, Crook is nothing but an Indian anyway. I mean that his mind, physiognomy and education are all Indian. Look at his face—and high cheek bones the contour of his skull; and his manners—stolid, separate, averse to talk. He can take his gun and cross the desert, subsisting on the way where you or I would starve. Perfectly self-reliant for any venture, delighted with lonely travel and and personal hazard, carrying nothing but his arms, he will walk after a trail all day and when night comes, no matter how cold, he wraps himself in an Indian blanket, humped up, Indian fashion, and pitches himself into a sage brush, there to be perfectly easy till morning. He will follow an antelope for three days. He requires nothing to drink or smoke, and very little to eat. Abstemious, singular utterly ignorant of fear, and yet stealthy as a cat, shy of women and strangers; and when he was a cadet he had all the same traits. The other day he departed for Arizona with one soldier, his rifle and two clean shirts—the latter he took only to be presentable on the steamer. His style is to hunt continuous hiding places by day for his command, and move them upon the Indians by night, and he can outwit the keenest Indians in the country. When he was in command in Oregon, his wife, who had taken the responsibility of following him, although herself gently reared, shared his quarters out in the wilderness. Crook did not have ten dollars worth of furniture in his quarters. Sometimes he would remark: "Well I'm going off." And he would be gone a week, perhaps, scouting, and return when he liked, his wife saying nothing. If Crook don't get killed he'll clean out the Apaches, providing the politicians let him alone. He ought to be kept in command there in Arizona until the Apache question is ended."

Work during Morning Hours.

The author of "Piccadilly Papers," in London Society, says—"I know a remarkably able and fertile reviewer, who tells me that, though over his midnight oil he can lubricate articles with a certain sharpness and force, yet for quietly looking at a subject all round, and doing justice to all its belongings, wanted the quiet, morning hours. Lancelot Andrews says he is no true scholar who goes out of his house before 12 o'clock. Similarly an editor once told me that though his town contributors sent him brightest papers, he always detected a peculiar mellowness and finish about the men who wrote in the country. I knew an important crown official whose hours were from 10 to 3. He had to sign his name to papers, and as a great deal depended upon his signature, he was very cautious and chary how he gave it. After 3 o'clock, no beseeching powers of suitors nor solicitors could induce him to do a stroke of work. He would not contaminate the quality of his work by doing too much of it. He would not impair his rest by continuing his work. And so he fulfilled the duties of his office for exactly fifty years, before he retired on full pay from the services of the country. And when impatient people blame lawyers for being slow, and offices for closing punctually, and shops for shutting early, and, generally speaking, the wider adaptation of our duty to periods of holiday and rest, they should recollect that these things are the lessons of experience and the philosophy of society and life."

The Fortune-Teller's Almanac.

To dream of a millstone about your neck is a sign of what you may expect if you marry an extravagant wife.

It is very lucky to dream that you pay for a thing twice over; since afterwards, you will probably take care to have all your bills receipted.

For a person in unembarrassed circumstances to dream that he is arrested is very fortunate; for it is a warning to him on no account to accept a bill.

To dream of a fire is a sign that—if you are wise—you will see that all the lights in your house are out before you go to bed.

To dream that your nose is red at the tip, is an intimation that you had better leave off brandy and water.

To dream of having a great number of servants is—madness.

To dream of a bear, fortokens mischief, which your vision shows you is a bruin.

When a fashionable young lady dreams of a filbert, it is a sign that her thoughts are running upon the colonel.

If you dream of clothes, it is a warning not to go to law; for, by the rule of contraries, you will be sure of a nonsuit.

When a young lady dreams of a coffin, it betokens that she should instantly discontinue tight stays, and always go warmly and thickly shod in wet weather.

Mistakes.

The following are a few of the mistakes which suggest themselves to the publisher of a newspaper:

It is a mistake to suppose that the subscription paid for a paper is clear gain to the publisher.

It is a mistake to suppose that he obtains his white paper for nothing.

It is a mistake to suppose that printers can live bodily by faith.

It is a mistake to suppose that it is easy to please everybody.

It is a mistake to suppose that money due the paper would be as good to us in a year as it is now.

It is a mistake to suppose that we would not be thankful for what is due as well as new subscribers.

Quite a Nice Time.

At a Missouri picnic Mr. Whicher stabbed Mr. Reeves, and the remainder of the pleasure party hanged Mr. Whicher.

—The New England Medical Gazette says: "An old lady followed up an Episcopal Bishop, as he traveled over his diocese, and was confirmed several times before she was detected. She wished the ordinance repeated because she had 'understood it was good for the rheumatism.'"

—In St. Louis a "moonlight excursion" was advertised for August 18th, but a St Louis paper very pertinently inquired whether special arrangements had been made with Mrs. Moon to appear on the occasion, as she had on that day an engagement elsewhere.

—A bare-headed, bare-footed little boy astonished a worshipping congregation in a Massachusetts town, on a recent Sunday, by rushing into church and exclaiming: "Where's my papa? the pigs are out!"

THE CALIFORNIA LABOR EXCHANGE.

We are in receipt of a letter from the Secretary of the California Labor and Employment Exchange asking for information in regard to the chances for Laborers to obtain employment "in the mining, agricultural and manufacturing pursuits" of our county.

In answer to these inquiries we can only say that, in our belief, the present supply of common laborers is so nearly equal to the demand as to offer but little inducement to new comers; the same may be said of skilled laborers, unless possessed of sufficient means to go into business on their own account. The industrial interests of our county are progressing in the most satisfactory and encouraging manner. Almost every day a new demand is created for labor, and though we appear to have no idlers among us, the new requirements are soon filled. Therefore, as above stated, we would be scarcely justified in encouraging the influx of needy applicants, however worthy or competent. To miners, farmers and manufacturers, of almost every kind able to commence business on their own account, we can offer the most encouraging inducements. Our resources in all three of these pursuits are virtually unlimited, and we again say to all those, situated as above named, to come on; there is abundance of room and inducements.

To another question, embodied in the same letter, in regard to the cheapest route hither, we answer; by the George & Roberts stage connection at Visalia passengers from San Francisco can reach this place in four days time; fare through $50, stage running tri-weekly. By Gollister's stage connection at Havilah the trip is made in the same time, fare $45, trips tri-weekly. By Robinson's line, running weekly to Los Angeles, the time and fare from that place are respectively six days and $20.

Most, if not all, our readers here are more or less acquainted with the workings of this benevolent and highly commendable institution; but, notwithstanding, we subjoin the following in the hope that it may prove both useful and interesting to many.

The California Labor and Employment Exchange is located at 637 Clay street, San Francisco. It is free of charge to all employers and applycants, and was organized for the purpose of providing employment for labor, and forwarding reliable information for all classes of immigrants. A legislative appropriation was made for its benefit in April 1870. We append these two notes signed by the Secretary.

Employers are requested, when sending their orders, to be as particular as possible in stating wages offered, the duties to be performed, the proper route to destination, the cost of fare, etc., and for female help, the number in family.

For places in the country, one or two days are required to find suitable and reliable applicants. It is customary to send the amount of fare for female help ordered from the Exchange.

Arizona News.

The Arizona Miner of August 12 gives the following news from Prescott and vicinity:

On Saturday, August 5, Sergeant-Major Harrington, of the Third Cavalry, and a man named Whisker were killed by Indians in ambush on the last high divide overlooking Camp Verde. An ambulance and three men, for which the savages were lying in wait, came up and had half an hour's fight with the Indians. One man was wounded. The party escaped to Camp Verde. Captain Monihan and sixty men were sent in pursuit, and found the bodies of Harrington and Whisker horribly mutilated. The same band, numbering some 200 warriors, had before made a successful cattle raid within eighteen miles of Prescott.

Summer rains have fallen generally throughout the Territory, extending to New Mexico.

A man who lately perished on the desert below Wickenburg has been identified as Gaspar Cole, formerly of San Francisco.

A letter from Sunset Crossing, Little Colorado River, dated August 1, says the Arizona division of the Atlantic and Pacific Railroad, lying between the Rio Grande and the Big Colorado, is now being surveyed. Two parties are in the field, the Eighth United States Cavalry escorting. The party working between the Little and Big Colorado, under R. J. Lawrence, Division Engineer, is soon expected to arrive at Prescott.

Prospecting parties arriving at Florence had, up to the 6th, numbered in all some 250 men, who will prospect the Pinal country, Eastern Arizona.

The Appleton Journal Correspondent.

Fred. W. Loring, author of the serial story entitled "Two College Friends," recently published in Old and New, a young man barely twenty-two, and a graduate of Harvard of 1870, is at present with an exploring party in Nevada, whence he writes to a literary friend that he has nearly completed a new story, by which he hopes to establish his reputation as a writer.—Exchange.

Loring was in Eureka for several days with Lieutenant Wheeler's expedition. He was a delicate looking young man of prepossessing appearance, who manifested the general characteristics of "the Boston Lorings." He seemed to take kindly to camp life, and was anxious to see as much of mines and miner's life, and the peculiararities of the sage brush State, as he could. He was anxious to attend church or Sunday school, or any other place where the people could be seen and character studied. He found what he was looking for. He has the ability and perserverance to succeed in his chosen vocation, and is much such a man as the author of John Brent. He will be heard from.—Eureka Sentinel.

—A New York paper says: A Chicago man dreamed his child would be scalded to death. He took every precaution against such a catastrophe, but precisely five weeks and two days after the dream, the litte boy was run over by a dog-cart, and escaped uninjured.

—An Ohio murderer being asked by the Judge if he had anything to say, replied naively, "I have, sir; I have a very bad cold, your Honor."

WANTED.

If we are to place any reliance in certain cards to be found in our advertising columns, the so-called "Independent" party is very much at sea, by reason of a scarcity of candidates. One only remains, and he graciously permits the use of his name for the openly avowed purpose of "busting out Hammarstrand." The perverseness of the balance of the ticket, in refusing to run, shows a somewhat singular state of affairs, when we consider the great avidity with which such positions have hitherto been snapped up. Heretofore the great trouble has been to select from the abundant material at hand (see No. 1 of The Lancet) a suitable person for the position. Now the places go begging, though promised every support from the transcendental and excessively popular editor of The Inyo Lancet. This great dearth of candidates is possibly owing to this fear, that the chief support and reliance in time of need and distress may desert them at the first intimation of an independent will or lack of appreciation of his great abilities and political sagacity. This conclusion, however, may be wrong, since he clearly does not at this time or in the future expect to aspire to any political consideration. His aspirations sank forever with the evening sun of the fifteenth of July. A set of corruptionists, in convention assembled, then and there decreed that their candidates must present some other claim for a nomination than avowed threats of secession. This singular convention differed in this particular from the one of a few years ago, which was frightened into compliance by this would-be Mogul. Here he sustained a defeat, that to a limited extent excited his ire. Revenge! Revenge was possible; a new party, based upon the broad principles of individual pique and disappointment was to be the power, and personal villification and false assumption the means. As before stated, our advertising columns show the result. Some men are very obdurate, not to say obtuse. Some have honors thrust upon them, and others seek it in vain during their natural lives; here are honors offered and refused, all because these men are fastidious enough to decline to represent a faction without a single political principle for its platform—that is, if we except the one grand pervading and actuating animus upon which this "movement" is based. It is not strange that a party should go begging for standard bearers when its only chance of consideration rests upon base endeavors to drag down men whose lives, both public and private, have hitherto been above reproach—a party whose corner stone is personal malice and private revenge, born of a sore-head, nurtured by personal abuse and destined to its present premature death.

Now in view of the present aspect of things, is it any wonder that The Lancet man—the prime mover and head and tail of the whole thing—should strike out wildly at everything that comes within reach, like a blind mule in a band of mustangs?

Indeed, this Lancet is likely to puncture a bag of vanity not intended in its original conception; it will prove a veritable boomerang in the hands of a novice.

THE "INDEPENDENT MOVEMENT."

THE INDEPENDENT has been charged with a want of proper interest in the people's welfare, because it did not use its columns in opposition to certain nominees of the two parties, who, it is charged, are intriguers and corruptionists—in other words, because it did not advocate the nomination of the head, body and tail of this so called "Independent movement."

Let us inform this great political leader that in the first place it is no part of our business, aims or intentions to control or influence the political opinions of any one. In the second place, we consider the whole series of "charges" brought to bear against the prominent candidates baseless, and perfectly false in the spirit, if not wholly to the letter. Their falsity, so far as it affects one of them, Mr. Mulkey, is abundantly shown by the card which that gentleman publishes, though it did not require even that. Mr. Sneden has not deemed it of sufficient importance to offer any vindication whatever, nor is it necessary. For years he has been well known, both officially and in private life, and until this present moment he has never, in any capacity, been impeached in word or deed. His well known business ability, integrity and personal popularity secured him the nomination for Sheriff, as fairly and squarely, in our honest belief, as any candidate that ever received the vote of a Convention in Inyo county. We offer this much in Mr. Sneden's vindication as we happen to know for a positive certainty that, whatever his desires for the nomination may have been, it was proposed to him before he ever uttered one word of solicitation for it. Mr. Mulkey has already spoken for himself, on the one hand, and thereby put himself on his true merits before the people. We speak for Mr. Sneden, because we do not like to see any honorable man placed in a false position, merely for the gratification of private vindictiveness, envy, supposed patriotism or whatever term may be applied to designate these attacks; and here in regard to this movement we have one word more to say and then we do not design to allude to it any thing connected therewith hereafter, unless something unforeseen should arise to make it necessary. We hold that the existence of at least two organized parties an essential to the welfare of the body politic. A third or fourth party, based on any principle except mere blind opposition, may be just as worthy of support as either of the others, and are often productive of good. We have no word of objection to urge against independent parties of that kind, but for a mere schism or faction having no distinctive feature or principle for its base except personal animosity and revenge we have not an iota of sympathy or respect. Our present "Independent party" is in our humble opinion, precisely of this character.

It is the merest bosh for interested men of any party to contend that party lines should not be drawn in county elections. The political principles involved in county affairs hold the same relation to those of the State that those of the latter do to the entire Union.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

A San Francisco dispatch of August 22d is to this effect:

Straight Republicans, or soreheads, are making extensive efforts for a large meeting to night for the nomination of a municipal ticket. They have among other devices a large truck covered with canvas, bearing Booth's portrait and various inscriptions, and inclosing a large church bell, on which a fire alarm is continually sounded, which is being driven through the streets to-day, attracting a crowd wherever it goes by the novelty of the affair. In case of there being any lack of numbers or enthusiasm at the meeting the Democracy express themselves willing to lend their generous assistance to-night.

Brick Pomeroy, who was to lecture at Oakland last night, was informed in the afternoon that Gen. La Grange was in town and greatly incensed at something reflecting on his domestic relations, which recently appeared in The La Crosse Democrat, and would shoot him on sight. He paid no attention to the threat, but his friends, thinking seriously of it, gathered around him at the hotel in the evening before the lecture. Before starting for the hall Gen. La Grange came to the room where Pomeroy, his wife and several lady and gentlemen friends were, and attempted to force his way in, saying he was bound to see Pomeroy in person, but was grappled by Col. John Scott, of The Transcript, and a fist fight ensued, which, after a free exchange of blows, was interrupted by friends. The Sheriff, fearing bloodshed, went to Brayton Hall, where Pomeroy was to lecture, and forbid its being opened. The friends of Pomeroy then secured New Market Hall and forming a procession marched there. The lecture was listened to by a large audience. It was purely humorous, making no allusion to the difficulty. Pomeroy says the article was written in his absence and knows or cares nothing about it, but at the proper time is ready to afford La Grange all the satisfaction he wants.

The race between the ships Frolic and Ringleader, from New York, which has been the subject of numerous bets, in both New York and San Francisco, is likely to be decided in favor of the Ringleader. The Ringleader was reported, August 22, inside the Farallones, but, as the weather was foggy, it was thought the Frolic might be close outside unreported. Both sailed from New York, March 25.

The owners of the steamer William Taber announce that as soon as the extensive repairs she is now undergoing are completed she will resume her trips as an opposition boat to San Diego.

The Fair at San Francisco is being largely attended by persons from the interior of the State.

There are more persons applying for naturalization papers now in San Francisco than at any time in the last ten years.

Harry Meiggs is procuring ties for his Peruvian railroads from this State.

Olegario and his band of Indians have driven off the regular chief of the Indian tribes in the far southern part of the State. Soldiers from Drum Barracks will probably quell the revolt among the Indians to-day or to-morrow. No whites have so far been molested. Manuelito, the expelled chief, has gone to San Bernardino.

Butte mill smelting works, eleven miles east of Oreana, were destroyed by fire on Sunday evening; loss $40,000; insured.

The Democracy were to hold a grand barbecue at Los Nietos, Los Angelos county, August 25.

LETTER FROM DEEP SPRING

DEEP SPRING VALLEY, August 29.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—If you will allow me I will tell you and your readers what I saw on a trip in the mountains. The LEAD MINES,

in Fish Lake Valley, do not show sufficient galena for smelting and too much for milling ore, but they are large and well defined ledges, and might, on being prospected, be of some value. The

TRAIL

to Silver Peak is rather rough and dry. Arriving at a sulphur spring near the upper end of the Great Salt Basin or Silver Peak Valley, we find many large ledges cropping out, upon which very little work has been done, if any. We passed down the valley some ten miles to the works of the Silver Peak and Red Mountain Co. This is called a valley, but it is one of those that will not produce sage or rabbit brush, is fifteen miles long, and ten miles wide. Thermometer standing at 110 deg., and salt water to drink. There is no fresh water nearer than ten miles. In the lower end of this valley, and near the company's works, is a salt marsh, five or six miles across either way, which is covered with salt, and reflects a light similar to that of frozen snow. On the north side and near the salt marsh a mound or mountain raises about one hundred feet above the marsh, which has a crater and an outlet to the eastward, where the lava run out and down the side of the mountain, and for the distance of one mile into the valley. This channel, or outlet, is of sufficient width to drive a team and buggy up, and into the crater, where there is plenty of room to turn around with your team and drive out again. On the southwest side of the marsh

THE NEW YORK COMPANY

Commenced to build a mill. Battery room is 40 by 60 feet. Boiler room 30 by 35 feet. Foundation for pan room is 60 by 100 feet. Some of the walls are thirty feet high, and most substantially built of rock, and the work is said to have cost $30,000. This mill was built for the accommodation of a mine the company bought at a cost of $90,000, in what is known as Quartz Mountain, ten miles distant, but it proved to be only a boulder of from six to ten tons. Finding this to be a failure, and being determined to get even on the country they bought another mine for $3,000 and found that to be a small slide from another mine, out of which they got 5 tons of ore. This work was done in 1866. They next moved to Palmetto where their fine mill is now standing idle.

So much for the management of New York capital, $200,000 of which was paid or spent at Silver Peak by this company, for which they have in return nothing.

We next saw Mr. Lyons, keeper of the Silver Peak and Red Mountain Company's property, which consists of a 30-stamp mill well provided with pans, concentrators and in fact with all kinds of machinery for saving gold; they have an assay office, stables, shops, grain house, hash-house and many other houses for the convenience of these, gives this place the appearance of a town. The company's works are also situated on the salt marsh near a great salt spring from which they take water for the mill by pumping it up some 50 feet on the side of a hill. This mill was built in 1867, and in three years only lost eighty-three shifts. The smallest amount produced for any one month during that time was $25,000 and the largest, $75,000. Here we saw the wagon built by J. W. Coffin of Washoe, and is the largest freight wagon in the world (axle 4 inches). They have a dozen large wagons with which they hauled ore and wood for their mill. The mines are ten miles distant, wood six miles. This company have also a 10-stamp mill that was built for the purpose of prospecting, and when the new or 30-stamp mill was built this was allowed to go to ruin.

THE MINES

Are situated in Silver Peak and Quartz mountain. The principal ledge owned by this company is of gold ore, and is from six to thrty feet in width, quartz decomposed. The Drinkwater is twelve feet wide, the Crowing Glory thirty feet wide, the Last Chance eight feet wide, Pocatella four feet wide, all of gold ore; the Western Soldier six feet wide, the Assistant six feet wide, of silver, with ore averaging $300 per ton. Vanderbilt four feet wide, Grandmother four feet wide, also of silver. Monongahela three feet wide, gold and silver—very rich. Grey Eagle a mountain of ore of a low grade ranging from $50 to $80 per ton. The company have out of their several dumps at those mines from 75,000 to 80,000 tons of low grade ore worth $14 per ton, yet they are not running. It is not on account of a scarcity of first class ore, but I judge they are either having a little game of draw or freeze; but it is to be hoped that they will soon start up their works, and when they do therewill be lively times. Ten tons of ore taken to Columbus from White Mountains for reduction, yielded $8,000. How is this for high? Twenty four miles south of Silver Peak some parties discovered a three foot ledge of silver, took two tons to Columbus for reduction and realized $500 per ton for their ore. It is reported that there is plenty of good ledges in this country and still farther south, but water is scarce. It seems that nature did not distribute the good ores, and facilities for working them in the same mountains. I will make a trip through the mountains south of Death Valley soon.

EASTERN NEWS.

NEW YORK, August 21.

A special from Washington says that Boutwell has quite recently declared himself in favor of Grant's renomination. Of course one of the conditions of this newly-sworn allegiance is that Boutwell shall not only retain his portfolio for the rest of Grant's present term, but also for another four years, in case Grant is re-elected,

LONG BRANCH, August 21.

This morning about 9 o'clock Dr. H. T. Helmbold, of New York, engaged a hack at the Arcade Hotel, and borrowing a double-barreled shotgun from the proprietors, told the driver to go along the beach, as he wished to shoot some sand-snipe. After going about a mile from the Branch he stepped of a short distance and placed the butt of the gun on the ground and the muzzle under his chin. Being a very short man he had to stretch to reach the trigger, and in doing this the muzzle of the gun was thrown to one side and the charge passed along the side of his face, merely singeing it. The driver immediately ran toward the Doctor, but before he could reach him he had emptied the second barrel in the same manner, not being injured. He then got him into the carriage and drove back to the Arcade, where the Doctor washed the powder from his face and drove home. There is a rumor that the Doctor attempted to shoot himself with a pistol after reaching home. This is altogether unfounded.

WASHINGTON, August 21.

The special order recently issued from the War Department, retiring Col. George Stoneman, with the rank of Major General, is by direction of the President revoked, and Colonel Stoneman is retired on his rank as Colonel. The original order was made under a misapprehension by the Board, in belief that his incapacity resulted from wounds received in battle, which was not the case.

The President has appointed Frederick Drew Collector at Puget Sound.

NEW YORK, August 21.

Late foreign journals, just received, give interesting details of the trial of the Commune prisoners at Versailles. In the examination of Assy the following colloquy took place:

The President to Assy—"You gave the order for the assassination of Generals Lecompte and Thomas on the 18th of March?"

"It is false," replied Assy.

"Were you not chief Commune against the Government?"

"Yes; you attacked us, and we accepted the struggle.

"And you voted for the massacre of hostages?"

"Yes," again was the firm reply: "because when at war it is necessary to resort to retaliation."

[Murmers of indignation arose among the audience, but Assy smiled disdainfully.]

The President asked: "Why did you purchase sulphur and coal? You wished to burn down Paris?"

The accused retorted by observing that the troops had done their worst by firing explosive shells into the city.

"It is an infamous lie!" cried the public prosecutor greatly moved. "You made requisitions for petroleum?"

"It was unnecessary to do so," replied Assy. "The forts were full of it." Assy, in answer to the question of the President, did not seek to deny his affiliation with the International Society. He admitted he was a member of the Central Committee; is a Freemason; was at the Central Committee on the 10th of March; was not at the Rue de Rositres; knew nothing of the executions of Generals Thomas and Lecompte. Assy went on to say that he had not opposed the law or hostages, but should not himself have executed them; had said the only way to save their brethern at Versailles was to make reprisals—"an eye for an eye"—was his maxim.

Gavean exclaimed, "You take three eyes for one!"

He had signed the decree for pulling down the Vendome column. Other decrees imputed to him he had not signed, but he admitted he had not protested, and never thought of resigning on account of them. Horrible details were brought to light at the trials, and created the profoundest indignation.

PITTSTON, (PA.) August 19.

The verdict of the Coroner's jury in the case of the mine explosion was rendered this morning. The jury find that the men were suffocated by noxious gasses caused by the explosion or caving of the roof, and believe the accident could have been averted by strict compliance with the requirements of the ventilation laws.

The relations of the Staten Island ferry-boat victims have brought forty suits for damages against that company.

Another steamboat explosion has taken place at New York, in the tug Starbuck. It was clearly the fault of the Government Inspector and the engineer, and they have been held for manslaughter.

Greeley, in September, will make an agricultural fair tour in the Western States.

—Spurgeon, the famous English minister, having been offered $10,000 in gold to write a life of Christ, sent word that as good a life of Christ as could be written was to be found in the New Testament.

TO THE PUBLIC: The placing of my name on the "Independent Ticket" for County Treasurer—as published in The Lancet of the 27th ult.—was done without my authority, knowledge or consent.

Respectfully,
HENRY M. ISAACS.

September 2, 1871. 1t

CARD.

I hereby give notice that I have withdrawn from any connection with The Lancet newspaper. My reasons for so doing are on account of the attacks made in that paper against the Grand Jury, one of which Jury I was, and also on account of the attack upon Mr. Mulkey, in reference to the bulling thieves. I think these attacks entirely uncalled for, and in justice to my fellow jurymen and Mr. Mulkey, I can not longer have any connection with a paper that thus wantonly and groundlessly has made the attacks.

CARD TO THE PUBLIC.

I HEREBY respectfully announce myself as an Independent Candidate for the Clerk's office of this county. As it has been reported that I have withdrawn, I take this method of informing my friends and the public that such is not the case.

A CARD.

TO THE PUBLIC.—In justice to the nomination that I have received from the Republicans and Democrats, I will state that my name was placed upon the Independent ticket without my knowledge or consent.

J. W. SYMMES.

Independence, Sept. 1, 1871.

A CARD.

FELLOW CITIZENS OF INYO COUNTY: I trust you will pardon the notice herein taken of the emanations of a slanderous and scandalous sheet, published under the auspices of a self-constituted censor of public morals, private virtue and political honesty.

I should have treated these effusions with that silent contempt which they deserved, had I been satisfied that the general public knew as well as the undersigned that they were "the mere sickly abortions of a swearing Jack and one-half lunatic."

However, I deem it incumbent upon me, asking as I do a responsible position at the hands of the citizens of Inyo county, to meet and refute all slanders, inuendoes and reflections upon my private character, whether they originate with a valitudinary cock-sparrow or trumped up by parties who are ashamed to be caught in such company in open daylight.

First as to the charge of being a carpet-bagger: I was a citizen of the Pacific coast and the State of California, had a permanent home therein, and had taken an active and honorable part in its conquest and settlement long before the dirt slinger of The Lancet had advanced far enough in his geography to be aware of the fact that there was any such country as California in or on the face of the globe. Carpet-bagger indeed! The oldest residents and most worthy pioneers, from Tehama to Los Angeles, all unanimously testify that from the year '47 down to this present writing, that in each and every exigency to which his fortune called him, Cy Mulkey bore himself like a MAN.

Will the gutter snipe of The Lancet make good any charges against Cy Mulkey such as lack of open-handed charity, want of unbounded hospitality, or any dereliction in keeping, obeying and honestly endeavoring to help execute the laws about which he prates so lordly? And if so, Mulkey will give up this contest—and here I invite the gutter snipe, and all others inimical to my election, to the most rigid examination of my public and private acts, and should there be anything found therein obnoxious to honor and probity let me be set aside, but until such judgment be honestly found, I trust a fair and generous public will pay no attention to the bold assertions, low slanders and malevolent innuendoes, which could alone proceed from a disappointed and rancorous renegade.

Charge second, that I was "one of those who sometime last Winter forced a party of prisoners from the custody of the Sheriff, and after subjecting them to a strangulating process, sought to obtain information which would thereby lead to the discovery of some hidden treasure." To this old and stale charge some notoriety was sought to be given at the time of the occurrence, but the parties on whom the outrage had been inflicted being then present in the county, no one durst, not even the snipe, breathe the vile slander above his putrifying breath.

However, through a friend I heard that some such rumor had found its way into the Sheriff's office at Independence, of which said office the snipe was, at that time, a worthy member. I did nothing more or less than to immediately go to the principal prisoner (then at liberty) who had figured in the strangling scene, and forthwith went with him to Sheriff Elder's office and then and there requested him to lay any charge or make any statement to the Sheriff whereby a charge could be made against me; and what was the result? Let Sheriff Elder answer:

"This is to certify that Mr. C. Mulkey came to my office in company with Manuel Marujo, one of the parties who had been taken from Deputy Sheriff Talcott and maltreated by some parties unknown; and the said Manuel Marujo fully, freely and voluntarily exhonerated Mr. Mulkey from any participation in said transaction.

"A. B. ELDER,
"Sheriff of Inyo county.

"Lone Pine, August 29, 1871."

What more could I have done to satisfy even the fastidious, law-abiding snipe? I go directly to the Sheriff's office, I take the principal witness with me; am acquitted of all complicity in his grievances; and yet the snipe inveighs against the grand juries of the county for being derelict in the discharge their duties. In what, I would ask? Why, truly, because they failed to find some criminal bill or other against me, upon the testimony of simply nobody. And now, fellow citizens, what weight, what credence, what faith will you give to the villifications of this calumniator, whose every word stinks worse than a stranded mackerel by moonlight.

I come now to charge third, viz: the "Rubottom Raid." Now, fellow citizens, although a man of but little vanity, I had actually taken some little glory to myself for the manner in which that said "raid" was carried out; and I believe I express the universal sentiments of the citizens of Lone Pine and vicinity, irrespective of party, who were cognizant of the facts, when I say that the conduct of all the parties who participated in that "raid" met their universal approval.

Let us see how easy it is for a plain, unvarnished statement to put down this villifier: It is well known that Rubottom, Deputy Sheriff of Los Angeles county, followed certain horse thieves up the country and overhauled them near the town of Lone Pine. It is also well known that he succeeded in capturing some nine head of horses from the thieves and brought them to my livery stable, and placed them with me for safe keeping and attention; it is also well known that he failed to capture the thieves.

Now, When Mr. Rubottom came to my stable and stated these facts to me, and asked me if I would assist him in an attempt to arrest these felons; told him I would. Rubottom then said he thought the thieves had headed for the Coso mines, gave me his reasons for so thinking, etc. In these I concurred; mounted upon my own horse and at my own proper expense, leaving my business, without any reward, hope or promise thereof etc; this too when our own Sheriff and his deputies might have been more properly called into action, I accompanied the deputy Sheriff from Los Angeles to the Coso mines on a four days "raid," as the snipe sneeringly calls an honest effort to assist an officer in the legitimate discharge of his duties. After scouring the country in and around the Coso mines we became (Rubottom and myself) satisfied that we had missed our game and so returned to Lone Pine. Upon our arrival in that village we learned that the men we wanted were encamped or had been seen back of the Alabama District, high up in the foot-hills. A party was soon organized to go out upon this "raid," and who, let me ask, composed it? Why, the very leader of the "raid" was none other than the then official master of this delectable sore head—Sheriff Elder, himself. Elder and one Mr Childs took one route, Rubottom, a Mr. I. Moffit and myself took another. The party to which I belonged had the good or bad fortune, as you please to term it, to come first in sight of the robbers. Of course we all three started off in hot pursuit. The chase was a long one, possibly some ten miles. Being better mounted probably than my companions, I outstripped them in the race, and just as the Mexicans were crossing George's Creek I came up close enough to let fly with my gun at the leader as he was raising the opposite bank. This shot was doubtless without effect, as the thief made no halt. I observed, however in the meantime, that his comrade was aiming to cross the creek some distance higher up the stream; but I did not observe him raise the opposite bank. I immediately wheeled my horse up stream, and riding rapidly along the edge of the bank I soon discovered his horse in the gulch without a rider. I dismounted and attempted to track the rogue, but from the fact he had taken to the water I was unable to find his trail. I was thus engaged when Mr. Moffit came up; he joined me in trying to discover in which way the thief had escaped us, and whilst we were industriously laboring for this end Mr. Elder and his party joined us. We all then began a wider and more extensive search. This we kept up for some two or three hours, but all was of no avail, the thief had made good his escape. Rubottom in the meantime had continued the pursuit of the other Mexican, the one at whom I had fired my gun, but was unable to overtake him, so they both got off.

In a few days Rubottom left for the lower country, taking with him the captured stock, I retaining the horse abandoned by the Mexican, sending, however, a full description of him by Rubottom to any and all parties concerned. Subsequently I received a letter from one Mr. Chim. Phillips, who lives in San Jose valley, 30 miles east of Los Angeles city, making inquiries as to how the whole thing had been conducted, asking for a description of the stock etc., all of which I sent him with the minutest particularity, and which I presume was satisfactory, as I have heard nothing from Mr. Phillips since, and this is all about the Rubottom "raid." Very pretty, isn't it, fellow-citizens, and as to what secret slander or base inuendo is sought to be conveyed by this dirt slinger I am at a loss to conjecture, when he speaks of this "Rubottom raid" as being the prolific womb of some fearful imps to whom he proposes to play midwife.

Fourth—I am charged with having sold out all my interests in the county, sent off my family, have my carpet-bag ready and am only waiting the termination of the present contest to follow in their wake if defeated. I will say this to the snipe by way of advice, if he stuck his own bill half as deep into his own private affairs as he does into those of his neighbors, he would not now be picking around the unenviable soubriquet of the LUNCH FIEND. In point of fact I knew a man in Pike who amassed quite a fortune by attending strictly to his own business. To you, fellow-citizens, I will say this is simply a rowback, cut out of whole cloth, and that my interest to-day in our county is as great as it ever was; that all I have or expect to have is and will be identified with the fortunes of Inyo county. My wife and people live in Oregon. She has not seen them for some eight or ten years; is now paying them a visit; first, to recover a little health, which I can assure she greatly needs, and second, to take a first and final leave of those who in the course of nature must soon start on a journey to that "bourne from whence no traveler returns." Of course, the snipe can understand nothing of this. My wife and children will be with me in Lone Pine in November next, if alive.

And now, fellow-citizens, having fully and fairly answered each and every of the slanders and calumnies as put forward by the gutter snipe I confidently leave my character and reputation in your hands, satisfied with whatever judgment you, in your wisdom, may pass upon them.

I now ask your attention for a moment to the defeated, disappointed and sorehead editors of the Lancet.

And first I would ask have we a Warwick among us? Who is this mighty man of Goth that would set up whomsoever he will, or pull down those whom he won't pull down? By what authority does he forge at the head of his villi-sheet, and fling to the breeze the names of honorable gentlemen as candidates for office? Will this vaunting, strutting peacock, this concentrated embodiment of both political parts tell his readers from whence he derives authority to bedraggle the good name and fame of gentlemen by the remotest allusion to them and their surroundings?

Mr. Frank Hatchinson has been made to appear as a prominent candidate for the office of Sheriff by the feeble simpering, and here I give Mr. H's letter to the public:

Independence, August 30, 1871.

Mr. C. Mulkey, Esq.—Dear Sir:—You are at liberty to say to any and all that I am not a candidate on the Independent ticket or any other ticket for the office of Sheriff or any office at all. That at present I ask nothing of the people of Inyo county.

Respectfully,
J. F. HATCHINSON.

Now what excuse, what startling hole, what subterfuge will the Lunch Fiend resort to to hide himself from this open and apparent shame?

Again Mr. Henry Isaacs is made to figure as a candidate for the office of Treasurer by this autocrat of the political fortunes of Inyo county. The indignations of this gentleman may be imagined when he found his name dragged through the slush and slum in which the editor deals, by reading his letter. Here it is:

Independence, August 27, 1871.

Cyrus Mulky, Esq.—Dear Sir:—You are at liberty to contradict any complicity on my part as regards my name appearing as a candidate on the Independent ticket as published in the last issue of the Lancet:

Respectfully,
HENRY M. ISAACS.

Mr. Jackson, whose name appears in the Lancet as an independent candidate for the office of County Clerk, assured the undersigned in presence of witnesses that the use of his name in this connection was wholly unwarranted and entirely gratuitous.

I have no desire, fellow-citizens, to ventilate the snipe. He is not in this race, but if such were my wish I know I could drive a six horse team through his reputation without rubbing a hub against a good action, or a worthy trait in his character.

In conclusion, fellow citizens, should you honor me with the gift of the office to which I aspire I give you my word of honor that the office shall be conducted in the most economical manner possible, and for the best interests of the county. That my deputies shall be appointed from the best qualified and most honorable men amongst us, and in all things pertaining to the office I shall do my utmost endeavor to repay the confidence reposed in me.

Respectfully,
C. MULKEY.

PIONEER PASSENGER & EXPRESS LINE TO LOS ANGELES.

H. W. ROBINSON & CO. BEG LEAVE TO inform the citizens of Owens Valley that they have established a

WEEKLY STAGE LINE

To Los Angeles, and having stocked the line with six changes of horses, good time will be made. This is 90 miles shorter than by any other route, and over a safer and by far the best road. We will connect with the steamers and coast line of stages to San Francisco, making this the cheapest route to that point. Will also connect with the stage to San Bernardino and Arizona.

Special attention paid to fast freight and express packages.

☞Collections and commissions promptly attended to.☜

The above line of stages will leave Lone Pine and Los Angeles every Monday morning, returning to arrive at Lone Pine and Los Angeles every Thursday.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

☞ NOTICE.—All political notices of whatever nature MUST BE PAID IN ADVANCE. This rule is ABSOLUTE. All Job Work executed at this Office must be settled for on delivery, unless for those having standing advertising accounts.☜

 All advertisements, to insure insertion in these columns, must be handed in on or before 2 o'clock P. M., Friday.

A Goak.

The story runneth thus: A gentleman sporting the name of Dr. Brower was circulating around Visalia, and represented to parties there that he had to come on to Camp Independence to get a company of cavalry, (!) and take them to some other point mentioned. Sending his trunk around by the stage, he received the use of a magnificent $200 horse to ride across the mountains. A couple of weeks ago the trunk arrived, but the soldier-doctor appeareth not, and while the Tulare officers were over here the baggage was examined and proved to contain exactly one stove-pipe-hat and two old coats. A company of cavalry! It is evidently a case of good-bye horse with somebody.

Stages.

There are two daily lines now running from Lone Pine to Cerro Gordo, and both go full. John Collister has been awarded a contract for carrying the mail from Los Angeles to Havilah, running three times a week and connecting with Roberts & Georges' line for this place. A new line from this place to Aurora, to run tri-weekly, is being strongly talked of. As the matter now stands both regular lines refuse to carry packages outside of Wells, Fargo & Co.'s box—all for the enormous sum of $50 per month—rendering fast freight enormously high, and making opposition lines a thing most devoutly to be wished for.

Captured.

A letter from the Sheriff of Kern county informs Sheriff Elder that the authorities there have arrested and now have in custody one Wm. Brown, who, it will be remembered, escaped from Mr. Elder while being taken to the State Prison, on a sentence of four years for highway robbery, in taking a horse from an Indian. He was taken on the 23d ultimo, and acknowledges himself to be the identical Brown. Our Sheriff will go after him in a few days.

The Great Register.

The printed Great Register appeared last week from the presses of this office. It contains the names of 579 voters. There is a supplementary list to be supplied to the various polls containing about 170 more names, making 749 altogether. We shall perhaps examine into some of its curiosities next week.

To Whom it May Concern.

We hereby give public notice that the next ill-mannered cuss who comes into our establishment and takes occasion to examine any copy or manuscript on any compositor's case or any copy hook, will receive a peremptory invitation to take a spin. The practice is intolerable and will not be put up with.

Grand Jury.

A Grand Jury will be selected from a venire of thirty on Wednesday next, to examine into the charge against Manuel Rojas for an assault with intent to kill, the particulars of which we gave a week or two since.

Melons.

THE INDEPENDENT concern, from the senior to the devil, acknowledge the generosity of Mr. Seth Carrier in supplying it with luscious melons.

New Driver.

The Lone Pine stage came up in charge of a new driver—name Begole. He done so well that they discharged him on his return.

Selling Out.

Mr. I. W. Hunt of Lone Pine announces that he will sell his livery stock of horses, buggies, harness, saddles etc., at very low rates. See notice.

Raised.

The Board of Equalization are busily engaged in raising the assessments of many of our heavy tax-payers, which proceeding is productive of considerable growling.

Political.

Politics are hot. The Inyo Syringe is nitty. May the devil take the hindmost!

LETTER FROM CERRO GORDO.

(Correspondence of the Inyo Independent.)

CERRO GORDO, August 31, 1871.

MESSRS. EDITORS:—Once more I find a few moment time to devote to your columns. There is nothing new in the mining circle. Everything in that respect being prosperous as usual, without any material change, though you may look for some new developments before long.

SMELTING.

Both Mr. Belshaw's and Mr. Beaudry's are shut down for the present. The former for repairs, and the latter awaiting the arrival of new machinery.

IMPROVEMENTS.

Mr. Beaudry is constructing a new and large roasting furnace, the present one being insufficient in capacity. Our old and enterprising citizen will soon have his new building, opposite the American Hotel, under way, the lumber having already arrived at Swansea. The Cosmopolitan Saloon is being refitted and promises to rival anything of the kind ever attempted in the county.

POLITICAL.

Talk is cheap and therefore indulged in but little by our people since we are fastidious, and deign to indulge in nothing but luxuries. The election day will find our votes cast for one or the other of the regular nominees of the respective parties.

FREE ROAD.

Our citizens have at last aroused from their phlegmatic slumbers and resolved to have a public free road to Cerro Gordo to the valley. All theories in regard to the subject have been exploded, and practical common sense backed by determined physical energy substituted instead. The road is being constructed by subscription, the list being headed by J. L. Darrah and O. B. J. Meirrs of Swansea with $250. Already $700 have been subscribed and about $300 more promised by responsible men, besides many who are unable to pay. Many are willing to pay in work. The undertaking is one of the utmost importance to the traveling public, and should receive substantial encouragement from the whole county. All classes are interested, no matter what their calling. The road is being constructed over the route lately surveyed and marked out by John Simpson, Esq., and already ten good able bodied men are employed in pushing the work to completion. The grade is an excellent one, upon which heavily loaded teams can travel with comparative ease. The road starts from the lower end of the town of Cerro Gordo at a point near the old furnace lot of C. F. Duval and follows around the side of the mountain north of the canyon for some distance, and then cutting back drops gradually back into the old and original natural route marked out and established by the pioneers of Cerro Gordo.

The citizens of the valley, especially the farmers, teamsters and stage men will undoubtedly be called upon to contribute, and we doubt not but that they will deem it a compliment paid to their generosity to have the privilege of doing so.

CITIZEN.

The Visalia Stage Robbery.

The San Jose Patriot of August 18th gives these particulars connected with the above stage robbery:

From Sheriff Harris who has just returned from an unsuccessful pursuit of the Visalia stage robbers, we learn further details of the road agent transaction of last Thursday. It appears that the robbers were Bartola Supulveda, Tiburcio Vasques and Crocopolo Mauriata, who, with two other out-laws, named Pancho Galindo and John Doe Bacinos, are an organization, lacking only charmed lives and a certificate of incorporation to be capable of perpetual succession, like any other monopoly. The pictures of at least two of them grace the "Rogue's Gallery" in the Sheriff's office. The two last named of the gang were not present at the Soap lake robbery. The operations of the three robbers were boldly planned and resolutely executed, being in a thickly settled neighborhood. The first thing they did was to capture a gentleman named Moore, a delegate to the late Democratic County Convention. He was riding in a buggy. They took him aside privily, near the road in the field, tied and blindfolded him, and robbed him of $55. By this time the two-horse stage came along. The robbers then fell upon it, and ordered the driver to go through an opening they made in the fence. The stage was stopped at the point where our "unterrified" Democratic ex-delegate lay hors-de-combat. The passengers were four men and a woman. The men were compelled to alight, and keep their eyes on the ground, while each was securely bound, searched and blindfolded. One of the robbers asked the woman, "which is your husband?" She pointed to Simmons, Canal Superintendent, who sat on the back seat with her. "All right," said the robber, and Simmons was searched and bound, but the lady was not molested. The robbers secured something over $500 from the stage company, and a gold watch or so.

The subsequent proceedings were as cool as ice, "Don't make a move till we come back, or we'll murder every one of you!" said the road agents, as, leaving the people bound and the lady sitting in the stage, they rode off. In a short time they returned with a picket teamster, whom they bound and searched and left with the stage party. They then departed again with the same threat, but were seen no more. For an hour and a half the captives lay there in the field, bound and fearful to move. By-and-by the driver got anxious to go, and asked the woman to come and untie them. She refused for a while, fearing the return of the robbers; but presently released the driver, and he the other, and they got into Gilroy all right, except the plunder of their property.

After the second departure, the robbers overhauled an old man named Grewell on the road and robbed him of $5, looked at his silver watch and gave it back, and let him go. He soon procured a party named Billy Brown, and they gave pursuit, Billy with a Kentucky rifle and Grewell with a Henry carbine. They overhauled the robbers who flourished their pistols and rode away at full speed. Brown fired but missed. Grewell snapped the carbine about fifty times, but afterwards discovered that he had forgotten to load, and was trying to fire with no cartridge! And the robbers made good their escape into the mountains. Harris left Gilroy with a strong party, and got wind of the outlaws being in the same locality where Harry Morse killed the outlaw Juan Syto. He searched for them in the chapparel region between Quien Sabe valley and Ana Peak, and then struck over to the Gavilan range, where he learned the same robbers had cleaned out a sheep-herder named Patterson. They got here $2 50, and overlooked $100 in Patterson's boot-leg. This was now Sunday night, and the Sheriff discovered that his birds were far in the start of him. They are believed to have made for the mines in Los Angeles or the Lone Pine country.

FOREIGN NEWS.

The Times says further loans will have to be obtained before the city of Paris can be restored to its condition before the war.

The ravages of the cholera are steadily increasing at Koenigsberg. The disease has already shown itself at Dantzig, but no cases have yet occurred in Stettin and Southern Prussia.

Potato blight has made its appearance in Ireland. It is feared the crop is ruined, in which case a partial famine will be inevitable.

A dreadful calamity occurred on the small island of Tagalanda, in the Malay groupe. An outburst of a volcano was accompanied by a convulsion of the sea, and a wave forty yards high swept all the human beings, cattle and horses from the island; 400 persons perished.

From Virginia City, Nevada.

AUGUST 20

About 3 o'clock this morning a fire broke out at No. 24 D street, which spread so rapidly as to get beyond control, until it had swept everything on the east side of D, from Union half to Sutton Avenue, both sides of E and the west side of F for the same distance, and causing considerable damage on the west side of D; loss estimated at $150,000, on which there was some insurance, but the amount cannot be ascertained to-day. About fifty buildings were destroyed, all of them wooden. A large portion of the same ground has now been burnt over for the second and a large portion for the third time within six months. The fire is supposed to have been incendiary, and a young man named Heilshorn has been arrested as the guilty party.

A shooting affray occurred about noon to-day at Gold Hill between Andy Graham and a man, name unknown, by which an innocent party, a young man named Henry Leflower, was shot through the fleshy part of the thigh.

At 3 o'clock this afternoon two men named Trainor and Malone had a fight on the Divide, in which the former cut the latter with a knife across the abdomen, causing the intestines to protrude.

Wynema.

The shipment of grain at this place has commenced. The Kalorama will take up from there to-day about 5,000 sacks of barley and 500 of potatoes. The wharf is about completed, and is considered one of the best structures of the kind on the coast. T. R. Bard is now erecting a large warehouse at the front end of the wharf. It is to be 60x200 feet. For these items we are indebted to R. G. Surdam.—Ventura Signal, August 19.

Won't Work.

The Labor Exchange of San Francisco, in consequence of erroneous reports as to the demand for female labor in California, states that 5,000 girls are wanted to do general housework in the country towns. In the hotels and private houses of San Francisco, it is asserted, thousands of Chinamen are taking the positions of white women, simply because the latter class refuse situations, in consequence of the romantic notion of securing husbands.

—A Kentucky journal on the day after the election in that State appeared with head lines reading: "Riots at Frankfort, Lexington, and Paris—Several Persons Killed and Wounded—A Gorious Day's Work." Kentucky's idea of "glorious work" seems to be peculiar.

—An Indiana man claims to have succeeded in playing a thorough confidence game upon the potatoe bugs. He planted a grain of corn in each potatoe hill, and as the corn came up first the bugs thought it was a corn field and started for other scenes.

—The New York Tablet, a Catholic journal, says that those who participated in the New York riots were, if Catholics at all, what Protestants call "enlightened Catholics," grown too wise to listen to their pastors.

—An ignoramus had been sick, and, on recovering, was told by the doctor that he might take a little animal food. "No, sir," said he; "I took your gruel very well, but hang me if I can eat your hay and oats."

—A man in Kansas, on whose shoulder a lady laid a lash, didn't sue for damages, because it was an eyelash.

Arizona.

Correspondence from more remote parts of Arizona Territory show the present summer to be the driest and hottest ever known in Arizona. In Pine Grove district there is not water enough to work arastras. Gov. Safford, with a company of some fifty miners, has gone on a prospecting trip to the mineral districts of the Pinal country in eastern Arizona, carrying the war into the heart of the Apache country. Potatoes have been selling at twenty cents per pound in Prescott; flour, $8 50 to $10 per hundred.

Application for Patent.

NOTICE NO. 6.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE, REGISTER'S OFFICE, Aurora, Nevada, August 16th, 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT JOHN B. WINTER, Superintendent of the Kearsarge Mining Company, on behalf of said company, has this day filed in this office a diagram and notice of application for patent from the United States, under Act of Congress approved July 26, 1866, for one thousand, eight hundred feet in length of the "KEARSARGE LODE," with a surface width of fifty feet on each side of the lode. Said lode supposed to be one hundred feet in width, which belongs to the Kearsarge Mining Company, a corporation; adjoining on the East end the extension claims of James R. Wall, J. R. Hughes and G. W. Brady, and on the West end the extension claims of R. M. Shuey, J. E. Rowley and John Clarke, situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. Notice is further given that they intend to apply for and have embraced in the said patent together and in connection with the "Kearsarge Lode," the land on which the Kearsarge mill is erected, together with a sufficient space of land around said mill for the convenient use of said mill; also the Water Right of said Kearsarge Mining Company on Little Pine Creek. The property sought to be patented together with the said "Kearsarge Lode" is known as the "Kearsarge Mill Site and Water Claim on Little Pine Creek," and is described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a stump, it being the N. E. corner of what is known as McCormick, Kittleson, Cornell and Hill's cabin, 24 links from Pine Creek, from which a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears N. ½ deg. E. distant 62 links, also a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears S. 58½ deg. E. distant 64 links, thence N. 25½ deg. E. distant 4 chains to a tree blazed and marked as follows: Blazed on three sides and notched toward the creek and marked "Head of the Kearsarge Mining Company's Ditch" thence N. 62½ deg. W. to the foot of the main mountain, thence N. 27½ deg. E. distant 91 rods, thence S. 62½ deg. E. to a stone mound on the opposite side of the creek, thence S. 27½ deg. W. along the East side of Pine Creek to a point opposite to and to place of beginning. And also all the water, water rights and privileges found upon or in any manner belonging to said tract of land—situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. All of which is more particularly described by the diagrams and notices posted in this office and on the claim.

AN ACT

To Provide for the Payment of the Funded Indebtedness of the State of California, and to Contract a Funded Debt for that Purpose.

[APPROVED APRIL 2, 1870.]

The People of the State of California, represented in Senate and Assembly, do enact as follows:

SECTION 1. For the purpose of liquidating and providing for the payment of the funded indebtedness of the State of California hereinafter specified, and to lessen the burden of taxation, the Governor of the State, the Controller of State and the Treasurer of State, and their successors in office, shall constitute a Board of Commissioners, to be styled the Loan Commissioners of the State of California, and shall have and exercise the powers and perform the duties hereinafter provided.

SEC. 2. The said Loan Commissioners are hereby authorized to issue and sell not exceeding three millions seven hundred thousand dollars of the bonds of said state, bearing interest at the rate of six per cent. per annum, which interest shall be payable semi-annually, in gold coin, on the second days in January and July in each year, at the office of the Treasurer of State. The principal of said bonds shall be made payable in gold coin within twenty years after the date of their issue, and shall be of such denominations as the said Loan Commissioners shall direct, but not less than five hundred dollars; shall bear the date of their issue, and shall be signed by the said Loan Commissioners, and shall have the seal of the State affixed thereto; and the faith of the State of California is hereby pledged for the payment of said bonds and the interest accruing thereon as herein provided.

SEC. 3. Coupons for the interest shall be attached to each bond so that they may be removed without injury or mutilation to the bond; said coupons, consecutively numbered, shall be signed by the Treasurer of the State.

SEC. 4. Before the sale of any of said bonds the said Loan Commissioners shall cause notices of such sale to be published, for the space of one month, in three daily newspapers published in English, one in the City of New York, one in the City of London, in England, and one in the Capital of the State; in and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in French, in the city of Paris in France, and for the space of one month in a daily newspaper published in German, in the City of Frankfort on the Main, in Germany. Such notice shall specify the amount of bonds to be sold, the rate of interest they shall bear, the day and hour of sale, the place of sale, which shall be at the State Capital, and that sealed proposals will be received by the said Loan Commissioners for the purchase of such bonds. Within one month from the expiration of such publication, and on the day and hour named in said notice, the said Loan Commissioners shall open all sealed proposals received by them, and shall award the purchase of said bonds to such bidders as will, in their opinion, make the most advantageous bid for the State; provided, that said Loan Commissioners may reject any or all bids, if they deem it to the advantage of the State; and provided further, that they may refuse to make any award unless satisfactory security shall be furnished by the bidders for the compliance with the terms of their bids; and provided further, that said bonds shall not be sold at less than ninety-one cents on the dollar, in gold coin, par value.

SEC. 5. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer and Controller of State each to keep a separate record of said bonds sold under the provisions of this act, showing the number, date, amount and rate of interest of each bond, and to whom the same was issued.

SEC. 6. The sum of one thousand dollars is hereby appropriated out of the General Fund for the payment of the expense that may be incurred by the Loan Commissioners in having such bonds prepared and said notices published.

SEC. 7. The proceeds of such bonds shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied to the payment of the following bonds, in the order of their issuance:

First—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act entitled an Act to provide for certain equitable claims against the State of California, and to contract a limited debt for that purpose, approved April twenty-eight, eighteen hundred and fifty-seven.

Second—The outstanding bonds issued under the Act of eight en hundred and sixty.

Third—The outstanding school warrant bonds.

Fourth—The outstanding soldiers' bounty bonds.

SEC. 8. All persons having any of the bonds specified in sections seven of this Act shall, upon presentation of such bonds to the said Loan Commissioners, be entitled to exchange them at their par value for bonds authorized to be issued under this Act, at the rate of ninety-three cents on the dollar, par value, but no bond shall be issued for a less sum than five hundred dollars, nor for a fractional part of a hundred dollars, but the said Loan Commissioners may issue certificates of such fractional parts not bonded, which said certificates shall be transferable, and entitled to be paid out of the proceeds of the sales of any bonds provided for in section seven of this Act. The Loan Commissioners shall cancel such bonds so exchanged, and shall indorse on such bond the date on which they received the same, and from whom, the number and amount of the bond issued to exchange therefor, and shall file such bond in the office of the Secretary of State.

SEC. 9. Whenever there shall be in the state treasury, from the proceeds of the sale of bonds issued under this Act, a sum of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, printed in English, one in New York and one in the Capital of the state, for two months, which advertisement shall state the amount of money in the treasury applicable to the redemption of bonds, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which are redeemable; and three months from the date of the first insertion of such advertisement, such bonds and interest shall cease to draw interest, but ample money for the redemption of such bonds shall remain in the treasury to pay such bonds whenever presented.

SEC. 10. For the payment within twenty years of the principal and interest of the bonds issued under this Act, there shall be and is hereby levied annually, after any bonds have been issued under this Act, such rate of tax on each one hundred dollars of the assessed value of real and personal property in the State, to be computed by the Controller of State on the basis of the assessed value of such property for the preceding year, as shall produce annually for the first five years seven per centum of the amount of such bonds issued; for the next five years thereafter, twelve per centum of the amount of such bonds issued, and thereafter, until all the bonds are issued under this Act are paid, fifteen per centum of the amount of such bonds issued. The Controller shall certify the rate of tax thus computed by him to the several County Auditors, and the said Auditors are hereby directed and required to enter such rate on the assessment rolls of their respective counties, in the same manner and with the same effect as is provided by law in relation to other State taxes. Every tax levied under the provisions or authority of this Act is hereby made a lien against the property assessed, which lien shall attach on the first Monday in March in each year and shall not be satisfied or removed until such tax has been paid. All moneys derived from taxes authorized by the provisions of this section shall be paid into the State treasury, and shall be applied—

First—To the payment of the interest on the bonds issued by the provisions of this Act.

Second—To the payment of the principal of such bonds.

Provided, that all moneys remaining in the State treasury on the third day of January, in each year, for the first five years after the issuance of any bonds under this Act, after all the interest on such bonds then due has been paid, shall be transferred by the Treasurer of State to the General Fund.

SEC. 11. Whenever, on the third day of January or July, in any year, after the expiration of five years from the date of issuance of any bonds under this Act, there remains, after the payment of the interest, as provided in the preceding section, a surplus of ten thousand dollars or more, it shall be the duty of the Treasurer to advertise, for the space of one month, in one daily newspaper, published in English, in the City of New York, and for one month in one daily newspaper, published in English, at the State Capital, for sealed proposals, to be opened one month after the expiration of such publication by the Treasurer, in presence of the Governor or Controller, at the State Capitol, for the surrender of bonds issued under this Act, which advertisement shall state the amount of money he has on hand for the purpose of redemption; and they shall accept the lowest proposals at rates not exceeding par value, as may redeem the greatest amount of bonds, until the amount of cash on hand for the redemption is exhausted; provided, however, in case a sufficient amount of such bonds shall not be offered, as aforesaid, to exhaust the Sinking Fund to a less amount than ten thousand dollars, then it is hereby made the duty of the Treasurer to advertise in two newspapers, one in New York and one at the Capital of this State, for three months, which advertisement shall state the amount in the Sinking Fund, and the number of bonds, numbering them in the order of their issuance, which such fund is set apart to pay and discharge; and if such bonds so numbered in such advertisements shall not be presented for payment and cancellation at the expiration of such publications, then such funds shall remain in the treasury to discharge such bonds whenever presented, but they shall draw no interest after the expiration of such publication; before any of said bonds shall be paid, they shall be presented to the Controller, who shall indorse on each bond the amount due thereon, and shall write across the face of each bond the date of its surrender and the name of the person surrendering.

SEC. 12. The Treasurer of State shall keep a full and particular account and record of all his proceedings under this Act, and of the bonds redeemed and surrendered, and he shall transmit to the Governor an abstract of all his proceedings under this Act, with his annual report, to be by the Governor laid before the Legislature; and all books and papers pertaining to the matter provided for in this act shall at all times be open to the inspection of any party interested, or the Governor or the Attorney General, or a committee of either branch of the Legislature, or a joint committee of both.

SEC. 13. It shall be the duty of the Treasurer to pay the interest on said bonds, when the same falls due, out of said interest Fund, if sufficient; and if said fund be not sufficient, then to pay the deficiency out of the General Fund; provided, that the Controller of State shall first draw his warrant on the Treasurer, payable to the order of said Treasurer, for the amount of interest money about to become due, which said interest warrant shall be drawn at least one month previous to the maturing of the interest.

SEC. 14. This Act shall take effect sixty days after the next general election, as to all its provisions, except those relating to and necessary for its submission to the people, and for returning, canvassing and proclaiming the votes, which shall take effect immediately.

SEC. 15. This Act shall be submitted to the people of the State for their ratification, at the next general election, and the qualified electors of this State shall, at said election, on their ballots for State officers, vote for or against this Act; those voting for the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—Yes," and those voting against the same shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Refund the Debt—No."

SEC. 16. The votes cast for and against this Act shall be counted, returned and canceled, and declared in the same manner and subject to the same rules as votes cast for the Treasurer of State, and if it appears that a majority of all the votes so cast are for or against this law, as aforesaid, are in favor of this act, then the same shall have effect as herein before provided, and shall be irreplicable until the principal and interest of the liabilities herein created shall be paid and discharged, and the Governor shall make proclamation hereof; but if a majority of the votes so cast are against this Act, then the same shall become void.

SEC. 17. It shall be the duty of the Secretary of State to have this Act published in one newspaper in each judicial district of this State, for three months next preceding the next general election, for which publication no more than the rate allowed by law to the State Printer.

STATE OF CALIFORNIA—DEPARTMENT OF STATE.

I, H. L. Nichols, Secretary of State of the State of California, do hereby certify that the annexed is a true, full, and correct copy of Chapter Four hundred and Eighty-four, Statutes of California, Eighteenth Session, approved April 2, 1870, now on file in my office.

Witness my hand and the great seal of said State, at office, in Sacramento, California, the twenty-fifth day of May, A. D. 1871.

AN APOLOGY.

Of all the difficulties and exasperating circumstances under which THE INYO INDEPENDENT is run, that of its isolated position is the worst. Nearly three months ago we ordered some eight hundred quires of printing paper, and up to this time not a sheet of it has reached us, a though it is reported as being "on the road." The extraordinary demand created by the election—including the publication of two papers—has consumed our supply, and this week we are compelled to ask the indulgence of our advertisers and print a half-sheet on brown paper. It is next to no paper at all, but possibly better than none. A supply ordered by express will certainly be here in time for the issue of next week, and the present exigency will not recur again, if keeping on hand a year's supply of paper will prevent it.

A FOOLISH INDIAN POLICY.

The recent appointment of Gen. Crook to the military command in Arizona, caused much rejoicing to the people of that Indian cursed Territory. He went there with a record which of itself carried an assurance that he could and would accomplish the object which so many before him had attempted and failed—the subjugation of the Apache Indians. His well known fitness for the duties assigned him, coupled with the fact that he had received a carte blanche as to the method and means he was to employ, was the first tangible prelude to the last act in the bloody drama. Hope took the place of black despair in the hearts of the people, all the varied industries of the country would once more spring into active life, and the desert, created by a merciless savage war, be made to "blossom as the rose." The midnight barking of a dog would no more be portentious of a lurking foe, of desolated homes, of every conceivable outrage. Years of hope deferred, of sleepless dread and anxiety, such as can only be realized by those who have experienced it, were soon to end. The brave but almost helpless pioneers had good cause for rejoicing, though it was for something yet unrealized. The treacherous Bedouins of the desert would be made to cease from troubling by the only method yet found to be effective and reliable—mere force of arms.

But a new reign of terror has been inaugurated in Arizona. This time through the false and foolish philanthrophy of the Quaker method of dealing with Indians. Vincent Colyer, chief of the philanthropists, accompanied by a strong cavalry escort, (a wise precaution) now goes to Arizona bearing orders to Gen. Crook to cease hostilities while he experiments a few years upon Cachise, by gentle words, good feed and Reservations; to tame these hyenas by gentle words who have never yet been made to feel that there existed a power superior to their own. The people of Arizona feel utterly depressed and discouraged at this new order, knowing as they do in their own hearts, its perfect futility.

We feel that this untimely interference on the part of Colyer and his colleagues to be a great misfortune, if not a positive outrage, upon the people of Arizona. We are not in the least blood-thirsty, we would no sooner harm a peaceful Indian in his proper place than any other human being, but there is an "irrepressible conflict" going on between them and the white race, which can never have a permanent ending until they (the Indians) are made to feel their inferiority. When this is an accomplished fact, and not till then, will moral suasion be effective. Any other idea is simply preposterous, at least to the minds of the pioneers of this coast, and as it is they and not those Eastern philanthrophists who have to undergo the tests and that too against their own honest convictions it is no wonder the people of Arizona feel desperate and outraged. They know, supposing Colyer succeeds in getting the Indians on Reservations, that on the least provocation and at the first opportunity his pets will steal out and murder the lonely settler or traveler, if they do not precipitate a general massacre. Nothing has ever taken place to impress them with a wholesome fear of consequences or in the least repress their overbearing insolence which is morally certain to provoke an outbreak sooner or later.

The Arizona Miner predicts and threatens not only other Camp Grant massacres, but a collision of the settlers with the military. Colyer himself will need a cavalry protection against other than Indian dangers. Altogether we prophecy some very evil results from this ill-advised, ill-timed order, and would be pleased to know that Mr. Colyer and his colleagues were made to leave the country until a proper time had arrived for his services; which will never occur until Cachise has received a good drubbing; and this again will never take place while thieving Indian agents are allowed to dictate the Government Indian policy.

Another Cure for Cancer.

A physician writes to The New York Herald to commend the virtues of tea made from red clover tops as an infallible remedy for cancer. While he concedes that the new remedy, "cundurango," has its merits, he claims that clover is superior and never fails. The latter is used simply as a tea to be drank by the patient, with outward applications to the cancer itself. This is good news to the afflicted, if true.

EASTERN NEWS.

Eastern dates to Sept. 2, contain the following:

A frightful accident occurred August 16, on the Eastern Railroad at Revere, seven miles from Boston. The accommodation train started behind time, and while stopping at the station at Revere the Portland lightning express overtook it and telescoped it, killing twenty-two passengers outright, of whom three were women, wounding forty or fifty more. The cars took fire and two or three were consumed. Most of the wounded were scalded and had limbs fractured. The killed and wounded belonged mostly at Lynn and Salem.

Mayor Hall has declared his intention to sell The Times for the past six years' rent of the ground on which The Times building stands.

On the same day of the Revere railroad accident, August 26, another one occurred on the Philadelphia and Erie road under very similar circumstances, but not so distressing in its results. Three persons were dangerously wounded, and a dozen others more or less injured. On the same fateful day an excursion steamer near Mobile, Alabama, blew up, killing and wounding some two hundred persons.

Yellow fever has made its appearance in Charleston, South Carolina. Six deaths and three new cases were reported for the week ending August 30.

Quarantine regulations against cholera and yellow fever are being rigidly enforced in New York and other eastern ports.

In December, 1863, the United iron-clad Weehawken was sunk in Charleston Harbor. The bodies of the Third Assistant Engineers, McGowan, Moyan, Mitchell and Shonberg, have just been recovered from the vessel. Like the Roman sentinels at Pompeii, they were all found at their posts of duty.

Indian Troubles.

The following dispatch relative to Indian affairs in Arizona and about San Diego is dated Los Angeles, Sept. 1:

The Arizona Miner says the Summer rains of Arizona have been abundant.

Townsend's scouting party returned to Camp Verde August 24. They killed no Indians but destroyed several villages and fields of grain.

A valuable silver lode was found three miles from town. Rich ledges were discovered at Pine Grove, Turkey creek.

Since the first issue of the Arizona Miner, September 21, 1867, over one hundred of its subscribers have been killed by Indians. The Miner condemns the peace policy of the Government in dealing with the Apaches, it tending to retard immigration to the Territory.

General Wharton arrived from Drum barracks this afternoon. He has established communication between the camp at Pala Mission and Las Flores. On the receipt of dispatches at San Juan Capistrano last night, apprehending an immediate attack by Indians on San Luis Rey, Pala Mission and the neighboring ranches, the citizens at once organized a company, and proceeded during the night to their support. A detachment was left at Las Flores, and the remainder moved toward Santa Margita.

Authentic reports received at Las Flores this evening say that a large number of Indians are gathering near San Jacinto, forty miles north of Pala, with the intention to move on the settlements below as soon as all their forces are collected. Olegario is with them and has been very active since the interview with Capt. Brown at Pala. He seems determined to resist the lawful authority of Manuelito Olegario. Persons are secretly moving their families from Paia. Settlers in San Jose valley and living in the vicinity of Pala are moving their families and valuables to the mountains. Capt. Brown and Manuelito, with a few reliable citizens who are properly armed, and a small body of regulars, remain at Pala, waiting for the arrival of more troops, ammunition, arms and rations. The people in that vicinity are greatly excited. Definite information respecting Olegario's present movements is rendered almost impossible, owing to the intense fear prevailing among citizens as well as friendly Indians to venture on an expedition in their direction. Report says that Olegario is receiving aid from Indians as far as Yuma, including the Yumas, but the latter is not fully credited. The prevalent belief is that a general outbreak is near at hand; that Olegario will not submit until compelled to do so by force, and it is not unreasonable to expect that fighting will certainly be done before the trouble is settled. The settlers have moved their families from the upper part to the lower part of San Luis Rey valley, and have organized as militia. Families are also moving from Mont Serat.

LATEST.—Twenty citizens have gone from San Luis Rey to join Captain Brown. Olegario and his warriors are said to have withdrawn from San Jacinto and concentrated in the mountains near Pala.

Efforts are being made here (San Diego) to form a company of volunteers to go to San Luis Rey to suppress the Indian troubles.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

The Carson Register of August 27, relates this singular accident: Dr. Robert B. Sharp, of this city, met with a painful accident on Friday. He was chasing a turkey among the vines, flowers and trees of his prolific garden, and in running under a tree threw up his hand to turn a branch aside, but made a miscue, and the sharp point of a dead twig entered his right ear, tearing through the drum and breaking off in the tympanitic cavity, where a portion of it (it is thought) still remains.

A fire at Jackson on Sunday morning, August 27, burned the Amador Ledger office and three other buildings. The Ledger belonged to T. A. Springer. A portion of the printing material was saved.

The assessment roll of Los Angeles county shows an increase this year over last of $700,000.

A general war with the Indians is said to be imminent at San Luis Rey.

Fire in the woods near Emigrant Gap last week has destroyed the timber for a mile and a half each side of the Central Pacific Railroad.

Parties are fitting up the mill in Castle Peak, Mono County, and are going to work the Dunderberg mine, when it is expected they will be more successful than the previous working and a favorable report made from there, as the mine is a large one and the rock said to be rich.

The report that Gen. Crook was killed by the Indians is unfounded.

The Mexican Government has declared the Lower California Company's claim to confirmation of the Lease grant invalid, they having wholly failed to comply with the terms of their contract for establishing a colony at Magdalena bay.

An Excommunicating Bull.

We find the subjoined in the Reese River Reveille of August 24:

The following notice was served upon Breckinridge last night at his camp on the hill. The Captain "sabes" English some, but this document was "too many" for him, and he was obliged to take it to Judge Logan to be translated into Piute. We give the notice verbatim et literatim:

"Austen Aug the 23 1871

Piute Wee Want yone toe leve This plase as Wee have saw Truble enuff Withe yone On the surenevadu mountain And owens river and all other Plases Whare youre rang runs Now I feel it my dutey As well as most of the sitisons of auston toe Warn yone Toe leve this plase As I doe not feel safe In my office nights Withe such sawages at all Owers of the night And Wee Will give youe untul thursday Evening toe leave In

The sitisons of Auston."

We would suggest that a detachment of "Hoodlums" be immediately detailed to guard the "office" of "The sitisons of Auston," as the "sitisons" appears to entertain fears for his personal safety.

The result of the above notice is given in another part of the same paper as follows:

PIUTES LEAVING.—We learn that Breckinridge with his band of Piutes will leave for Mammoth district to-night. The notice published in another column was too much for the primitive child of the forest, and he chose to leave rather than suffer the infliction of such execrable specimens of orthography.

The writer of the notice alluded to should be sent to Arizona at once and allowed to try his hand upon Cachise, the Apache chief. He would do more good than Vincent Colyer, the Peace Commission humbug.

—The latest slang expression is, "he always was."—Ex.

Yes and he would be!

A COAL-FIELD IN ALASKA.

[Made in Appleton's Journal.]

In the summer of 1868, the commander of the steamer Saginaw, cruising on the coast of Alaska, learned from the Indians of the existence of coal of a superior quality at Kootznahoo, on Admiralty Island. He visited the place, verified the reports of the existence of a coal resembling cannel and brought away considerable quantity. No survey was made, however, and, in the meantime, the vessel was ordered back to San Francisco, and the officers and crew changed. In the winter of the same year the Saginaw was again ordered to Alaska, and, upon her arrival at Sitka, found her stock of fuel reduced to twenty-six tons, while the Government supply usually kept at Sitka was utterly exhausted. To cruise in these waters in a paddle-wheel steamer without coal was impossible, and the Jews of Sitka, taking advantage of the necessities of the Government, raised the price of their coal to thirty dollars per ton, when the commander of the vessel very promptly refused to purchase. A trip to Kootznahoo was determined upon, though there was no one on board who had any knowledge of the route, and it was considered at any time a hazardous experiment, as the channel to the mine was represented to be full of sunken rocks and rapids; while, should the Saginaw run short of fuel while there, and get none to replace what she burned in getting there, she would be in rather an unpleasant predicament.

Nevertheless, a large scow to contain coal was borrowed from the quartermaster of the post, and the Saginaw left Sitka, January 13, 1869, and, after a short run of sixty miles, anchored behind a small island, known to the Indians as Kumsnow, and within two miles of the Indian village of Kootznahoo.

A few days were necessarily spent in holding a "pow-wow" with the Indians, procuring a guide, and exploring the channel leading to the coal mines by means of the boats. The only chart in the vessel represented what is now called Kootznahoo Archipelago by a sprawling figure—a mere outline without even a name.

The 17th day of January was the day selected to make the trip to the mine. Slack water was chosen, and the voyage successfully accomplished through an exceedingly dangerous channel. At dusk, which in January in this latitude (57° 29′ N.) occurs about 3 P. M., the vessel was safely anchored in a beautiful bay in the interior of the island, which, in memory of the first American officer who visited this strange region, received the name of Mitchell's Bay. An idea may be formed of the wonderful mildness of the climate, by stating that the Fahrenheit thermometer registered 41°.

The next day proved a busy one. The lighter was towed to the mine, all the boats sent off to explore the country, and a large gang of Indians hired to dig coal and cut wood. Very soon this wildernness seemed alive with bustle and activity, and the sharp rifle crack of the sportsmen mingled with the sound of the axe and the dull thud of the pick. The surrounding country showed coal-croppings in almost every direction, though the veins seemed better in the vicinity of the lowland and on the margin of the bayous, which seemed to ramify in endless directions.

The weather being clear and mild, and the Indians working most amicably with the sailors from the vessel, so well was the labor rewarded that, in a few days, enough coal and wood was taken on board to enable the steamer to cruise some weeks; while the actual cost of obtaining fuel proved so trifling, that the vessel was subsequently run, at a speed averaging seven knots, for the very insignificant cost of twelve dollars per day.

The Kootznahoo coal is of a recent geological formation, and resembles somewhat the cannel. The surface-coal is filled with strata of pure resin, clear as amber; some of the blocks were beautiful specimens, and it is highly inflammable, burning with a clear flame in the light of a candle.

These coal-fields seem to lie in an extensive valley between two ranges of lofty mountains. This valley is a basin, as it were, filled with innumerable islands, and its extent seems to be about fifteen miles north northwest and south-southeast, with an average width of about five miles. The islands are small, low, and, near their borders, somewhat marshy. The entire valley is doubtless a vast coal field.

There are two routes from Sitka to the coal-region: one by the way of Peril Straits, a narrow arm of the sea, separating Baranoff Island (upon which Sitka stands) from Tchitchagoff Island, a large island to the north; and the second out seaward, and to the southward round Cape Ommaney, and so through Chatham Straits, north again to the coal-region. This latter is preferable for large vessels, as Peril Straits are dangerous for any but steamers under fifteen feet draught, owing to the rapidity of the currents, and the numberless rocks in the channel.

—A naughty little boy, blubbering because his mother wouldn't let him go down to the river on the Sabbath, on being admonished, said: "I didn't want to go a swimmin' with 'em, I only wanted to go down and see the bad little boy drown for going a swimmin' on Sunday."

CALIFORNIA.

[The following beautiful poem went the round of the press some fifteen years ago, and at this time the authorship is unknown. It is handed us by a friend with request to publish. We do so; starting it out again on the waves of the literary sea.]

A LAND OF BEAUTY—The land of the West:
Where the pine trees wave on the mountain's crest;
Overhanging the gorge where the eagle floats
And song birds warble their tuneful notes;
With its cloudless sky, and its pure sweet air,
In all the world no land so fair;
Where the wanderer, stretched on the velvet sod,
Can look up through nature to nature's God.

A LAND OF WEALTH—For its waters flow
Over golden ores hidden far below,
And down to the depths of the mountain steep,
The veins of silver lie hidden deep;
Till the hand of man, in his thirst for gold,
Shall earth's long kept secrets to light unfold.

A LAND OF NATIONS—For some are here
From every clime on the rolling sphere;
Each white sained ship bears a living freight
As she slowly glides through the "Golden Gate,"
From the eastern land, on whose desert sod,
The pilgrim fathers in silence trod.
From Britain's isle, where the cliffs of snow
Look down on the ocean that foams below:
Where in clustering hamlets and leafy dells
Re-echo the "soft, sweet, evening bells;"
From sunny Spain, where the purple vine
Gives promise rich of the sparkling wine;
Where the fire-flies glitter the trees among
While the gay cachuca is danced and sung;
From the classic shores, where in days gone by,
The "seven hilled city" stood firm on high,
Ere the crumbling Forum, and the ruined tower
Were the sole relics of Cæsar's power;
In search of wealth over the seas they roam,
And the cry is ever "they come, they come!"

A LAND OF TOIL—For the gold they seek
In deep ravine, or in rippling creek,
Must be gained by the work of the live-long day,
Ere their limbs grow weak, and their locks are gray;
And down in the depths of the secret mine,
Where the pale blue streaks of the silver shine,
Weary and wet in Cimmerian gloom,
They toil for aye in a living tomb.

A LAND OF REST—When the work is o'er
And life's fitful fever" disturbs no more,
For many a one there are hearts to yearn,
And long and pray for his swift return;
Little they dream that their love-lost one lies
Lost to this earth, beath the western skies,
In a land of rest for the quiet dead,
With a rock to pillow the lifeless head;
And they wait and hope, till all hope is o'er,
For him they shall see upon earth no more
Patience sick hearts! In yon starry sky,
Where the river of Life murmurs gently by,
And the white robed angels in my winds wait,
You shall meet once more by the Golden Gate.

Antioch Railroad.

The Antioch Ledger says: The New York Company who have purchased the Marsh Grant, and working the coal mine thereon, have this week commenced the survey of a railroad from the old Marsh Landing above Antioch, to run to the Brentwood mine; thence to Ellis Station, connecting with the Western Pacific. The Company have recently purchased two miles of water front on the San Joaquin River, at the Marsh Landing, and, report says, grading of the road will commence within sixty days, and the rolling stock will be built in New York City and placed upon the road within six months. It is said the Company contemplate the erection of a machine shop, foundry and warehouse at the Landing, the latter with the intention of dealing extensively in grain.

Our Most Difficult Duty.

Our great and most difficult duty, as social beings, is to derive constant aid from society without taking its yoke; to open our minds to the thoughts, reasonings and persuasions of others, and yet to hold fast the sacred right of private judgement; to receive impulses from our fellow beings, and yet determine our own feelings; to act with others, and yet to follow our own consciences; to unite social deference and self-dominion; to join moral self-subsistence with social dependence; to respect others without losing self-respect; to love our friends, and reverence our superiors, whilst our supreme homage is given to that moral perfection which no friend and no superior has realized, and which, if faithfully pursued, will often demand separation from all around us.

On their Travels.

A late number of The Sacramento Union has this item: Two of the Salt Lake tribe of Snake or Shoshone Indians arrived here on the freight train from the eastward yesterday. They were camped on top of a box freight car and had occupied that elevated position all the way from Ogden. One of them, who speaks good English, said he had heard so much of California he was bound to see things here for himself. They have a friend in Benica whom they intend visiting, and hope will show them around. They passed along with the night freight train.

Mining Stock Board.

A proposition has been made by interested and influential gentlemen, for the organization of a mining stock board in this city, which is deemed necessary by the rapidly growing mining interests in this region. Utah mines are now figuring in the San Francisco, New York and London markets, and their stock will daily become a subject of great importance.—Salt Lake Herald.

—Punch has the following on "Wallflowers:" Since it has become the fashion for gentlemen to dance with married ladies only, wallflowers have much improved in appearance, but still they are not happy!

Wallflower No. 1. "I should like to waltz so! But I suppose there's no chance for poor me, till mamma's been thoroughly danced off her legs!"

Wallflower No. 2. "I should be content with an ice, if I could only get one! Fancy! mamma's been taken down for refreshments three times, and I not once!"

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Election.

Contrary to general expectation, the election seems to have passed of quietly, if we except the fights mentioned elsewhere, which occurred sometime after the closing of the polls. On the county tickets "scratching" was the rule, and things were so much "mixed" as to be intensely disgusting to strict party men. Our table presents the returns from the different precincts, and although not official, are about correct, as far as they go, but not complete. They indicate that Haight has received a majority of 40, while the entire Democratic county ticket has been elected, with the exception of Yaney for Clerk, who is defeated by Hammarstrand. As usual in this county, the vote on Sheriff is very close, in spite of the heavy splitting of tickets, leaving the most distant and smallest precinct to decide the contest. We shall present the entire vote, as officially canvassed, in our next issue. Of the way the State has gone we confidently expect to learn in the course of a couple of months—or at least in the course of human events

The Exhibition.

Messrs. Culberson & Crayton gave their first exhibition of Panoramic and Sterescopic views at a hall in town, Wednesday evening last. Owing to the interest attending the election many persons failed to attend who otherwise would have done so, though there was a very fair attendance notwithstanding. Some forty odd views were presented, some of them very beautiful and interesting. When we take into consideration the fact that this was the first appearance of the boys on any stage, the exhibition may be pronounced a success. Their machinery which has just been procured from New York at a heavy expense is first class, and altogether with a little additional experience in the manner of presentation and explanation the display is well worthy of patronage, which we hope it will receive. It is both instructive and amusing, and when presented with a lecture and a running fire of small talk will be a most interesting entertainment.

Affray at Lone Pine.

Some two or three weeks since a man named McClelland, formerly in the police force at Stockton, came to Lone Pine, and secured a place as an assistant bar-keeper at Charley Begole's saloon, representing that he was broke, etc. It seems that he was left in charge of the saloon at a late hour on Wednesday night and, on making change, found that he had not sufficient money left in the drawer for the purpose. Taking his pistol, he closed the saloon, and started down the street to find Begole, whom he met coming up. Beginning a tirade of abuse, Begole struck him in the face, when the man struck him on the head with his six-shooter, cutting a bad gash on the temples. As Begole was falling he received another blow on the side of the head, cutting it for over an inch. "No arrests."

Desperate.

A rather rough but fortunately a bloodless affray occurred at a saloon in Cerro Gordo on the night of the election, between a man named Snow and one whose name we did not learn. The parties were engaged in a bitter political discussion, which terminated in the following manner: One drew a six-shooter and pointed it at the head of the other, who struck it with his arm, the ball entering the ceiling. At the same moment he drew a bowie and struck it furiously across the abdomen of the shooter, but the sheath had remained on the knife and prevented injury. Both pistol and knife were again ready, when outsiders separated the desperate fightists by main force.

Celebration.

The Mexican and Chileno population of Lone Pine are making extensive and thorough preparations for the celebraiion of the anniversaries of their respective independence days—the 16th and 18th instants. Two large halls have been hurried to completion for use on the occasions, and the other arrangements are of the completest character. Their proceedings are watched with great interest, and the attendance of "Americanos" will be large.

Dissolution.

Mr. I. Davison, one of the partners of well known firm of J. S. Rothschilds & Co., has severed his connection with that house, as will be seen by details elsewhere. "Dave's" many friends will be glad to hear that he does not propose to seek other parts, but will remain in business in the county, conducting the affairs of the Cosmopolitan saloon in Cerro Gordo.

Small Vote.

About one-fifth of the voters on the Great Register failed to put in an appearance at their various precincts on election day, besides a great many who were not registered.

Religious Services.

There will be preaching at the school house in this place to-morrow, (Sunday), at 11 A. M. Sunday school immediately after church.

To Canvass.

The Board of Supervisors meet on Monday next to make official count of the votes cast in the county.

County Court.

Court met Monday September 4. The bill against Frank Rojas (charged with an assault to do great bodily injury) was ignored by the special Grand Jury called to investigate the matter.

Mrs. Wilson, former wife of Jim Haun alias Wilson, sued out a writ of habeas corpus against the present Mrs. Wilson, to compel the latter to produce a little child claimed by the first Mrs. Wilson or Haun as her own. For several years past this child has been living with the other here in Lone Pine. The child (a little girl some eight or nine years old) was spirited away so that the writ was returned unsatisfied. In the course of these proceedings one w. p. jorge committed a gross contempt of court, and was sentenced to pay a fine of $50 and to serve five days in the County Jail. After a short confinement the latter part of the sentence was remitted.

Thanks.

We are under real obligation to somebody in Roberts & George's stage office in Visalia for a box of fine fruit, consisting of apples, peaches and pears received last week too late for acknowledgment. Except a slight wilting of the peaches the fruit came in fine order.

Bullion Shipments.

There were shipped from the Kearsarge mine, August 16, per Wells, Fargo & Co.'s Express, 3 bars of bullion, weighing 252 lbs., and valued at $1,262; from the same mine, September 4, 4 bars weighing 393½ lbs., valued at $2,200.

Probate Court.

Letters of administration upon the estate of John A. Mallon, deceased, were granted to J. A. Lank, Public Administrator.

ARIZONA NEWS.

The Tucson (Arizona) Citizen, dated August 24th, has the following: General Crook's expedition reached Camp Apache on the 20th instant. This morning most important news of the Indian situation here and in New Mexico has come to hand. The news is authorative and can be relied upon. It is in substance this: As the expedition was moving towards Apache it was rumored that Indian agents in New Mexico had runners in Arizona, under pay, gathering up Cochises families and taking them on the reservation. The New Mexican press denied this, but now there is official evidence of its truth. While General Crook was at Camp Apache a Justice of the Peace of Mexican extraction and six Indians came there with credentials from Indian Agent Piper and other official instructions; in effect that their mission was for Cochises; other Indians go to the Quasi reserve at Canada Almos. The leader of this delegation acknowledges he had received $1,000 for taking 150 Cochises—old, infirm men, women and children—to Canada Almos. At that same time the Cochises were on the war path in Arizona. General Crook's guides and scouts recognized among their paid runners a few of the worst members of the Cochises band. They also boasted this was Cochise's tactics to have his force of disabled men go on a reservation and be fed by the Government while the active ones waged war. When hard pushed Cochise would himself seek Government protection and food. They made no secret of this. They also got $1,000 for making presents. Each was to get $3,000 more on success in bringing in Cochises. For these reasons General Crook's expedition has been unable to find Indians. Their mountain homes are deserted and all their homes abandoned. Able warriors move with great ease and quietness over the plains and mountains. The Indian Bureau, unintentionally no doubt, is aiding them to avoid the most vigilant efforts of the enthusiastic military.

A Department order, dated August 14, states that Camp Apache constitutes the troops of Captain Moore and Stanwood's Third cavalry, the command to operate against hostile Indians independent. All posts are to get supplies wherever it is most convenient. The expedition is commanded by Captain Guy V. Henry. Troops are now scouring the country between Camps Apache and McDowell. General Crook with the remainder of his original command is on the way to Prescott via Verdi. Before leaving Apache the General tested the sincerity of Miguel's large band near that post. He gave Miguel eight days to furnish fifty warriors to fight on our side. They were furnished. Miguel professed peace and now gives the proof of it. An order has gone to recruit up every horse and mule, and have all pack gearing perfect. There is no thought of a cessation of hostilities entertained. The troops and everybody have confidence that the country will be thoroughly scoured the coming winter, if no adverse War Department order interferes. The change in the General's programme will have a peace in Arizona that can be trusted.

Nothing has been heard from Governor Safford's great prospecting party since it entered the Pinal mountains, August 16.

—A Toledo German, who has been keeping a saloon for the accommodation of printers, has been obliged to suspend. On his books were found the following named members of the craft: "Der Laim Brinter," "Der Leettle," "Der Pen Putler Brinter," "Der Tivel," "Der Brinter mit der red hair," "Der Brinter mit hair not shoost so red."

—At a juvenile party in Lowell, one little fellow rejoicing in the splendor of his new clothes, sidled up to another with the triumphant remark, "You ain't dressed as well as I am." "Well," retorted the other, "I can lick you anyhow."

—Artemus Ward said: "Yu ma differ as much as yu pleze abont the style of a young lady's figger, but I tell yu confidenshally, if she has forty thousand pounds, the figger is about as near right as you will got it."

FOREIGN NEWS.

Late foreign papers contain accounts of the cholera in Russia, by which it appears there is a heavy mortality from the disease in that country in proportion to the population. In St. Petersburg, from the first appearance of the cholera on the 29th of August, 1870, there had been 6,797 cases, and 2,797 deaths. In some remote villages, where medical assistance is hard to obtain, it has committed fearful ravages. The cases remaining are 523; new cases, 69; deaths, 33. Since the 13th of March, there have been 3,568 cases in Moscow, and 1,633 deaths. The cholera appeared in several parts of the Government of Vladimir, but in proportion the fatal cases were small. At Cronstadt, up to the 29th of July, there were 439 cases, and 211 deaths. At Rega, there were 109 cases in two days. At Wilna, 1,136 cases and 512 deaths. At Tamboff, 2,054 cases up to the 21st of July, and 1,242 deaths. At Ribinsk, a very important depot on the Voiga, half of the cases proved fatal; many of the inhabitants are leaving.

Papers received give the proceedings of Parliament on the Ballot Bill. In the discussion advocating the passage of the bill in the House of Lords on the 10th inst. Lord Ripon spoke of the election in the District of Columbia, which he witnessed while in this country. He said though the contest was one of race—white versus black—yet the election was conducted with tranquility. He added that was evidence that the ballot conduces in a remarkable degree to tranquility.

The Emperors of Germany and Austria were to have another meeting at Gastein on the 7th of September, when there is to be a treaty concluded between them, including Italy.

Thiers orders the prefects of departments in France to use all legal power to prevent the celebration of the revolution of the 4th of September, 1870, which overthrew the Bonaparte regency and caused the organization of the Republic.

Dissensions between Thiers and the National Assembly cause the Germans to lose confidence in the ability of the French to keep their treaty engagements.

A Republican movement is noticed in Brazil which may call the Emperor home.

Application for Patent.

NOTICE NO. 6.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE,
REGISTER'S OFFICE,
Aurora, Nevada, August 16th, 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT JOHN B. WINTERS, Superintendent of the Kearsarge Mining Company, on behalf of said company, has this day filed in this office a diagram and notice of application for patent from the United States, under Act of Congress approved July 26, 1866 for one thousand, eight hundred feet in length of the "KEARSARGE LODE," with a surface width of fifty feet on each side of the lode. Said lode supposed to be one hundred feet in width, which belongs to the Kearsarge Mining Company, a corporation; adjoining on the East end the extension claims of James R. Wall, J. R. Hughes and G. W. Brady, and on the West end the extension claims of R. M. Sibley, J. B. Rowley and John Clarke, situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. Notice is further given that they intend to apply for and have embraced in the said patent together and in connection with the "Kearsarge Lode," the land on which the Kearsarge mill is erected, together with a sufficient space of land around said mill for the convenient use of said mill; also the Water Rights of said Kearsarge Mining Company on Little Pine Creek. The property sought to be patented together with the said "Kearsarge lode" is known as the "Kearsarge Mill Site and Water Claim on Little Pine Creek," and is described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a stump, it being the N. E. corner of what is known as McCormick, Kittleson, Cornell and Hill's cabin, 24 links from Pine Creek, from which a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears N. ¾ deg. E. distant 82 links, also a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears S. 58½ deg. E. distant 64 links, thence N. 25½ deg. E. distant 7 chains to a tree blazed and marked as follows: Blazed on three sides and notched toward the creek and marked "Head of the Kearsarge Mining Company's Ditch" thence N. 62¼ deg. W. to the foot of the main mountain, thence N. 27½ deg. E. distant 91 rods, thence S. 62½ deg. E. to a stone mound on the opposite side of the creek, thence S. 27½ deg. W. along the East side of Pine Creek to a point opposite to and to place of beginning. And also all the water, water rights and privileges found upon or in any manner belonging to said tract of land—situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. All of which is more particularly described by the diagrams and notices posted in this office and on the claim.

TRIAL OF ALLANSON GARDNER.

A Horrible Story.

We find the following in The Los Angeles Star of September 2. It is the direct testimony of Henry Bowen in the above famous case; want of space compels us to forego much more of the same kind equally interesting. At last accounts the trial was not yet ended:

The trial of Allanson Gardner, indicted for the murder of Henry Bilderbeck, was resumed yesterday morning in the District Court.

Henry Bowen was called, who, after being sworn, testified that he went to Tejunga Canyon, to the house of the accused, for the purpose of taking a hunt, and after detailing circumstances at some length, concerning his stay at Gardner's house, a bee hunt, a deer hunt, etc., went on to say that one afternoon, during the month of January last, while he and Buckskin, George Goodhue, and several women were at Gardner's house; Gardner came home from town, bringing a man named Tennessee with him, and a demijohn of whisky; Al Henry, Buckskin, George Goodhue, Buckskin's squaw, Gardner, his woman, and I were there; they drank there after supper; Goodhue went home; Buckskin and Al. Henry stayed all night; next morning Goodhue came up to breakfast; afterwards I walked out; Gardner and Al. Henry were hitching up a team in front of the house; Gardner called me by name: he had my gun in his hand, and said to me, "tell Tennessee I have gone down to the canyon for a load of wood, and will be back in half an hour;" he turned and got on to his wagon, Al was on the seat; they drove off; I looked down the road after the wagon, and saw Buckskin ride out from behind the kitchen; he rode across the road some thirty yards behind Gardner's wagon; he had his gun before him; he rode off toward his canyon; I staid at the corral about 20 minutes, and returned to the house; had been there half an hour when I went to the door, and saw Goodhue sitting on a wood pile; I walked out there, and asked why he was not at work; while we were sitting on the wood pile, I heard five shots down the canyon; shortly after I heard the shots we went back in the house; found Tennessee in there; in about two hours Gardner, Al. Henry, and Buckskin came home together; Buckskin brought his horses with him; they entered the house; Gardner got the demijohn and they all took a drink; this was two hours after the firing; I walked out; Gardner followed me, and asked me if I had heard the shooting down the canyon; I told him I had heard five shots distinctly; he hesitated a little and then said "Henry, well, we have killed the Bilderbeck boys, now you must tell this to nobody;" I looked him in the face; he looked so bad he scared me; the man was drunk; I told him I would not tell nothing; I said, "Gardner, if you have done such a thing, don't tell me about it, I don't want to hear of you killing anybody, or of anybody being killed;" I left him and returned to the house; I found my gun close to the corner of the house, against some bushes; picked it up and took it into the house; hung it up or set it in the corner; Buckskin and Al. were in the house; soon after Buckskin and Gardner went down to the corral; after dinner, Goodhue took a piece of meat and went down the canyon; Buckskin fixed up and left, with his squaw and horses, about the same time; Gardner got an axe and said to Al., "come, let us go;" I asked Gardner where he was going; he told me he was going to where he left the wagon to top off a load of wood, the wagon was going to town; about 4 o'clock in the evening I went to the ditch; it was about 1 o'clock when they went to top off the wood. Tennessee came to me, and we got up and walked down the road together; Gardner and Al. Henry came back about sun down; Tennesee came into the house next morning; I told Gardner I was going home, he wanted to know what caused my hurry; I told him I had been absent a good while, and left my folks with but little money; he told me he did not want me to go home, to stop a day or two longer, help him hitch up his team; he handed me the reins, and I went over the hill with him. When we got the team hitched up, Tennessee came up; G. told Al. to drive on, Tennessee would catch up; Al. drove off; Gardner and Tennessee commenced talking; I took the road to return to the house; Gardner caught up with me when I was about 600 yards from the house, we went together at the foot of the hill, Buckskin was standing with a horse on the inside of a fence, close to the road; he bade us good morning; I went on to the house; Gardner stopped with Buckskin; I entered the house and sat down; Gardner and Buckskin passed the house and went to the corral; I heard them laughing loud, and got up and went to the door; they had harnessed Buckskin's mare; I went back, and sat down again; I heard Buckskin say, "I will be back this evening after my mare;" I looked up and he stood, with his back to me, close by the door, had on his six shooter and bowie knife; Gardner told him he only wanted the mare for an hour or two; Buckskin went off, down the canyon, Gardner soon after entered the house, and asked me to help him plow, as the mare was wild and he was not much of a plowman; I told him I did not feel like walking on plowed ground, I was not well; I took my gun and went out; Gardner asked me why I took the gun; I replied I might see a rabbit, and went to the field; Gardner said, "Henry, I am sorry this thing happened while you were out here;" I told him yes, it was my bad luck, that he was not half so sorry as I was: he said that the Bilderbeck boys owed him five dollars; that he asked the boys if they would cut him two cords of wood for these five dollars; they said they would; he spoke to Al., and asked him if he was willing for the boys to cut the wood in his canyon, that Al. was willing if it was for Gardner; said the boys went in there, cut the wood and kept on cutting for themselves; Al. had asked him how it was that he should send the boys into his canyon to chop wood and take no steps to stop them; he then said that Buckskin was a friend of his and went with him; says he, "we went down yesterday to where the boys were chopping; I loaded up the wagon; after that I hitched my team; Buckskin took my gun, Al. took Buckskin's gun, and I took Tennessee's big pistol; went right down to where they were chopping; we walked up close to them; I said to the oldest Bilderbeck: "Don't you know that you are doing wrong?" he said: "I don't know as I am;" I (Gardner) said: "I will let you know that you are." We came right up and fired, all at once; the youngest one fell; the other one ran down the canyon like a deer; Buckskin jumped on his horse and went after him; I went down the canyon as fast as I could go; met Buckskin coming back; he told me he had killed him; we buried them right where he killed him.' I told Gardner I was tired; he unhitched the mare, and we went back into the house; I laid down and rested an hour or so, then half-soled my moccasins.

A little before sundown Buckskin came up to the corral; Gardner went out there; they were there a little bit; Buckskin took his mare, and he and Gardner went off down the canyon; while he was gone Gardner's woman [checked here by counsel]; Gardner returned about dusk. Next morning it rained; I waited until about 9 o'clock, because I didn't want to start home in the rain, and let Gardner's girl have my mare to go after her sister; Gardner took his Indian and went up to sow some alfalfa; I staid at the house; Gardner came home at about 12 o'clock; eat, and left the house; came back with a roan horse; took up a pair of blankets; I asked him where he he was going; he said he was going to the Cienaga for a pig; he rode off; was gone about an hour and a half; failed to get a pig; about 4 o'clock Al. Henry came from town with the wagon; it was clearing off; had quit raining; about supper time the girls came home; after supper Gardner came up to the house with a pick and shovel; I asked him where he was a going; he told me he was going down the canyon to turn the river, that it was washing away the bank where he had to go up the canyon; Gardner and Al. Henry went down the canyon together; they returned about 8 o'clock that night; next morning, before breakfast, Gardner told me that he and Al. Henry had gone down the canyon and buried them fellows; that he buried them in the road; said Buckskin was going away, and that he was going to take Goodhue with him; said he was going to let Goodhue have his white horse to ride; Al. was going to go to work for him; said he, "I am going to get my white horse up after breakfast, and I want you to ask me what I am going to do with him before my folks"; I told him I would; after breakfast he brought the horse to the door, came in, and was getting up some sacks; I asked him what he was going to do with the horse; he replied, "going to loan him to the Bilderbeck boys"; that they were going off hog hunting to kill some wild hogs; he went down the canyon in the direction of the Bilderbecks' house, leading the horse; told me to be sure not to start home until he came back; about 10 o'clock Gardner came riding up to the house on the white horse; says he to me, "Henry Bildedbeck sent me over to see if you would loan him your six-shooter"; this was in the presence of the girls; I told him no; told Gardner that I had loaned my pistol some three months before, if he had got through with it I would take it home with me; he said that was all right; he rode off to a brush house where I had a couple of deer hanging up, and called me; I went; he dismounted, and told me Goodhue had run away from Buckskin's camp last night; he saw his track and expected to find him here; he remounted and rode down the canyon again; about 12 o'clock he came home with a wagon; Al. Henry had taken the wagon down the canyon that morning; he unhitched the team; I went down to where he was and inquired where Al. Henry was; he told me Al. Henry and Buckskin had left; "now," said he, "I must find George Goodhue"; I then told him I did not believe him, I believed that Buckskin had killed Goodhue, and that I was to be killed; I got up; I was crying; I told Gardner I was going home, and started after my mare; Gardner followed and called me; when he got up close he said "Henry, you won't be hurt, Buckskin is a friend of yours, he told me so"; told me to get my mare and come here; "Don't go home until I come back, I am going to look for Goodhue." I gave him no answer, I went after my mare; was gone about three quarters of an hour; when I got back Gardner was gone; I saddled my mare and sat down; soon Gardner came and said to me, "Get on your mare and go home, look for George Goodhue hunt him up if you can;" I told Gardner I wasn't going home, that I wasn't afraid of his killing me with his own hands, I was afraid of Buckskin, that I believed he (Gardner) had gone to Buckskin's camp, and sent him to cut me off on the road; he told me I was a fool; he went and took the saddle off my mare, threw it down, and went off down the canyon again; he was gone about an hour when he returned; he returned on the road on which I had to go to Los Angeles; I asked him what he was doing on that road; he told me he went look for Goodhue's tracks, and then asked me if I would not go down the canyon and help look; I told him no, that I was going to stop at the house; he then went down the canyon by himself; when he came back he went to fixing up his fence; when the sun was about an hour high he came up from work; I told him that if he would send and get my mare I would go home; he sent one of his girls after the mare; I saddled up, took my gun, and mounted; Gardner asked me if I would look for Goodhue when I got to town; told him I would; I rode fast left the road at the foot of the hill, followed the chemisal five or six miles, and got home here about 9 o'clock at night; in about four days Gardner came to my house about 8 o'clock in the morning, and asked me to loan him ten dollars, said he saw George Goodhue; that he had agreed to leave town; he (Gardner) was going to send him out of town; Gardner went off down town; I followed, got ten dollars, and gave it to a man named Allan to give to Gardner; about 11 o'clock Gardner came up to me and pointed out Goodhue, and said he wanted to see me; we walked up to Goodhue, who asked me for money, and said he was going to leave town; asked me to buy him a pair of boots; told him no; Gardner and Goodhue left; while taking a walk that evening I met Allan and Gardner; the latter told me he had sent Goodhue out of town; Allan said he had taken him to a railroad station four miles from town; I had a talk with Gardner afterwards at Bowman's corral; he told me he was going to make a statement of the affair to the District Attorney or to Under Sheriff Wiley.

This closed the direct testimony of this witness, who had been on the stand for two hours and a half, he was then cross-examined by Col. J. G. Howard, for the defense.

The "Deep Snow"

The following graphic account of the "deep snow," an event so often referred to by the old residents of Illinois, is from an address delivered by President Sturtevant, of Illinois College, before a reunion of the old settlers of Morgan, Cass and Scott counties, at Jacksonville, August 10th:

The constitution of your society defines an old settler. He is old settler who resided here before the deep snow. The thought has occurred to me that it might be interesting to many in this audience to be informed what we mean by the deep snow. We shall have no difficulty in making ourselves understood on that subject. In the interval between Christmas, 1830, and New Years, 1831, of course forty years ago last New Year, snow fell over all central Illinois to a depth of fully three feet on a level. Then came a rain, with weather so cold that it froze as it fell, forming a crust of ice over this three feet of snow, nearly, if not quite, strong enough to bear a man, and finally, over this crust of ice, there was a few inches of very light snow. The clouds passed away and the wind came down upon us from the northwest with extraordinary ferocity. For weeks, certainly for not less than two weeks, the mercury in the thermometer tube was not, on any one morning, higher than twelve degrees below zero. The wind was a steady, fierce gale from the northwest, day and night. The air was filled with flying snow, which blinded the eyes and almost stopped the breath of any one who attempted to face it. No man could, for any considerable length of time, make his way on foot against it.

The story of such a Winter as this may be pleasant enough to hear, to one who hopes never to experience it; but the situation of the inhabitants of this country was certainly rather alarming. The people were almost wholly from regions more southern than this, and knew nothing by experience of dealing with such a depth of snow and such cold. Indeed, I had then some experience of New England Winters, and have had some since, but I have to this day never seen any other which bore any comparison to this. Jacksonville had then about 400 people. We were dependent chiefly for keeping warm on having plenty of wood, for our houses were certainly far enough from being warmly built; and yet our supply of fuel for the Winter was not, as is more commonly the case now, piled at our doors before the beginning of Winter. It was in the forest and must be brought us through that snow, and by people who were quite unaccustomed to it. Could it be done? It was at first not quite apparent that it could. Our corn was in the fields over which this covering of snow was spread, and to a great extent the wheat for our bread was in sacks in like condition. Snow-paths could not be broken in the New England fashion. There a few hours of wind blows all the snow from exposed places, and deposits it in valleys and behind hills where the wind can not reach it.

A little energy with ox-teams and sleds will break out a road and there will be no more trouble until the next snowstorm. There is no truer picture than that given by Whittier in his "Snow Bound" of the frolic of breaking the roads after a great snowstorm. But nothing of this sort would have been of much use in our case. In this level country there is no end to the drifting as long as the snow lasts and the wind blows. There are no covered places to which the snow can be driven, consequently the path would fill behind a team, or any number of teams, in a few minutes so that its track could not be seen. The only way in which snow paths were finally made was by going as nearly as we could in the same place till the snow was finally trodden hard and rounded up like a turnpike. This snowfall produced constant sleighing for nine weeks, and when at last warm rains and sunshine prevailed, about the 1st of March, melting the snow from the fields and untrodden places, the roads remained as lines of ice, which disappeared but gradually. The New Englander has scarcely any such experience of Winter as this, certainly not unless it be quite in northern New England. We had no railways then, nor indeed any dream of having them. But our mail communication with the rest of the world was quite interrupted for several weeks continuously. We, in those days, had only one mail a week, and that on horseback from Springfield, and to bring that through that snow required more energy than mail boys in those days were masters of. I say we had no railways in those days. But how little good they would have done us if we had had them. I am free to confess that my memory of the deep snow produces in my mind to this day an unconquerable aversion to long journeys by railway in the Winter. Should such a Winter as that of 1830-'31 occur again in central Illinois, our railroads would be as useless to us for five or six weeks together as though they were buried a thousand feet in the earth. The cuts would all be filled, and they would fill again in half an hour behind any train that might dig its way through. It is a consolation that such a Winter has never occurred but once in the memory of man. But what has happened once may happen again. If it does we shall get a very definite idea how important our railroads are to us, and we shall be very glad that the snow is not over the telegraph wire.

I can not say, after all, that in town there was any very serious amount of suffering—we did get food and fuel, and a good deal of fun and frolic out of the deep snow; though at the expense of not a few frozen ears, noses and faces. But the loss to the farms in stock and crops was very considerable. Some varieties of wild game were nearly exterminated. Deer were entirely unable to protect themselves from the dogs and the huntsmen.

I think, then, my audience will agree with me that the line drawn by this association to define an old settler is a very definite and palpable one.

Changed Hands.

The stage line running between Carson city, Empire, Silver City, Gold Hill and Virginia, changed hands recently, W. F. Wilson having sold to John Ulrich and Harry Wright. The Carson Register, commenting on the transfer, says: Billy Wilson put the line on eleven years ago, and has made the round trip daily (and part of the time semi-daily) ever since, making something like 4,105 trips, or 131,360 miles, counting the round trip at 32 miles. Part of the time (when he was poor) Billy drove his teams himself, performing the duties of proprietor, agent, driver and hostler. When affluence rewarded his industry and perseverance, he extended his business to Genoa, Pine Grove and Aurora, and "took it easy." He still owns the line to Aurora.

Charles Bonner Dead.

Charles Bonner, formerly so well known as Superintendent of the Gould & Curry, Savage, and other mines of this section, died at San Francisco this morning, after a few weeks illness, caused by paralysis. Mr. Bonner was prominently connected with the early development of the Comstock ledge, and has a large circle of friends here as well as elsewhere to mourn his loss. He was about 42 years of age, and a native of England. The flags on all the principal mining works of Virginia and Gold Hill were at half-mast to-day in token of the sad news.—Gold Hill News, August 31.

—Children are inquisitive bodies—for instance: "What does cleave mean, father?" "It means to unite together." "Does John unite wood when he cleaves it?" "Hem, well it means to separate." "Well, father, does a man separate from his wife when he cleaves to her?" "Hem, hem, don't ask so many foolish questions."

—The narrow-guage railroad in Colorado is successful. Though but three miles and a half are in operation, heavy trains pass over with ease at the rate of thirty miles an hour.

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY,

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER

JAS. E. PARKER, | P. A. CHALFANT

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.;

Saturday, September 16,.....1871

MAGNIFICENTLY MIXED.

Heads I Win, Tails You Lose.

From the indefinite and very unsatisfactory returns from the different counties, we glean the information that "old Tuolumne" has given Haight 190 majority, but that a Republican Senator and two Republican Representatives are elected. The total vote of that county is probably not far from 1,400, and is Democratic on Governor to the extent above indicated. From reports we are to conclude that the Democrats scratched their Legislative ticket—Eakin, Whiting, Connelly and Curtis—sufficiently to elect at least Androes, Bacon and Long. It is extremely probable that the scratching was more against Curtis than their own men, with the chance of a few Republicans throwing off Campbell, and that one or the other of their Democratic nominees is but slightly behind the Republicans. In this event, we are led to the conclusion that of the six Representative candidates, Bacon, Long and Whiting have received the highest number of votes, and are consequently elected, which is about the way the matter will pan out. If there is anything in the world more admirable than another, it is a hogging game of politcis, and poor Inyo and Mono might as well swallow the present dose as a permanent cure for sucking eggs. Of all abominations, the most outrageous one is that which hitches this and Mono county to Tuolumne for legislative purposes, with whose interests we are identified to about the same extent as with San Diego or Syskiyou. But let us wait until they have heard from Deep Spring

THE RESULT.

The smoke of the late political fight has sufficiently cleared away to enable us to see the following results: Booth is elected by not less than 5,600 majority—his majority in the State may reach 6,000. There can be but little doubt that the entire Republican State ticke is also elected, though we have not as yet received any positive statements to that effect. Booth's majority in San Francisco is estimated at 2,500. Sargent and Coghlan for Congress in the 2d and 3d Districts are both elected by large majorities. The Sacramento Union claims the election of Houghton over Archer in this District, but it may require an official count to determine this question. The Republicans will have something near twenty majority in the Assembly in the next Legislature. The Senate will either be tied or the Republicans will have a majority of two. Scratching seems to have been pretty generally indulged in in almost every county in the State so far as heard from, and has produced some curious results. In some counties large majorities were given for the State ticket of one party, and at the same time a majority for the candidates for local offices on the opposing ticket. Owing to the fact that we are now, and shall probably remain for a week to come in profound darkness as to who will be our representative from this county, or whether we are to have a local representation at all. The probabilities are that the residents of Calcutta will know all about this matter before we receive an intimation. However, the result will not materialy affect the interests of the Calcutta people, no matter if they do find out first which of our candidates is to go to Sacramento, so that in that particular the advantage is with us.

San Buenaventura Route.

The Los Angeles Star, of September 2, gives the following, under the head of "Important Item:"

Mr. Wm. Osborn, who is engaged in freighting between this city and the Owens river country, received a dispatch yesterday from Mr. Brady, agent of the Owens Lake Silver and Lead Mining Company, who own the Swansea Smelting Works. The dispatch was dated at San Buenaventura, and desired Mr. Osborn to come to that place to make arrangements for taking the base bullion of the Owens river country to San Buenaventura, instead of to Los Angeles, where it now comes.

Bachelor's Toast.

"Woman—The morning star of infancy, the day star of manhood, the evening star of age. Bless our stars, and may they always be kept at telescopic distances.

—Two scavengers were quarrelling as to their respective working abilities, when one, meaning to silence his mate, said: "Well, Bill, you can sweep up the middle of the street, but you can't do an ornamental piece of work, like sweeping round a lamp post."

CURIOSITIES OF THE GREAT REGISTER.

The Great Register, as printed, of Inyo county contains 579 names. On the supplemental list there are 160 others, making a total of 730. It is estimated that there are at least two hundred citizens in the county who failed to register, and to these again may be added two hundred more of various nationalities who are not now and probably never will become citizens. This would give a total masculine working force, exclusive of Indians, of nearly 1,300 men. Of this number 575 or a little over 44 per cent. exercised their right of suffrage at the late election, which shows that over one half of our male population are willing to delegate the political destinies of the country to the hands of the few. This shows an alarming degree of indifference, but one that should encourage our female fellow-citizens in the pursuit of their rights, since the manifest indifference of the male citizens to such important matters of State may lead to the destruction of everybody's rights.

In the printed register we find that every letter of the alphabet except X is represented in the beginning of surnames. First on the list we find a greater requisition upon the letter M in this connection than any other, though S is but two or three behind, and H being equal to S. G and Y have but three representatives each, while Z has but two of the 579 names presented. There are nearly 400 different names. For a wonder the "Smiths," "Browns," and "Jones," are outnumbered by others generally considered much less common if no prettier; the "Hitchcocks" and "Johnsons" both outnumbering them, while they are equaled by a number of others. In the way of distinguishing given names we have, compound and simple, 76 Johns, but close on their heels come the Williams' and James'. John Smith, who is supposed to have a local residence in every county, not to say police record, in the United States, finds no place in this list. The letter A shows the only complete list of native born, unless we except two from Missouri. Seventy-five per cent. of all on the printed register, or 437 were born in the United States; about one fifth of this number are from New York, though every State in the Union has one or more representatives.

Of the foreign born 35 hail from Ireland and 37 from the German States leaving 77 of various other nationalities. Of the Irish names we find none commencing with any of the following letters: A, E, F, G, H, I, J, N, Q, R, T, U, V, or Y. The letters D and M are oftener used than any other, these two representing six each. Neither A, J, L, M, N, Q, R, T, or Y are used in the commencement of German names; the letter S is used oftener than any other. We have on this register representatives of nearly every known occupation, including one "Man of Leisure;" we have for the principal interest of the county but 151 miners. The farming interest is represented by 220 individuals, the various other callings being divided among 208 persons.

DEEP SPRING.

Were it not for the fact that the people of the State of California have yet to hear from Deep Spring, we should conclude that Booth is elected by 5,000 majority. Telegraph communication with that State has of late been somewhat interrupted, and the officials of that locality were in the deepest mire of doubt as to the exact day upon which the election was to be held. Wavering in dire uncertainty, and hesitating between the opinions of The Tribune Almanac and that of various county candidates, they at once arranged for a grand coup de main, and were about proceeding to hold an election all week. The undaunted citizens of that place were doubtless equal to the emergency, but on the 5th instant the arrival of a foot-weary messenger lifted the clouds, and they voted on the right day, deciding the fate of nearly all our county candidates.

Again, let us hold on until the State has heard from Deep Spring.

How it is Taken.

The San Francisco Examiner of September 7, speaks of the result of the late election as follows:

The election of yesterday is the talk. From all accounts we conclude that an election so orderly and well conducted has never before been held in the State. There were but few instances of fraud being attempted, and there is little fear of being compelled to wait long for returns. It seems to be generally conceded that the Rads have gotten away with us. We are sorry for it, and we are an ill-used community.

—The Boston Post has a rumor that a diplomatic rupture has taken place between the United States and Hayti, growing out of the favor shown by the Haytien Government to Cabral and the opponents of Gen. Grant's friend Baez in San Domingo.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

In San Francisco September 4, Sidney Flag, alias Smith, shot and killed a rival boatman named Richard Harley, alias Mickey Free. Flag claims to have acted in self-defense.

The steamer Enterprise is being fitted up for an opposition freight and passenger boat between San Francisco and Sacramento.

Following are two dispatches dated Los Angeles, September 3:

At half past 7 o'clock this evening, in a quarrel on the sidewalk in front of Higby's saloon, El Tabo Olivera was shot through the heart by Ysidro Altirano, and in a few minutes he expired. A crowd filling the street for a block soon collected. The shooting is said to have been a cold-blooded murder; Altirano was immediately arrested.

Gen. Wheaton held an interview at the Pico House this afternoon with Olegario and his chiefs, who disclaim any intention of making any war. He leaves in the morning for Pala, to be present at the Grand Counsel of all the Indians.

The body of a man named J. H. Henry was found in the willows below Reno, Nevada, some days ago; subsequently a bottle of strychnine was picked up near the place, indicating a case of suicide.

On the 7th instant, Judge Livingston, of Virginia City, Nevada, committed suicide by taking an overdose of laudanum. Financial difficulties caused the rash act.

Four thousand two hundred pounds of amalgam were retorted at the Manhattan mill, Austin, one day last week.

The Piute Mining Company, to operate in Elko county, capital $1,000,000, was incorporated in San Francisco on the 22d ult.

Several of the largest mills on the Carson river have been compelled to close for want of water to run them.

The Eureka Sentinel, and the Pioche Record, are confident of a great rush to their respective mining districts early next season.

The Silver State says 80,000 head of sheep have reached Oreana on their way to the eastern part of the State for pasturage.

Mrs. Sarah P. Bull, wife of Alpheus Bull, aged 55 years, committed suicide by hanging herself in the attic after rising on the morning of the 7th instant. She had been ill for months and her mind had become affected from great physical prostration. No other cause is assigned.

The United States Consul at Panama demands the immediate prosecution of General Herrera and others as pirates, for seizing the American merchant steamer Montijo for revolutionary purposes.

Dr. R. K. Ashe, after a lingering illness of over two years, died at his residence in San Francisco, on the 6th instant. The deceased was one of the pioneer citizens of California, and was elected Sheriff of San Joaquin county in 1851. In 1853 he was Naval Agent for the port of San Francisco, having been appointed to that position by President Pierce. He married a sister of Admiral Farragut, who survives him with five children.

Mrs. Laura DeForce Gordon, the woman's candidate for the Senate from San Joaquin county, received just 101 votes. Considering the short time she was in the field, she accomplished much.

Food Medicine.

Dr Hall relates the case of a man who was cured of biliousness by going without his supper and drinking freely of lemonade. Every morning, says the doctor, this patient rose with a wonderful sense of rest and refreshment, and a feeling as though the blood had been literally washed, cleansed and cooled by the lemonade and the fast. His theory is that food will be used as a remedy for many diseases successfully. As an example, he cures cases of spitting blood by the use of salt; epilepsy and yellow fever by watermelon; kidney affections, by celery; poison, olive and sweet oil; erysipelas, pounded cranberries applied to the parts affected; hydrophobia, onions etc. So the way to keep in good health is really to know what to eat, not what medicine to take.

EASTERN NEWS.

An election was held in Wyoming Territory September 4 which seems to have resulted favorably to the Republicans. A similar result is claimed for a municipal election that took place on the same day at Wilmington, Deleware.

Leslie was inaugurated Governor of Kentucky on the 4th instant. Chief Justice Robertson administered the oath of office to the Governor, and then resigned his own office as Chief Justice. He is over eighty years old.

Some New York city Republicans have resolved in favor of Horace Greeley as their choice for the next President.

—The way a young lover warbled "I'm lonely to-night, love, without thee," under his dulcena's window the other evening in Boston, was very affecting, until the old gentlemen let loose the two dogs in the back yard. The sentimental youth had no occasion to complain of loneliness after that.

Queen Victoria is so much indisposed as to be unable to appear in public.

STATE ELECTION RETURNS.

Following are the returns as telegraphed to The Sacramento Union of the 9th instant:

STANISLAUS.

Knight's Ferry gives Haight 37 majority. Other Democrats get 41.

ALAMEDA.

This county gives the Republican State ticket 900 majority sure.

EL DORADO

The Republican State Ticket carried by from 25 to 40 majority. Republican Senator and three Assemblymen elected by small majorities. Democrats admit their defeat on county ticket.

TUOLUMNE.

Haight carries the county by 175 majority. But Republican Senator and two Representatives elected.

SANTA CRUZ.

The Republicans carried this county by 437 majority. The county ticket badly scratched, but all elected except Supervisor in the Santa Cruz district. Dr. Flint is elected Senator in the district composed of this county and Monterey. Republican Assemblyman elected.

ALPINE.

Alpine gives Booth 50 majority.

SAN MATEO.

Full returns give Booth and the Republican ticket 300 majority. County ticket all elected except Tate, Democratic County Clerk, who has 3 majority.

KERN.

Returns meager; Havilah gives Haight 59, Booth 28. Walker's Basin gives Haight 15 majority.

COLUSA.

Eight Democratic precincts to be heard from. Haight's majority estimated 400, and may reach 500.

BUTTE.

Booth received 84 majority in Chico. County goes 25 for Haight.

CONTRA COSTA

Has gone 300 for the Republicans as far as heard from. No returns from two precincts, which will add 50 majority. All the Republican ticket elected except Surveyor.

SOLANO.

Booth has 1,363 majority in Vallejo, and Coghlan 1,438. Booth has 41 majority in Benicia.

SANTA CLARA.

Houghton has a majority in the county of 547. No doubt that the whole Republican ticket is carried by a large majority.

SISKIYOU.

Twelve precincts give Haight 119 majority, to be increased to 250 when returns are all in. DeWitt will have 500 majority.

TULARE.

Democratic State ticket will average 175 majority. All precincts in but two small ones. Some Republicans elected. Official count required to decide.

SAN DIEGO.

Returns from eleven out of seventeen precincts in the county cover a vote of 1,126. The total vote cast not exceeding 1,400. Booth, 567; Haight, 559; Houghton, 574; Archer, 502. The Republicans elect nearly the whole county ticket. Horton, Senator, is probably elected. Two hundred majority was conceded the Democrats before the election.

KERN.

Bakersfield gives Haight 65, Booth 55.

FRESNO.

Two precincts give Booth 35 majority.

LOS ANGELES.

Returns not all in. Democrats have a majority, as far as returns are in, of 631, to be increased to 500 probably.

TEHAMA.

Tehama precinct gives Haight 11 majority.

SONOMA.

Returns indefinite. Petaluma gives 119 and Bloomfield 15 majority for Booth. Probable majority for Haight in county 450. Democrats claim 500

SAN JOAQUIN.

Returns complete. Republican State ticket gets 217 majority in the county. All Republicans elected but County Clerk.

SIERRA.

The majority for Booth is 550 at a low estimate.

LASSEN.

Eighty majority for Booth, Coghlan and Boucher.

AMADOR.

Our returns gives this county to the Republicans by 64 majority. Republican county ticket elected, except Assessor and Superintendent of Schools. Colman, Rep., and Eagan, Ind., are elected to the Assembly.

SANTA BARBARA.

The county goes Republican by 50 majority.

SUTTER.

Haight carries the county by 37 majority.

NAPA.

Napa county gives 178 majority. Elects the entire Republican county ticket, with the exception of Recorder and Treasurer. Stillwagor, Rep., beats Mansfield for the Assembly about 600 votes. Chances favor the election of Ford, Rep., to the Senate, over Pendegast, as four precincts in Lake county only give the latter 99 majority.

CALAVERAS.

Haight gets 100 majority; but report says the Republican Senator and two Assemblymen are elected.

YOLO.

It is conceded that Yolo has gone Republican, and most of their county ticket elected, including Freeman for the Assembly.

YUBA.

This county gives Booth 175 majority, and elects all the Republicans, except Sheriff.

SAN FRANCISCO.

Returns to San Francisco are nearly complete. Enough is known to assure the defeat of Badham, candidate for Assessor on Taxpayers' ticket, and the election of Hynes, Recorder, and Pennie, Justice of the Peace—both on Democratic ticket.

TUOLUMNE.

Haight carries the county by 190 majority. But Republican Senator and Representatives elected.

SANTA CLARA.

Houghton has a majority in the county of 500. Booth's majority 350. No doubt that the whole Republican ticket is carried by a large majority.

MERCED.

One precinct gives Haight 135, Booth 67. Balance of State ticket about the same.

SAN BERNARDINO.

Only 393 votes counted, giving Haight 123 majority. The county will probably give Haight 350 majority.

MONTEREY.

Democratic by small majority on State ticket. Republican county ticket elected except Assessor. Large Republican gains in the county.

MARIN.

Two precincts give Booth 80, Haight 53; Coghlan 81, Pearce 70.

DEEP SPRING.

Supposed to have gone for Mulkey.

FOREIGN NEWS.

A monster demonstration was held in Dublin on the 3d of the present month; 100,000 people were present. The object of the meeting was to demand the release of the Fenian prisoners. As the people were returning the police attempted some arrests, when a terrible riot took place, which continued through the night and the next day, the police being repulsed in every attempt to quell the disturbance. Half the police are injured—even the women fought against them.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

The Complete Returns!

On our editorial page will be found the complete vote as polled at the various precincts in the county. The table is correct, and may be examined with interest, showing as it does, on the local candidates, some curious facts. Following are the names and respective votes of the candidates for the different districts: Cerro Gordo—for Constables, W. T. Grant, 2; E. Randolph, 1. For Judge of Election, John Simpson, 1. For Roadmaster, Thomas McDonough, 71. At Lone Pine the votes stood promiscuous, thusly: For Constables—A. C. Harvey, 28; W. J. Covington, 41; J. P. Rittgers, 8; James Allan, 5; C. D. Begole, 1. For Roadmaster, Charles Whipple, 52; N. F. Coburn, 17. For Judges of Election, A. M. Loomis, 18; Charles Whipple, 4; Albert Johnson, 1; John Lucas, 2; P. Pearson, 2. For Clerk of Election, J. H. Stratton, 17; R. Van Dyke, R. Loomis and Wm. L. Moore, 1 each. (Dad worked hard for himself) At Independence, the following is the vote: For Constables—W. J. Lake, 61; R. D. Parker, 21; La Fayette Gill, 7; E. Kane, 12; B. C. Stauff, 1; and John Wallace, 1.(!) For Roadmaster—J. H. Cook, 66; P. P. Dow, 9; A. N. Bell, 1. For Judges of Election—Thomas May, 27; James Philo Waldo Perham, 27; Henry M. Isaacs, 2; P. Reddy, 3; Joseph Fernbach, 3; J. S. Broder, 1. For Inspector—John B. White, 47. (The unmitigated "check" of White, May and Perham, in thus re-electing themselves is appalling, unequalled even by that rascally School Board.) For Bonepicker, Mr. Blank received 1. Further up, at Fish Springs, the vote stood: For Constable—Robert Hogan, 27; James Tobasco, 1; H. G. Sharpless, 14; J. S. Bodles, 9; A. J. Jones, 1; Paul Houard, 3; John Bell, 1. For Roadmaster—Hugh Mann, 20; John Cocroft, 13; D. Naylor, 9; E. Goodale, 1. For Judges of Election—W. A. Baker, 18; G. H. Shedd, 3; W. M. Stewart, 12. For Inspector—J. W. McMurray, 14; Patrick Sheridan, 4; and Duncan Campbell, 1. Bishop Creek went light, and voted thiswise: For Constables—Barney Peeler, 38; James Brown, 34. For Roadmaster—James Shaw, 40. Round Valley goes head on the number of candidates, as follows: For Constables—C. L. Howard, 15; John Crough, 11; Joseph Hilton, 1; Barney Peeler, 1; John Brown, 3; James Landes Cathcart (&c.) Sherwin, 4. For Roadmaster—D. Olds, 19; A. Goodridge, 3. For Judges of Election—R. Hilton, 14; W. W. Vaugn, 3; J. G. Bircham, 2; J. L. C. Sherwin, 4; D. Olds, 4; E. P. Baker, 1; John Laird, 2. For Inspector—E. P. Baker, 10; John Laird, 3; Skimmerhorn, 1. Returns from Deep Spring are awaited with the greatest anxiety.

Fishing.

Just across the big range, or at least on the other side of the first summit, is, from all accounts, a paradise for hunters and Waltonians—game of all description being plenty and of the finest varieties. A great many parties have been out during the summer, and all represent themselves as surfeited with sport. We believe that Mr. Mulky, Dr. Lessene, and others of Lone Pine are over there, (who, by the way, propose making the ascent of the daddy of all American mountains — Whitney), and a party from the Kearsarge mill have just returned. The latter were a healthy crowd of ducks—consisting of Charley Van Gorder, E. Harris, Harry Clauson and A. Montgomery. According to Montgomery, they captured just one thousand and one trout, a mess of which found their way to our sanctum. The whole party are fishists, while Harris is one of the best shots in the State—and they all have our permission to go again if they want to.

Unknown Man Drowned.

The remains of a man were on the 5th instant, found floating upon the river at a place nearly opposite the point of the Alabama range. The facts were reported to Coroner Lank, who, immediately repaired to the place to make an examination, but the body had floated away. Two or three days were spent in active search, resulting in the discovery of the remains some two miles below. A jury was summoned, who found a verdict to the effect that the remains were those of a man unknown to them, and that he had met his death by drowning. There were no marks of violence, and the body was covered with no clothing save a woolen shirt. It had been in the water some fifteen or sixteen days.

Dr. C. Billings.

We observe by an advertisement in The Alpine Miner that the above named gentleman, who at one time held forth in this locality, is practising dentistry at Monitor, Alpine county. We hope the Dr. is doing well, but we wish to submit this question to his consideration: Did not he forget something when he left here? Seems to us he did.

Obligations.

We are under obligations to Dr. Brower for a little old hat, which that gentleman has forwarded us. It is probably the same plug which the Tulare officers discovered in the trunk of this valiant cavalry officer. But we deprecate his lack of judgment: he should have sent it to Visalia.

Election Bets.

Several healthy stacks of ducats changed hands on the result of the election, State and County, here in town. Those who play must pay.

THE SILVER SPROUT.

As the future prosperity of this locality depends in a great measure upon the working results of our neighboring mines, we propose to devote a little space to the description and prospects of the one which probably above any other, will, sooner or later, have the most to do with our material interest. This is the mine, or series of mines rather, known as the Silver Sprout. In company with two mining experts, Mr. D. P. Pearce and Mr. Martin Mee, foreman of the Kearsarge mine, and also Mr. Wingard, of the Silver Sprout Company, we last Wednesday devoted several hours in examining the various openings, shafts and tunnels that are to be found upon this mine. For several months past Mr. Wingard has been very industriously engaged in prospecting the mines in every part. Added to those already made, there are some twenty shafts and tunnels, the deepest and longest of which are about 75 feet. From the exposures made in each and all of them, an approximate idea of the great value of this mine can be arrived at. The openings are all embraced within an area of say 500 by 2,000 feet, being pretty evenly distributed over this space, all showing a surprising uniformity in the breadth of the different ledges, and the quantity and quality of the ore exposed. The tunnels are all from 4 to 5½ feet in width, every inch of which is vein matter, exposing on either side a smooth, perfectly defined granite casing; affording conclusive evidence that they are true fissure veins. In the area above mentioned there are not less than thirty different ledges, together forming the most perfect labyrinth or net work of quartz veins that we have ever seen in so small a space. The two principal ones, called the "Lamb" and "Silver Sprout" are about 300 feet apart. They run parallel to each other, and also to the crest of the mountains upon which they are located. Their direction is about northeast and southwest. They cut through and across three spurs or ridges, and corresponding ravines, which extend down the side of the mountain. This gives the best possible position for prospecting at varying hights. Both of these ledges have been opened at various places, from 50 to 300 feet apart, covering in all some 1,500 feet. The Lamb Lode is the lowest down upon the precipitous mountain side. Between the two main ledges several cross leads have been prospected, all of which carry about the same character and quality of ore that is found in the main lodes. From the upper side there are a dozen or more well defined leads or feeders which center upon the Silver Sprout, all at an acute angle. Several of them have been prospected, each presenting the same general characteristics of the main, or Silver Sprout, lode. It is the expressed opinion of those best posted in such matters, that at no great depth these numerous leads must all merge into one grand, mother vein. Should this prove to be the case, the probabilities are this mine would have no superior in the world. This possible chance, however, should have nothing to do with the present value of the mine, because already above the level of the lowest workings there is certainly enough good ore exposed to keep a 20-stamp mill running a life time, at least that is our candid belief; and we most assuredly have no desire or intention to give this or any other mine a fictitious value; since every mining failure, no matter how brought about, reacts upon every interest of the county. There is no need, however, for any one to mislead in regard to this mine, or series of mines rather, for the truth of every assumption can very easily be verified by actual observation and tests. In order to determine the future course in regard to the management of the mine, Mr. Wingard has selected for shipment and reduction in San Francisco, about 3,000 pounds of fair, average ore, a portion from the several different openings of the mine. This will probably determine the actual value per ton of the ore. Should this prove satisfactory, and we have no doubt it will, the exposures already made are sufficient to form a fair estimate of the probable quantity that could each day be produced ready for reduction. We have already hazarded an opinion on this point, and will not repeat it. The mine is in such a shape that very little preparation, other than preparing dumps, will be necessary in order to extract the ore in quantities. But little dead work will ever be required, so far can be judged from present indications. The location of the mine, considered in relation to the facilities for getting out and reducing the ore may be considered as good as could be desired. The altitude is very great, probably not less than 10,000 feet above the sea. It is about three miles distant from, but fully 3,000 feet higher, than the famous Kearsarge mine, and on the same mountain. It is, however, an entirely distinct series of mines, though there is a great similarity in the nature and appearance of the ores of the two mines. Both carry a small percentage of base metals, but scarcely enough to be considered "rebellious;" at least we are so informed by those who have tested both. The mine is situated upon the southern face of the mountain in such a manner that the snows or storms cannot materially affect the transportation of the ore by tramway, which is the only cheap method practicable. In the late workings a fine stream or well of water has been struck, a matter of no small importance when it is understood that previous to this lucky strike all the water used about the mine and for household purposes had to be packed from the creek, which is a long distance below, and at an expense of $18 per week for a meagre supply for six men. The mill now owned by this company is down the canyon nearly five miles from the mines. All the ore to this mill will have to be packed on mules at a very great expense, and during the winter months this cannot be done at all. The proper place for the mill is immediately below and about one mile distant from the mine. Here there is an abundance of timber and water, a wide flat or valley free from all dangers of snow slides, and where, by means of a tramway, ore can at all seasons of the year be shipped directly from the mine to the batteries. The whole cost of mining, transportation and reduction of the ore from the mine, with the proper and practicable facilities, need not exceed $10 per ton. The Silver Sprout is unquestionably a very valuable mine, and with the proper management can not fail to remunerate its owners and at the same time prove of great benefit to this section generally.

A Chance.

A brother of the proprietors of this paper, writing from Iowa, very anxiously inquires if there is a place for him on some County Central Committee in case he should come to Inyo. Relying upon our influence with the editor of The Lancet, we reply that there is. The Independent party need some one at Cerro Gordo. Deep Spring not heard from.

For County Judge.

Elsewhere will be seen the official announcement that Charles Whipple, Esq., will be a candidate for County Judge at the ensuing Judicial election. Col. Whipple has been admitted to the bar, and is a well qualified, popular man. The candidates stand: John A. Hannah, Dem.; David Love, Rep.; D. D. Gunnison and Col. Whipple, Independents.

Died.

Many friends of Mr. Robinson, formerly blacksmithing with H. C. Morse in this place, will sincerely regret to learn of his death, which occurred on Greenhorn mountain, about two weeks ago. Deceased had been ill a long time, and was traveling in hopes of improving his health. He was a good man.

Wants It.

We have received an express package containing a twenty-five cent shinplaster from a gentleman residing at Silver Peak, Nevada. In return he desires The Independent containing the election returns from Deep Spring, in order to decide a $40,000 bet on the Governor.

On the Mountain.

Fires on the summit of Mount Whitney have announced to observing Lone Piners that Mulkey and party have reached that lofty altitude, and are telegraphing the question "How is this for High?" Even Mulkey has not yet heard from Deep Spring.

Better.

We are glad to announce that favorable reports are being received concerning the condition of C. D. Begole, of Lone Pine, who was so badly pounded with a six-shooter. Erysipelas set in, and for a time his recovery was doubtful.

Petition.

A petition is being circulated praying for the establishment of a daily mail from Aurora through to Cerro Gordo. Everybody sign the petition, and then pray that Dexter is not awarded the contract.

Religious Notice.

There will be preaching at the school house to-morrow, at 11 o'clock, by Rev. J. Tamblyn; Sunday school at 12 o'clock.

Experiments With Onions.

J. B. Wolf, M. D., of Washington, lately forwarded to the Farmers' Club, N. Y., the following communication: On shipboard at New Orleans, in the year 1849, in charge of one hundred marines, with cholera among them, I observed that those who ate freely of onions, supposing them to be healthy, were attacked certainly and fatally. Onions and salt cured the bite of a rattlesnake bite on my son, and are considered a specific in all snake bites. I have found four separate witnesses of phenomena connected with small pox and fevers.

1. Onions in rooms with small pox rot rapidly.
2. Blisters rise in them.
3. They retain and communicate the virus many weeks after the epidemic has subsided.
4. Applied to the feet of fever patients they rapidly turn black.
5. They prevent the spread of small pox in thickly populated tenements by absorbing the virus.
6. A man with hydrophobia, in his frenzy, ate voraciously of them and recovered.

From all these facts may be deduced:

1. That onions should not be eaten when there is a prevailing epidemic.
2. That onions sliced and frequently changed are good disinfectants.
3. That experiments should be made to test their usefulness. For many years I have opposed vaccination, as ordinarily done, and hence hail with satisfaction any means of mitigating the virus of this distemper.

Warm Bathing.

The warm bath is a grand remedy, and will often prevent the most virulent of diseases. A person who may be in fear of having received infection of any kind, should speedily plunge into a warm bath, suffer perspiration to ensue, and then rub dry, and dress securely to guard against taking cold. If the system has imbibed any infectious matter, it will certainly be removed by this process if it be resorted to before the infection has time to spread over the system; and even if some time has elapsed, the drenching perspiration that may be induced in a hot bath will be pretty sure to remove it.—Family Herald.

Laying Down Cucumbers.

The best way to lay down cucumbers is to sprinkle salt over them, and let them form their own brine. A board and a stone should be laid over them, in order to keep them under the brine. If in three days there is not enough brine formed to cover the cucumbers, there is not salt enough on them and more should be added. They should never be allowed to protrude above the brine, as a white mold will form and they will soon soften. In cutting the cucumbers from the vine, leave a stem on the pickles. They keep better and appear better on the table.

To do up Shirt Bosoms.

Take two ounces of fine white gum arabic powder, put it into a pitcher and pour on a pint of water and then having covered it, let it stand all night. In the morning pour it carefully from the dregs into a clean bottle, cork it and keep it for use. A tablespoonful of gum water poured in a pint of starch made in the usual manner, will give to lawn, either white or printed, a look of newness when nothing else can restore them after they have been washed.

How to Make Seidlitz Powder.

Seidlitz powders are an excellent corrective for acidity of the stomach; and every farmer can make them for himself. Mix twelve drams of powdered Epsom salts with twelve scruples of powder carbonate of soda, and divide into six parts in blue papers. Divide also in six parts, in white papers, four drams of Tartaric acid in six powders. Every time you take the powders, mix one of each paper in two glasses.

To Clean Blankets.

A lady recommends the following mode of cleaning blankets: Put two large tablespoonfuls of borax and a pint bowl of soft soap into a cup of cold water. When dissolved, place in a suitable vessel, put in a pair of blankets, and let them remain over night. Next day rub and drain them out, and rinse thoroughly in two waters, and hang them out to dry. Do not wring them.

Care of the Hair.

Frequent brushing and washing once a week with a teaspoonful of liquid ammonia in a bowlful of warm water, is said to be the best treatment possible for the hair. If any stimulant is required, half an ounce of dry ammonia, rubbed into a pint of olive oil, is the finest dressing to be made, and prevents hair from turning gray, if anything will, and urges its growth.

Eating Before Retiring.

It is very injurious to eat just before retiring. The desire for it is simply the result of habit or of a morbid craving—and should be at once overcome.

—Children are great realists, interpreting things in the most literal sense. To the infantile mind that beautiful metaphor of the Lord walking in the garden in the cool of the day, conveys the idea of tangible presence.

"I know," said a little boy to whom the passage was read, "just as papa does, with his hands behind him, and an old coat on."

—Every boy and girl should be taught some useful employment, such as shall make them self supporting.

—There are eleven million horses in the United States.

Application for Patent.

NOTICE NO. 6.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE, REGISTER'S OFFICE, Aurora, Nevada, August 16th, 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT JOHN H. WINTERS, Superintendent of the Kearsarge Mining Company, on behalf of said company, has this day filed in this office a diagram and notice of application for patent from the United States, under Act of Congress approved July 26, 1866, for one thousand, eight hundred feet in length of the "KEARSARGE LODE," with a surface width of fifty feet on each side of the lode. Said lode supposed to be one hundred feet in width, which belongs to the Kearsarge Mining Company, a corporation; adjoining on the East end the extension claims of James R. Wall, J. R. Hughes and G. W. Brady, and on the West end the extension claims of R. M. Shuey, J. B. Rowley and John Clarke, situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. Notice is further given that they intend to apply for and have embraced in the said patent together and in connetcion with the "Kearsarge Lode," the land on which the Kearsarge mill is erected, together with a sufficient space of land around said mill for the convenient use of said mill; also the Water Right of said Kearsarge Mining Company on Little Pine Creek. The property sought to be patented together with the said "Kearsarge Lode" is known as the "Kearsarge Mill Site and Water Claim on Little Pine Creek," and is described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a stump, it being the N. E. corner of what is known as McCormick, Kittleson, Cornell and Hill's cabin, 24 links from Pine Creek, from which a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears N. ¼ deg. E. distant 62 links, also a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears S. 58½ deg. E. distant 64 links, thence N. 25½ deg. E. distant 4 chains to a tree blazed and marked as follows: Blazed on three sides and notched toward the creek and marked "Head of the Kearsarge Mining Company's Ditch," thence N. 62½ deg. W. to the foot of the main mountain, thence N. 27½ deg. E. distant 91 rods, thence S. 62½ deg. E. to a stone mound on the opposite side of the creek, thence S. 27½ deg. W. along the East side of Pine Creek to a point opposite to and to place of beginning. And also all the water, water rights and privileges found upon or in any manner belonging to said tract of land—situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. All of which is more particularly described by the diagrams and notices posted in this office and on the claim.

MY NATIVE HOME.

[The following exquisite lines were published in the Golden Era several years ago, from the pen of "Hugh Humphrey:"]

Valleys of green under cloudless skies,
Where the tall, dark forms of pine trees rise,
Where the hunter lies 'neath the cooling shade
Of a branching beach, in a lovly glade,
Where the silver glow of the moonlight pale
Shimmers the sea and the dewy vale,
Where the wild deer bounds to the cooling lake
To dash through its foam, or his thirst to slake—
I've a truant been, and I love to roam,
But yet, I've a love for my native home.

Ye mountains and hills of my native land,
Ye rivers, that flow to the rocky strand;
Ye forests that stretch over valleys and hills,
Ye meadows, made glad by the music of rills—
Cottages dear where the loved ones dwell,
(The tears will fall and the heart will swell,
As I think of the time when I said farewell.)
Under the chime of the sweet Sabbath bell—
I'm a truant still and I love to roam,
Though I love to think of my native home.

There are golden isles on the Summer seas,
Where the low winds sweep through the orange trees;
There are plains where the plume-like palm trees rise;
Under the glowing tropical skies;
There are lands that boast of their wealth of gold
And the mighty deeds of their warriors bold,
The honor, the wealth and the world-wide fame
Of foreign lands may I never claim,
There is still one spot, though I long may roam,
That is dear to me; 'tis my native home.

Trial of Alanson Gardner—Fourth Day—The Prisoner's Story.

[From The Los Angeles News, September 9.]

The Gardner case was resumed at 10 A. M., yesterday. Henry Bowen was recalled by defense, and admitted that he had been a sportsman; that when his health permitted he dealt cards.

Daniel Burchard, recalled, testified that about a month before the killing, he had had a conversation with the witness, Bowen, in the course of which Bowen had said that "he'd be d—d if he didn't get even with the Bilderbecks." When Henry and Goodhue took up the canyon witness had told them that the Bilderbecks claimed it. Al. Henry had said that he would cut wood out of that canyon or be packed out of it.

The accused was then sworn in his own behalf and proceeded to give a long and circumstantial narrative, repeating conversations and going into minute details. His coolness while giving his version of the horrible affair, to which he was privy, amounted almost to nonchalance. We give the prisoner's statement in full:

Questioned by the Court—I was born in Massachusetts; have been in this country since '61; believe in a hereafter; have lived lived constantly in California since '61; first came to San Francisco; came to Los Angeles county in 1864; freighted to Owens River, thence to Lone Pine; am not a man of family; lived awhile in Tehechepi Valley; got hurt in '65; went to Little Lake; kept station there in '65 or '66; went thence to Lone Pine; kept saloon there; came from there some two years ago.

Questioned by Col. Howard—State what you know in regard to the opposing claims of Al. Henry and the Bilderbeck boys about that canyon.

Al. Henry and George Goodhue went from this place to the canyon with me, to chop wood for me; I put them in the canyon where I had a wood claim, to chop there some fifteen cords of wood; they said the wood was very rough timber, that they could go in the adjoining canyon and take it up and cut wood for themselves if I would allow them three dollars a cord for their wood; told them I'd do it; they went there, chopped several days before they commenced a road; during that time Al. Henry came to me and said the Bilderbeck boys had been in that canyon and notified him to quit; that part of it where the road would go was their claim. I said to him: they will not object to the road's going down there, will they? He said it wouldn't make any odds if they did, he should put the road in and chop the wood. I told him that was all right with me. He says, "you'll not go back on us after we chop the wood and pile it." I told him I would pay him for the wood they chopped after they got the road in. He said they intended to cut the wood unless the Bilderbecks proved to be better men than they were. That was all that was said or transacted at that time. They got the road in; I commenced hauling out wood; hauled some 10 or 12 cords out of there. They were still in dispute about the canyon—Henry and the Bilderbecks. The Bilderbecks came to me and said—they were both together; at this time there was only one—Herschel—come to me and asked me if I had paid that account at Caswell's of them. I told him I had. He said, then we must be in your debt. I told him, yes. He said, "we are going into that canyon where Henry and Goodhue is to chop wood. He says," we'll chop the amount of what we owe you. Also, I will chop 11 cords for that horse, (for a horse that he wanted to buy from me). I told him that I had nothing to do with that canyon whatever. He said it didn't make any odds, they were going in there to chop, (questioned by the Court—I refer to Al. Henry's and George Goodhue's canyon), and if I was afraid or didn't want to take wood out of that canyon that they chopped, they would give me wood out of their own. I told him if they chopped the wood that I would rather take it from there, on account of their canyon's being bad to go into with a team. They went there, commenced chopping; chopped some 10 days. I received one cord of wood from them during that time. That was some two weeks before they were killed that they went in there. Alfred Henry was sick during this time; was not at work George Goodhue was still chopping in the same canyon where the boys were. Al. Henry and Henry Bowen was a hunting around together. During the two weeks most of the time they were stopping at my house. The week before this killing, Al. Henry and Bowen left my place, went up Tejunga canyon on a hunt; was gone some five days I think. I left my place on Saturday before the killing; Bowen and Henry was still up the canyon when I left; had not returned. I came to town with a load of wood to sell. Saturday night I saw a man here in town by the name of Appell; he had just come from Owens River. He says, "I think I will go home with you to-morrow to see the folks. I will meet you at Higby's at 6 o'clock in the morning." I met him there Sunday morning. He says, "I'm going out with you." I told him I was already to hitch up my team. He said "I will go and get my breakfast while you get your team, you meet me at Higby's corner." I drove my team up there and hitched it. In a few minutes he came along with a demijohn. He said, "I can't go out there without some whisky." I says, "I'm already to go." He says, "let's take a drink before we start." We stepped into Higby's and drank. I says, "now let's go.' He says, "wait until I go and load my pistol;" took it out; says, "its partly discharged." I says, "never mind, I will load it for you when we get there.' We started; drove to my house; got there about 3 o'clock in the afternoon; found there (this was Sunday. Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock; (questioned about Appell—that was his right name, he always went by the name of "Tennessee.") I found there Al. Henry, Buckskin Frank, Henry Bowen and George Goodhue, at my house. Al. Henry came out when I drove up—helped me to unhitch my team. Just as we unhitched the team, Bowen came out. I said, "what kind of luck did you have on your hunt?" Bowen says, "we killed two deer." (Questioned by the Court concerning his acquaintance with Bowen—I seen the man in '65 or 6 here; was not acquainted with him at that time. I got acquainted with him about two years ago; he was accustomed to go out to my house to hunt—not very often—was in Tejunga canyon while I lived there about three times; only a passing acquaintance—that was all). He said they killed two deer. I then got into my wagon, passed out some things. He took some of them and carried them into the house. Henry stood there—Al. Henry—and laid the balance of the stuff on the ground, that I passed out. As I got out of the wagon he said to me, "Them boys is still chopping over there." I told him they were. He says, "I am able to go to work now, and I am going to put them out of the canyon the first thing I do." Al. Henry told me that he could get Henry Bowen's rifle to defend himself with if I would be responsible for the rifle; that Bowen said it cost him $40. I said that was all right. At that time I was called away to the house by Appell ("Tennessee,") saying, "come, we'll drink that whisky all up." We then went to the house, took a drink, set there a short time. I said to Buckskin, "Come, I will go and show you a different place to chop, the place that I was speaking to you about a few days ago." I told Buckskin to get onto his horse and we'd go. I also got onto mine. We rode perhaps a quarter of a mile up the main canyon—Tejunga canyon—above my house. He says to me, "There's no use to go up there," that I had made arrangements with Al. Henry to go into his canyon and chop with him, and he said—Buckskin Frank said that they had already made up their minds to go over there to Henry's canyon and put them fellows out, and if they objected to it, they would kill them or they should them. I also told him (Buckskin) that there was just as good timber where I was going to put him. I told Buckskin we had as good go back. We rode back to the house, hitched our horses and went in. I sat there a few minutes, got up and went out to the corrall. I'd been there but a few minutes around a couple of horses, when Henry Bowen came out. Henry Bowen said to me, "Is Buckskin going up the Tejunga to chop?" I said, "no, he's not; he says—Buckskin says—he is going with Henry into his canyon." Henry Bowen said that he understood by Al. Henry that Buckskin had agreed to go with him into the canyon. I said, "yes, that Al. Henry said that you said he could have the rifle." He says, "They can have the rifle but I will hold you responsible for it."—(Here Court took a recess for 20 minutes).

I told him I would be responsible for the rifle if anything happened. At this time Alfred came out to where we were standing, we went back to the house—Bowen and I and Alfred. Nothing more that day that I recollect concerning this. The men all stayed at my house that night with the exception of George Goodhue. George Goodhue went away sometime in the evening unbeknown to me, he had agreed to plough for me next day. Next morning he came there before breakfast; said he got lost going over to camp and laid down there all night—in the Tejunga canyon. We eat our breakfast (this was Monday morning) I told George Goodhue after breakfast that there was a pair of horses in the corral for him to plough with. He said he didn't feel well, I told him he might work an hour or two I thought: it wouldn't take him long to do what I wanted him to do. He said he didn't want to take those horses; that he was afraid of them. Buckskin and I and Alfred commenced hitching up my team. We got the team hitched, Al Henry was holding them. I started around the wagon toward the house, met Bowen with his rifle; said there was 15 rounds. He says "I will load it;" he threw a load in (a Henry rifle) and went to snap the cock down onto it—the cartridge. It accidentally went off. He threw in another cartridge and pressed the cock down on it. Said it was sure fire as it is, and passed it to me. I got into the wagon and passed it to Al. Henry; took the lines and drove to the canyon. Buckskin Frank rode along behind the wagon on his horse (or mare) had his rifle and six-shooter with him, I also had my six-shooter with me. We got to the mouth of the canyon where we went up the main Tejunga to Al. Henry's canyon and started up it, got about 100 yards up the canyon Buckskin said to Henry, "Come here, I want to speak to you." I stopped the team till he jumped off. After he got off I drove along. He walked up the canyon behind the wagon talking to Buckskin. When we got within 50 yards of where the Bilderbecks were chopping, Al. Henry jumped into the wagon. As we came up to the Bilderbeck boys we passed the time of day—I did. They said, "What are you going to load with to-day?" I said, I was going to load with that dead wood that George Goodhue chopped, and then drove along. When I got up abreast of the pile of wood Henry jumped off. I drove up about 200 yards to turn, came back abreast of the wood pile. Al Henry, and Buckskin stood there by it when I stopped my team. We throwed about half a cord of wood on the wagon. When it was on I got up on the seat. Buckskin picked up his rifle, Henry says "you must let me have that rifle for I am a good shot with that rifle." Buckskin says "all right, I can shoot anything if it's necessary. They started down the canyon. I started along after them with my wagon. Buckskin was leading his mare. As they went around the point in the canyon—a little bend—it brought them in sight of the Bilderbecks. They stopped within about 15 or 20 yards of where the Bilderbeck boys were standing. They were talking. I stopped my team and got down; went to the leaders while they were heading right against Buckskin's mare. As I got there Buckskin passed me his rope. I took the rope. I then said to the Bilderbacks "if I was you I would leave the canyon." By the time I had said this—the words hadn't more than got out of my mouth—they (Henry and Buckskin) raised their guns and fired. Henry Bilderbeck fell. (I was standing within 15 or 20 yards of the Bilderbecks. I didn't fire; was holding Buckskin's horse and my own). Herschel Bilderbeck run down the canyon. Buckskin took the rope from me of his mare, jumped onto her, and started down the canyon. First before he started he throwed the cartridge out of the gun, before he took the rope from me; threw in another cartridge, jumped onto the mare and started down the canyon. I turned round and walked to my wagon; got on and drove down past where the shooting was, to a ravine where there was some wood piled, and hitched my team. Started up on the side of the hill. Seen Buckskin going down the mouth of the canyon to the main Tejunga canyon. I then came back to the wagon. Met Henry also at the wagon. He says, "did that gun go that Buckskin shot, or did it snap?" I told him I didn't think it went. He said "he must have made a d——d poor shot if it went." By this time Buckskin came back up the canyon on his mare; he says, "I killed the s— of a b——, but he dodged terribly around a big sycamore tree." Said that the gun when he caught him, snapped once—didn't go—snapped. Then he dodged around the tree he fired five shots—five times Went on and described the bunch of sycamores where he caught him. He says "you wait here till I go to my camp and get a pick and shovel." We set there till he returned. He says "come on let's cover him up." I says, "I'll finish loading the wagon while you're doing it." Buckshin said, "all right." I finished loading the wagon, went up where they were at work. They had the body put into a hole they'd lug right in the wagon rut—the body of Henry Bilderback—partly covered up. I stood there a few minutes, Buckskin says, "go and get some water." I went up to the camp which was above there about 100 yards—Al. Henry's and George Goodhue's camp. Brought the water to them. They had it all leveled up when I got there—were brushing the road; the dirt was smoothed off. We walked down to the wagon—Buckskin and I and Henry. Sat down behind it where the rifles were laying. Buckskin says, "I want to see what I can do with this gun." He took and fired two shots at a sycamore tree standing about 60 or 70 yards from where he stood. Henry went to see if he hit it, said he hadn't hit it. As he came back, he picked up Buckskin's pistol, laying by the rifle. Said, "I can beat that with this;" fired at the same time. Says, "I guess it's no use for me to look, for I'm satisfied I didn't hit it that distance." I got onto my wagon and Henry also got onto the wagon. Buckskin throwed the pick and shovel on the wagon. Started down the canyon. Buckskin rode alongside the wagon. Says to me "all we ask of you now is to never let this go any further than it is————"

At this juncture the Court adjourned, after considerable discussion between the counsel. The District Attorney protested against such action. The trial of the case will be resumed at 10 A. M. on Monday.

Who Are Entitled to Bounty Lands.

The Commissioner of Pensions will soon issue instructions and new regulations for procuring bounty land warrants through that office. The following instructions will be of interest to many:

The acts of Congress now in force granting bounty land, entitle each of the surviving persons in the following classes to a certificate or warrant for auch quantity of land as shall make, in the whole, with what he may have heretofore received 160 acres, provided he shall have served a period of not less than fourteen days, to wit:

I. Commissioned and non-commissioned officers, musicians, and privates, whether of the regulars, volunteers, rangers or militia, who were regularly mustered into the service of the United States in any of the wars in which this country has been engaged since 1790 and prior to March 3, 1865, to-wit:

II. Commissioned and non-comissioned officers, seamen, ordinary seamen, flotillamen, marines, clerks, and landsmen in the navy of any of said wars.

III. Militia, volunteers, and State troops of any State or Territory called into military service, and regularly mustered therein, and whose services have been paid by the United States.

IV. Wagonmasters and teamsters who have been employed under the direction of competent authority in time of war, in the transportation of military stores and supplies.

V. Officers and soldiers of the Revolutionary war, and marines, seamen, and other persons in the naval service of the United States during that war.

VI. Chaplains who served with the army in the several wars of the country.

VII. Volunteers who served with the armed forces of the United States in any of the wars mentioned, subject to military orders, whether regularly mustered into the service of the United States or not.

Each of the surviving persons in the following classes are entitled to a like certificate for a like quantity of land, without regard to the length of service (provided he was regularly mustered into service) to-wit:

1. Officers and soldiers who have been actually engaged in any battle in any of the wars in which this country has been engaged prior to the war of the rebellion.

2. Those volunteers who served at the invasion of Plattsburg, in September, 1814.

3. The volunteers who served at the battle of King's Mountain, in the Revolutionary war.

4. The volunteers who served at the battle of Nickojack against the confederate savages of the South.

5. The volunteers who served at the attack on Lewiston, in Delaware, by the British fleet in the war of 1812.

In addition to these classes these acts also extend to all Indians who served the United States in any of their wars prior to the war of the rebellion, the provisions of this and all the bounty land laws heretofore passed, in the same manner and to the same extent as if the Inians had been white men.

Where the service has been rendered by a substitute, he is the person entitled to the benefit of these acts, and not his employer.

In the event of the death of any person who, if living, would be entitled to a certificate or warrant as aforesaid, leaving a widow, or, if no widow, such minor child or children, is entitled to a certificate or warrant for the same quantity of land such deceased persons would be entitled to receive under the provisions of said acts if now living.

A subsequent marriage will not impair the right of any such widow to such warrant if she be a widow at the time of her application. Persons within the age of 21 years on the 3d day of March, 1855, are deemed minors within the intent and meaning of said acts.

Confidence of Birds.

The wife of the Rev. John Keble, author of "The Christian Year," was a woman of remarkable gentleness, as the subjoined anecdote, from Miss Yonge's "Musings over the Christian Year," gives good evidence: "One day, sitting on the lawn at Fairford, she espied a nest with four unfledged nestlings in it, which had been blown down from a neighboring tree; a friend who was with her picked it up and set it on her knee, then went to fetch the gardner, that he might replace it on its bough. No sooner was Mrs. Keble alone, than the parent-birds, which had been hovering round, took heart of grace, and actually brought food to their young ones, alighting on her knee to feed them, flying off again, and returning regularly and frequently with a fresh store. She observed (by-the-way) that, while they fed three of the callow creatures in regular order, they invariably omitted to feed the fourth! Another day, when she was sitting out of doors, a wren was attracted by a pattern of small berries on her muslin gown. It pecked at them, and, seemingly disappointed in its hope of something good to eat, it made its way under the muslin flounce and pecked at the tantalizing berries from within.'

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.:

Saturday, September 23, 1871.

WHITE MAN MIGHTY UNSARTIN!

THE RESULT.

NOBLE OLD TUOLUMNE!

Only one Senator and three Representatives! This is all that poor Tuolume can have in the next semi annual Legislature of the State of California. To be sure she has only cast 1,970 votes, but with her representation she can doubtless secure five or six more under the new apportionment. And the entire portion of the State lying east of the Sierra Nevada mountains mountains doesn't need any. Our interests are able to speak for themselves.

Following we give the complete returns on our legislative ticket. It will be seen that for Senator M. C. Andross (of Tuolumne) is elected by 14 majority, and that for Representatives Whiting (of Tuolumne), W. C. Connelly (OF TUOLUMNE) and P. B. Bacon (OF TUOLUMNE) have received the highest number of votes, and are consequently elected. Thus:

NAMES.	COUNTIES. Tuolumne.	Inyo.	Mono.	TOTALS.
SENATOR.
W. A. Fakin	966	313	91	1370
M. C. Andross	1012	262	110	1384
ASSEMBLYMEN.
Geo. A. Whiting	998	308	85	1391
W. C. Connelly	1022	309	80	1411
D. B. Curtis	923	324	88	1335
P. B. Bacon	1062	264	111	1437
Wm. G. Long	980	261	121	1362
Duncan Campbell	962	254	112	1328

Democrats in Roman; Republicans in Italic.

THE NEXT ELECTION.

The next election in this State comes off October 18, three weeks and four days from to-day. Then two Judges of the Supreme Court, a State Superintendent of Instruction, County Judges and Justices of the Peace are to be chosen. Will our County Central Committees wake up?

A Type Composing Machine.

A Type Composing Machine, by means of which types of any size may be composed at the rate 12,000 an hour, has recently been described by The London Bookseller. This machine, like all previous inventions, is constructed on the plan of a piano. The operator touches a key, and liberates a single type, which falls into a channel, and with other letters forms words and sentences in a long continuos line, which is subsequently "spaced out" and "justified" into lines, paragraphs and pages by the the compositor, in the usual way. In the new machine the the principle of distributing the types is quite different from all other machines. Instead of the operator himself directing the outward flow of the type by striking keys and pedals, the action of the machine is purely automical, and is governed by a strip of paper perforated like the cards used in the Jacquard loom to govern and adjust the threads, according to a desired pattern. This method, although apparently complex, it is stated, is admirably simple in its operation, and has been in use some time in setting up The Warrington Guardian, England, and portions of The Graphic newspaper are composed by its means.

The New State Government.

A good many people, mislead by an error in Hittel's copy of the Constitution of California, as the same appears in his Digest, are confused as to when the new State Government comes into power. Section 2, Art. IV., in the Digest, reads that "the sessions of the Legislature shall be biennial, and shall commence on the first Monday of January next ensuing the election of its members unless the Governor of the State shall in the interim convene Legislature by proclamation." The error in this is in printing January instead of December. The amendment ratified September 3, 1862, read "the first Monday in December," and that is the day on which the Legislature is to meet. By Section 2, Art. V., it is also provided by amendment, ratified the same day with the above, that "the Governor shall hold his office four years from and after the first Monday in December subsequent to his election."—Sacramento Union, September 11.

Godey's Lady's Book

For October has, in addition to its fine fashion plates, music for the piano, beautiful steel and wood engravings and well selected miscellany, several interesting, well written original stories, which, as literary productions, we consider of the first order. Were anything lacking to prove this favorite magazine a work of real value it will be found in the many useful household recipes which it contains.

ABOUT A NEW BREED OF MEN.

Earnest, honest workers in the cause of woman's elevation, and the cause itself strictly speaking, have hitherto commanded respect, even from many of those who would never willingly accord them the main object in view—the right to the ballot. The advocates of this cause have undoubtedly gained in numbers, but many of these are of that class of dead weights that are a curse to any party or cause. Some of the most prominent actors or leaders of the woman suffragists are becoming so outspoken in their free love doctrines as to disgust all those who claim any ordinary degree of self respect or shame, and to presage certain defeat to their cause. Chief among these we note Victoria Woodhull, alias Blood. She it is who announces herself as the woman's candidate for President of the United States. She it is who aspires to be, if she is not already the leader of the woman party. She it is who pronounces in favor of inaugurating experiments to produce a "new breed of men," to be brought about just in the same manner that the breed of dogs and other species of the lower animals are improved. She it is who proposes to "elevate" her sex by placing them on a level with the brute, gifted with reasoning powers sufficient to select by certain specified rules the sires of their offspring, one after another, if necessary, until a certain degree of perfection is attained. Altogether it's a lovely plan, though it is the reverse of Brother Brigham's. We subjoin the following outline of the new order as set forth in a late number of the organ, Woodhull & Claflin's Weekly:

A woman feels drawn in love to a particular man. That proves nothing, or next to nothing with regard to his inherent quality or his adaptation to her in respect to the best result in the production of off-pring. It is no more than the fondness of a child for particular kind of food, which may be the worst, physilogically, for it. Reason, judgment, systematized knowledge, the reported experiments of others; race, blood, temperament; a thousand considerations never, or almost never, taken into to the account, have all now got to be consulted. A new profession of experts in this scientific speciality must spring up. It must be understood that the woman experimenting on the improvement of progeny is conducting a grand scientific process, of more consequence and value than anything in chemistry, or any of the inferior sciences; and that she is entitled to the aid of all who know specially anything on the subject.

This kind of aid will be forthcoming sufficient to satisfy all reasonable requirements; there any number of brutes of men who are well posted in these things, if not in chemistry and other inferior arts, so that in this particular Victoria's new science need not languish.

In this manner alone this natural function of woman will be elevated in the respect [did you ever!] of mankind; elevated in the rank of estimation and effects, and one of the conditions of instituting the new breed of men will have been secured.

Victoria speaks by the card; but poor Woodhull had better attend strictly to business or he will share the fate of Col. Blood, et. al.

But the first condition of this, even, is freedom. The woman who, in the pursuit of her aim, of giving to the race better specimens of womanhood and manhood, shall breed from half a dozen different sires, must be as much respected in society as she who adheres, from mere habit it may be, or from the absence of any high ambition, to one; to the dull monotony of the ordinary household.

It is rather monotonous with only one husband about the house, but two or more are apt to make it a little too lively at times, unless they should happen to be unusually docile, like Blood and Woodhull. The scientific part of the business would be to select a deck of husbands according to the docility of their natures. The selections would necessarily be limited, we opine, at least until the new breed could be made available.

But all this involves other changes in our social habits [not much, so far as you are concerned, Vic.] and opinions. The true way of receiving children at birth [is to drown the runts] into the community; of providing for, training and educating them; and of utilizing their varied talents to the utmost—all these things have now to be considered and ascertained.

LATER CONCERNING THE OUTBREAK.

We are indebted to the thoughtful consideration of Col. Youngs and Register Butler, of Aurora, for the extra containing the account of the Nevada State Prison emeute, and a note with two days' later news, as follows:

"The telegraph, this Tuesday evening, says one prisoner has been captured, and six more were making their way in the direction of Walker Lake. They met a four horse team, tied the driver, took his four horses and rode on. Chief Downey and company were in pursuit and only a few hours behind.

A later telegram, this evening, states that a fire broke out in a planing mill on D street, Virginia City, and is now burning on five streets."

The Gardner Case.

It seems from the following, which we take from The Los Angeles News, that, owing to the fact that the judicial affairs of Los Angeles county are managed by a set of very Smart Alecs, the gallows are likely to be cheated of their dues. The tax-payers of that county must be excessively proud of the brilliant genius who dispenses justice in their District Court, as shown in the management of this case:

As the rather lame and impotent conclusion of the late trial of this case has been made the subject of general comment, the following outlines of the proceedings derived from the minutes of the District Court, may interest our readers.

Allanson Gardner was arraigned on the 4th of May, and given until Monday, May 15 to plead. On that and the following day no Court was held. On May 17th further time was granted until Saturday the 20th, and Court adjourned until Monday, 22d, when one day further was granted. On Tuesday, May 23 a plea of "not guilty" was finally entered, and a venire for 48 jurors ordered returnable Friday, May 26. On that day the counsel for the defense moved a continuance for the term on the extrordinary ground of the absence of Buckskin and Henry, accomplices in the murder and at that time fugitives from justice. The motion was granted and the venire discharged. On Thursday, August 8 the case was again called and set for Thursday, August 24, a venire of 70 being ordered returnable on that day. The day came, but 24 jurors answered, "of whom a number being excused for valid cause, the remainder were considered inadequate to justify the Court to proceed." An additional venire of 50 was therefore ordered, and the prisoner remanded until August 29 on which day a jury was empanelled, and the trial proceeded during two days On the 21st Court adjourned over until Saturday, September 2, and on that day closed its sitting at 1:45 P.M., adjourning until Monday, September 4, when it was discovered that the term had ended at midnight of Saturday. The case will be tried anew at the November term when, it is to be hoped, it may be commenced in time to admit of its being something more than a farce.

As the whole number of Jurors ordered on the different venires is 168, the fees of the different officers for serving papers must amount to a neat sum of itself, besides the other expenses. The cost to the County of the mis-trial last week is estimated at over $200.

A Pitiful Business.

The managers of the Central Pacific Railroad Company, who now control all the railroads in the State, have prohibited the sale of The Sacramento Union upon any of their trains. This is a very small business for such a Company, and though it may not result in their financial ruin it will certainly add nothing to their profits or influence, in the end. It will make but little difference in a pecuniary point of view to The Union, while it will be an every day reminder to railroad passengers of the meanness of the Company which thus denies them the right to purchase and read any paper that may be offered. It is proof sufficient that these whilom railroad beggars would strangle out of existence the dearest rights of the people, the moment they conflicted in any manner with the interests of the railroad crew. Independent of the poweful influence of The Union itself, this order will awaken and keep awake a watchful opposition to every encroachment of the railroad ring, and for that reason it is a fortunate thing that even in this little matter they have shown what they would do were the means and opportunity given them. Blessings can be turned into curses, and it behooves the people of this State to see that our railroad blessing does not become a never ending curse.

LATEST EASTERN NEWS.

The counsel for the people of New York finished their argument in the case of the ring thieves, on the 15th instant, when Judge Barnard delivered an opinion reflecting with much severity on the conduct of the Controller, and awarded the injunction prayed for by the citizens as plaintiffs in this suit. It restrains the issuance of another dollar in bonds or the payment of any more money from the city and county treasury of New York, until there is a change in the Board of Supervisors, and in the Auditor of Accounts. The Judge several times characterized the conduct of the city officials as little better than highway robbery, and as virtual confiscation of the property of the citizens. These remarks were always applauded by the audience present, and at the conclusion of his judgment there was "frantic applause."

In consequence of this decision it is said Controllor Connolly will resign and the position be tendered to Gen. McClellan, who will probably accept it,

EASTERN NEWS.

A boiler in Curtis' hat factory, Newbury, Massachusetts, exploded, September 11, and killed five men outright. Several others are wounded and missing.

Controller Connelly, of New York, alleges that his office was recently entered by burglars who stole and carried away the official vouchers of many bills allowed in 1870. This is probably a dodge of the ring to baffle the courts in detecting the enormous thefts. The investigations now going on relative to these swindles, have developed a quarrel among the thieves themselves. The Mayor and his organ, The World, are down on Connelly, and he is told that if he don't resign it will be made to hot for New York to hold him. Meanwhile Connelly's wife is making over his cash and bonds to her son-in-law. She has already disposed of half a million State bonds in this way. The unofficial members of the "ring" are not willing to face the storm of public indignation leveled against then, so Ingersoll, one of the thieves, has decamped with a large amount of his ill-gotten gains. Tweed has put in a simple denial of the main charges of the plaintiffs. Counsel for the plaintiffs insisted on the vouchers and books as the only admissible defense.

Sydney Perham, present Governor of Maine, was re-elected by an increased majority. The Democrats made some gains in the Legislature.

Some time since a man named Hiram Clifford, who owns a milk ranch near San Francisco, set a gun loaded with shot so that when the sack with which it was masked should be lifted the gun would be discharged. A small boy named Daniel Roberts disturbed the sack from some cause and received the charge in his face, putting out both eyes and otherwise maiming him for life. His guardian now brings suit for $20,000 damages against Clifford for setting the gun.

Solomon Rosenthal, a dry goods dealer, Kearny street, San Francisco, hung himself on the 13th. Just as he swung himself off, to make sure work of it, he shot himself with a pistol.

All the votes cast in the late election in San Francisco are being recounted, but with no results worth the trouble. With the exception of a number of votes from which the name of Alexander Badlam was erased by the nitrate of silver dodge, no evidence of fraud and few errors have yet been discovered.

Official returns of Los Angeles county give a total vote for Governor of 3,498. Haight's majority is 656.

STATE PRISON EMUETE!

A Desperat Outbreak of Prisoners at the Nevada State Prison—Governor Denver and Four Guards Badly Wounded—Charles Jones, formerly of Bishop Creek, Kills Matt. Piley—29 Desperate Villains at Large!

[From The Carson Register Extra, September 18.]

At 6 o'clock last evening, when the wind was blowing a gale and the whole valley was filled with a blinding dust, a desperate break was made by the convicts in the State Prison, which terminating in the death of Matt. Pixley, of the Warm Springs Hotel, the wounding of nearly all the officers of the State Prison and several of the prisoners, and the escape of twenty-nine as desperate villains as ever trod the earth.

At the hour named, all the prisoners being in the cell-room, Volney E. Rollins, Captain of the Guard, entered the room as usual for the purpose of locking the convicts in their respective cells for the night. Just as he stepped inside the door, a prisoner struck him on top of the head with a bottle, cutting a gash three and a half inches long, and almost at the same instant another struck him with a slung-shot over the left eye, cutting to the bone. He fell bleeding but not senseless; and as he sank, half a dozen convicts rushed at him to deal the death blow, when Pat. Hurley gathered Rollins by the body and threw him into an adjacent cell and closed the door, thus saving his life. All this took place without alarming the guard outside. The prisoners then climbed to the top of the upper tier of cells, and proceeded to cut a hole large enough to admit the passage of a man's body through the wall into one of the rooms occupied by the family of the Lieutenant Governor. Each prisoner had provided himself with a slung-shot, and some of them had knives of their own manufacture.

Rushing into the room occupied by Mrs. Denver, her mother and daughter, the break of the prisoners was first discovered. Instantly they were met by Lieutenant Governor Denver, who commenced firing at them. The break appeared to be under the lead of Frank Clifford, a 10-year horse thief from White Pine, and at him the Warden directed his fire. The Lieutenant Governor had been followed up stairs by Robert Dechman (or Deadman), a young man in for life, who was acting as servant in the officers' quarters. Denver shot Clifford near the navel and stunned him, but the tide poured on, and soon Denver was struck in the back of the head by some sharp pointed instrument that penetrated the skull, and on the forehead above the eye by a slung-shot which opened the scalp to the skull for a distance of three inches and a half. This felled him to the floor, when the convicts rushed upon him, seized his pistol and fired at him. As the officer fell, Bob Deadman seized a chair and fought like a tiger, knocking down no less than five of the prisoners, one of whom he knocked over the balustrading and down the stairs. His heroic conduct doubtless saved Denver's life, and was the theme of universal praise in this city as soon as it became known. Deadman was knocked down senseless and left for dead—but we are glad to know that he is only slightly injured. Wounded as he was, Clifford made his way down stairs, followed by the crowd, who at once seized the armory of the prison, office, ammunition etc. It being Sunday and the prisoners under lock and key, no guards were on the outer wall, and but few of the officers under arms, most of them being outside the building and unable to get at the armory after the alarm was given. F. M. Isaacs, a guard from Gold Hill, was in the yard and had a six-shooter. With this he confronted the prisoners as they emerged from the main building, and the fire became general. Isaacs stood like a stone column, firing steadily into the crowd and receiving volley after volley with the coolest indifference. A ball broke his right knee. Standing on one leg he continued to fire, until the crowd were in striking distance, steadily firing at him with six-shooters, finally, with another shot in the hip, sending him to earth. The prisoners seized his pistol, but out of sheer admiration of his heroic courage, spared his life.

While this was going on, John Newhouse, another guard from Gold Hill, was coming to the rescue with all speed, regardless of danger. He rushed in at close range and opened on the convicts with a six-shooter, his first shot taking effect on the body of E. B. Parsons, one of the Verdi car robbers. Newhouse, the next instant, received two wounds almost simultaneously, one in the back of the head and the other in the back, rendering him senseless.

By this time Perasich (a Slavonian) an unarmed guard who was outside of the prison yard, had run into the hotel and got a five-shooter. With this he returned to the yard and commenced firing. Three of his shots took effect, as he saw as many men squirm and stagger as he fired. He soon received a ball in the left hip, which passed forwarded and downward and lodged between the femoral artery and the bone.

Matt. Pixley, one of the proprietors of the Warm Springs Hotel, and one of the noblest young men of the country, hearing the firing and imagining the cause, seized a six shooter and rushed into the prison yard to assist the officers. The convicts were still inside the guard room, firing through the main door of the building at Isaacs, Newhouse and Perasich. Pixley rushed up to the window and commenced firing at the prisoners inside, when Charles Jones a ten year young man from White Pine, fired at him through the window. The ball, probably from a Henry rifle, carried away two panes of glass and struck Pixley just below the left eye, passing entirely through his head. He fell upon the stone porch in front of the prison—dead. R. W. Bergerser, a bar-keeper for Pixley, also rushed into the fray, and met with some hair-breadth escapes. A ball shaved close by each ear, and a third struck his pantaloons in the front of the crotch and tore away the whole seat of both pants and drawers. Another guard a little Frenchman (whose name, we regret to say, we have been unable to learn) fought heroically to the last, and escaped without a scratch. He fired a number of shots—all he had—and then rushed into the crowd and dealt mand telling blows. [Here follow other particulars, giving in detail the direction taken by the escapes, their names, efforts made to catch them etc., all of which for want of space we are compelled to omit.—EDS. The Man Identified

On the 31st day of August last James White left this place for the Eclipse mine, (being perfectly sober at the time) going ahead of his partner, Mr. C. L. Jackson, whom he somehow missed upon starting. White went on and stopped at Bradley's ranch, where he left a note instructing parties there to send over some things to the mine, as has since transpired. But Jackson having arrived at the mine and found White not there, concluded that he had gone to Cerro Gordo, where he had contracted to work the Crowning Glory mine. Four or five days afterward the remains of a man were discovered in the river, the finding of which, including the Coroner's inquest, etc., we published at the time. However, there was no suspicion as to the identity of the man until letters arrived from Cerro Gordo wanting White to come up. Mr. Jackson and others immediately began to investigate the matter; and on the 19th instant went to the place where the unknown man had been interred and exhumed the remains for examination. The only garment on the body was the shirt spoken of, which is a heavy, brown cashmere, postively asserted by those familiar with the facts to be the one which White wore. The height—5 feet 9 inches—of the remains are the same. Slight traces were found in the decaying flesh of tattoo marks known to be upon White's arm, and the goatee, the only whisker worn by White, was recognized. Satisfied as to the facts, they then made a thorough search of the river for his clothing and his horse, which was found on the plains without saddle or bridle. It is surmised that the deceased undertook to cross the river at a ford—or swimming place—near Bradley's ranch, in order to save five or six miles of travel to the bridge; and divested himself of all clothing but the shirt. But mistaking the ford he got in where the treacherous stream is very deep and swift, with banks too precipitous for the animal to get out. It is probable that he got hurt, as some claim that they what they knew him to be a good swimmer. In all events, the conclusion is irresistible that he was unable to get out and was overcome by the water, and that the "unknown drowned man" is none other than he. James White was a native of England, where his parents reside; and was 29 years of age at the time of his death. He was a miner of long experience, being formerly foreman of the Justice, on the Comstock, and for a year or two occupied that position at the Kearsarge. Lately he was one of the contractors of the Eclipse ditch, and had just taken a contract to work the Crowning Glory mine for the O. L. S. L. Co. White was a noble-hearted fellow, much liked by his acquaintances, who greatly regret the sad circumstances attending his death. He was a member of the Masonic fraternity. He leaves no relatives—a sister in New Jersey and a brother in Shasta county, to whom letters have been written.

Shooting.

Among certain parties considerable feeling has been engendered by the various merits and demerits of the respective claims to a little girl residing with the present wife of James Haun, alias Wilson. It will be remembered that Mr. Lyman Tuttle was arrested on charge of abducting the child and taking her across the mountains, after an order had been issued bringing her before the court. It appears also that Dr. W. C. Columber has been in active sympathy with Mrs. Haun No. 1 in her efforts to obtain possession of the child. The matter has become so warm between the two that on Monday last, the 18th instant, a collision took place, and the wonder is that one or both were not killed. Columber was sitting in a saloon talking when Tuttle entered. He noticed that he had a six-shooter on, and it cocked. Columber claims to have seen this and sat still, while Tuttle came up and commenced abusing him. Columber inquired if he would be allowed to rise from the chair, to which Tuttle replied "certainly." As he arose he commenced unbuttoning his coat and suddenly drew a six-shooter, presented and attempted to cock it, but the cylinder would not revolve. At the same instant Tuttle placed his to Columber's breast, who caught it and shoved it downward just as it was discharged. Columber then held on to the pistol and commenced plying his own over the head of his antagonist. Finally Tuttle got hold of the Doctor's pistol, and they were separated. An examination showed that the ball had passed into and through Columber's left leg, near the hip, not touching the bone and making but a flesh wound. An examination of Tuttle was held before Justice Pearson on Wednesday last, but we have not learned the result.

Returned.

On Sunday evening last, our well-known townsman P. Reddy arrived home from a short sojourn in the land where they pry up the sun. His appearance would indicate that Yankee diet agrees with him. Also John Broder, Esq., is among the returned—accompanied by his niece, who has been on a visit Eastward. We welcome all hands back.

The Fruit Question.

Apples, peaches and grapes and some other fruits are becoming comparatively quite plentiful in this county, and generally of a good quality. In the way of peaches Mr. W. A. Baker, of Big Pine, produces the ne plus ultra not only of the county but, as we are willing to maintain, of the State. We have never seen anywhere peaches superior, in point of size and flavor, to those raised by Mr. Baker, some of which can be seen at Mr. Lentell's. We are under obligations to Mr. Baker for his kind remembrance of this office, and altogether we think he is a model subscriber. In this connection we might as well state that we have constituted ourselves a committee on fruits, and herewith award a first premium to Mr. Vagt, for grapes. And second premium on peaches and other ectas to Mr. Earl. Our field of observation, however, has been somewhat limited, so it is possible these awards are not perfectly just, but for the first year there is no appeal.

Gold Discoveries.

Mr. Anderson a week or two since accidentally discovered a ledge of gold ore, on Big Pine creek, about five miles above Naylor's store. Subsequently other parties located what is probably an extension, and now work is going on in two places. So far as developed, it is extraordinarily rich, about four feet in width, and every indication of permanency. If the new discovery is as represented, it is certainly a huge thing. Placer mining has been carried on near this point to a considerable extent for several years.

Another Reduction.

The Messrs. Loomis Bros., of Lone Pine, this week announce a still greater reduction in the price of staple groceries, with corresponding low rates for everything else. The Messrs. Loomis are live men, and know a thing or two about letting people know what they are doing.

Being Arranged.

We understand that the subject of Fall races, is being agitated by sporting men of the Valley, who are anxious to try the speed of their respective horses. We will endeavor to give some particulars next week.

A Daily Line.

We are pleased to announce that Mr. Earl has put on a daily stage to run from this place to Lone Pine and Cerro Gordo. Until further notice stages will leave Independence at 5 o'clock and Cerro Gordo at 9 o'clock every morning, Sundays excepted.

Real Estate.

P. Reddy, Esq., has purchased the well-known ranch of J. G. Payne, adjoining Independence, paying therefore the low figure of $1,000.

Messrs. Rothschilds & Co. have just received a heavy stock of Bacon. See advertisement.

—"It is a popular fiction," says Miss E. Stuart Phelps, "that men leave sewing to women because it is light, healthful and easy. It is an unpopular fact that it is so exhausting to the nervous force, and so unique in its demands upon the patience, that men will not touch it." But men do touch it, to a great extent. The masculine tailors in New York number thousands, and they do the best sewing, especially of that heavy kind necessary in coats and other articles of men's apparel.

—A visitor at the White Hills says New Hampshire wou'd be as large as Illinois were it only flat; but it is drawn up into all manner of folds, and creases and plats, and made a perfect tumble of, and then is tucked away in one corner where nobody would think of looking for it.

—"Mother," said a little girl who was engaged in making her doll an apron, "I believe I will be a duchess when I grow up." "How do you ever expect to become a duchess, my daughter?" her mother asked. "Why, by marrying a Dutchman, to be sure," replied the girl.

He gives the following as the text of the famous letter he addressed to Emperor Napoleon:

"Sire: Rather than be imprisoned at Sedan I have decided to force the line extended before the positions occupied by Gen. Lebrun and Gen. Ducrot. Let your Majesty place yourself in the middle of your troops. They will hold in an honor to open a passage for you." He adds that while he was preparing for the combat he suddenly discovered a flag of truce over Sedan. Had the Emperor followed his counsel a large portion of the army might have broken through. Mr. Allison on Mining.

We give place to the following, which we find in the Alpine Miner of a late date, because it contains good sound sense, as applicable to this locality as that for which it was written:

That large-hearted and deep-thinking gentleman and eloquent divine, Rev. Mr. Allison, who visited our town a few weeks since, has written a letter to the Daily Wisconsin, of Milwaukee, on "Mining in the West," from which we extract the following:

"As a large number of the people of this country of all classes are interested in the subject of mines, I have taken considerable pains to post myself on all that relates to the subject in the West, especially in Nevada and California. The following are some of the conclusions to which I have come:

First. There are, no doubt, vast quantities of the precious metals in the mountains of the Sierra Nevada.

Second. Well directed labor will generally meet with an adequate return in mining.

Third. Skill and scientific knowledge are requisite to successful mining.

Fourth. An essential requisite in mining is capital.

Twenty years ago luck was everything; to-day, skill and science have taken the place of chance, and although these may sometimes be baffled, yet in the long run they are sure to win.

The first gold discovered in California was by accident, and this circumstance for a long time led to promiscuous and blind prospecting. Now the experienced miner knows where to look for silver and gold, and he generally knows how much is to be found in a given locality. The difficulty is not so much to trace the metal as to extract and reduce the ore when found. Sometimes, it is true, tunneling is commenced in the wrong place, and expensive works must be abandoned, and money lost in fruitful operations, but generally patience and a judicious expenditure are rewarded with success.

Private individuals seldom undertake mining operations in these days. The work is done by companies, and if these companies keep their stock out of the gambling rings and use their funds faithfully, in tunneling, ditching and smelting, there is no difficulty in finding metal in the mountains. The chief enemies of mining are gambling operations in stock and rash investments. Let the stockholders, upon the formation of a company, satisfy themselves that the locality is good, and that the mine is bona fide property. Then let them elect good reliable business men to conduct their financial operations, and a good practical man to oversee the work, and then go ahead. If there be patience, in nine cases out of ten the stock will pay well, and in some cases it will pay amazingly.

History.

During the Crimean war there was a little scandal about Prince Menschikoff, in which a pink satin bonnet was concerned. After one of the Russian reverses, it was announced that the Prince's travelling carriage had fallen into the hands of the allies, and that inside the vehicle, among various articles appertaining to a lady's toilet, was found the interesting item in question. As pink satin bonnets are not usually taken to battle-fields without wearers, some obvious inferences were drawn from the discovery—as in the case of the white satin shoe found in the carriage of Napoleon I under similar circumstances—and Prince Menschikoff was classed among those "sad" men who do merry things. More than sixteen years have since elapsed, and the incident has found a permanent place in history. But in a work just published, called "Turkish Harems and Circassian Homes," we find an explanation of the affair, and history happens to be wrong in this as in more important instances. It appears that Mrs. Harvey, the writer of the book referred to, made the acquaintance while in the Crimea, of a Mdlle. M——, a very charming lady between sixty and seventy years of age and learned from her that she was the owner of both the carriage and the bonnet, with which Prince Menschikoff had nothing whatever to do. The vehicle, it seems, had been packed up to go to Simpheropol, but was found too heavy for the hurried flight that ensued, and so was abandoned to its fate. Here is another example of how history is written—on the foundation of special correspondence.

—A white man, running for office in South Carolina, sought to propitiate a colored voter with whisky. "Well, yes sah," said constituent. "I don't care ef I duz. 'Sides in dese times a white candidate is jest as good as a colored voter, specially when the colored voter is dry."

—A young gentleman of Chicago fell in love with a hotel waiter girl, but love fled from that once fond heart when he found the "sweet little thing" cutting her toe nails with a butter knife in the kitchen.

—A New York paper speaks of a popular steamship commander as a "working old salt," and The New Orleans Times wonders if he beats old "Epsom."

—New York and the New England States together have almost one-third of the cities in the United States.

—The late war and the Communist revolt have caused a great scarcity of skilled artisans in Paris.

—Professor Huxley has discovered that artists are the highest type of humanity.

—Starch and flour are made from horse-chestnuts in France.

PROBATE NOTICE.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT IN PURSUANCE of the order of the Probate Court of the County of Los Angeles, State of California, made August 17th, 1871, in the matter of the estate of H. J. Yarrow, deceased, the undersigned, Administrator of said estate, will sell at private sale, to the highest bidder for cash, the lot of land first described in one parcel and the mining interests either in one parcel or in subdivisions, and subject to confirmation by said Probate Court, on TUESDAY, THE NINETEENTH DAY OF SEPTEMBER, 1871, at 2 o'clock P. M., at the office of Glassell, Chapman & Smith, attorneys at law, in the city of Los Angeles, County and State aforesaid, all the right, title and interest that the said deceased had at the time of his death, or that his estate has by operation of law or otherwise acquired since his death, in and to the following described real estate, to-wit:

1. That certain lot of land situate in the city and county of Los Angeles, State of California, north of the Catholic church in said city, bounded north by the tile roofed house and lot of land formerly belonging to Juan Sanchez, deceased, east by Main street, south by the house of Macedonio Aguilar and the lot formerly belonging to Juan Apolinaza, and on the west by New High street.

The following mining interests in Lone Pine mining district, Inyo county, State of California, to-wit:

1. The interest of the deceased in the mines, leads, lodes, privileges and mining claims, land, mill and all other real estate belonging to the Wolfskill & Servantes Mining Company:
2. 40 feet in the "Asia" or "Bandera" lode.
3. 85 feet in the "Albertina" lode.
4. 304½ feet in the "Queen City" lode.
5. 25 feet in the "Gran Poder" lode.

Being all the right, title and interest of said deceased in said lodes.

TERMS AND CONDITIONS OF SALE—Cash in United States gold coin; ten per cent of the purchase money payable on the day of sale; balance on confirmation of sale by said Probate Court.

Bids or offers shall be in writing, and may be left at the offices of Glassell, Chapman & Smith aforesaid, or may be delivered personally to the undersigned, at his place of business in the city of Los Angeles, or may be filed in the office of the Clerk of said Probate Court, at any time after the first publication of this notice and before the making of said sale.

Application for Patent.

NOTICE NO. 6.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE, REGISTER'S OFFICE, Aurora, Nevada, August 16th, 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT JOHN B. WINTERS, Superintendent of the Kearsarge Mining Company, on behalf of said company, has this day filed in this office a diagram and notice of application for patent from the United States, under Act of Congress approved July 26, 1866, for one thousand, eight hundred feet in length of the "KEARSARGE LODE," with a surface width of fifty feet on each side of the lode. Said lode supposed to be nine hundred feet in width, which belongs to the Kearsarge Mining Company, a corporation; adjoining on the East end the extension claims of James R. Wall, J. R. Hughes and G. W. Brady, and on the West end the extension claims of R. M. Shaw, J. B. Rowley and John Clarke, situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. Notice is further given that they intend to apply for and have embraced in the said patent together and in connection with the "Kearsarge Lode," the land on which the Kearsarge mill is erected, together with a sufficient space of land around said mill for the convenient use of said mill; also the Water Rights of said Kearsarge Mining Company on Little Pine Creek. The property sought to be patented together with the said "Kearsarge Lode" is known as the "Kearsarge Mill Site and Water Claim on Little Pine Creek," and is described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a stump, it being the N. E. corner of what is known as McCormick, Kittleson, Cornell and Hill's cabin, 24 links from Pine Creek, from which a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears N. ½ deg. E. distant 62 links, also a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears S. 58½ deg. E. distant 64 links, thence N. 25½ deg. E. distant 4 chains to a tree blazed and marked as follows: Blazed on three sides and notched toward the creek and marked "Head of the Kearsarge Mining Company's Ditch," thence N. 62½ deg. W. to the foot of the main mountain, thence N. 27½ deg. E. distant 21 rods, thence S. 62½ deg. E. to a stone mound on the opposite side of the creek, thence S. 27½ deg. W. along the East side of Pine Creek to a point opposite to and to place of beginning. And also all the water, water rights and privileges found upon or in any manner belonging to said tract of land—situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. All of which is more particularly described by the diagrams and notices posted in this office and on the claim.

A NOTE FROM JOSEPH CALDWELL TO JOHN N. EWING, for $170 has been found on the street in Independence. The owner can have the same by calling at this office and paying for this notice.

"MUCH IN LITTLE."

Of all the quartern loaf,
By eager flagers cleft,
The daily bread for which we pray,
But one small slice is left.

A morsel quite despised
By all the household throng,
And yet enough to bring back life,
Or make a weak heart strong.

A dozen tiny seeds
Lay scattered on the floor;
We never stoop to pick them up,
Because they are no more;

But some sweet mother bird
Will bear them to her young,
And then send forth her song of praise
With clear and silvery tongue.

Despise not God's least gifts,
Though light they seem to be;
A small beginning yet may bring
An ending great to thee!

Flying Fish.

[From Appleton's Journal.]

Flying is so much associated in our minds with the usual denizens of the air that the idea of flying fishes seems a contradiction. Nevertheless, some fishes possess that power, the fins being transformed into wings, with which they are enabled to rise for a few seconds. These wings, however, are neither long nor powerful, for it rather acts the part of a parachute than wings. The distinguishing character of the Exocœtus, or flying fish, are the pectoral fins, nearly the length of the body, the head flattened above and on the sides, the lower part of the body furnished with a longitudinal series of carinated scales on each side, the dorsal fin placed above the anal, the eyes large, and the jaws furnished with small, pointed teeth.

These flying fishes in their own element are harassed by attacks of other inhabitants of the ocean, and, when under the excitement of fear, they take to the air, they are equally exposed to the attacks of aquatic birds, especially the various species of gulls. We have said that, in their leap from the water, their fins sustain them rather as parachutes than wings, with which they beat the air. Mr. Bennett's description is very clear on this point. "I have never," he says, "been able to see any percussion of the pectoral fins during flight; and the greatest length of time I have seen this volatile fish on the fly has been thirty seconds by the watch, and the longest flight, mentioned by Captain Basil Hall, has been two hundred yards, but he thinks that subsequent observation has extended the space. The usual hight of their flight, as seen above the surface of the water, is from two to three feet, but I have known them to come on board at the hight of fourteen feet and upward. And they have been well ascertained to have come into the chains of a line-of-battle ship, which is considered to be upward of twenty feet. But it must not be supposed that they have the power of raising themselves into the air after having left their native element; for, on watching them, I have often seen them fall much below their elevation at which they first rose from the water; nor have I in any instance seen them rise from the hight to which they first sprang, for I conceive the elevation which they take depends wholly on the power of the first spring."

This fish is the common prey of the more voracious fishes, such as the shark, and the sea birds; its enemies abound in the air and in the water. If it succeeds in escaping the Charybdis of the water, the chances are in favor of its coming to grief in the Scylla of the atmosphere; if it escapes the jaws of the shark, it will probably fall to the share of the sea-gull. The dolphin is also a formidable enemy to the much-persecuted flying fish. Captain Basil Hall gives a very animated description of their mode of attack. He was in a prize, a low Spanish schooner, rising not above two feet and a half out of the water. "Two or three dolphins had ranged past the ship in all their beauty. The ship in her progress through the water had put up a shoal of these little things (flying fish), which took their flight to windward. A large dolphin which had been keeping company with us abreast of the weather gangway at the depth of two or three fathoms, and as usual glistening most beautifully in the sun, no sooner detected our poor dear friends take wing than he turned his head toward them, darted to the surface, and leaped from the water with a velocity little short, as it seemed to us, of a cannon ball. But though the impetus with which he shot himself into the air gave him an initial velocity greatly exceeding that of the flying fish, the start which his fated prey had got enabled them to keep ahead of him for a considerable time. The length of the dolphin's first spring could not be less than ten yards, and after he fell we could see him gliding like lightning through the water for a moment when he again rose and shot upward with considerable greater velocity than at first, and, of course, to a still greater distance. In this manner the merciless pursuer seemed to stride along the sea with fearful rapidity, while his brilliant coat sparkled and flashed in the sun quite splendidly. As he fell headlong in the water at the end of each leap, a series of circles were sent far over the surface, for the breeze, just enough to keep the royals and topgallant studding sails extended, was hardly felt as yet below. The group of wretched flying fishes, thus hotly pursued, at length dropped into the sea; but we were rejoiced to observe that they merely touched the top of the swell and instantly set off again in a fresh and even more vigorous flight. It was particulary interesting to observe that the direction they took now was quite different from the one in which they had set out, implying but too obviously that they had detected their enemy, who was following them with giant steps along the waves and was gaining rapidly upon them. His pace, indeed, was two or three times as fast as theirs, poor little things! and the greedy dolphin was fully as quick sighted; for, whenever they varied their flight in the smallest degree, he lost not the tenth part of a second in shaping his course so as to cut off the chase; while they, in a manner really not unlike that of the hare, doubled more than once upon the pursuer. But it was soon plainly to be seen that the confidence and strength of the flying-fish were fast ebbing; their flights became shorter and shorter, and their course more fluttering and uncertain, while the leaps of the dolphin seemed to grow more vigorous at each bound. Eventually this skillfull sea sportsman seemed to arrange his springs so as to fall just under the very spot on which the exhausted flying fish were about to drop. This catastrophe took place at too great a distance for us to see from the deck what had happened; but, on mounting high on the rigging, we may be said to have been in at the death; we then could discover that the unfortunate little creatures, one after another, either popped right into the dolphin's jaws as they lighted on the water, or were snapped up instantly after."

—A company in San Francisco with considerable capital is being organized to work some newly discovered coal mines in the Aleutian islands.

A Remarkable Ghost Story.

Lord Brougham, in his recently published auto-biography, gives an account of a trip he made to Norway, and relates how, on a cold day in Norway, he arrived at an hotel which had the unusual luxury of a bath room. He says: "Tired with the cold of yesterday, I was glad to take advantage of a hot bath before I turned in. And here a most remarkable thing happened to me—so remarkable I must tell the story from the beginning. After I left the high school, I went with G——, my most intimate friend, to attend the classes in the university. There was no divinity class, but we frequently in our walks speculated upon many grave subjects, among them, on the immortality of the soul, and a future state. This question, and the possibility, I will not say of ghosts walking, but of the dead appearing to the living, were subjects of much speculation; and we actually committed the folly of drawing up an agreement, written in our blood, that whichever of us died the first should appear to the other, and thus solve any doubts we had entertained of the 'life after death.' After we had finished our classes at the college, G——went to India, having got an appointment there in the civil service. He seldom wrote to me, and after the lapse of a few years I had almost forgotten him; moreover, his family having little connection with Edinburgh, I seldom saw or heard anything of them, or of him through them, so that all the school boy intimacy had died out, and I had nearly forgotten his existence. I had taken, as I have said, a warm bath; and while lying in it and enjoying the comfort of the heat, after the late freezing I had undergone, I turned my head around, looking toward the chair on which I had deposited my clothes, as I was about to get up out of the bath. On the chair sat G——, looking at me! How I got out of the bath I know not, but on recovering my senses I found myself sprawling on the floor. The apparition, or whatever it was that I had taken for the likeness of G——, had disappeared. This vision produced such a shock, that I had no inclination to talk about it, or to speak about it even to Stuart; but the impression was too vivid to be easily forgotten, and so strongly was I affected by it that I have here written down the whole history, with the date, 19th December, and all the particulars as they are now fresh before me. No doubt I had fallen asleep; and that the appearance presented so distinctly to my eyes was a dream, I can not for a moment doubt; yet for years I had had no communication with G——, nor had there been anything to recall him to my recollection; nothing had taken place during our Swedish travels either connected with G——, or with India, or with anything relating to him, or any member of his family. I recollected quickly enough our old discussion and the bargain we had made. I could not discharge from my mind the impression that G—— must have died, and that his appearance to me was to be received by me as proof of a future state; yet all the while I felt convinced the whole was a dream; and so painfully vivid and so unfading was the impression, that I could not bring myself to talk or make the slighest allusion to it. I finished dressing, and, as we had agreed to make an early start, I was ready by 6 o'clock, the hour of our early breakfast.

"BROUGHAM, October 16, 1862.—I have just been copying out from my journal the account of this strange dream: Certissima mortis imago! And now, to finish the story, begun above sixty years since: Soon after my return to Edinburgh there arrived a letter from India, announcing G——'s death, and stating that he had died on the 19th of December."

Letters of Reccommendation.

A gentleman advertised for a boy to assist him in his office, and nearly fifty applicants presented themselves to him. Out of the whole number, he in a short time selected one and dismissed the rest.

"I should like to know," said a friend, "on what ground you selected that boy, who had not a single reccommendation?"

You are mistaken," said the gentleman, "he had a great many. He wiped his feet when he came in, and closed the door after him, showing that he was careful. He gave up his seat instantly to that lame, old man, showing he was kind and thoughtful. He took off his cap when he came in, and answered my questions promptly and respectfully, showing he was polite and gentlemanly. He picked up the book which I had purposely laid upon the floor, and replaced it upon the table, while all the rest stepped over it or shoved it aside; and he waited quietly for his turn, instead of pushing and crowding, showing that he was honest and orderly. When I talked with him, I noticed that his clothes were carefully brushed, his hair in nice order, and his teeth as white as milk; and when he wrote his name, I noticed that his finger nails were clean, instead of being tipped with jet, like that handsome little fellow's in the blue jacket. Don't you call those letters of recommendation? I do, and I would give more for what I can tell about a boy by using my eyes ten minutes, than all the fine letters he can bring me."—The Little Corporal.

Robert J. Walker's Duel.

In our chapter on duelling, in last Monday's Mosaic, we omitted an amusing incident, which occurred a good many years ago between two men in Mississippi, whose names have since become historical in the annals of their country. We refer to Robert J. Walker, and Dr. William M. Gwin, Duke of Sonora. An altercation occurred between them which led to a challenge from Mr. Walker. Mr. Walker was a man of remarkably diminutive size, while the Dr. towered like a giant, with the brawn and bone of a London porter. Walker was bent on fighting, but the doctor, who was naturally a jovial and kind-hearted soul, did not feel at all aggrieved towards his adversary.

Be that as it might, the doctor accepted the challenge, and chose the Indian war-tomahawk as his weapon. the terms were so arranged that on a given day the combatants were to be posted 150 yards apart, and, at a given signal, to run past each other, like knights in a tourney, flinging their tomahawks in their course.

The doctor caused it to be bruited abroad that he practised every day in Savannah, a few miles from the town where both resided. Piqued with curiosity, Mr. Walker allowed himself to be persuaded to visit the spot surreptitiously, and view the achievements of his antagonist. Not so surreptitiously, however, that Dr. Gwin was not aware whose prying eyes were fixed upon his movements.

Measuring off 150 paces from the solitary stump of a pine tree, the doctor bounded with a spring and a yell that would have delighted Chingachook, the venerable padre of the last of the Mohegans, a grin of demoniac ferocity lighting up his strongly marked features. As he approached the stump, he projected the missile with a powerful sweep of his arm, clean up to the handle in the soft pine, and panting came to a dead halt.

There was something so ludicrously savage in all of this that Mr. Walker and his companion burst involuntary into a fit of laughter from their ambush. The laugh betrayed them; a reconciliation took place, and up to the breakiug out of the Confederate war, and it may up to Mr. Walker's death, they were fast friends.—N. O. Times.

The Indians.

Excluding the Alaska tribes, the United States Government has now charge of 288,716 Indians, who are divided into 142 different tribes or nations, and subdivided into numerous independent branches or bands. These are all embraced within 75 agencies, under the control of fifteen superintendents and under the direction of the Commissioner of Indian Affairs. The superintendencies arranged according to the Indians under their charge, are as follows: Southern, 45,430; Arizona, 32,052; Dakota, 27,921; California 21,697; New Mexico, 20,430; Montana, 19,335; Central, 18,572; Nevada, 16,220; Utah, 12,800; Washington, 12,794; Oregon, 10 975; Colorado, 7,300; Northern, 6,410; Idaho, 5,669, and Wyoming, 2,400. In addition, there are some hostile tribes, such as the Apaches and others of Arizona and New Mexico, numbering 6,000, and it is estimated that the Indians in Alaska amount to 75,000 souls. Taking all these figures, it appears that there are at least 375,000 Indians under the care of the United States. The management of these tribes has always been a source of great embarrassment and expense to the Government, and during the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1869, the cost amounted to $7,042,923. The new Indian policy, consisting in the appointment of Friendly Commissioners, and in other pacific measures, it is stated, is much less costly, the expense for the fiscal year, ending June 30, 1870, only amounting to $3,407,938.

An Episode in the Life of Harry Meiggs.

Mrs. Josslyn is a washerwoman, and works very hard for her living. In the palmy days of Harry Meiggs she deposited with him no less than $2,500, and when Meiggs and her money were gone, the time in which a woman could lay up so large a sum from the profits of her business was gone also. But she washed on and kept her head above water. Some two or three months ago, she read in The Overland Monthly, or some other publication, of how much money her old banker had made in South America by building railroads, and with a beautiful faith in human nature, which cannot be too highly commended, she embarked upon the Panama steamer and wended her way to the sultry South, where Meiggs now holds sway. She sought the millionaire in the gorgeous residence so graphically described in The Overland, and presented her bank book and told her tale. Meiggs listened, and when she had finished he handed her a check for the amount of the deposit and interest from its date to the time of payment. She departed a wealthier and happier woman, and returned by the last steamer to San Francisco; and if anybody wants to have a personal difficulty of a high character, they can secure that result in its most brilliant form by speaking unfavorably of Harry Meiggs in her presence.—S. F. Chronicle.

Information for Immigrants.

With a view to answering the frequent inquiries emanating from citizens of the various European nations respecting the quality and extent of the unoccupied lands belonging to the United States, and the manner of acquiring titles thereto, the Commissioner of the General Land Office has prepared and is about to issue a pamphlet in English, French, Swedish and German, giving in as simple a manner as practicable brief statements, first, of the form of Government of the United States; second, of our politicaf divisions; third, of the peculiarities of the soil and climate; fourth, of the the land system and manner of acquiring titles; fifth, of our naturalization laws or manner of acquiring titles; sixth, of our naturalization laws or manner of acquiring citizenship. In treating these subjects the leading features will alone be given, and each subject will be divested of all minor details and technical references, where not absolutely nesessary to a full understanding of the subject under consideration. The pamphlet is also intended to take the place of the translations of the annual reports heretofore used for distribution in Europe, which contained much matter not needed in foreign countries.

Missionaries Needed.

Missionaries are greatly needed in the town of Cadiz, Ohio. A young man stopping at a hotel there was taken with the small pox, whereupon, some of the citizens went to his room, sewed him in a blanket, and took him out through a back window, after which they placed him in a wagon and drew him to an old deserted house without roof or windows. Here they left him to the care of a negro, the rain pouring down on him the while. Of course the poor fellow died, and while his body was being thrust in a hole dug in an open field, some of the neighbors stood on the hills and shot at the men engaged in the proceeding. The negro nurse was then given his choice either to leave town or be shot; and so the people got rid of the man who was apparently the most decent inhabitant of the place.

The Road Steamer.

Thompson's Road Steamer, says The Stockton Independent of the 12th, appeared in a new role yesterday. Its appearance in our streets with two large omnibusses attached to it and filled with passengers for the race track, was novel to say the least. It proved a very speedy and effective method, however, of carrying people to the stock grounds. The speed of the machine will be tested on the race track.

Silver Brick Found.

A silver brick, worth two or three thousand dollars, was found under the ruins of Buckner & Ferrend's saloon, the day after the big fire in Virginia City. Major Ferrend, the finder, deposited it with Wells, Fargo & Co., where it awaits a claimant. Now, we have several times missed bricks of about that value but it is likely this is not one of them.

For Senator.

Hon. Cornelius Cole, present incumbent, Hon. Aaron A. Sargent, Hon. John B. Felton, Hon. David Belden and Hon. Henry Edgerton have thus far been announced as candidates for a seat in the United States Senate. So says The Spirit of the Times.

For Clerk.

Boruck, of The Spirit of the Times, and Owen, of The San Jose Mercury, are prominent candidates for Clerk of the Assembly. It is not worth our while to signify our choice between them, having delegated our vote to Tuolumne.

Bloody Affair.

Recently, at Visalia, Geo. Hall was waylaid and shot. The shooting is supposed to have been done by John Drauliard, in consequence of a difficulty over a game of cards. The wound is serious, if not fatal.

Short Stay.

Mose Black and John I. Jacks were among the prisoners that escaped from the State Prison at the recent break. They went through here in charge of Bob Stein, Sheriff of Nye county, about a week ago, on their way to Carson, having been sentenced to a term of seven years each for horse stealing. They were in jail less than a week.—Reese River Reveille.

AGRICULTURAL FAIR IN LOS ANGELES.

It will be seen from the following, which we take from The Los Angeles Star of the 16th, that our neighbors of Los Angeles are going to have a Fair of their own in the coming month. It will be seen that the five southern counties will be represented. Inyo is not one of the five southern counties—in fact, don't belong anywhere in particular, except as a sort of make-weight to Tuolumne for certain political purposes—but still, if we can claim any identification of interests, agriculturally or otherwise, with any county it must be with Los Angeles. It is to be hoped that somebody will represent us in this Fair in some suitable manner. Was it not that some of our best fruit will then be out of season we could compete well with them in that particular. If wheat of the present season equals some that was raised here last year it will certainly equal, if not excel, anything of the kind they will have there. Besides this and some other things we could name, if our miners are so disposed, our showing of minerals could be made to astonish them, and ultimately, be of much advantage to the mining interest. It is to be hoped this matter will receive the attention its importance demands:

Extensive preparations are being made for the agricultural fair and the races, which commence in this city on Tuesday, the last day of October, and continue for four days. At the grounds of the District Agricultural Society, twelve horses are already in training for the speed premiums. Forty stalls for horses, one hundred pens for cattle, and other necessary buildings are in course of construction, a grand stand with seats for twelve hundred persons is also being built; this will be a permanent affair, and is being put up in the strongest and most substantial manner under the superintendence of Mr. Babcock, the present Secretary of the Association. Wells are being dug in different parts of the grounds so as to insure an ample supply of water for stock. The estimated cost of the improvements now being made is $5,000, the expense attendant upon holding the fair will probably be over $10,000. This fair will be the first of its kind ever held in the district, and will, it is expected, be a grand success. The five southern counties will be represented.

OUR REPRESENTATION.

Some people are hard to please—always to be but never are blest. Because Tuolumne has so kindly relieved us of Legislative responsibilities, these dissatified people seem to think we—the counties of Inyo and Mono—are considered mere excrescences—warts—on the body politic, not known or recognized in State affairs. Now, this is a mistake; it's true, we were not allowed a candidate on either State ticket, nor a member in either branch of the Legislatnre, but let us be thankful for what representation we do have in a State institution—that at San Quentin. We don't claim that this institution is any more respetable than the other at Sacramento, nor that we are as well represented there as we ought to be, but we should be thankful for what we have, and console ourselves in the reflection that a full and proper delegation to San Quentin can not be much less profitable to the sage brush country than if similarly circumstanced in the other case. And here, too, let us pray that Tuolumne may receive a proportionate and merited representation in both institutions, for when that takes place we will have no trouble hereafter in running a joint election to suit ourselves. So mote it be.

The Pacific Encyclopedia.

Messrs. Bancroft & Co. are now engaged in compiling an encyclopedia of the Pacific coast which is designed to be a complete authority on all matters connected with the coast. The territory embraced within the plan extends from the Arctic Circle to the Isthmus of Panama, west of the Rocky Mountains. Besides general articles on historical, scientific, commercial and political subjects, the encyclopedia will give a full historical and descriptive sketch of every State, county, town, valley, mountain, river, etc., on the coast; and also biograpical sketches of all early settlers and prominent men. The object of this work is to transfix a mass of valuable material which is now fast fading away, and to preserve it in a suitable shape. It is a highly commendable undertaking; every person who can contribute anything in the way of facts and incidents appropriate in furtherance of this object should by all means do so. It will require years to complete the work, and as a pecuniary speculation is not expected to pay, though it will be of the geeatest value if not to this, at least to future generations. We shall refer to this work again, and often, perhaps.

Later.

Subsequent to the big fire in Virginia City, another attempt to fire the remainder was made. The timely discovery of the blazing petroleum-soaked rags prevented another conflagration.

PACIFIC COAST NEWS.

Cochise, the great Apache chief, is reported as having died recently of wounds received in a fight in Sonora. General Crook is making a treaty with Maguil, a friendly Apache, chief of the Coyoteros, who will assist the white troops in carrying on the war in Arizona.

The day before the San Joaquin Valley Fair, at Stockton, closed, warrants were issued for the arrest of some sixty gamblers who had attended. The "blacklegs got wind of the officers' intentions and cleared out.

It is reported that H. H. Byrne, District Attorney in San Francisco, will resign and allow his successor, Murphy, to be appointed immediately, he being broken down in health and desirous of traveling in Europe.

Procopio, the Mexican bandit, who was reported killed a short time since, was lately seen near Los Angeles. Supposed to be trying to escape to Sonora.

The surveying party of the Southern Coast Railroad, narrow gauge main line, are surveying a road through Soledad Pass. Another party, under Major Watson, are camped at San Fernando and will run a line to Los Angeles, thence via Tejon Pass, leaving San Bernardino to the right. They will meet Robinson's party at Savins' Station, eighty miles from Los Angeles. Robinson's party will go on to Fort Mohave and take a steamer for Fort Yuma, and then run a line from there to San Diego. Watson's party will meet them at or near San Diego. The survey left San Francisco in April last and has been on the route about six months. The line has been determined upon as far as San Luis Obispo. Probably little if any change will be made from there to Los Angeles.

A slight shock of earthquake was felt in San Bernardino, September 17, between 9 and 10 o'clock A. M.

The grape crop in most of the vineyards in San Bernardino has been contracted for. Large contracts, embracing several thousand tons, have been made at one dollar per one hundred pounds.

Subscriptions are being raised in San Bernardino to aid in the construction of a narrow guage railroad to San Diego. Over five thousand dollars has been conditionally subscribed.

Chas. F. Reed, President of the State Agricultural Society, delivered the opening address at the Fair on the 19th. The address is quite interesting, but its length precludes publication in our columns, though we shall make some reference to it soon.

EASTERN NEWS.

Two cases of cholera were reported in Perth Amboy, New Jersey, on Tuesday of last week. They were German immigrants who had probably escaped quarantine.

Fernando Wood is also among the prophets. He says the "ring" overthrow will not hurt the Democratic party of New York; and he also says Tweed should get out of the leadership of Tammany. He probably hopes for a chance at the municipal teat himself.

Mayor Hall has not yet officially recognized the late changes made in the office of City Controller. Hall offered the Controllership to William E. Warren, a Republican, after General McClellan positively declined to have anything to do with it. Connolly's course now has the approval of the best men in New York, The Times even praising him for appointing so good and trusty a man as Green for his deputy, and in giving him full power to manage the affairs of the office. Hall has withdrawn his order directing the pay bureaus of the city not to recognize the official signature of Controller Connolly or his deputy, Green. The Committee of Seventy have urged Mayor Hall to order the corporation counsel to bring suit against the ring thieves, including himself, for the recovery of the moneys they have stolen from the city. As might be expected Hall looks at it in a different light, and pays no attention to the request.

Gen. Butler has 216 delegates favorable to his nomination for Governor of Massachusetts, out of the 573 elected to attend the Convention.

THE INYO INDEPENENT comes to us this week printed on brown paper and but half-a-sheet at that, indicating that even the brown article had about given out at Independence. But notwithstanding the difficulties the proprietors have to contend with in procuring stock for their paper, it loses nothing in interest, and we are pleased with its weekly visits to our sanctum. The issue of Saturday last reminds us of the good old times in the mines, when money was plenty and whisky flowed freely whenever the boys met to enjoy life, as it chronicles several pistol and bowie-knife fights as occurring on the evening of election day. We should think from the showing that the people of Inyo were quite a thriving community.—San Joaquin Valley Argus.

GREAT FIRE IN VIRGINIA CITY.

The most destructive fire ever witnessed in Virginia City, Nevada, some account of which we published last week, broke out on the afternoon of the 19th. The Gold Hill News, of the 20th, says of the burnt district:

Commencing at the Virginia Planing Mill on D street, the conflagration extended to E street as its eastern boundary, to Smith street on the south, Taylor street on the north, and sweeping across D, C and B streets, it passed to A street, destroying two or three houses on the west side of A street. In no place did it cross Taylor street, although the danger was very imminent in several points. The large brick buildings along that street, especially that of Black & Brothers, extending from C through to D street, formed a valuable barrier in that respect. The extent southward we have already indicated. Within the burnt district the only building of either wood, stone or brick left undestroyed is the one occupied by Kelly & Lowenstein.

This includes the larger portion of the business part of the city. The loss will foot but little if any less than $800,000. Wells, Fargo & Co's express office was on fire at one time, but was saved without material damage. There was no loss of life at this fire, though a number of the firemen were badly scorched.

Going On.

The work of impanneling a jury in the case of the State vs. Fox, charged with the murder of John J. Monahan, still goes on, and from present indications the entire list of jurors in the county will be exhausted without a jury being obtained. About 150 jurors have thus far been obtained and still the panel is not full, while three peremptory challenges remain to be exercised by counsel. From present appearances it is not impossible that a change of venue will have to be granted. Quite a little incident occurred during the examination of a witness yesterday. Judge Pitzer, for the prosecution, asked the juror whether he belonged to an organizanation here known as the "Citizen's Protective Association," to which he replied, "I do." The Judge then proceeded to ask him what the objects, etc., of the association were. These questions the witness flatly refused to answer, and he was then, of course, challenged by Judge Pitzer, which was objected to by Thornton and Perley, for the defense. The case was, after argument, submitted to the triers, one of whom, in order to refresh his memory, as he said, asked the juror what he had said was the name of the organization. The triers retired and returned with a verdict sustaining the challenge. Col. Thornton then made a motion to question the trier who had asked the juror the question, on the ground that he had shown partiality in rendering the verdict. The trier was questioned and stated his reasons for asking the question of the juror as above. The triers then tendered their resignations and insisted on them being accepted, on the ground that as the defense had impeached one for partiality shown, he had cast the reflection on all. The resignations were unwillingly accepted and they were discharged. Much interest is taken in the case by the public, and the Court room is crowded daily.—Pioche Record, September 14th

Terrible Explosion at Pioche, Nevada—Destructive Fire and Loss of Life.

Pioche City was almost entirely destroyed by fire on the night of September 15th. The Ely Record publishes an extra giving the following:

Last night, between 11 and 12 o'clock, a destructive fire broke out in the rear of Lagrue's restaurant, which destroyed nearly all of Pioche. It is impossible in this hastily gotten up report to give full particulars, but it is safe to estimate the loss at between $200,000 and $300,000, on which there is scarcely a dollar's worth of insurance. The fire was as nothing compared with the loss of the killed and wounded which followed in the wake of the fire fiend. Felsenthal & Co. had 300 kegs of powder in what was supposed to have been a fire-proof cellar, and about 2 o'clock the whole mass exploded, killing six and wounding thirty-one. Several lesser magazines in the rear of stores exploded at a later hour. It is impossible to describe the terror and consternation which prevailed during and after the explosion. Men, women and children rushed about in all directions seeking lost relatives and friends. Houses were thrown down and shattered, and the cries of the wounded and the dying were pitiful in the extreme. The following is a list of the wounded as obtained up to 8 o'clock this A. M: H. D. Beene, John Cullen, Harvey Rice, Jim Waters, Bartholomew Noonan, John Farley, Robert Watts, Archy Mulhern, John Daiken, Charley Williams, Miler Quellan, Wm. Ryan, H. G. Tabler, Robert Shannon, David Noonan, David Nagle, John Dauherty, Miss Gary, Mrs. Hanerhan, French Charley, Mike Fahey, Rosie Stein, A. Raney, Fred Haskin, Wm. Stevens, Phil Richards, Wm. H. King, Thomas Kendall, Chris. Schultz, W. S. Cotton and Dennis Sullivan, all of whom were either injured by falling rocks or jarred by the concussion or burned. Many of the wounded will die. There are more injured but we are unable at present to give particulars. The following persons were killed; Jeremiah Kirby, James Agnew, Ira Sand, Wm. Dodds, Mike Sheehan, and one other burned so that he cannot be recognized.

LATER—Six hundred thousand dollars is now stated as the loss by the late fire in Pioche, Nevada. Several more persons are added to the list of the wounded by the magazine explosion.

In the Wilderness.

Owens Valley, down in Inyo county, California, away down south from Gold Hill, at least 250 miles, where the rich Kearsarge and Silver Sprout mines are located, is a very isolated country—at least 150 miles from any telegraph lines, with a stage line once or perhaps twice a week. The editors of THE INDEPENDENT (who by the way have had the "yaller janders" in their paper for a whole month), are sorely vexed at not hearing the result of the late election in California, and especialy in their own Assembly District—Tuolumne and Inyo.—Gold Hill News

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

About Crops.

We paid a visit to Mr. Vagt's fine farm, just beyond Camp Independence, a few days since. We saw good crops of corn growing on ground from which a crop of hay had been previously cut the present season; also, a most luxuriant growth of alfalfa produced from low ground which, previous to plowing, was literally white with alkali efflorescence. Indeed, from the excess of alkali shown on this piece of ground we doubt whether any crop but alfalfa could be grown upon it at all. For this purpose it is equal to the best. A large number of hogs are alternatively pastured on two small fields of clover, a change from one to the other being made about once every two weeks. The two weeks undisturbed growth, after being pastured down, is sufficient to produce a good crop of hay; so that considering the great amount of pasturage it affords, its hardy growth, particularly upon otherwise worthless alkali soils, this grass is deserving general attention from farmers and dairymen. We may mention here, however, that black alkali lands are not fit for this clover, or perhaps any other crop. The essential conditions of farming here in this valley vary somewhat as do those of mining, different localities requiring different processes, or at least, similar methods do not produce similar results. The best results can only be attained by systematic experimenting, each farmer for himself, although, a general interchange of opinions, by means of a farmers' club, could not fail to be benificial to all. The peculiarities of soil, climate, means, methods and times of irrigating, and other things of this character common to farming in this valley, offer a field for profitable investigation, which is best done through an association. Mr. Vagt has a number of varieties of grapes, peaches and other fruits, all producing remarkably well. His grapes are as large and juicy as those of any other part of the State, but not so sweet. His peach trees were literally loaded with fruit of the best quality; and altogether, we know of no reason why this section may not be ranked as firstrate for fruit of all kinds, and also, as evinced by the number of chickens, ducks and hogs to be seen about Mr. Vagt's farm, no less for the production of these kinds of small deer.

Windy.

The weather has been unusually windy for the past week, and the nights are quite cool—at least we were so informed, early the other morning, by a shivering hombre, who had just arisen from his airy couch in front of this establishment, where he had passed the night, sans blankets, sans ceremonie, sans "kivering" of all kinds, save, as Mrs. Partington would say, the broad "canister" of heaven. Through chattering teeth he informed us that he had the evening before "got belated on his route home; didn't precisely know where his home had got to; didn't feel very well; thought he'd camp, and wait till it came around; awful cold, you bet."

New Store.

We have this advice to offer to all the gents who contemplate committing matrimony, as well as others who have no such ideas, but who like to make a respectable appearance: If you want either a medium, ordinary or tip top suit of clothes made to order, and warranted to fit ordinary forms, rotundities or angularities, call on Messrs Wood & Cohen. They have just opened a merchant tailoring, gents' furnishing and general dry goods store, in the Masonic building; these gentlemen are both practical workman, have an eye to a permanent business, therefore, satisfaction is guaranteed in all they undertake.

Departures.

As an offset to the numerous new arrivals we have to note the departure recently of several families from this place. H. C. Morse and family have started for Humboldt Bay, but expect to return. Frank Parker and family return to the State of Maine, out of considerations of health. J. G. Payne and family have gone to Los Angeles. Gen. Winters and family return to Virginia City. Altogether quite an exodus of families for our little town.

Improvements.

This town is making a very good showing in the way of substantial improvements. A number of new residences have been built, as well as additions to old ones. The Masonic Hall is now complete, except upholstering on the upper floor. Mr. Rowley, "wich is P. M.," has well under way a neat building, to be used as a store and postoffice, and close along side, Louis Schnieder is building a similar one, to be used as a business house.

The "Boomerang."

That accomplished bar keep, B. P. Tasker, has located at Swansea and opened out the "Boomerang" in first class style, purely for the accommodation of all dusty, weary and thirsty travelers and local residents. Give Tasker a call and he'll explain the whole thing

THE MURDERERS' BLOODY TRAIL.

As is usual with fleeing criminals, a number of the heinous murderers who escaped from the Nevada Prison, have made our isolated territory the line of their flight. We are fortunate in being able to present, out of the many rumors afloat, a pretty straight story of the actual facts connected with the movements of different pursuing parties and the details of the fatal affair in Monte Diablo Canyon. These details we have from the Junior of this paper, he being one of the party that went from this place, all but one of whom are yet in the field.

A letter from Aurora states that on Wednesday, the 20th instant, four of the convicts passed in sight of that place. It was soon ascertained that Billy Poor, the pony rider, had been captured by them and forced to accompany them. A party consisting of Deputy Sheriff Palmer, J. S. Mooney, P. Kelly, Ned Barker, Horace Poor, —— Lewis, John McCue and some half a dozen others whose names we did not ascertain, started in pursuit about 9 o'clock the same evening. After a long detour toward Mono Lake they eventually struck the trail of the fleeing convicts in or near Adobe Meadows. They soon found conclusive evidence that young Poor was yet alive, and making mute appeals for help destined never to reach him—his gloves were found at different points and, further on, his collar!

The following day an Indian informed them that the convicts were encamped in a canyon some five miles distant, near Dexters. It is stated, and no doubt was the case, that the pursuers were much fatigued and their animals worn out; but here seems to have been a bad break in not pushing out. Mr. Poor, the poor boy's brother, begged them, for God's sake, to make the effort, but none, save Mr. Mooney, were willing to go. Sheriff Palmer, of Esmeralda, then addressed a note, dated Adobe Meadows, September 22, to Deputy Sheriff Hightower, at Hot Springs, to the following effect:

"Four or five escaped convicts from the Nevada State Prison are now concealed in the hills back of this place, and they are undoubtedly striking for Long Valley. If you can raise a posse, and go there, you will surely intercept them. I think they will travel to-night. We have tracked them beyond a doubt to this place. They have, I think, four animals which must be nearly given out. They have taken with them Billy Poor, the pony rider, for their own protection; should you go, be careful not to injure him. My men are very much fatigued, and some taken sick, or I would be riding to-night. There is a reward of $500 for each, dead or alive; send me an answer immediately, as I expect to start early in the morning. If you think it more advisable to join me here, use your own discretion, but if you do anything not a moment is to be lost." Upon the reception of this note, Henry Devine and Mr. McLaughlin started almost immediately for Adobe Meadows, leaving Mr. Morrison and George Hightower to come on with their party in the morning, the first two taking all the available fire arms in the place. Upon finally gathering at Hightower's mill, the party consisted of Morrison, Hightower, Devine, J. C. Calhoun, B. B. Alonson, —— Moore, James Dougherty, George Dougherty, I. Nabors, —— Nesbitt, James Peregrine. After taking dinner the party waited two hours for the arrival of the Aurora party; finding that Charley Jones, one of the convicts, had been to this mill the day previous and obtained some bread, meat and salt.

About 2 o'clock in the afternoon, the party, mounted, went up the canyon about two miles, where they struck the trail. This they followed some 18 miles southward into Long Valley, where they caught sight of the men, Mr. Morrison himself being the first to see them. It now being night, the party went to the house of Mr. McGee, and remained till morning when they proceeded to the canyon, some six miles distant. Following the trail up the canyon about a mile they came upon the felons, and then quickly ensued a scene, the heartrending details of which we write with a sorrowful heart.

We give them in the exact words of one of the participants in the terrible affair: "Some hundred yards up the canyon a man was seen running down a hillside, and we immediately spurred forward our horses; suddenly we found ourselves directly in front of their camp, not more than forty feet distant—we directly in the canyon and they on the hillside, in a clear spot among the willows. They all three of them retreated to a large tree, and dodged behind it. At the same moment one of their number came down to them from a short distance above. Just as the first two had reached the tree they fired on us, while we shot almost simultaneously at the man going up. Their shots struck four of our horses, killing outright those ridden by Nabors and Calhoun, and wounding those of Nesbith and Alberson. Our party fell back to the willows for shelter, some of us directly under them and the rest a little down the canyon. For twenty minutes shots were exchanged; Morrison must have been shot at the first fire. However non of us know, as he was not seen to fall, and none of us know exactly where he was killed. I think he was first wounded at the begininig of the fight and attempted to go up the hill to get position, but then received the fatal wound. The convicts then passed up the canyon, shielded by the willows, to a point about 300 yards ahead when they stopped for a time.

In the meantime, our party took three of their horses, and followed them up. We saw them go up to our guide—brave "Mono Jim"—who was on a hillside holding Hightower's horse and his own, as he was directed to do. One of them went close up to him, and as he stepped forward fired two shots from a six-shooter, killing him instantly. The man took the two horses and went on up; as they were going up we heard some one above hollowing, and in a few moments afterwards heard two more shots fired. Being so totally unmatched in point of arms we had to return. The fight resulted, as is well known, in the death of Morrison and the Indian, and in Calhoun being shot through the hand, and in losing the horses. Nesbith had a shot through his clothes across the tomach."

The party repaired to the scene of the fight and found the remains of poor Morrison. He was shot through the side, just above the hip, the ball going entirely through the body. Another shot had entered the back of the head and passed out above the right eye. After burying the Indian, the party removed Morrison's remains to McGee's ranch; from thence they were the next day conveyed to Benton.

The day following the departure of the Benton party, the letter letter given above was dispatched by a man named Watson to S. G. Sneden, at Bishop Creek. But through some inevitable miscue it was not received until some hours after the arrival of the regular stage, at noon. Then a party headed by John Clarke and John Crough started out, going up Long Valley after the murderers. At this place was also realized the same scarcity of serviceable, long ranged-guns. At this hurried writing we can not detail the long and arduous pursuit given the villians by these men; but suffice it to say that they tracked them up into a rough precipitous canyon leading out of Round Valley into the Sierra Nevadas, and pressed them so hard that they were compelled to abandon and shoot one tired horse and lose another over a precipice. From Sunday morning to Tuesday night the plucky farmers were without a mouthful to eat; their faithful Indians were dispatched to Round Valley several times for supplies, but with no success worth speaking of.

Of the operations of a Round Valley party who were out, we have been unable to learn sufficient to report, but from them the word seems to have come about the citizens corralling five of the murderers in a unapproachable canyon, where their superior guns rendered successful approach impossible.

On this report, Mr. Yaney started at once for Camp Independence and this place. On the reception of the news, Major Egbert, with promptitude of an efficient officer and true gentleman as he is, immediately selected five of his company, and, taking command himself, started to the field. At the same time he proffered guns and equipments to any desiring to go and use them, and a party of six citizens started from this place—making the trip to Bishop Creek in seven hours, including stoppages.

At the present writing (Wednesday night) the summing up of the situation is about as follows: The four outlaws are still alive and uncaptured; two are being pursued in the Sierras west of Round Valley by Major Egbert and men; Burke and his partner are being trailed and hunted across Blind Spring valley by the party from this place, and Devine and party from Hot Springs.

THE LATEST.

On Wednesday night Sherwin, Hubbard, Armstadt and McCloud, with the assistance of a Mexican and Indians, succeeded in capturing two of the convicts, Morton and Black, in the sand hills, about five miles south east of Round Valley. On taking them, a few a few shots were exchanged, when the escapes left their arms and threw up their hands as if to surrender. An Indian mistook the motion and fired, the shot taking effect a little above the left temple of the man Black, breaking the skull and passing out on the other side of the head, but, strangely enough, not killing him. Upon being assured of protection from violence at the hands of the citizens, they surrendered and were taken to Bircham's place in Round Valley.

Visiting the place, our reporter found Morton to be a very intelligent, fair looking man, almost supernaturally calm, considering that he was in such imminent peril of being lynched. Black was in a hopeless condition, although able to speak, and is, in all probability, dead at this time. Morton is a 30 year man, in for mail robbery at Toana, but all conclude he is not as bad as the company he was in. His story, and we believe it true, completely upsets all ideas hitherto entertained concerning the affair. It is impossible for us this week to give more than the substance of the most important portions of his statement. He says when the party met Poor he was ahead, the bulk of the party just behind him and Jones way in the rear. He heard a rifle shot and after awhile, Jones came up and said he was "fixed," having supplied himself with clothes and the pony rider's rig; he gave Morton the boots taken, they being too small for him (Jones). Morton, with these boots, made what were supposed to be Poor's tracks. There were six men in the party but only three in the Monte Diablo canyon fight. Roberts killed Morrison. Morton says he himself killed the Indian. He states that Jones was the leader of the party, and had said that no man should pass them to carry tidings either way; that Jones claimed to have friends here by the names of Smith and Hutchison, and that he would take them through, "but," says Morton, "he run us into a hornet's nest. I prefer being shot rather than to be taken to Carson."

During the week we shall issue an extra containing the terrible story as related by this man, and an account of the lynching which the outraged community will doubtless enact, either at Round Valley or Benton.

On the statement of Morton action was deferred, and four resolute men started for the mountains where Morrison's murderer, Roberts, was left, wounded in the shoulder and foot; and doubtless he is now in Round Valley and probably dead.

Major Egbert and men, Steve Gregg, Duncan Campbell and two men, with some thirty Indians, are in pursuit of six more convicts, tracked to Coyote Valley, in the mountains west of Big Pine.

On the authority of the prisoner Morton, there were many more of the prison breakers coming this way, so let our citizens fairly "sleep on their arms."

Need Hanging.

If we are to place reliance in some well-founded reports, there are some parties residing around the scene of the tragedy in the upper end of the county, who need some attendance at the hands of an outraged community. They not only openly avowed sympathy with the escaped cut-throats, but, it appears from their operations, made efforts to assist them. A gent at Benton thought that the death of Mr. Morrison was a good lesson, and that he would give one Burke the best horse he ever straddled to get away with. Some are charged with lending actual assistance, while still others were so selfish as to refuse to lend guns for use by their pursuers. We would gently advise these parties to haul in their horns, or this climate may not prove altogether agreeable to their health.

Sad, Indeed.

The sad fate of Robert J. Morrison, who fell at the hands of the murderers from the Nevada State Prison, is being much talked of all over the valley. Morrison was one of the earliest pioneers of Owens River, having resided at various points for six or seven years, and no man in all this country commanded more friends or was held in more universal esteem. He was engaged to be married to a young lady of Benton, who is now absent on a visit to Los Angeles. The marriage was to take place upon her return. How very, very sad will be the terrible tidings! The deceased was born in the State of New York, where his relatives now reside. He was buried at Benton on Monday last, by the Masons, of which order he was a member—a large and grief stricken circle of friends attending the solemn ceremony.

The Kearsarge.

The supply of good ore has lately ran rather short in the Kearsarge mine. Some unforeseen difficulties have also been experienced in working ores of a high assay value, but notwithstanding all these troubles, our own confidence in this mine, as well as that of others perfectly posted regarding it, is not a whit shaken. The very best of mines have temporary failures, and so far as the Kearsarge mine itself is concerned there is not, in our belief, any real cause for alarm. A couple of months may be required to verify this opinion, but it will be verified sooner or later.

A Fruitless Search.

On the strength of a report that two of the Carson convicts had passed Lone Pine early Tuesday morning, Messrs Dodd, Grant, Moffat, W. L. Moore and Mulkey started in pursuit. After a thorough search down the country without finding any traces of the scoundrels they returned the third day.

A Visitation.

A strong southerly wind, a few days sinced, wafted millions of the small flies peculiar to Owens Lake into Lone Pine. It was a flying visit, too much extended to be agreeable, although everybody took "a fly in their'n."

For a Visit.

I. W. Hunt starts in a few days for a visit to the scenes of his youth, in the "State of Pike." In the years of absence he will find many a void in the old familiar circles, we fear.

Returned

Sheriff Elder, after finally succeeding in delivering his prisoner, Brown, at the State Prison, returned to Lone Pine, a day or two since.

The Ancient Irish Soldier.

In the time of Gustavus Adolphus, a broad sheet appeared in Germany, containing pictures of some Irishmen who served in his army. From this we learn that the men wore long skirted coats reaching to the knee, a broad bonnet, a loose sleeved under coat, a girdle and full breeches; they carried arrows, swords and guns. Underneath the picture are some lines in German, bemoaning the troubles which the sins of the country had brought upon her. The Irish legionaries of the invader are described as "hardy and strong, dark colored like gypsies, short in stature, eager to fight, furnished with muskets, and skilful in the use of bows and arrows, ready to cut their way with long knives. Their clothes and caps have a barbarous appearance, almost all black; their shoes are chiefly made of, and tied on with bark of trees. They make shift with little food; if they have no bread, and are hungry, they dig roots out of the earth, with which they are easily appeased." An intelligible picture this, of rough-and-ready adventurers, always fighting, or prompt to fight.

It is Dark.

The following beautiful sentiments are from Meister Kart's sketch book, entitled "The Night of Heaven." It is full of touching tenderness: It is dark when the honest and honorable man sees the results of years swept cruelly away by the knavish and heartless adversary. It is dark when he feels the clouds of sorrow gathered around, and knows that the hopes and happiness of others are fading with his own. But in that hour the memory of past integrity will be a true consolation, and assure him even here on earth of gleams of light in Heaven. It is dark when the voice of that sweet child, once fondly loved, is no more heard in murmurs. Dark when some well known air recalls the strain once oft attuned to a childish voice now stilled in death. Darkness—but only the gloom which now heralds the dayspring of immortality, and the infinite light of Heaven.

Land in the North.

The Lassen Sage Brush reports that the surveying party who have just arrived from the country lying north of the Big Valley and the tributaries of Pitt River, say there are millions of acres of the finest lands in the world in that vicinity, and that there will be at least 2,000 people in that country this fall, all seeking permanent homes.

—"General," said a United States Senator to a distinguished official at Washington, "why do you take two drinks before breakfast? wouldn't one tone you up enough?" To which the General replied, "Senator, the reason is this, when I take one drink it always makes me feel like another man, and then, you see, I am bound by common courtesy to treat that man and so I take a second."

—An intoxicated man saw two cars passing him, the other evening, with red and blue lights in the front and rear. His fuddled brain comprehended colored lights, and he was heard to say to himself, "Must be pretty sick—sick—sickly here; they are running drug stores around on whe—wheels."

—A country clergymen paid a visit to a churlish parishioner who was on his death-bed, and said. "Are you willing to go hence, my brother?" "Well. as I must go, I suppose I might as well be willing." "That is what all your friends say," mildly responded the clergymen.

—A trio, who luckily for their purse, did not travel by weight, recently alighted at the depot in Vincennes, Indiana. They were a mother and two children; she turned the scales at 585 pounds; a sixteen-year-old boy weighed 425, and his little sister 175 pounds.

—The compiler of Thomas Jefferson's private life relates of the great physical strength of Jefferson, that standing between two hogsheads of sugar, lying on their sides, he could at the same time raise both upon their heads.

—A wise gentleman, who knew all about it, on retiring from busines, gave the following advice to his son and successor: "Common sense, my son, is valuable in all kinds of business except love-making."

—"Are the pictures which you brought home from abroad all landscapes?" said an artist to Mrs. Shoddy one day. "Bless you, no," replied the indignant lady; "they're ile paintings!"

—It is stated that a young woman in a Missouri college has beaten all the male students in the mastery of the Greek language. Just as if one tongue wasn't enough for a woman.

Application for Patent.

NOTICE NO. 6.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE, REGISTER'S OFFICE, Aurora, Nevada, August 16th, 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT JOHN B. WINTERS, Superintendent of the Kearsarge Mining Company, on behalf of said company, has this day filed in this office a diagram and notice of application for patent from the United States, under Act of Congress approved July 26, 1866, for one thousand, eight hundred feet in length of the "KEARSARGE LODE," with a surface width of fifty feet on each side of the lode. Said lode supposed to be one hundred feet in width, which belongs to the Kearsarge Mining Company, a corporation; adjoining on the East end the extension claims of James R. Wall, J. R. Hughes and G. W. Brady, and on the West end the extension claims of R. M. Shuey, J. B. Rowley and John Clarke, situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. Notice is further given that they intend to apply for and have embraced in the said patent together and in connection with the "Kearsarge Lode," the land on which the Kearsarge mill is erected, together with a sufficient space of land around said mill for the convenient use of said mill; also the Water Right of said Kearsarge Mining Company on Little Pine Creek. The property sought to be patented together with the said "Kearsarge Lode" is known as the "Kearsarge Mill Site and Water Claim on Little Pine Creek," and is described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a stump, it being the N. E. corner of what is known as McCormick, Kittleson, Cornell and Hill's cabin, 24 links from Pine Creek, from which a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears N. ½ deg. E. distant 62 links, also a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears S. 58½ deg. E. distant 64 links, thence N. 25½ deg. E. distant 4 chains to a tree blazed and marked as follows: Blazed on three sides and notched toward the creek and marked "Head of the Kearsarge Mining Company's Ditch," thence N. 62½ deg. W. to the foot of the main mountain, thence N. 27½ deg. E. distant 91 rods, thence S. 62½ deg. E. to a stone mound on the opposite side of the creek, thence S. 27½ deg. W. along the East side of Pine Creek to a point opposite to and to place of beginning. And also all the water, water rights and privileges found upon or in any manner belonging to said tract of land—situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. All of which is more particularly described by the diagrams and notices posted in this office and on the claim.

How Bank-note Paper is Made.

[From The Boston Transcript.]

My wanderings in Philadelphia and its vicinity took me to Glen Mills, and to the mill in which is made the peculiar paper for the United States legal tender notes, fractional currency, bonds, etc.

Glen Mills are situated on Chester Creek, a small stream which empties into the Delaware at Chester, I believe.

The Messrs. Wilcox, proprietors of the mills and contractors for furnishing the above named paper, are paper-makers by inheritance, being descendents of the fourth or fifth generation from Thomas Wilcox, one of the first if not the first, paper-maker in the country. In 1730 Thomas Wilcox settled at Ivy Mills, about three miles distant from Glen Mills, and where Mark Wilcox, the oldest of the present generation, still resides, and where is still standing the small, ivy-covered mill in which bank-note paper was for a long time made.

For three generations bank-note paper has been a speciality with the Wilcox family. The paper for a large part of the Continental issues was made at the Ivy mill; so, also, was the first paper used by the Bank of North America, of Philadelphia, the oldest banking institution in the country.

The old mill has been abandoned for some time, and the business has been transferred to Glen Mills.

An introduction to Mr. Bemis, the United States Superintendent, gained for me admission to the mill, and under guard I visited all parts of it.

My first visit was to the boiler-room, where, in a large rotary boiler, the stock of which the paper is made (new linen) is boiled for hours with lime to extract the color and glutin.

From the boiler room we proceeded to the engine room. Here the stock, after it has been sufficiently boiled under a steam pressure of sixty pounds, goes into the washing engine. It is then ground or beaten about twelve hours in the washing engine. At first water is let in at the bottom of the engine, and is taken out at the top by a revolving cylinder covered with a wire cloth which process goes on till the dirt and the color, as far as it can be done by linen and water, is removed. Other chemicals are then added, and the "half stuff," as the substance is then called, is thrown into vats, where it is allowed to drain and bleach.

From these vats it goes into the beating engine, where by a long process of grinding or beating it is reduced to a fine pulp or "stuff," as it is termed. Great care is taken, I am informed, that the fibre of linen is not cut short during the process of grinding, the object being to beat it into its finest parts rather than to cut it short, as is done with book and writing paper. It is that which gives to bank-note paper its peculiar strength and bladdery appearance.

At this stage of the process the "distributive fibre," is introduced. Through the whole body of the paper, a long and comparatively coarse red fibre may be discovered. It is a substance generally supposed to be silk—it is not silk—what it is, I was not informed. It is cut in lengths of about an inch, and weighed into the beating engine, a short time before the beating is completed. When the stuff is fine enough, it is let down by a valve at the bottom of the engine, to the stuff chest in the machine room.

The "localized fibre" is prepared in essentially the same way, and is usually of blue color—this is let down to a separate chest on the machine. The stuff, or pulp, containing the distributive fibre, passes on to the machine in the usual way, while that containing the localized fibre, by an ingenious contrivance, invented and patented by James M. Wilcox, is made to flow in continuous parallel lines, through the whole length of the continuous sheet. These lines are so contrived as to bring the localized fibre into a particular part of the bond or note, and the presence of this fibre in the bond or note is evidence of its genuineness. The paper, while on the machine, passes under calender rolls, and over steam rolls, till it is dry. It is then slit up lengthwise and passes through an animal size—after this it is cut up by machinery into sheets and goes into the "lay boy." After the paper has been sized it will not do to dry it by steam cylinders; it therefore goes to the drying loft, where it is hung on poles to dry.

From the drying loft the paper goes to the finishing room, where it is calendered and counted by the manufacturers, and thence it passes to the upper loft of the mill, which is really a branch of the Treasury Department. There the paper is trimmed, examined, counted, cased and sealed. Some twenty or more women are here employed in examining and counting; each package, containing one thousand sheets, is first examined, and all imperfect sheets are rejected; they are counted by one lady twice, and her count is verified by another lady. The name of the examiner, and of each counter are placed on the package, so that in case of miscount, or other carelessness, the responsibility may rest where it belongs. From the intedigent appearance of the counters, and the silence and order reigns in the room, I should judge that mistakes could be of very rare occurence.

From the upper story, we proceeded to the basement, in which are the storeroom and office. In the storeroom were piles of boxes bearing the Treasury seal, and marked with the different descriptions of paper. The superintendent called the other room in this basement the office. I presume it is an office, for there were desks, chairs, book-cases and a lady writing. It might also have been called an armory or an arsenal. A black walnut rack bristled with revolvers, and I noticed that the place was well provided with offensive and defensive weapons. A watch is maintained in the building day and night, and I had noticed a man, while our party was walking through the mill, and particularly while we were where any paper was lying about, who seemed to pay particular attention to any one who chanced to lag a little behind the rest of the party. On inquiring who he was, I was informed that he was an employe of the Treasury Department. What there was suspicious about a very inoffensive man and two spinsters, perhaps he can tell. I went with the intention, and had felt at liberty to get, all the information I could; but they gave us no opportunity, even if we had the inclination, to steal paper.

I have little reason to suppose that we were objects of peculiar suspicion. I do not blame them for keeping an eye on us, but it certainly is not very pleasent to feel that one is watched every moment. At the Philadelphia Mint we were subject in the same way to the argus eyes of the guardians of the dross; but then, if we could have possessed ourselves of it, we should have known what to do with the gold, as the paper would have made but poor curl papers for the ladies.

I inquired of the superintendent why it was necessary to be so very particular. He answered that on their caution rested, in a great measure, the protection of the Government, and the public, from counterfeits. If counterfeiters could get hold of the genuine paper, engraving would afford but a slight protection from counterfeit greenbacks. It would, he said, be hardly an object to keep four or five men armed with revolvers, and other warlike weapons, with watch clocks to keep them awake, and up to their duty in the mill all night, and then to allow visitors to roam around the building at pleasure during the daytime. The safety of the paper, he said, arose from the strict guard kept over what is made at this mill, and the fact that it requires a Fourdrinier machine, which is some seventy or eighty feet long, and an expensive and peculiar machinery, to apply the localized fibre. All these involve the necessity for a paper mill, with its attendents, water and water-power, and a large corps of operatives. The Fourdrinier machine is used only in mills making high grade paper, and no manufacturer owning such a mill would risk his property and reputation, even if his conscience was no check on him. The risk would be too great, for, as parties around the building informed us, a fine of five thousand dollars or fifteen years imprisonment, or both, is the penalty for making or having in one's possession any of such paper. A desire to pocket the informer's moiety, a revenge for some real or supposed wrong, would be a strong temptation for some one to inform.

So cautious are they that registers are placed on the machine which record every sheet made, and the superintendent can thus keep a guard on the manufacturer, while the man in charge of the register is at the same time a check on the superintendent.

To get the paper surreptitiously from the mill would require the concurrence of the superintendent, his clerk, the register clerk, the superintendent of of counters, on one side, and of the manufacturer and his clerk and foreman on the other side.

A report is made daily by the contractors to the Secretary of the Treasury of the quantity delivered to the superintendent, and one is also made by the superintendent of the quantity received and delivered by him. Occasionally, at such times as the Secretary may designate, the superintendent and printers are required to balance their accounts. The papers inform us that such an investigation was gone through with in June, and that of the sixty or seventy millions of sheets of paper made within the two years past, every sheet has been accounted for in a legal manner.

Thus each department is a check on all the others. Neither the Secretary of the Treasury, the United States Treasurer, the Bureau of Engineering and Printing, the bank-note companies, or the United States Superintendent can get a sheet excepting in a legal way, and they must account for it in the same manner. All paper mutilated in printing must be returned to the proper office at Washington.

Thinking that you or your readers might feel interested to learn how the paper was made, and the care that is taken of it, I made particular inquiries, and I flatter myself that I have used the proper technical terms, and made myself understood; if not, it is the effect of my own stupidity or forgetfulness. Mr. Bemis and his clerk, Miss Woster, freely answered all questions, and readily explained each process.

The Convicts.

Bill Russell, a six-year convict from Storey county, was recently captured in San Francisco, while seeking a vessel in which to depart for foreign parts. Pruitt, the gentleman of color, was also captured about the same time in Stockton. These two and Roberts are all back at their old quarters in the Nevada State Prison. Burke and Cockerell have been released by the United States authorities and turned over to those of the State.

It has been reported in the Nevada papers that Jones, the fiend incarnate, one the twelve yet at large, was chased into Death Valley, where he perished. There is no truth in this, we are sorry to say. He was not chased into Death Valley, and we are sorry to think he has not yet reached the valley of death. He is probably in the Sierra Nevadas, or has got over in the San Joaquin valley. This is mere surmise, however.

Too Many Sovreigns.

The Western Catholic is carrying on a lively controversy with The Chicago Post about a reported speech of the Pope, in which he claimed the right to depose sovereigns and release the people from allegiance. The Post wants to know whether The Catholic accepts this doctrine, and The Catholic answers by saying, first, that it doesn't believe the Pope said it; second, that if he did say it, he did not say it ex cathedra, and, therefore, it was "not a part of the Church's doctrine, but the Pope's private opinion, for which we don't propose to be responsible;" thirdly, that if he had said it ex cathedra, it would have no application to this country, so far as the sovereigns are concerned, for here every man is a sovereign, and, "in order to exercise his right in the United States, he would have to depose just 39,977,741 sovereigns, which would be too large a job, even for a Pope."

The Schell Creek Mines.

These mines are situated 128 miles in a southeasterly direction from Elko. They are creating quite an excitement which, however, will most likely soon subside. Deposits of rich chlorides have been discovered there in numerous places, but the owners generally are afraid to put in a blast fearing to blow it all out, and thus ruin their chances of a sale, for which they all appear to be anxiously waiting. Capitalist go, see and—leave again, and persistently refuse to invest. The regular games of bean poker begin to languish.

Suicide in Virginia.

Silas F. Brown, a lawyer of Virginia City, committed suicide on the 24th ultimo, at the International Hotel, by shooting himself through the head. Domestic troubles are said to have driven him to the commission of the awful deed. Deceased was a lawyer of fair acquirements, but being a man of ultra Southern views, refused to take the "iron-clad oath," and therefore had done but little in the practice of his profession since the beginning of the war. He was a native of Kentucky, a pioneer of California and Nevada and leaves a wife and two children in Storey county.

California Coal Oil.

Coal oil is being manufactured near San Buenaventura, Santa Barbara County, from crude oil collected near that place. Upwards of 1,000 gallons have already been distilled. The best of oil can be made, according to The Ventura Signal, for less money than it can be laid down there from New York.

From Mexico.

Mexico is in a state of revolution. The Revolutionsts have besieged Saltillo. The Juarist forces are marching in large numbers against the rebels. Two thousand Mexicans have crossed over into Texas to escape rebel proscription.

Completed.

A line of telegraph has recently been completed to Pioche, Nevada, connecting that place and Bullionville with the rest of the world.

Mrs. Fair.

The case of Mrs. Fair. has been up before the Supreme Court for a hearing. It is postponed until the 11th of this month.

—If all flesh is grass, is hay beef a la mowed?

SOME SUGGESTIONS.

By way of a suggestion we propose to note a few of our needs as a community which may be obviated by the introduction of labor-saving machinery for certain uses and manufacturing purposes. The use of such machinery has become an essential to real progress and prosperity. Our State owes to its almost universal use in agriculture her present pre-eminence as a grain producing and grain exporting country. It is a country peculiarly adapted to the general use of agricultural machinery; notwithstanding the productiveness of our lands, it would be impossible under the old system for the farmers of this State to raise and profitably export any part of the 20,000,000 centals of wheat which annually leave our shores for foreign countries. Gang plows and headers have reduced the cost of raising wheat in this State not less than fifty or seventy-five per cent, as compared to the cost when the best appliances in use was the single plow, grain cradle, or even the harvester, the only system yet in use in this valley. The introduction of improved farm machinery would prove quite as advantageous to our farmers here, as it has for those in other portions of the State. Where headers are used crops need not necessarily be cut until the grain begins to drop from the standing heads, so that one such machine, costing about $400 in San Francisco, would be sufficient for the entire valley. In using one of these machines the whole cost of delivering an acre of grain to the thresher would probably not exceed $2, whereas it now costs $5 or more. The advantage of replacing the plows in use by two-gangs would be quite as marked, since they can be used in preparing the ground for all kinds of crops.

There is room for a great advance in another direction. There is a good opening here for the establishment of several different manufactories. We can at this time only briefly notice a few of these. First probably in importance if not in virtue, would be the establishment of a distillery, which would produce a pure and cheaper article of brandy and whiskey to replace at least a portion of the immense quantities of high priced tarantula juice imported and sold under those names. Such enterprises, established in Idaho under circumstances very similar to such as are found here, have proved decided successes in every way, and would probably do as well here.

In Sonoma county there is a factory which annually turns out about 10,000 of the cheapest and most durable chairs in use. Similar ones can be cheaply and profitably manufactured here. There is an abundance of small oak and other timber growing on the sides of these mountains suitable for the purpose, and of course, the rawhide far the seats could be had in abundance.

It has been demonstrated that the crude material can be imported into this State and worked up into wagons of a better quality and cheaper than those turned out of the best fitted shops of the East and shipped here ready made. In one important particular, if no more, the same rule would hold good here in this county. Imported wagons will not long stand in this excessively dry atmosphere. It is just suited for the construction of the best vehicles in use. Their possible additional cost would be more than compensated in their being built especially adapted to our roads, and more lasting quality.

The production of broom corn, and the manufacture of brooms here could be made a paying enterprise.

There are first rate inducements for the establishmant of a planing mill and other wood working machinery. In connection many articles of furniture could be profitably manufactured.

The only conditions necessary to success in any or all of these and some other similar enterprises, are that they be undertaken by working men possessing the requsite capital, and on a scale suited to the wants of the country.

Intelligent Indian.

Casper, the soup-house man, has an Indian in his kitchen that beats lots of white folks in the way of sabe. It's fun to go there and hear Casper shoot that terrific Dutch language at the huge buck and see him rush from one piece of work to another. He understands German better than English, and his knowledge of the latter language will compare favorably with some white men that might be mentioned. Casper declares that his protege scares all Chinamen out of the house—they think the spirit of some of their dead ancestors are in the fellow and belching pure proverbs of Confucius at them. He certainly understands nearly every word of German that is spoken to him.—Reese River Reveille.

—Guilt, though it may attain temporal splendor, can never confer real happiness. The evil consequences of crime long survive its commission, and, like the ghosts of the murdered, forever haunt the steps of the malefactor. The paths of virtue, though very seldom those of worldly greatness, are always of pleasantness and peace.

EASTERN NEWS.

The people of Chicago are very indignant at the manner in which Col. Grosvenor came to his death. Grosvenor was about 12 o'clock at night on his way to his lodgings, when he was challenged by a young man named Treat, belonging to an organized regiment of patrols. Grosvenor refused to halt, when Treat fired, from the effect of which Grosvenor soon afterwards died. Treat was arrested but will probably be legally exonerated.

This is the fiery epoch. A great fire is raging in the counties of Monroe, Niagara, Orleans, Genesee, Wayne and Seneca, New York. A high wind creates the worst apprehensions. "The sun is darkened at noonday" in Rochester. Other fires are raging near Ronsdout, on the Hudson, and in Rensselaer county; also in Michigan.

The regular Democrats of New York city have nominated Judge Ledwith for Supreme Judge. It is almost certain that Tammany will indorse the nomination. The reform Democracy have nominated William M. Evarts Senator for the Fifteenth District.

Sumner has written a letter to the colored people of South Carolina, urging them to insist upon their full rights in public conveyances, hotels, schools, etc.

A perfect reign of terror seems to have been inaugurated in that portion of South Carolina declared by the President to be under martial law. Women and children are the chief sufferers, and hundreds of these are fleeing from their homes. It is not known whether the Kuklux or the United States troops came off victorious at Broad River.

Pumpkins for Inflammatory Rheumatism.

At a recent meeting of the New York Farmers' Club, a correspondent wrote of the virtues of the pumpkin, giving the following instance of its value for inflammatory rheumatism: A woman's arm was swelled to an enormous size and painfully inflamed. A poultice was made of stewed pumpkins, which was renewed every fifteen minutes, and in a short time produced a perfect cure. The fever drawn out by the poultices made them extremely offensive, as they were taken off. I knew a man cured of severe inflammation of the bowels by the same kind of application.

Riot in Los Angeles.

A terrible riot broke out in Los Angeles, October 28. A dispatch dated on the 24th says:

Officer Bilderain attempted to arrest a Chinaman for shooting another last night, and was resisted. The officer called Robert Thompson to assist him, when the Chinamen commenced firing on both sides of the street. Thompson shot through the breast and Bilderain through the shoulder. The Chinaman then jumped from him and escaped. A Spanish boy was shot through the leg. Thompson, who is dead, was a quiet, inoffensive citizen. The excitement is intense, and the citizens are rising. The Chinese quarter is now in a state of siege. A hundred men are armed with Henry rifles. One Chinaman was just captured and hung by the citizens; firing at intervals and regular volleys are heard, firing in to China houses at random and from house-tops. Two Chinamen are killed. The Sheriff and civil authorilies have given up trying to restrain the mob. The Chinese are well armed, and more blood will probably flow.

The following is under date of October 27:

The mob on Tuesday night did some wholesale pillaging on Negro Alley. It is variously reported that from $14,000 to $30,000 has been stolen from the Chinese quarters. In one of their stores a box containing $7,000 was broken open and the money extracted. One Chinamen was robbed of $450 on being taken to jail. All the Chinamen hanged were stripped of all their valuables while being dragged to the places of execution. Trunks and other depositories, having locks, in the various tenements occupied by the Chinese, have been broken open and ransacked, and everything of value carried off. Eighteen Chinamen were buried yesterday. They presented a most ghastly and horrible sight. Their clothing was torn, and in one or two cases the victims were almost nude. Their countenances were besmeared with blood, their heads and bodies pierced with gun-shot wounds, and some of them fearfully mutilated. The ropes by which they were hanged were still attached to their necks, and a number of them were shot previous to being hanged. One or two of the victims had their bodies riddled with bullets. The threatened repetition of the tragedy last night did not transpire, a strong guard being placed to prevent it, as it was rumored yesterday that they would make another haul in the evening on the other side of Negro Alley. The examination of witnesses at the coroner's inquest occupied the whole of yesterday afternoon, and was resumed at 9 this morning. It is now recess. Witnesses are very careful in giving their testimony, fearing to name individuals whom they know to have taken an active part in the lynching, lest they be similarly dealt with them selves. Sufficient evidence has already been adduced implicating two Irishmen, one having boasted of being instrumental in killing Chinese. The examination will certainly continue throughout the day, possibly it will not be concluded till to-morrow. It is now stated the old Vigilantes are the real instigators of the lynching, and that their declaration of determination to preserve the peace is merely a blind to throw off suspicion. Three or four Chinamen who are said to have done the shooting at citizens and officers are still at large; only one of those hanged is known to have been a party to the shooting. Information has just been received of the arrest of the Chinaman who shot Officer Bilderain on Tuesday night. He was given up by one of the Chinese companies, and now lies in jail.

Arrival of Roberts.

[From The Carson Register, October 29.]

At a late hour night before last R. I. Hubbard, and A. M. Nesmith, captors of the escaped convicts Morton, Black and Roberts, arrived at the Warm Springs Hotel with the last named prisoner. After being surrendered to Lieutenant Governor Denver, Roberts was turned over to James S. Slingerland, Deputy United States Marshal, and was by that officer brought up to the County Jail, where we interviewed the prisoner briefly. He was subsequently returned to the State Prison, subject to the order of the United States District Court. Roberts was eighteen years of age on the 29th of August last, and is as cheerful a young scoundrel as we ever saw in limbo. Nesmith and Hubbard were out exactly five weeks yesterday, pursuing, fighting, capturing and bringing in convicts. They captured Morton, Black and Roberts, and again started in pursuit of Jones, and would doubtless have retaken him if news had not reached them that the citizens were going to hang their prisoners. On hearing this they returned to Bishop Creek, only to find that two of their prisoners had been executed. They then took Roberts (as soon as his wounds would permit of his removal) and started for Carson, all on horseback. Two unsuccessful attempts were made by officers to take the prisoner from the custody of his captors; but Hubbard and Nesmith are not men to be wheedled into a surrender, and both are strangers to fear. Reaching the vicinity of Aurora just after dark, Nesmith took charge of the prisoner, while Hubbard rode quietely into town to see if the coast was clear. Learning from an officer that the citizens would probably attempt to hang Roberts if they should ascertain that he was in town, Hubbard returned to the place of concealment, all hands mounted, passed around the town and came on to Hot Springs that night. Entertaining similar fears of citizens in this vicinity, the the party left the Aurora road at or near Wellington's, came through Pine Nut, and crossed the Carson river near the Mexican dam. Roberts says it is not much of a job to get out of our State Prison, but that after getting out the trouble commences.

Palisade and Eureka Railroad.

We learn from our fellow townsman Mr. W. A. Edwards, that he starts tomorrow to survey the route between this point and Palisade, preliminary to the construction of the proposed narrow-gauge railroad. Mr. Edwards goes with a large and competent corps, expecting to complete the preliminary work in twenty days. The company could not have selected a more competent engineer, and as the stockholders in the enterprise are active, energetic men, we may reasonably expect that before many months our ears will be be gladdened with the shrill whistle of the iron horse as he comes gliding smoothly along up Diamond valley. We are assured that the projectors of the road mean business, and the Board of Directors have already such arrangements for such material aid as will warrant its early completion.—Eureka Sentinel, October 26.

The Railroad.

The railroad company is making good headway in the construction of the bridge across the Merced, and also in grading from that point toward Bear Creek. Within a couple of weeks we hope to be able to chronicle the completion of the structure and the passage of cars over the stream. The company will then have but little to do besides laying the ties and rails from there to Bear Creek, which is now the center of attraction, hundreds being anxious to commence erecting buildings there preparatory to entering into business. —San Joaquin Argus, Oct., 24.

Stage Stopped.

The Battle Mountain stage was stopped last night a short distance this side of Silver Creek, and one of the passengers relieved of the sum of $400 in gold coin. The road agent upon this occasion was Deputy Constable Milo Taber, who was armed with a writ of snatch em-quick against the aforesaid passenger, who was leaving for other scenes without first having conformed to certain usages customary in well regulated financial circles.—Reese River Reveille, October, 25.

Suit Against The "Alta."

An action was commenced in the Fifteenth District Court October 1st, by Charles H. Ackerson against Frederick MacCrellish William A. Woodward, proprietors of The Alta, to recover the sum of $50,000 for the publication of an alleged libelous article in the colums of said newspaper. The article referred to, says The Chronicle, was published during the time that the plaintiff in this action held the position of Chief Engineer of the Fire Department, and, it is alleged, reflected upon his ability to perform the duties of that position.

Relief for San Joaquin Valley.

John Widney, one of the leading merchants of Santa Clara, has forwarded by rail to The San Joaquin Republican and Rev. C. V. Anthony of Stockton five barrels of flour to be distributed to the needy toilers of the soil, whose wives and children, according to reliable sources, are suffering for the actual necessities of life from the continued drouth and the loss of two years' crops in the San Joaquin valley.

Lasky—trover, damages, $800; Van Decar for plaintiff. J. W. Allyn vs. A. B. Elder, Sheriff of Inyo county—conversion of certain negotiable prommissory notes; damages, $1,800; Van Decar for plaintiff, Reddy and Bennett for defendant. Chas. Walter vs. Kearsarge Mining Company—$550 for services rendered; Bennett for defendant.

Silver Peak.

The mines and mill in the rich district of Silver Peak, Nevada, still remain idle, though there is talk of work being resumed in the Spring. The company contemplate the completion of their railway between the Crowning Glory gold mine and their mill, so as to further reduce the expense of hauling ore. Mr. Ned. Eovanovich, of that place, who was wounded September 21, by the premature explosion of a log he was blasting open, arrived at Camp Independence on the 1st instant, to put himself under treatment. Both bones of the right leg (below the knee) were broken, and the large bone so bruised that, although the limb was set shortly after the injury, it would not knit together until some of the pieces of the dead bone should have been removed. We learn that he has borne the journey quite as well as could be expected. Mr. Sam Davis, formerly of Aurora but now of Columbus, came over with him.

Spud Extraordinary.

Dad Moore, of Lone Pine, last week forwarded to THE INDEPENDENT concern a remarkable specimen of Convolculus Edulis, or in plain English, sweet potatoe, which eclipses anything in the spud line yet heard from. It was raised on King's River, and labelled "Specimen of Red Sanderson's Strawberries." It was of the hard shell persuasion, about the size of a man's head, and weighed nine pounds. The quality was of the finest description, while in quantity it was sufficient to supply a good sized family for two or three meals.

Mineral Surveyor.

We have been favored with a call from Wm. McBride, Esq., U. S. Deputy Surveyor for this and Mono county. As will be seen by his card elsewhere, he makes Benton his headquarters, to which point letters should be addressed. He has been up to Cerro Gordo, under instructions from the Surveyor General to survey the old Santa Maria mine, in the interest of A. H. Dorr, but was not permitted to do so. We opine that Mr. Dorr has lost his claim on Buena Vista hill, in equity, at least. However, there promises to be warm work for the lawyers.

Real Estate Transfers.

During the past week the following real estate transactions have taken place: P. Reddy, Esq., sold his residence, corner of Market and Mary streets, to Thomas May; price paid, $1,000. Rothschild & Co. sold to P. Reddy that fine property north of town formerly owned by J. R. Hughes, residence and 20-acre lot; price, $3,000. I. Davison sold his farm, situated a mile north of town, to S. P. Moffat; consideration, $1,000. Ed. Bradley sold his place, three miles south of town, to J. A. Lank, for $800.

The Vote.

The Supervisors met last Monday as a Board of Canvassers, Messrs. Hutchison and Simpson being present. The vote of the entire county, at the Judicial Election, panned out as follows, as appears from the official count: Wright, 129; Temple, 132; Rhodes, 163; Niles, 163; Bolander, 172; Fitzgerald, 138; Love, 124, Hannah, 132; Whipple, 48. The following gentlemen were elected Justices of the Peace in the northern end of the county, whose names have not been before given: Round Valley, D. Olds; Bishop Creek, M. S. Clarke.

Fish Lake.

A piece of malicious mischief was done in Fish Lake Valley on the night of October 16. A hay stack on Jesse Davis' ranch, one mile from Fish Lake, was set fire to by some unknown person, and 45 tons of good hay burned up. Hay is quite scarce in that region—is now $30 per ton and steadily rising.

Struck It.

It is stated that the San Lucas mine, at Cerro Gordo, presents a most magnificent appearance, showing a very rich ledge eight feet in width. One-half of this is classed as smelting ore, while the other side is found to be milling rock. The Cervantes mill, at Lone Pine, is to be started up and run on the latter quality of ore.

Late.

By way of apology for our late appearance to-day, we will state the fact that THE INDEPENDENT was printed and ready for delivery at the usual hour this morning, but on brown paper. The arrival of paper this morning left us the option to print it over again, which we have done. Extra copies, done up in colors, can be had.

New Drug Store.

By reference to the card of Dr. J. D. Blair, which appears in this issue, it will be seen that he has commenced the practice of medicine, and is establishing a drug store. We understand that it is to be a first-class institution.

The New Board.

A. N. Bell and John Simpson Supervisors elect, last Monday took the oath of office. They met with T. K. Hutchison, hold-over member of the old Board, done a little canvassing and adjourned to meet on Monday next, for the transaction of general business.

Favors.

Surgeon C. A. White, U. S. A., has placed us under many obligations for favors extended.

KEARSARGE.

[COMMUNICATED.]

As the suspension of operations at the Kearsarge mine and mill, and the temporary embarrassment of the company, is calculated to lead the outside community to believe that the mine is a failure, and as such is not the case, I propose to give a true statement of what is the chief and only cause of their present trouble, as is conceded by every one who is posted in regard to the manner in which the mill has been worked during the past four or five months.

Last year the company demonstrated the fact beyond a doubt that they had a large quantity of ore that would pay "big," even counting the expense that they were at to get it to the mill and work it. At that time they were conveying the ore from the mine to the mill upon pack-animals, at an enormous expense. Their mill was driven by steam power, consuming an average of eight cords of wood per day of twenty-four hours. Last Spring the company constructed a tramway or incline track for the purpose of transporting ore, by which method the cost is less than one-fourth of what it was formerly. They also, at the same time, done away with the steam engine, substituting it its stead a "Leffel Turbine" water wheel, thereby reducing the actual expense of running the mill to about one-third the former cost.

Now the company had good reason to suppose that if they could make money with the old way of working that they certainly ought to do as well with the new improvements and cheaper way of working. But it would seem from the "record" that such is not the case.

Last season, from fifteen tons of ore worked (almost the last work done before the mill was closed down for repairs) they saved over $6,000. This year, from the same ore, assaying fully up to the average of last year, they did not save more than $6 per ton. The whole secret of this is that last year they had a man in charge of the mill who thoroughly understood working their ore, who saved a large portion of the silver and gold. And this year they have had a man in charge of the mill who knew nothing about working the ore, who saved but a very small portion of the silver and gold, but did succeed in saving a portion of the lead. Be the fault whose it may, incompetency in the head amalgamator is undoubtedly the cause of the present embarrassment of the Kearsarge Mining Company.

The mine and mill are now in better condition than they ever have been before. All that is now required is the men to do the work, and with the man who will take charge of the mill when it again starts, there is no fear but that it will be smooth sailing with this company.

Nice Pets.

John R. Hughes, Esq., the old Cerro Gordo residenter, returned from a recent trip below last week, bringing along a couple of rabbits, for the purpose of acclimatizing them, we suppose. Rather rough way to treat them.

Proved Up.

The following parties have recently proved up pre-emptions: D. B. Curtis—claim near Fish Springs. Ernst Heilegendofer—claim near foot of Big Owens Lake. Ed. Bradley, claim three miles south of this place.

A Change.

Messrs. Barrows & Dodd have bought the store of V. Beaudry, Esq., and will join their own establishment to that well known Cerro Gordo institution.

Freight.

Yesterday some half-dozen big teams arrived in town from Los Angeles, some of them bringing freight eighty days out from San Francisco.

A desperate shooting affray took place in W. Hays Store, Lake City, Siskiyon county, between two men named Powley and Disable on one side and B. W. King, on the other. The firing commenced in the store. Nathan Dry and another specator were badly wounded. Powley and Disable were both wounded, the latter mortally. Joseph Mark a clerk in the store also took part inthe scrimage, but escaped uninjured.

A Runaway Road-roller.

A singular accident happened the other day in the streets of London. It appears that a huge steam-roller was in Pall Mall on its way to St. James Park, to be used on some paving-work. At 12 o'clock, the driver of the engine concluded to go and get his dinner. He therefore shut off steam, and left the engine standing near a statue in front of the Pall Mall Restaurant. A crowd of people soon gathered round, including some mischievous boys, one one of whom got on the engine and managed to start it. This done, the lad ran awy. The locomotive, to the dismay of the bystanders, started off, at first slowly, but continually increasing its speed, and presently spread consternation all around. Its first direction was for the statue, which it would probably have overthrown if not demolished; but, when close up to it, the engine turned capriciously almost at a right angle, went straight across the street, and into the shop of Mr. Thompson, a photographic colorist. Its entrance was effected by the window, which was totally smashed, and not only this, but the heavy stone facade underneath the glass was also shattered to fragments. Several ladies standing in front of the window were slightly hurt, and one gentleman seriously.

From Aurora, Nevada.

A correspondent of The Union, at Aurora, Nevada, under date of October 22d, gives this intelligence: In your tabular statement of the population of California, published in The Union, the total for Mono county is put down as 430. There were 217 votes polled in the county at the election in September, which evidently shows a gross error in taking the census. It also gives only 2 Indians, and the citizens say there are over 500 Indians in the county. It also says no colored, when there is the well-known colored voter in Bodie, and how many more in the county I know not.

No polls were held in Bodie for the judicial election on Wednesday last. The excuse was that the County Clerk sent them no notice of the election.

Wells, Fargo & Co. have closed their offices in Pine Grove, Silver Peak and other outside places, and last week opened an office in Columbus with W. English as agent, which speaks favorably for that district. The three mills there are running successfully, and making liberal shipments weekly.

R. A. Chase, Deputy United States Surveyor, has made a survey of two or three mines in this district, for which applications for patents from the United States have been made, and when obtained it is understood that the mines will be worked extensively. Last week he returned from Silver Peak, having made a survey of the mines there for a similar purpose.

I am informed by J. Burns, the stage driver, that Inyo county gave Bolander a majority, and the Democratic Judges not more than five majority. In Benton, Mono county, the Republicans had seven majority. They had to write their tickets on brown paper. The tickets were sent by a teamster and did not get here until Wednesday, the day of election, and consequently were not sent to Benton.

A Terrible Scene.

The New York Sun gives a lengthy account of the execution, on the 14th inst. at Hartford, Conn., of David Kently, alias James Wilson, for the murder of William Willard, the prison warden. The cause of the murder was the extreme cruelty practiced on Wilson by the officers of the prison, and the unfortunate man maintained to the last minute that the brutalities he had endured were sufficient cause to justify the killing of the warden. On the night preceding his execution he drove a piece of wire three and a half inches long into his body which the subsequent dissection of the body showed had penetrated the left ventricle of the heart, where it was firmly embedded. Thus mortally wounded and suffering intense agony he was led to the scaffold and executed at 1 o'clock P.M. He displayed an immense amount of courage and bequeathed his body to the Medical College at New Haven, on condition that the said Medical College shall agree to pay competent counsel to solicit the next General Assembly to pass laws correcting the abuses in the State Prison, protecting prisoners from excessive cruelty, etc.

How the Humbug Pays.

A certain Rev. advertises to send free, out of pure kindness, a valuable receipt for the cure of consumption to all who forward to his address a postage stamp. This looks fair, but the readers of a thousand journals wonder how he can afford to pay, year after year, for so many advertisements. The mystery is unravelled when a cunning circular is returned with the receipt, saying the only safety in procuring the wonderful South American remedy is by sending $3. 50 to the "grateful" scoundrel "snatched from the borders of the grave" who employs the title of Rev. to steal more successfully from "gulls" who are silly enough to notice advertisements that promise to give "something for nothing." This is our answer to those who wish to make our advertising columns accessory to their despicable schemes.—Scientific Press.

—The Internal Revenue Bureau estimates that the Chicago fire will reduce revenue receipts to the amount of four millions.

A Terrible Scene.

A local paper speaks as follows concerning the terrible scenes attending the fire in Michigan: We say we can not describe the scenes; we can not. Infants clasped in mothers' arms, fathers, brothers, sisters, stiff in their last embrace; actual lines of dead from the once happy farm-house to the adjoining creek; charred groups, blackened corpses, crumbling bones, lacerated and torn members; the smiling babyhood a few hours past, the adolescent, the old, in one horrid heap of death, is all that is left of the country traveled over. The roadsides are strewn with dead horses, oxen, cows, swine and fowl. Even the untamed of the forest flew towards civilization for relief, but only to find death in their flight. Deer, bears, rabbits, were discovered in profusion burned to a crisp. And all this within a few miles of our city. From the few left to tell the tale there can be yet little obtained in their half crazed situation. We ourselves saw the father consign to their last resting place all that was left of a family of six. We cared little about questioning, and he seemed to care as little about speaking. Having given him a few morsels of bread for necessary subsistence, we passed on, and saw the babe in its mother's arms, the boy, the girl, in nakedness, the young woman, the mother, the father, in one sad group of death. Again, a family, apparently, for there was nothing left but the bones, and hardly bones at that. Yes, there was one of that family of which there was a little left. It was the baby. The poor mother, forgetful of herself, clung to her innocent offspring, and her last effort must have been to save her young one's life. The mother's hand, or the charred remains thereof, was on the babe's head, as if engaged in pressing it to the ground, face downward, to save it from suffocation; the little face, that was all that was uninjured. A prominent young man was found with his throat cut and his knife lying alongside him. He must have been crazed by tortures, or preferred immediate death to lingering agony. Hundreds of such cases could we cite, but to what use? Let us merely take, if possible, into the mind's eye a tract of desolation, suffering, death, poverty, want and loneliness, ruined homes, burned corpses—perhaps happier than the living—and may the always wise Providence have mercy upon their souls. It is the duty of us, who are yet safe, to fly with everything in our possession to the aid of our fellow beings. A moment should not be lost, and no one should wait to be called upon. The smallest shred will cover its size of nakedness; the smallest morsel will, for a time, support life. It will be easy to deposit anywhere what we have to give. Anything left at our office will be reported to those charitable ladies and gentlemen who are so actively interesting themselves in this noble work of kindness.

Shameless Robbery.

A Chico correspondent of The Butte Record writes that while R. H. Lee, who lived on the Chico and Susanville road, was lying on his death-bed in Chico some thieves entered his house by means of false keys, and plunderec it of everything valuable—even leaving their old clothing and appropriating that belonging to Lee.

DR. DARWIN—A LONDON BALLAD.

Oh, Doctor Darwin, he's the man
To tell us how the world began;
You may believe him if you can,
Sing, oh for Doctor Darwin.
Now, peers, to Herald's college throng,
To learn to whom they all belong,
For all their quartering are wrong,
According to Doctor Darwin.

Hokey, pokey, monkey fun,
Wonders never will have done,
Huxley and Lubbock, and every one
Supporting Doctor Darwin.

Some trace their pedigree so far,
With Garter, Coronet and Star,
Yet no one knows how old they are,
According to Doctor Darwin.
The Howards and Gowers, and all that lot,
Were born to be, I know not what;
But whence they came, at last we've got,
According to Doctor Darwin.

It's true that all these aristocrats
May bill and coo like ava-de-vats,
And yet they come from water-rats,
According to Doctor Darwin.
The flesh in shore and out to sea
Related are to you and me—
Think of that when you've shrimps for tea,
According to Doctor Darwin.

To think a baby that has gone
Through every phase before it was born
Should end in becoming the Marquis of Lorne,
According to Doctor Darwin.
If ever since the world began
We rise by preconcerted plan,
Why call it to the descent of man?
According to Doctor Darwin.

And as the races intermix
You can't be certain about the chicks;
What can't you graft on briar sticks,
According to Doctor Darwin?
If marriage be arranged above,
And crow be wedded to a dove,
It shows how we get crossed in love,
According to Doctor Darwin

NOTICE NO. 6.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE,
REGISTER'S OFFICE,
Aurora, Nevada, August 16th, 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT JOHN B. WINTERS, superintendent of the Kearsarge Mining Company, on behalf of said company, has this day filed in this office a diagram and notice of application for patent from the United States, under act of Congress approved July 26, 1866 for one thousand, eight hundred feet in length of the "KEARSARGE LODE," with a surface width of fifty feet on each side of the lode. Said lode supposed to be one hundred feet in width, which belongs to the Kearsarge Mining Company, a corporation; adjoining on the East end the extension claims of James R. Wall, J. R. Hughes and G. W. Brady, and on the West end the extension claims of R. M. Sluey, J. R. Rowley and J. Ira Clarke, situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. Notice is further given that they intend to apply for and have embraced in the said patent together and in connection with the "Kearsarge Lode," the land on which the Kearsarge mill is erected, together with a sufficient space of land around said mill for the convenient use of said mill; also the Water Right of said Kearsarge Mining Company on Little Pine Creek. The property sought to be patented together with the said "Kearsarge Lode" is known as the "Kearsarge Mill Site and Water Claim on Little Pine Creek," and is described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a stump, it being the N. E. corner of what is known as McCormick, Kittleson, Cornell and Hill's cabin, 24 links from Pine Creek, from which a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears N. ½ deg. E. distant 62 links, also a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears S. 58½ deg. E. distant 64 links, thence N. 25½ deg. E. distant 4 chains to a tree blazed and marked as follows: Blazed on three sides and notched toward the creek and marked "Head of the Kearsarge Mining Company's Ditch," thence N. 62½ deg. W. to the foot of the main mountain, thence N. 27½ deg. E. distant 91 rods, thence S. 62½ deg. E. to a stone mound on the opposite side of the creek, thence S. 27½ deg. W. along the East side of Pine Creek to a point opposite to and to place of beginning. And also all the water, water rights and privileges found upon or in any manner belonging to said tract of land—situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. All of which is more particularly described by the diagrams and notices posted in this office and on the claim.

THE WESTERN SHORE.

[From The West.]

All hail! thou bountous golden land
Of never ceasing spring!
Where birds, and flowers, and sweet perfume,
The constant seasons bring!

The great Pacific's fruitful shore!
The Master's chosen land!
Where beauty sits aloft enthroned,
Beside the western strand.

Here Winter's frost, and whiter snow,
Of ruder northern clime,
Ascend the lofty mountain peaks,
And sit in scenes sublime.

While far beneath in sunny vale,
Where lilies ever grow,
More humble flowers lift their heads,
In ceaseless, fervent glow.

And limpid waters, pure and bright,
Descend the mountain's side—
Refresh the land—then pass along,
To join the mighty tide.

In Beauty's branch of evergreen,
Of orange and of lime,
Are richest and abundant fruits
Of semi-tropic clime.

The Golden Gate—expanding bay
With spreading arms—are seen;
While fertile lands, and richer mines,
Crown San Francisco, Queen.

Like hasty clouds before the storm,
The nation's ships appear;
And gather at the Golden Gate;
To make their entry here.

The iron-horse, with mighty tread,
Comes from the eastern shore;
Proclaims the greatness of our land,
And tarries at our door.

With voice of praise, and joyous hearts,
We reverence and adore
The Great Creator, who hath made
This glorious Western Shore.

An Adventure of the Forest Fires—A Veteran Who Staid to See it Out.

A man named Allison Weaver, who reached Detroit from Port Huron October 18th, had a narrow and curious escape from being roasted alive in the north woods. His story is told in The Detroit Free Press of October 19th:

Weaver is a single man, about fifty years old, and served all through the war in an Ohio regiment of infantry. Up to two weeks ago he was at work for a man named Bright, ten miles from Forestville, as foreman of a shingle mill. Two or three days before the approach of the flames, which eventually destroyed that section, Bright and his family left for Forestville, and the next day all the men employed about the place followed his example or made haste to reach their homes. On leaving Bright informed his men that the fire would sweep that way, and warned them to lose no time in making their escape. Having no property to loose, or family to take care of, Weaver determined, as he says, "to stay and see the circus out," meaning that he intended saving the mill if possible. He has a stubborn sort of a spirt, and the fact that everybody else went induced him to stay.

As soon as the men left he set to work and buried all the provisions left in the house, and during the day, buried the knives, belts and other light machinery of the mill, as well as a stove and a lot of cookery ware. There was plenty of water in the vicinity of the mill, and he filled several barrels full, besides wetting down house, mill, stock and everything which would burn, scattering several hundred pailfols of water on the ground around the buildings.

When night came and the fire had not appeared he began to jeer his absent comrades. About 10 o'clock the heavens were so light that he could see the smallest objects around him, and there was a roaring in the forests which sounded like waves beating against rocks on the shore. He began to suspect that he would soon receive the visit predicted, and accordingly made preparations for it. In leveling up the ground around the shingle mill, earth had been obtained by digging here and there, and Weaver went to work and dug one of those pits deep enough for him to stand up in.

He then filled it nearly full of water, and took care to saturate the ground around it for a distance of several rods. Going to the mill, he dragged out a four-inch plank, sawed it in two, and saw that the parts tightly covered the mouth of the little well. "I kalkerlated it would be tech and go" said he "but it was the best I could do." At midnight he had everything arranged, and the roaring then was awful to hear. The clearing was ten or twelve acres in extent, and Weaver says that for hours before the fire reached him there was a constant flight across the ground of small animals. As he rested a moment from giving the house another wetting down, a horse dashed into the opening at full speed and made for the house, where he stopped and turned toward the fire. Weaver could see him trembling and shaking in his excitement and terror, and felt a pity for him. After a moment the animal gave utterance to a snort of dismay, ran two or three times around the house, and then shot off into the woods like a rocket.

Not long after this the fire came. Weaver by his well, ready for the emergency, yet curious to see the breaking in of the flames. The roaring increased in volume, the air became oppressive, a cloud of dust and cinders came showering down and he could see the flame through the trees. It did not run along the ground nor leap from tree to tree, but it came like a tornado, a sheet of flame reaching from the earth to the top of the trees. As it struck the clearing he jumped into his well and closed over the planks. He could no longer see, but he could hear. He says the flames made no halt whatever, nor ceased their roaring for an instant, but he had hardly got the opening closed before the house and mill were burned like tinder, and both were down in five minutes. The smoke came down to him powerfully, and his den was so hot that he could hardly breathe.

He knew that the planks above him were on fire, but, remembering their thickness, he waited till the roaring of the flames had died away, and then with his head and hands turned them over and put out the fire by dashing up water with his hands. Although it was a cold night and the water had at first chilled him, the heat gradually warmed it up until he says that he felt very comfortable. He remained in his den until daylight; frequently turning over the planks and putting out the fire, and then the worst had passed. The earth around was on fire in spots, house and mill were gone, leaves, brush and logs were swept clean away as if shaved off and swept with a broom, and nothing but soot and ashes were to be seen.

After the fire had somewhat cooled off, Weaver made an investigation of his caches, and found that considerable of the property buried had been saved, although he lost all his provisions except a piece of dried beef which the fire had cooked as in an oven without spoiling it. He had no other resource than to run around the place that day, during the night, and the greater part of the next day, when the ground had cooled enough so that he could pick his way to the site of the burned village. He was nearly twelve hours going the twelve miles, as trees were falling, logs were burning, and the fallen timber had in some places heaped up a breastwork, over which no one could climb.

Metallurgical Works at Vallejo.

The Vallejo Land and Improvement Association propose putting up in this vicinity early next year extensive metallurgical works, on a scale to excel any similar reduction works on the American continent. This location is extremely favorable for receiving ores from the mines of Nevada and Utah by rail, while wood and coal can be obtained at reasonable distances and at minimum prices. The copper mines of Mariposa and Copperopolis are to be opened again, and it is highly probable that ores can be profitably smelted in California. The managers of this enterprise contemplate putting up crushing mills, roasting, smelting and refining furnaces for gold and silver ores. The very latest and most economical processes will be employed, with all of the most approved devices for separating the metals from their bases and turning them out as a refined article. The capacity of these works will be greater than the Selby metallurgical works at San Francisco, which cost $450,000. Not less than $500,000 will be expended to get them in shape, after which they will be extended with the increase of the business. One thousand men are directly or indirectly employed at the Selby works, which will give a pretty fair idea of the field of employment that will be opened up by the Vallejo metallurgical works, which will possess many opportunities for economizing in time, labor and expense not enjoyed at San Francisco. A day's travel by rail will be saved, no water transportation will be required, no second or third handling of ores be rendered necessary from bad location of works, while the Mt. Diablo coal mines and the Napa and Sonoma woodlands, will supply charcoal and firewood equal to all reasonable requirements. The industrial classes will be largely benefited by the establishment of works of this character in our midst, which will be a nucleus around which other manufactories will inevitably spring up.—Vallejo Chronicle, Oct. 27.

Latest Story from Oildom.

The Titusville Herald, describing a new oil well near that city, says that for nine hours it "flowed a stream of beautiful amber and rose-tinted oil, of sixteen degrees gravity, as large as a stove-pipe, at the rate of 437 barrels per hour. The oil is so heavy that it formed a perpendicular column of six inches in diameter that would push its way up several hundred feet into the air, when becoming partially melted by the sun's rays and overcome by its weight, it would break off near the ground and fall over like an immense tallow candle struck with a club. A cloud of gas hovered over the derrick larger than a Butler county barn, and the ground was so slippery for half a mile around that the workman were obliged to crawl around on their hands and knees to collect the oil, while the noise of escaping gas could be heard by the 'short interest' in Pittsburg. The owners of this new well are very calm, and, instead of getting drunk, went right off last evening and procured several 'corn-cutters,' and stationed themselves near the mouth of the well, and as fast as the oil forced itself up, cut it off in three foot lengths, in sizes suitable for stove wood."

A Tight Place.

One of the New York millionares has the reputation of being a little close. When it was proposed to erect an equestrian monument to Washington in Union Square, General Strong called upon him for his subsbription. The old man shook his head.

"I need no monument of George Washington; I have him here," touching his heart.

General Strong smiled, and said, as he retired:

"I guess you're the first man that ever got George in such a tight place."

ARTESIAN WELLS.

As the surface water in this valley is insufficient for irrigating purposes, we hear frequent inquiries made in regard to artesian wells as a remedy. This method of obtaining water is not always successful, but it rarely or never fails in valleys surrounded, as this is, by lofty mountains. It is the opinion of all those with whom we have conversed on the subject, some of whom are quite well posted, that overflowing wells can be obtained anywhere in the valley by boring to a depth not exceeding one hundred feet. Of course, this is mere speculation, but based on good reasons sufficient to justify the attempt.

If an unfailing supply of water can be obtained from wells not over one hundred feet deep, it will be cheaper and better than training long ditches for the purpose as is now often done, put an end to controversies relating to water-rights, besides rendering it possible to cultivate much good land that is now and will always remain worthless without it. The cost of such wells, with piping, is about $1 per foot for the first hundred feet, each additional foot costing a sum greater proportionate to the depth. The amount of water afforded by such wells ranges, of course, according to the hight of the overflow, but in general terms may be set down as about 60 inches, miner's measure; some will afford double this amount, while others may do nothing more than produce a running stream. It is matter to be decided only by actual trial, but if successful at any one point in the valley, it may be considered a perfectly safe undertaking in any other portion. If this supposition is accepted as a fact, the cheapest and probably the only available method of testing the feasability of obtaining water by artesian wells, will be for two or three interested parties to guarantee work enough to pay for the necessary tools and implements, in which case there are parties here, well acquainted with the business, who will willingly inaugurate the work and put it through. The persons to whom we refer, as we are told, have not the means of their own sufficient for the purpose, and, as there is a possibility of failure, it is necessary and right the chances of loss should be divided somewhat in the manner above mentioned.

As it is a gravel or granite boulder formation that has to be penetrated, it will require the best kind of tools, the first cost of which, ready for operation will probably be about $400. If the first attempts should be successful, we have reason to believe that at least one sett of tools could be kept continually employed. Hundreds of such wells are needed, some of which can be contracted for at once, if any reliable party will take the matter in hand. Any communications, private or for publication addressed to us on the subject will receive attention.

GOVERNOR PALMER'S LETTER.

Judge Williams, in his charge to the Chicago Grand Jury, tells that body to pay no attention to Governor Palmer's letter, where he advises an indictment against Gen. Sheridan and the Mayor as accessories to the killing of Col. Grosvenor. This action on the part of the Judge must meet the approbation of all right thinking persons, Had it not been for the prompt action of the Mayor and Gen. Sheridan in the organization of that regiment and other similiar measures of protection, murder and pillage without stint would have been the order of the day. The fact is indisputable that the State of Illinois was not in a condition to protect her citizens at the moment. The death of Col. Grosvenor, however much to be regretted, was due to his own obstinacy and should not be laid at the door of men who in view of the appalling exigencies of the time, were doing all within their power for the safety and protection of just such as he. The Governor's ingratitude deserves and doubtless will receive the condemnation it deserves, when the attending facts become fairly understood and appreciated.

THE RAILROAD SYSTEM OF THE PACIFIC COAST.

We are in receipt of a pamphlet bearing the above title which gives a comprehensive view of the railroad system of the coast, showing that the natural and inevitable termini of all the railroads of the coast must be at Oakland. Considerable space is devoted in arguing the fallacy of the much-talked-of bridge across the Bay from Oakland to San Francisco. The writer shows quite conclusively that, though the scheme is not mechanically impracticable, its completion can neither shorten the time nor render transportation any cheaper between the two points—in short, that it is a scheme instigated by outside property holders by which they hope to benefit themselves at the expense of the tax-payers of San Francisco directly, but indirectly the millions necessary for the purpose must come from the State at large. In this view of the case, which no doubt is the correct one, it becomes a matter of more than local interest. Four different plans of bridging are presented, the estimated cost of which range respectively from a little less than $2,000,000 to upwards of $16,000,000. A high bridge would require extended approaches, so that the consequent slow rate of speed necessary to safety, and the distance, would render the time of transit considerably more than it now is, a result that would scarcely justify the expenditure of such a vast sum. A low bridge on piles would cut off navigation, to a great extent, on some ninety-two square miles of the bay, besides the danger of creating bars and currents injurious to the harbor generaly. It is claimed, apparently on good grounds, that even this comparatively short bridge could not materially shorten the time over the present system, and such being the case there would be nothing gained. Altogether, San Francisco will have to conclude that two or three miles on fast ferry boats is not so very objectionable, after all. She will have to reduce her port charges, and do some other things of like character, perhaps, to prevent Oakland from eventually taking away a goodly portion of her trade. The desired end is better accomplished that way than by impoverishing herself by such a grand bridge scheme.

Among the prospective railroads mapped out in this pamphlet, we find one having its northern terminus at Reno, to run thence just east of the California State line to Fort Mohave, on the Colorado, where it is supposed to connect with the Atlantic and Pacific overland road. As map makers do not build railroads nor always determine their routes, we need not worry to any great extent on the choice of the latter in this instance. Whenever a railroad is built to connect those two points there is no fear but that it will run through the rich mining region and fertile valleys lying along the foot of the Sierras, instead of the desert route, as marked out, east of the Inyo range.

"The West."

We have had occasion recently to note the advent of a number of new candidates, in the newspaper line, for public favor, and now comes another, called "The West," a large monthly, price $1 per annum, by John H. Carmany & Co., San Francisco. In accordance with its motto—"Devoted to the intersts of the Pacific coast"—The West affords a large amount of valuable information relating to the resources of the western slope, interesting alike to readers at home or abroad. It is worth sending "home."

This paper, in a brief notice of the resources of each county in this State, credits Inyo with the possession of a number of argentiferous galena mines. It might truthfully have gone much further and credited us with not only the most productive galena mines in the State, if not on the coast, but with a vast number of mines of gold and silver and iron, salt, sulphur and almost every other namable mineral—with a very extensive area of first-rate land suited for successful tillage, regardless alike of wet or dry seasons. To these may be added a climate equal to the best, the highest point, Mount Whitney, and the lowest, Death Valley, not covered by water on the continent. Of these, the first is 15,000 feet above, and the last 150 feet feet below the level of the sea. Where is the county that can "high-low" us in any of these? On a proper showing the "game" is ours, too, though in accordance with the September returns, we are compelled to accord the "knave" to Tuolumne

Narrow-Guage.

The Colusa Sun advocates the construction of a narrow-guage railroad between that place and Marysville. It thinks the road can be built for $8,000 per mile, including the running stock.

The Moses Taylor, steamer from Honolulu to San Francisco, brings news of a terrible disaster to the whaling fleet. Thirty-three vessels had been caught in the ice in the Arctic ocean, and had to be abandoned. Though some of these vessels were not crushed at once, vessels and cargoes of oil and bone, are considered a total loss, in the aggregate near $1,500,000. This will be a heavy blow to New Bedford, from which port most of these vessels hail. The same steamer fell in with, and rescued the captain, the only survivor of passengers or crew of the brig Shelekoff. She had been in a waterlogged condition one hundred and nine days, during which time, all on board perished except the captain, who could not have lived but a few hours longer. County Government.

The Code Commission have just had printed and will at once circulate for public criticism, a pamphlet containing their work on that part of the political code, perhaps the most important—except the proposed new revenue system—of their work. It concerns "Supervisors, or the Government of Counties." Many changes are made, chief among them being the increase of the jurisdiction and responsibility of the Board. By the adoption of the proposed law, it is designed to relieve the Legislature of much local and special legislation, and to hold to personal accountability the members of every Board of Supervisors for official acts—each and all of them, under the system proposed, being required, as are many other officers, to give an official bond for good conduct and faithful discharge of duty. The work merits careful consideration, and suggestions of amendements will be welcomed by the Commission.—Sacramento Union.

Tulare and Inyo.

[From The Tulare Times, November 11.]

From E. P. Hart, Esq., who returned a few days since from the Owens River country, we learn that the mining, as well as the agricultural, interests are prospering to a very great extent, particularly the former. He reports, also, the road to that section lined with with teams from Los Angeles hauling freights into the valley, returning with large amounts of valuable ores. Mr Hart further says, many of the leading business men of that region favor the shipping through this valley, as soon as the railroad shortens the distance. And while referring to this subject, we will state the progress the Visalia and Owens Road Company are making. We conversed with one of its charter members, from whom we learn that a survey of the route was made, early last Summer—which we noticed at the time—and an estimate of the cost of constructing the road. An elaborate report, by their Engineer, is filed in the office of the Company, giving the facts and figures. The cost of the road, according to the above, will not exceed $150,000, and the distance will be less than one hundred miles. The Company, at this time, being in no position, financially, deferred the further prosecution of the work for the time, which we very much regret. Work of such magnitude is not supposed to be performed by a few individuals alone. In our opinion the entire community should be consulted—or rather solicited to aid in its construction. We regard a road from this place, on the proposed route, to Owens river of incalculable value to Tulare county and to the public generally, and not only should the citizens of the county aid in its completion, but capitalists and the people of San Francisco, engaged in developing mines and opening up lands in that section, should be asked to substitute stock to the enterprise; and the Government, by reason of its having a military post at its terminus, should, at least, be asked to give liberally of its lands along the route of said road. The time has arrived when propositions of this nature should be carefully considered. We regard it as one of the most important moves that, as a community, we are asked to consider. The early completion of the railroad to Bear Creek will cause more traffic through our county for the country south, than many have any idea of. Los Angeles, because of its enterprising citizens, has reaped an immense trade which our valley might at least have had a portion. Now, as we shal be the nearest point to a railroad it is within ourselves to take advantage of the situation to promote our own welfare, and we should like to see the people move at once in that direction The Legislature will soon convene and, if required, special legislation may be had. We should call a public meeting, enterchange views relative thereto, that our Representatives may be posted on questions pertaining to this and perhaps other local interests of the county. We hope our suggestion may be duly considered and acted upon, as in a week or so our Representatives take their departure for Sacramento.

EASTERN ELECTIONS.

Latest election news from New York shows that the Tammany Democrats were routed in the city, while the Republicans carry the State by 25,000, and will have over a two-thirds majority in both houses of the Legislature. New Jersey elects a Democratic Governor and Republican Legislature, and Illinois gives 20,000 Republican majority. Tweed is elected to the Senate in New York, but will probably be expelled if he takes his seat. The reports from Virginia are contradictory; but the Republicans will be strongly represented in the Legislature, though the Conservatives may have a majority.

Some strong Democratic counties in the State of New York, as Richmond and Rockland, this year elect Republican Assemblymen.

Brooklyn, N. Y., elects a full Democratic ticket—the Mayor having 10,000 clear majority over both opponents. Horatio Seymour was defeated for the New York Assembly by 877 in Utica district. Samuel J. Tilden (anti-Tammany) has 3,500 majority. The Senate stands 24 Republicans and 8 Democrats. The House has 52 Republican majority.

The Republicans elected Snapp to Congress in the sixth Illinois District, where there was a vacancy caused by the resignation of Cook. Snapp's majority is estimated at 4,000. The Union ticket headed by Medill carried Chicago by 12,000.

It is estimated that Minnesota gives a Republican majority of 10,000.

Maryland continues Democratic by a majority of 9,000 to 12,000.

Virginia gives the Conservative ticket 20,000 majority.

The New Wonder Land.

Mr. Elliott, in a letter to Professor Henry, of the Smithsonian Institute, descriptive of the wonders of the Yellowstone region, gives the following description of the "Geysers of the fire-hole Basin:"

"I have stood by a crater, and have seen a column of hot (boiling) water six feet in diameter, ascend with a single bound, vertically, to a hight of two hundred feet, pause there for an instant, and fall to its silicified basin in a thousand watery streams, and a million prismatic drops. This was repeated ten or fifteen minutes, then all would be quiet; the water of the cistern became as still as that of a mill-pond, and apparently as inactive. This geyser, which is one of many, we named the Grand. It plays at irregular intervals of 24 to 30 hours, for from ten to twenty minutes. Another, named by Doan 'Old Faithful,' plays at intervals of only an hour apart, throwing up an immense steady column to an elevation of 150 feet."

There are fifty geysers and over a thousand boiling springs, according to this authority, within 50 miles of each other.

Railroad Progress in San Joaquin Valley.

The following interesting statements we take from The Bulletin of November 10:

The San Joaquin Valley branch of the Central Pacific road is being constructed at the rate of half a mile a day, southerly toward Bear Creek, which is within 90 miles of Visalia The completion of the road to Bear Creek, will change the current of both passenger and freight traffic between San Francisco and the southern and southeastern counties of the State. Passengers for Visalia, Bakersfield and intermediate points in the San Joaquin Valley, and mining districts in the mountains, now take stage at Gilroy, from which town to Visalia is a distance of 140 miles. The Pacheco mountain is crossed by this route and the road over it is very rough, dangerous, steep and very exhaustive to horse flesh. The distance over the mountain is 20 miles. When the road to Bear Creek is finished passengers will be carried to that town, and there connect with stages for Visalia and other points. Fifty miles in distance will then be saved, and a perfectly level stage road will be had. The stages and stock of the stage line, via Gilroy, have been purchased and will be used on the new route via Bear Creek.

Freight to and from Kern county and the mining districts of Owens river, Lone Pine, Kernville, Havilah, Sageland and Kelso, has heretofore gone by sea to Los Angeles, and been carried thence by teams, over several ranges of mountains, to Bakersfield and other points. The distance from Los Angeles to Bakesfield is 150 miles; from Bear Creek to Bakersfied 160 miles. There are three mountains to cross by the former route, and high tolls are paid, while by the latter the road is free and runs over a dead level country. The importance of the mining districts named is little understood here. One fact, however, will give the public an idea of its extent. A Frenchman in Los Angeles owns 1,200 mules, which he keeps constantly engaged in carrying goods in, and bullion or ores out of the Owens river country. In fact, one of the main sources of the prosperity of Los Angeles has lain in its being the shipping point for the majority of these mining districts.

There are now 34 families here who are going down to settle on Govercment land in Kern river valley. The owner of the stage line between Visalia and Bakersfield has for their benefit reduced the fare from $10 to $2 each, and an effort is now being made to have the railroad and stage company between this city and Visalia display equal liberality. The extension of railroads, the settlement of Government lands, the building of irrigating canals, and the passage of a no-fence law, will revolutionize the face of nature in the San Joaquin Valley, which is yet destined, and that quickly, too, to be one of the richest and most reliable agricultural sections of the entire State.

The Undeveloped Wealth of the West.

The editor of The Milwaukee Sentinel, in "A Few Notes on a Visit to California," says: "I speak what I have deliberately considered, when I say that the great mining interests, the real wealth of the Western States and Territories, as immense as it has been estimated, lies untouched and unexplored to this day. Every day new mines are being discovered in localities that are supposed to be barren of the precious metals, and every day some new or less expensive method of extracting them is being found out. Since the completion of the Pacific railroad, quartz mills can be taken to localities that were inaccessible before, and the same great thoroughfare is carrying coal for steam mills into destitute mining regions at a reasonable cost. There are millions on millions of gold dust that lies near the earth's surface in California and other gold producing States which cannot be had for the lack of water, but will soon be obtained by associated effort turning the mountain streams to their legitimate uses. So far, the individual miner has paddled his own canoe, washed his own dirt, and dug his own ditches; but in the mining operations of the future, skill, experience, capital and business capacity are to aid in robbing the earth of its long hidden treasure.

Valuable Quarry.

Not far from the coal mines, and sixteen miles from Anaheim in an easterly direction, is a quarry of calcareous stone, very compact, and susceptible of the highest polish. It is almost milk-white in color, of the finest texture, very hard, without being brittle and compares most favorable with any marble found in the United States. Again, not far from this quarry lies a bed of sulphate of lime, apparently inexhaustible in its quantity. This gypsum is of the transparent variety, called selenite, and when calcined forms the plaster of paris so extensively used for casts, moldings, etc, and which commands a very high figure in the market. The time will come, and that before long, when our facilities for transportation will be such that many resources of this country, now lying dormant, will spring into life, and add wealth and commerce to our community.—Anaheim Gazette.

Don't Complain.

The people of the Owens river country don't like having to wait a month or two to get their freight from San Francisco, via. Los Angeles. Well, when there is a way to save a week's time and a large percentage on the cost of freight, and if you won't travel over it you deserve no sympathy. Say, tell us out there: When you send a grist to mill don't you put the grain in one end of the bag and a stone in the other to balance it?—Ventura Signal.

Yes, that's about the way of it, only we always use two of the latter to effect a good balance.

The Wilmington Breakwater.

The construction of the breakwater at Wilmington, says The Los Angeles News, is reported to be favorably progressing. Fifteen or sixteen men are at work, and about sixty feet of it has already been completed. Besides this, the work of pile-driving has been carried out for the distance of about one hundred feet farther. The piles are driven with comparative ease to the required depth—some fourteen or fifteen feet—without sharpening the ends. It is presumed that the piles will have a greater power of resistance, when once in place, with square butts than with pointed ones. In deep water, stout piles are driven in a slanting position and braced up to the upright ones to support them against the influence of the tides. As was anticipated by its projectors, the action of the waves and tides upon the sand-bank along which the breakwater is being constructed, is such as to cause the sand to accumulate in a body around the piles, affording additional strength to the entire structure. On that part already finished as much as three feet of sand has thus accumulated. In deeper water, however, it is proposed to pack it with rock, which will insure its permanency and security. This rock will have to be obtained from Catalina Island. When the breakwater has been extended to Deadman's Island, it is expected that the current of the river will then be able to clear out its own channel, effectually removing the sand-bar at its mouth, which has heretofore been the obstacle in the way of ocean going vessels getting to a safe and convenient place for loading and discharging their cargoes.

Arctic Expeditions.

The open Polar Sea reported by the Atlantic cable as having been discovered by one of the German exploring expeditions, has directed attention to the different companies of scientific men now employed in the arduous work of reaching the highest parallel of north latitude. It appears that at the present time there are seven expeditions engaged in Arctic research—two from Germany, under the command of Roenthal and Payer respectively; one from Sweden, consisting of two Government vessels of war; one from Scotland, under Lamont; one from England, under Leigh Smith; one from France, fitted out by Octave Pavy, and the United States expedition, under Captain Hall. The discovery of the open Polar Sea by the German expedition brings to recollection the second Arctic exploration of Dr. E. K. Kane, and his perilous overland journey to a point from which he saw, in the inaccessible distance, the unfrozen waters of the circumpolar ocean. This discovery of Dr. Kane, although credited by many persons, was not accepted as an incontrovertible fact. The accuracy of his observation has, however, been established by the recent report from the German expedition

Born in the Stage.

The Pioche Record of October 26, is responsible for the annexed: An extremely rare incident occurred on the last stage from Hamilton to Pioche, which arrived on Friday evening last. Shortly after leaving Hamilton, a lady passenger gave birth to a fine, healthy boy. The event was as unexpected and surprising to the mother as to the balance of the passengers. On the examination of the way bill, Wes. Travers, one of the owners of the line, found only sixteen passengers were booked, but learned from a passenger that seventeen had come through. In high dudgeon he sought the agent, L. A. LaGrange, and inquired how this had occurred, and wanted to know who the "dead head" was. After the matter was fully explained, Wes. could be seen slipping off down the street without saying a word to any one. When anybody now asks Wes about "that other passenger," all he has to say is "nominate your poison gentlemen; it's my treat."

—As Pat Hogan, an American immigrant, sat enjoying his connubial bliss upon the banks of southern creek, he espied a turtle emerging from the stream. "Oh honey!" he exclaimed solemnly, "that iver I should come to America to see a snuff-box walk!"

"Old Moll" Dead.

We are grieved to announce the death of a pioneer of this county, Old Moll, the sleek and well-behaved old Maltese cat. She died full of years and feline honors, but we are pained to add, not quietly and peacefully, but in violence at the hands, or fangs, of the natural enemies of her race—curs, despicable cur dogs. (Tom May says "it took more than one of 'em to do it; one alone darsn't tackle her.") We append a few brief biographical notes: Old Molly was a lineal and thoroughbred descendant of the Knights of Malta—that is, of some cats belonging to that ancient and honorable order. In company with John Hughes, now of Cerro Gordo, she immigrated early in 1864 to Bend City, which then flourished just across the river, now non est. She took in the situation at a glance, and at once inaugurated an unrelenting warfare against the swarms of small rodents then in possession of the country. Alone she couldn't faze 'em; one dead, ten would come to the funeral. Recruits must be had, and Molly took the contract, and with a little outside assistance she has never failed to produce twenty per annum, which in the aggregate would now, if all were living, amount to at least seventy-five thousand cats! But many thousands of these in the seven years of Molly's usefulness, came, saw and made the nights mewsical with sweet caterwauls and discussions of family affairs, been kicked, cussed, dogged, had boot jacks and things flung at them, gave up the contest and died. But they didn't all suffer, as mentioned in the last clause—not by some hundreds, but of these we can not speak now—they are abundantly able to that for themselves. On the decadence of the city across the river, Molly came, honestly it is said, into the possession of Thomas May, Esq., of this place. Here in the quiet confidence of her nature she has sat upon the counter, and listened to the nifty remark, "here's luck, old fel," and "the same to you," 53,069 times, and came through unscathed! scarcely a hair ruffled. But it affected her mental constitution—this never ending refrain—until she became reckless; she cared nothing for curs of high or low degree, and hence this cat-astrophe. Rest quiet, Molly in peace or pieces as the case may be. Chorious, Thomas!

Strike in the "Sprout."

Mr. A. Wingard, Superintendent of the Silver Sprout mines, has shown us a quantity of ore which is pronounced by competent, experienced judges to be the finest ever produced in this county—which is saying a great deal. It is appears to be a singular combination of some of the richest characters of silver ore—chloride and black sulphurets, while particles of the white, native silver are seen, with now and then good "colors" of gold. The shaft is now 56 feet in depth, the ledge 7 and the ore 5 feet in thickness. Its average value will hardly be less than $1,000 per ton, and probably more. The walls are nearly perpendicular, smooth and perfect, and the two-foot "gouge" is being rapidly crowded out by the "pay," which grows richer from top to bottom. A short time ago one-half the Sprout stock was offered at $12 50 per share; this, however, was withdrawn and $15 refused, and now $25 would hardly buy it. A quantity of the rock is to be shipped to San Francisco, when we will be able to give its exact value.

East of the Inyo Range.

Mr. D. E. Hunter, who recently returned from a trip east of the Inyo range, gives us the following items: At Gold Mountain district, north end of Death Valley, Shaw & Co. were working ore from the "State Line" lode by means of a horse power arastra and making about $10 per day. This is said to be a large and extensive lodge of gold bearing quartz. A lot of the ore worked at Belmont yielded $170 per ton. Parties from Austin were about to purchase this mine. Several men were running rockers, and making fair wages, on some placer diggings about eight miles southeast of Palmetto. Chaquette's steam thresher was, without difficulty, taken over the Inyo range to thresh the grain in Fish Lake Valley. About ninety tons of small grain were raised on Piper's ranch, and crops generally were quite up to the average of this valley.

Bought It.

A lot of Kearsarge property, sold last Wednesday under attachment, was bought by parties representing A. M. Edgerton, of Virginia. This indicates that the California Bank is taking hold of the concern, which augurs well for it and promises a different management. No sane man, conversant with the facts in the case, can for a moment doubt that immense profits will accrue from a correct working of this famous property.

Billiards.

There appears to be quite a revival in town of this favorite game. We notice that Harris is cutting down his ancient expanse of green cloth to a more modern size, while Wallace promises that, in a short time, he will have a new, first-class table in position. On May's table a chap in town has demonstrated that a man can make himself conspicuous by constantly punching spurious ivory. He never lets upon "two chances."

Medical

Attention is called to the advertisement of Dr. P. G. Gelcich, Druggist and Practitioner, of Lone Pine, which sets forth matters of interest to all. His stock of drugs are new, fresh and pure. The gentleman is a great student, and his notable successes indicate the thoroughness of his studies. Think of it—he holds consultations in all civilized languages!

Heavy Damages.

In the District Court, in the session of Tuesday last, P. W. Bennett got judgment against A. H. Dorr in the sum of $97,000, on a breach of contract connected with a former sale of the Santa Maria mine. We presume the case will go to the Supreme Court, but the probabilities are the judgment will be affirmed.

The Court Proceedings.

Our lazy reporter confesses his inability to decipher from the interminable reports what was done with any case during the past week, and proposes to forego publishing proceedings until the next issue. In the case of Gould vs. Brady a lot of jurors and witnesses were in attendance yesterday. The trial will probably continue until Monday next, when the Court will adjourn for the term.

Wheeler and His Guides—Where is Egan?

For the following information concerning Wheeler and his habit of losing guides, we are indebted to Mr. Peter Monto, who last week reported the finding of Hahn's effects at Gold Mountain. Monto joined the expedition at Eureka, in the capacity of blacksmith to the outfit. From that point he accompanied it through Hot Creek, Belmont, Reveille, Silver Canyon, Summit Spring, White Rock Spring, Ossa Valley, Grape Vine Spring, Gold Mountain, Piper's and Big Pine, to the rendezvous near Camp Independence. At Grape Vine Wheeler sent forward party No. 2, under Lyle, leaving No. 1 under Cochrane, the parties taking diverging routes from that place. Hahn joined at Belmont, bringing party No. 2 to this place. From here Lyle started out with a small detachment to succor the other party, meeting them on the Armagoza River. As is well known, Hahn accompanied them as guide, and, although it was understood that he did not go through, nothing definite ever reached us as to the manner in which he left the party. Lyle gave our informant to understand that Hahn deserted, and that, had he time, he would have returned to hunt and shoot him. But it is far more probable that Hahn was disabled while out of camp and left to perish, for it was his pride to escort a company, and could have no motive in abandoning it. His saddle, blanket, shirts, saddle blankets, the buckle of his army belt, with letters and papers, were found at Gold Mountain, near the head of Death Valley, in a canyon which has no outlet, as it juts up against an immense wall of rocks at its head. So it is evident that poor Hahn perished, as did his animal.

William Egan, a universally esteemed gentleman, well known throughout Nevada and this country, was employed to guide Wheeler and his party from Swansea to and perhaps through Death Valley. They had proceeded as far as Telescope, some 70 miles from this place, where a three days' camp was made. Wheeler and Koehler were out about 25 miles, in the Telescope Mountains, when Sullivan and Price were sent out to meet Wheeler and take photographic views of a certain canyon, Egan going as guide. On the return of these two Sullivan said that "They came back, but Egan went on." Wheeler came in the next day, and Monto says that Egan never did return, and no inquiries were ever made concerning him. His pack animal and prospecting outfit were, some three or four weeks afterwards, appraised by the officers and thereafter used as Government property. It is pertinent to add, however, that the Telescope country was Egan's own stamping ground, and that he may turn up all right yet. But Monto says that Wheeler made some locations there, and hints of a possible collision between the two. Some time since Mr. James Brady instituted inquiries about Egan, and says that the letters which he received in reply from Wheeler's secretary—Loring—are of the vaguest and most unsatisfactory description—saying something about Eagan's starting from one side party to another, in a locality entirely different, implying an uncertainty as to whether he reached his destination or not.

We are glad to chronicle the fact that Monto is to take a party, outfitted by Mr. Brady, to Telescope, in search of tidings of Mr. Egan; and we further understand that Major Egbert will send to Gold Mountain to investigate the finding of Hahn's effects. John Beveridge, with one or two other of Hahn's Cerro Gordo friends, are already en route for the latter point. If the appearance of things has not belied Lieutenant Wheeler, that gent will yet have occasion to regret his operations.

As incidents illustrating the character of the man placed in command of this expedition, we will relate two or three of his noteworthy operations, not forgetting to mention, incidentally, that all his civilian employees were induced to give him a power of attorney, conveying to him the right to represent them in anything which might be found. Did the Government fit out a private prospecting expedition?

Near Belmont the packers lost a mule, probably by allowing it to stray, as they were not very closely herded. A boy was found herding cattle, who was taken to camp and, by Wheeler's order, tied by the thumbs to an elevated wagon tongue, to make him tell the whereabouts of the lost animal. It is almost needless to add that the boy's tormentor succeeded in eliciting nothing but protestations of ignorance.

At Ash Meadows, some 60 miles beyond Death Valley, the party laid in camp five or six days. Wheeler had occasion to get an order for some mules to his brother, who had went across from Hiko, and was in camp at Stump Springs, 70 miles from Wheeler. The Indians had been very friendly, trading, etc., and Weeeler tried to get one to take the note. For this the Indian wanted a shirt, pair of pants and $5. Being refused, the Indian left, and the next morning returned to camp with four others. The impetuous young commandant ordered them all tied to the ground, the Indians protesting that they would "find the horses," seeming to think that some had been lost and that that was what was the matter. They untied themselves, however, and one started to run. A dozen shots were fired at him, three of which took effect, and the Indian subsequently died. The rest of them afterwards started out with the note, Corporal Magill and a private going along. In an hour they returned, saying that the Indians had escaped, with 18 shots flying after them. It is probable that they had no desire to keep the Indians, being afraid of being run into a rancherie. In this dilemma Wheeler concluded to go himself, so, taking an orderly, he sailed forth. On the trip he was surrounded by and placed completely in the power of twelve Indians, and only escaped with his life through an "Indian Charley," from Salt Lake, to whom extensive rations and goods were afterwards issued.

Boss Tweed.

Fortune plays strange pranks sometimes. Amid the wrecks of Tammany Boss Tweed stands a ghastly monument. While his associates in crime have been overthrown, he seems to have won a sort of satiric triumph infinitely more humilating than defeat. His election has something grimly farcical to it. Death, which is said to "seek a shining mark," made a bad shot, or else purposely fired wide of the mark. So the great King of the New York thieves—the Fagin of the rascally gang—is reserved for a future and more dreadful fate. He goes to the Senate to be kicked out of that body with unceremonious haste; for it is not to be presumed he will be permitted to defile that body by his presence. He has no right to claim to sit among men who bring their credentials from an honest constituency. Besides, if the legal proceedings commenced against him bring forth the proper fruit, he may be elected to sorjourn in a public institution much nearer home, where the qualifications for membership are not so rigid. But wherever he goes—whether to Albany or Sing Sing—he will be a proscribed and branded felon. He has forfeited all claim to recognition among gentlemen. He has descended to the lowest depths of malefactien—vulgarly nd meanly sinned in a way to make highway robbers, who live up to the code of their trade, blush for him.—San Francisco Bulletin.

EASTERN NEWS.

It appears that by the intrigues of railway and other plundering scoundrels, the State of South Carolina has been brought to hopeless insolvency by the issue of State bonds; $20,000,000 of these bonds have been recently printed in New York.

The total number of registered votes in New York city is 152,592—or 9,626 over last year.

Ledwith, the man nominated by the influence of Tammany for Supreme Judge in New York, was a member of the Committee of Seventy, and it is said he sold out to the thief ring for a moneyed consideration.

Govenor Palmer of Illinois writes a letter against the persons who virtually subjected Chicago to the operation of military law after the late fire in that city. He asks for a legal investigation and the punishment of those who did the wrong against the civil law of the State. He says Illinois is capable of protecting its own citizens and enforcing its own laws with proper dignity and through its own officers.

New York Democrats are now urging Charles O'Connor as their candidate for the next Presidency.

General Robert Anderson's remains will be brought to the United States by the war vessel Guerriere.

The London Chicago relief fund reached $235,500 on the night of the 7th instant.

General Schofield is to take charge of the Arizona Indians, bring them all upon reservations, protect them while there, and punish them if they leave and go on the war-path.

The people of Portland, Oregon, are moving to procure aid from Congress to construct a railroad from Portland via Snake river to Salt Lake.

The small-pox has suddenly appeared in all parts of New York city.

The insurance companies of the United States have lost $82,821,122 by the Chicago fire. Besides this foreign companies lose $5,813,000.

FOREIGN NEWS.

In Austria there is now a political war on foot similar to that which for years agitated the United States. The local Diets claim the power of sovereign legislation, which is disputed by the Central Government at Vienna. The Bohemians are admonished by an imperial rescript that their Diet can't be allowed to change the laws enacted by the Imperial Parliament, and that they must not persist in such an attempt. It is threatened to dissolve the Diets of Bohemia, Carniola and upper Austria. The Diets are aiming at decentralization and separate governments; the Vienna Cabinet is intent upon preserving the autonomy and central powers of the Empire.

The Queen prorogues the British Parliament to December 27th.

Lit by Electricity.

An experiment in the matter of lighting the gas jets in the dome of the Capital by electricity was made Saturday evening and proved eminently successful, all of the sixty four burners in the upper section being lit in less than a minute by the process. The battery to which the wires are attached is located on the same floor as the Senate and Assembly chambers, and an indicator shows when the battery is on or off, and how many burners have been lit. This system of lighting the gas in dome has been rendered necessary by the fact that the burners will be altogether out of reach after the scaffolding now in use shall have been removed.—Sacramento Union, November 6.

If the said battery could be brought to bear so as to light up the intellects of some of the members it would be a complete and valuable arrangement.

—Impressions of Greece— Candle-droppings on the carpet.

—A joint affair with but a single party to it—Rheumatism.

—A lad of an inquiring turn of mind wants to know whether the horseman who scoured the plain used soap.

—Among the last things out in pathetic song are "My Darling's Shoes." They are out at the toes.

—The "proud cathartic State" is what her loving sons call the Common of Kansas. It all comes from the cultivation of castor beans.

—"I wish I could get things into the right train," as the unprotected female said to herself when she saw her luggage going away from her in all directions.

—A Chinaman's account of the Chicago calamity is as follows: Melican-Ilish boy take kelosine lamp and milk cow; cow kick over lamp; up go Chicago."

—The Cincinnati Enquirer's Deutsch poet is shocked at the nude small boy on the Davidson fountain He says:

Der schmall boy stands on der fountain,
Und he don't got on any close,
Und dem young girls all plush and say,
"Vat he mean by such conduct as dose?"

—An Iowa woman put starch in her husband's beer, thinking it was arsenic, and was surprised because it didn't stiffen him.

—A young lady at Racine, Wis., swooned in church recently, and the doctors pronounced her defunct. She was about being buried alive, when she "rose to explain."

—"Is your brother-in-law really such a lazy man?" asked one gentleman of another. "Lazy," was the reply, "why he's so lazy that he has an artist employed by the month to draw his breath with a crayon."

The wines of Stuttgard are noted for their bad and acrid quality. There is a proverbial saying there of two of the sourest of them—to wit: that one is like a cat going down your throat; and the other, the same cat being drawn back again by the tail.

—A gentleman who had gained a handsome fortune, by unremitting industry, was once accosted with, "I say, John, why don't you have a coat of arms on your carriage?" "Oh!" said the gentleman, "I want no coat of arms; when I first came into L——, I wore a coat without arms"

Bible Measurements.

For the benefit of those who are not very well posted in Biblical affairs, we print the following parapraphs in relation to Bible measurements:

A day's journey is thirty-three and one-fifth miles.
A Sabbath day's journey was about an English mile.
A cubit is twenty-two inches.
Ezekiel's reed was seven feet.
A hand's breadth is equal to three and five-eighths inches.
A shekel of gold was $8 09.
A talent of silver was $538 32.
A talent of gold was $3,800.
A piece of silver, or a penny, was thirteen cents.
A farthing was three cents.
A garah was a cent.
A mite was a cent.
An ephah, or bath, contains seven gallons and five pints.
A bin was one gallon and two pints.
A firkin was seven pints.
An omer was six pints.
A cab was three pints.

An All-fired Wedding.

The most extravagant and awe-inspiring wedding ever indulged in, came off recently in West Tennessee. There was a brilliant assemblage, innumerable diamonds, princely presents, a sumptuous spread of stomachic goodies, a gorgeous wedding wardrobe, etc., all in the palatial mansion of the bride's father. Just as the interesting ceremony was about to commence the house was shaken by an earthquake, accompanied by a most terrific explosion and lurid light. The palatial residence collapsed, women fainted, men swore, and the general effect was grand. After things had settled it was ascertained that a rejected lover of the bride had contributed the pyrotechnics; had filled the smoke-house with torpedoes, bomb-shells and nitro-glycerine, which, when exploded, not only added a new feature to the wedding, but scattered large quantities of smoked meat among the neighbors for miles around.

Man-Eater.

While visiting Mountain City last week, Allen Fisher presented us with a skin of this singular animal—called Man Eater from his singular proclivity for human flesh. They are quite small, compactly made, with a bull-dog shaped head, coarse hair, resembling somewhat in color the brown bear of the Pacific coast. They travel in large bands in the Winter season, and any unfortunate traveler who chances to be caught out by storms, is liable to be attacked and torn to pieces by them. The skin presented us is unlike that of any other animal we have ever seen. It is on exibition at Mose Haines' saloon.—Elko Independent.

Application for Patent.

NOTICE NO. 6.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE, REGISTER'S OFFICE, Aurora, Nevada, August 16th, 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT JOHN E. WINTERS, Superintendent of the Kearsarge Mining Company, on behalf of said company, has this day filed in this office a diagram and notice of application for patent from the United States, under Act of Congress approved July 26, 1866, for one thousand, eight hundred feet in length of the "KEARSARGE LODE," with a surface width of fifty feet on each side of the lode. Said lode supposed to be one hundred feet in width, which belongs to the Kearsarge Mining Company, a corporation; adjoining on the East end the extension claims of James R. Wall, J. R. Hughes and G. W. Brady, and on the West end the extension claims of R. M. Shuey, J. B. Rowley and John Clarke, situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. Notice is further given that they intend to apply for and have embraced in the said patent together and in connection with the "Kearsarge Lode," the land on which the Kearsarge mill is erected, together with a sufficient space of land around said mill for the convenient use of said mill; also the Water Right of said Kearsarge Mining Company on Little Pine Creek. The property sought to be patented together with the said "Kearsarge Lode" is known as the "Kearsarge Mill Site and Water claim on Little Pine Creek," and is described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a stump, it being the N. E. corner of what is known as McCormick, Kittleson, Cornell and Hill's cabin, 24 links from Pine Creek, from which a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears N. ¼ deg. E. distant 62 links, also a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears S. 58¼ deg. E. distant 64 links, thence N. 25½ deg. E. distant 4 chains to a tree blazed and marked as follows: Blazed on three sides and notched toward the creek and marked "Head of the Kearsarge Mining Company's Ditch," thence N. 62½ deg. W. to the foot of the main mountain, thence N. 27½ deg. E. distant 91 rods, thence S. 52½ deg. E. to a stone mound on the opposite side of the creek, thence S. 27½ deg. W. along the East side of Pine Creek to a point opposite to and to place of beginning. And also all the water, water rights and privileges found upon or in any manner belonging to said tract of land—situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. All of which is more particularly described by the diagrams and notices posted in this office and on the claim.

BEN FISHER.

Ben Fisher had finished his hard day's work,
And he sat at the cottage door;
His good wife Kate sat by his side,
And the moonlight danced on the floor.
The moonlight danced on the cottage floor;
Her beams were as clear and bright
As when he and Kate, twelve years before,
Talked love in her mellow light.

Ben Fisher had never a pipe of clay;
And never a dram drank he,
But loved at home with his wife to stay,
When from daily labor free.
A cherub rogue, with a rosy smile,
On his fatherly knee found rest,
And merrily chatted they on, the while
Kate's babe slept on her breast.

Ben told how fast his potatoes grew,
And the corn in the lower field;
That the wheat on the hill had yellow turned,
And promised a glorious yield,
A glorious yield in the harvest time;
And his orchard was doing fair,
His sheep and his stock were in their prime,
His farm in good repair.

Kate said her farm looked beautiful;
The fowls and the calves were fat;
The butter Tommy this morning churned
Would buy him a Sunday hat;
That Jenny for papa a shirt had made—
'Twas made too by "the rule"—
That Neddy the garden could nicely spade,
And Annie was "the head" at school.

Ben slowly passed his toil-worn hand
Through his locks of gray and brown;
"I tell you, Kate, what I think," said he,
"We'er the happiest folks in town."
"I know," said Kate, "that we all work hard;
Work and health are friends I've found;
There's Mrs Bell does not work at all,
And she's sick the whole year round.

"They're worth their thousands, so people say;
I ne'er saw them happy yet;
'Twould not be me that would take their wealth,
And live in a constant fret.
My humble home has a light within
Mrs. Bell's gold could not buy;
Six healthy children, a merry heart,
And a husband's love-lit eye."

I fancied a tear was in Ben's blue eye—
The moon shone out still clearer—
I could not tell why the man should cry.
But he drew to Kate yet nearer;
He leaned his head on her shoulder there,
And took her hand in his;
I guess—though I looked at the moon just then,—
He left on her lips a kiss.

The Story of a Ring—One of the Romances of the War.

[From The Kansas City Times.]

In the year 1861, a young man, then living a few miles from this city, went into the Missouri State Guard as a soldier. At Springfield and on the re-organization of the army, he took service as a Confederate. Afterwards he joined a company in Col. Up Hays' regiment, and participated in the battle of Lone Jack.

Before leaving home, however, his mother gave him an old fashioned gold ring, which had a heart upon it and the letters "R. S." engraved upon this heart. She placed it upon her son's hand with a wish, or rather a prayer, that he might go through the war safely, and get safely back to his home again.

It is not known that either the ring or the prayer acted as a charm, but the young man went unharmed through many bloody fights, being hit in but one of them, too wound then proving to be only a mere scratch.

In 1864, the young man was very sick of a fever at Clarksville, Texas. During the delirum attendant upon it, and while he was tossing to and fro, the ring slipped from his finger and was lost. The closest search failed to find it, and it was given up for good. There waited upon the young man, however, a very pretty and amiable girl, who seemed to be sorry when he got well enough to join his command. When he left he laughingly told her that if she would find his ring and he lived, he would come back and marry her. If this promise was made with any degree of sincerity, it was soon forgotten in the excitement and care of a soldier's life, and only at rare intervals, perhaps, did he recall the sick room and the ministering angel.

When the war was over, the young man returned to his father's farm in Jackson county, and went to work in good earnest. Two years ago his mother died, and once more the loss of the ring came back to him with redoubled sorrow. He determined to write to the lady who had nursed him, and to inquire of her whether she was married or not, and whether she had ever seen or heard anything of the present his mother had made him.

The letter was in August, 1869, and in March, 1870, what was his surprise to receive an answer from the identical girl he had left in 1864, and to whom he had made the light promise of marriage. She was still single, she said, and waiting for him. And what was stranger still, only five days before she wrote she had found the lost ring The manner of finding it was as follows: The father of the young lady had determined to make some repairs in his house, which necessitated the taking up of the floor of the room in which the soldier had been sick. After doing this, and while digging away some rubbish beneath, the workmen came upon the ring. It had slipped through a crack in the floor, and had been lying there safe and sound for nearly five long years. The lady took possession of it at once, and wrote immediately to its owner, as we have stated above. Perhaps she looked upon its recovery as an omen, and perhaps it was. At any rate it was a little romantic with all its attending circumstances.

The correspondence thus commenced, or rather renewed, was continued with ever increasing ardor on the part of the gentleman, until in the end he made a new and impetuous offer of marriage. Without that the story would be incomplete. Last week, with money in his pocket, a good home in Jackson county, and a great happiness in his heart, this young soldier—now somewhat older and more settled and sedate—started for Clarksville, Texas, the home of his betrothed.

Alfalfa.

[From The Kern County Courier.]

The experience of a number of farmers in this vicinity, who have small fields of this herbage plant now in a state of maturity or full bearing, warrants the belief that, of all the valuable products to which this soil and climate is adapted, none promises to be of more importance. This plant is probably the same as is known by the English name of Lucerne, but which has never gained for itself the reputation of being a valuable or even a desirable crop, in any country where the ground freezes, or the Winters make any approach to severity. In fact, it is native to warm and dry climates, and only there does it show its good qualities and develop its amazing productiveness. From the earliest ages it has been looked upon, in many of the warmer regions of Asia and Southern Europe, as an invaluable crop, and to be deprived of it would strip the inhabitants of a most prized and important resource. In South America, on the coasts of Bolivia and Peru, where the climate is hot and dry, it flourishes in the highest perfection, is an indispensable crop, and a boon beyond estimation. The first seed imported into California was brought from Peru, we think, in '51. It met with a ready sale at large prices, under the name of Peruvian grass seed, but none of it at that time, that we learned of, was successfully cultivated. Farmers were under the belief that it was one of the hardiest of grasses, as it in fact is, after it has arrived at maturity at the age of three or four years, and treated it accordingly; whereas during the first year of its growth, it requires the tenderest care. The young plants are feeble and delicate, requiring to be kept free of weeds and the ground moist on the surface; but, under these conditions, it grows with astonishing rapidity, and, after the first Summer, is generally able to take care of itself.

It was highly prized by the ancient Romans, and is mentioned in the works of some of their agricultural writers, which have come down to us, very much in the manner we hear it spoken of by the farmers of Kern island. Columella estimated it at as the choicest of all fodder, because it lasted many years and bore being cut four, five or six times a year; because it enriches the land on which it grows, fattens the domestic animals fed on it, and is often a remedy for sick cattle. About three quarters of an acre of it is, he thinks, sufficient to feed three horses during the whole year.

A warm and dry climate is not the only requisite to the proper growth of alfalfa. There are certain conditions of soil equally indispensable. It will not flourish in a shallow soil, overlaying an impenetrable subsoil. Of all the herbaceous plants, its roots penetrate the deepest, and search the most extensively for the nutritive elements the plant requires; and to the great size and penetration of its roots, its capacity to stand drouth is probably owing. Many of these roots are as large as carrots, and their ramifications have been found at a depth of twenty feet; hence, its great value as a fertilizer.

The soil most favorable to its growth is a dry, friable alluvium, with a good subsoil. When we speak of a dry soil we mean one which frees itself readily from water, and does not indurate, like an adobe, when dry. We believe the climate and soil of the great valley of this county is better adapted to it than any other part of the State. At least we have good authority for the statement that it can not be shown in the same perfection of growth anywhere else.

It should be sown early in the Fall on well prepared ground, in connection with a thin sowing of wheat or barley, which is found to be a necessary protection in its young state. Care should be taken in the selection of seed, as after it is two years old, it does not germinate readily. After the grain is removed, the plants are yet small and feeble, with very little penetration to the roots. Hence, it is very easily dried up and exterminated by the heat of the sun, though the soil might be moist a few inches below the surface, and this accounts for the general failure of the experiments in its cultivation at an early day. The surface moisture now requires to be kept up by irrigation, until able to take care of itself, which is generally the second year, when it makes a fine growth. After that its growth is vigorous and its vitality so great that no other plant or weed can contend with it; every other species of vegetation is compelled to give place, and it takes absolute possession of the soil.

—The Rev. Moses Champlit, an eccentric preacher, was holding forth at Santa Clara. A young man rose to go out, when the preacher said: "Young man, if you'd sooner go to the devil than hear me preach, you may." The sinner stopped, reflected a moment, and then saying, "Well, I believe I would," walked out.

—A good deacon was mildly rebuking a "hard case" for profanity. "O, deacon, never mind; for your praying and my swearing are just alike." "How is that?" said the deacon. "O," said the other, "neither of us mean anything by it."

—Schoolmistress—"Johnny, I am ashamed of you! When I was your age I could read as well as I do now." Johnny—"Aw, but you had a different teacher to what we'em got!"

Phenomena of the Northern Fire.

[From The Green Bay Advocate.]

There are some phases of the great calamity which fell upon this region last week worthy of scientific investigation. The testimony of the cooler-headed survivors of the fires at Peshtigo and Sugar Bush and Williamonville is united as to one phenomena. They say that the fire did not come upon them gradually from burning trees and other objects to the windward, but the first notice they had of it was a whirlwind of flame, in great clouds, from above the tops of the trees, which fell upon and enveloped everything. The atmosphere seemed one of fire. The poor people inhaled it, or the intensely hot air, and fell down dead. This is verified by the appearance of many of the corpses. They were found dead in the roads and open spaces where there were no visible marks of fire near by, with not a trace of burning upon their bodies or clothing. At the Sugar Bush, which is an extended clearing, in some places four miles in width, corpses were found in the open road, between fences which were only slightly burned. No mark of fire was upon them, but they laid there as if asleep. The phenomena seems to explain the fact that so many were killed in compact masses. They seemed to have huddled together in what were evidently regarded at the moment as the safest places, away from buildings, trees, or other inflamable material, and there to have died together. Fences around cleared fields were burned in spots of only a few rods in length, and elsewhere not touched. Fish were killed in the streams—as at Peshtigo. We hear the universal testimony that the prevailing idea among the terror-stricken people of those places was that the last day had come. They needed not to be terror-stricken for such imaginings. What other explanation could be given to that imminent time, when there was an ominous warning and sound coming from the distance: when the sky, so dark just before, burst into great clouds of fire, the beasts of the forest came running for succor into the midst of the settlements, and a great, red, consuming, roaring hell of fire fell upon all around. The dreadful scene lacked nothing but the sounding of the last trump—and indeed the approach of the awful roaring, and the premonitions from the distance, supplied even that to the appalled imaginings of the people. The Epsy theory, we think it is, that continued and wide spread fires will bring on rain, seems to be exploded in this instance. These fires had lasted nearly or quite four weeks, ravaging forests over a great area, and still not a drop of rain. The rain only came with a change of wind to the northward, and several days after the worst burnings were over with.

"Poor Bill is Gone"

"Poor Bill is gone." This was the greeting from every person we met on Wednesday morning, announcing the sad tidings of the departure from earth of our friend "Bill Grant," or "Missouri Bill," by which name he was better known among all who have for years past had occasion to travel on Fisher's stages between this place and Stockton. Bill was an old and experienced stage driver, with the quick, keen eye, steady nerve, fearlessness and presence of mind in danger, so characteristic of a class of men whose occupation is fast fading away. Like others of his kind, he had a keen appreciation of a joke—could tell a good story and enjoy the relation of one, took a pride in his calling, and was honest and faithful. In his last hours, and when delirious, his mind was on the box, with his horses, and handling the ribbons. "Give me hold of the lines," was among the last of his exclamations. Poor Bill! It was too late. His team was running away on a down grade, and Death, with a stronger and steadier hand than his, "held the lines." He has left us and is a few trips ahead, bound for that station where all earth's passengers will land at last.—Mariposa Gazette, November 3.

Attacked by Indians.

A dispatch, dated at Los Angeles, November 11th, says: We have seen The San Bernardino Guardian, from which we gather the following: From Hank Brown and passengers from Thornburg we get particulars of an attack by Indians upon the Wickenburg and La Paz stage on Monday morning, at 9 o'clock A. M. The stage left Wickenberg early in the morning, with seven passengers for San Bernardino. When ten miles out from Wickenberg, it was attacked by about thirty Apaches and Mojaves. At the first fire the two passengers on the outside of the coach, with the driver, John Letz—better known as Dutch John—were shot through the head and instantly killed. Inside the coach were five passengers; three of them were killed. William Kruger of Prescott and Miss Molle Sheppard were wounded and escaped to the brush, Kruger defended himself and Miss Sheppard with his six-shooter. The Indians did not follow them. They succeeded in escaping and reaching Wickenberg, though both were severely wounded. The following are the passengers killed: Fred Shoboln, F. W. Loring, W. G. Solomon, P. M. Hammel, C. S. Adams and the driver, John Letz. The body of Adams was found fifty yards from the stage, scalped. The news was carried to Wickenberg by the driver of the buck board, who carried the mail to Wickenberg.

WHEELER.

In our local columns will be found a communication from Major H. C. Fgbert, Commandant at Camp Independence, in relation to our account of Lieut Wheeler's operations, which will be found of interest. While awaiting further developments, we will say that the article in question only reflected the deep undercurrent of feeling which now pervades the community in regard to the fate of Egan and Hahn.

The Southern District Fair.

The first fair ever held in the southern part of the State closed on the 10th instant. It is claimed to have been a success, but in view of the adverse circumstances under which it was undertaken, we should infer that it was not any "great shakes," as compared to others held under more favorable auspices in other parts of the State.

The Southern District, in favorable seasons the fairest of the fair, this year did not have a fair show for a fair, but we are glad it showed as fair as it did, and fairly hope its next fair will be held under fairer circumstances, and that home exhibitors may fare as well as those from afar, as it appears was not the case in the late fair. It was no fair way to treat home folks on whom the duty fairly devolves of sustaining their fair, and if the next fair is expected to fare well let it be fairly understood that in fairness the preference fairly belongs to those who do the most in getting up and and sustaining the fair. Hoping that we have, in a spirit of fairness, fairly expressed our views in relation to this particular fair, if not of fairs in general, we bid it and the subject a farewell, believing we have done the fair thing in not making any allusion to the fair attendants of the Los Angeles fair, many of whom are not at all fair—to speak of.

Thanksgiving.

Governor Haight has appointed Thursday the 30th instant as a day o Thanksgiving throughout this Statef This is the same day named for the National Thanksgiving by the President. The Governor makes use of the following sensible language as part of his proclamation:

Aside from the causes of thankfulness enumerated in the proclamation of the President, the people of this State have special cause for gratitude for exemption from the calamities which have befallen some of our sister States east of the mountains. The history of nations and the suggestions of reason and of religious faith teach us that no people need expect permanent prosperity without a recognition of the goodness of Divine Providence, and a sense of dependence upon His favor.

Window Panes of Salt.

In Lincoln county, Nevada. there is a huge mountain of rock salt, so completely transparent that, so it is asserted, the Mormons of St. George and other settlements, in Utah, use it for window panes. The formation is such that it can be split out in flakes of almost any desired thickness, and when placed in windows, the light reflected is similar to that from the ordinary frosted glass. Owing to the fact that but little rain falls in that section, this chrystalized salt is found to be an excellent substitute for glass.

Continued Calamities.

The seat of current misfortunes is transferred from the West and North to the East. The fires of the forests and of Chicago, and the destruction of the Arctic whaling fleet, are succeeded by the small pox, the cholera and terrific storms at New York and along the Atlantic sea-board; these again by the reported earthquakes in Peru. Another chapter, this, to be added to the horrors that have so far marked the history of the year 1871.

For the Senate.

Cornelius Cole, Henry Edgerton, T. G. Phelps, M. M. Estee, John B. Felton, Gen. Miller, John B. Frisbie, John P. Hale and Wm. Higby, Republicans, are mentioned as aspirants for the United States Senatorship.

An Eye to Business.

A number of prominent railroad officials, with ex-Governor Stanford at the head, were lately engaged in spying out the land about the Tulare country. They gave no intimation as to what they are going to do about it.

Baptists.

There are 45,000 persons belonging to the Baptist denomination in East Tennessee, a number more than all other denominations, the Catholics included.

A LOBBY MEMBER.

We are reminded through notices in some of our exchanges of the departure of the members elect from the outlying counties that our State Legislature is soon to convene. We are also reminded that two of these outlying counties, Inyo and Mono, have no member elect for that body. At no session of the Legislature since these two counties have been organized has there been a greater need for them to have a voice in Legislative affairs than at this very time. It is true that nominally we, in these two counties, have a representation, but under existing circumstances it would be far better if we had none at all. It is clear to every one that there can be nothing in common between Tuolumne and these two counties that would entitle a man from that county to the claim of being a proper representative of our interests in any case, while it is equally clear that issues may arise wherein such a representation can and will only be used to our injury. We mean no injust reflection upon the integrity or good-will of any of the gentlemen from Tuolumne. On the contrary, we have not the slightest reason to believe or expect anything else than that they each and all will do all they can for us, with their necessarily limited knowledge of our wants and interests, in all cases when there is no direct issue between the interest of that county and our own. But when such should be the case we can expect nothing else than that they should look to their interests first. In that way in the nominal representation with which we are credited can and will only be used to our injury. Of course we have no means or power to change the existing status of representation, but in view of one or two important issues certain to be acted upon in the coming Legislature, it is a matter of real importance that we should take some steps to secure a direct voice in these affairs hereafter, or for the next decade we will be utterly out in the cold.

Under the new apportionment that is to be made at this session, this legislative district will be cut down to one member. In other words, and in fact, these two counties for the next ten years will have no voice in Legislative affairs, whatever, unless indeed Tuolumne should be magnanimous enough to forego her majority rights and allow us at some time or other to name the man. This probability, however, is both improbable and unsatisfactory. These two counties, geographically set off as it were from all the rest of the State, are entitled and by rights ought to have a distinct representation of their own in every legislature. Their industrial interests hold the same relation, and are just as important to the State of California as are those of the latter to the rest of the Union. Though our returned property and population statistics are but small, we speak advisedly when we say that if allowed a member in the Legislature not one there from any part of the State will represent a larger amount of intrinsic, available values than would he. It is, par excellence, the mineral region of this State, and though special legislation may never be required it undoubtedly is entitled to be considered as the representative mineral interest of the State and, as such should have at least one voice in its legislation.

This is not all: there are other matters connected with the revision of the code that concerns us to a considerable extent which need looking after, but of this it is not necessary to speak at present.

Now, the point is this: We ought by all means to send down some competent person to see to these things Otherwise we shall surely be loser, not only in the manner hinted at above but in other ways that we can point out. We have interchanged ideas with no one on this matter and do not know what the views of others may be, nor have we at this time any person in view to represent us in the way mentioned. This is not a question affecting alone the interests of a few, but in certain proportions those alike of every man, woman and child in the county.

Rather Late.

The citizens of Pioche, Nevada, after the horse is stolen, are preparing to resist fire by the organization of a fire company. A meeting was recently held and $2,321 subscribed for the outfitting of a Hook & Ladder company. Pioche has many old and experienced firemen in whom to intrust her fate.

The Next Session.

Congress meets again on the 4th of December. There will be a large amount of business adjourned over from the last session to encounter at the commencement of this.

ANOTHER MASSACRE.

In another column will be found some account of the latest massacre by the Arizona Apaches, in which six white men lost their lives. Murders by Indians in that "dark and bloody ground" have become so common as to excite little more than a passing notice, and this would doubtless share the fate of the rest were it not for the fact that among the killed were at least two persons whose loss under such circumstances will be noted and regretted throughout the whole country. These two unfortunates, Fred. W. Loring and P. W. Hamel, were or had been both officially attached to the famous Wheeler Expedition. This fact alone would give this flagrant outrage more than usual prominence, and thereby call just attention to wrongs inflicted upon the people of Arizona by the wicked Collyer Indian policy, and in connection with attending facts it will do more than merely excite remark. The error and futility of that policy, will be brought directly home to the hearts of those who have always most strongly advocated it. In the untimely death of Fred. W. Loring, his native city, Boston, has sustained an irreparable loss. Nor will regret at his loss be limited to that city alone. Though but fairly entered upon the estate of manhood he had already achieved a reputation as a writer of force and ability that extended beyond his own shores. Already he was considered by numbers as the most promising young writer in the United States, and thus in some degree his loss becomes national. In addition to these facts he was also a member of a prominent family of the East. From investigations certain to follow through these circumstances the eastern people and the Government will see that his death, under Providence, is directly due to the miserable interference of Vincent Collyer. Had it not been for his interference with military operations these Indians would never have had the time nor opportunity to step out from their secure Reservation and commit such a wholesale murder within a few miles of one of the principal towns of the Territory.

The murder of young Loring and his companions will do more towards enlightening the public mind in regard to the true policy of dealing with these treacherous Apaches than the five hundred similar murders together previously committed by them has done. But the interests of the people of that Territory would have been far better subserved had Loring been permitted to live and carry out his design. He was bitterly opposed to the Collyer policy, of which he was so soon to become a victim, and was then en route for the East to fulfil his declared intention of bringing the matter squarely before the eastern public, by his pen and through a course of lectures based on personal observation. During his short sojourn in this place we met with, and was much preposessed in favor of young Loring, and therefore feel his loss to be something more than that of a stranger of note even. Of the others we have no personal knowledge, but they too will have many sincere mourners for their tragic end, and who thereby will attain a realizing sense of the folly which brought about their loss. The sequel will show, however much on personal grounds the death of these men is to be regretted, that they have not died in vain.

Bullion Stolen.

Between 11 o'clock last night, and daylight this morning, three bars of bullion each weighing 95 pounds, and worth about $1,100 each, were stolen from the melting room of the Manhattan Company's mill in this city. The bars had been run the evening before and had not been assayed or stamped. No positive clue has been obtained of the perpetrators. The agent of the company, Mr. Curtis, publishes in to-day's paper, an offer of a liberal reward as follows: $1,800 for the robbers and bullion; $500 for each bar without the thieves, or $300 for each bar and "no questions asked." Here is a chance for experrs to do good and get well paid.—Reese River Reveille, Nov. 10.

Road from Kern and Inyo.

The Kern river and Inyo mining regions must have a better and more direct outlet for the vast mineral wealth of that section, and it is supposed that a road can be opened through to Santa Barbara. It is our intention to examine this route over the mountains next week and report. In our opinion, a narrow-gauge railroad can be constructed across these mountains at less expense than is imagined by most persons. —Santa Barbara Press, Nov. 14.

Important Matter.

The subject of a road from the Owens River Valley to this place is now receiving much attention from our citizens. The trade of that locality is and will continue to be, an important one, and if it could be made tributary to Visalia it would tend greatly to the prosperity of our town and section, besides furnishing an additional incentive for the speedy completion of the San Joaquin Valley Railroad to this point.—Visalia Delta.

—A head wind—a sneeze.

PACIFIC COAST READAGRAMS.

J. Neely Johnson, formerly Governor of California, was recently admitted to the practice of the law in the Supreme Court of Utah at Salt Lake.

Snows already begin to block some of the roads leading from Salt Lake to the mines.

On the last week of October the Pimo Indians killed thirty-one Apaches near Camp Apache and took eight children prisoners. Collyer will have to bring the military to bear on these rantankerous Pimos.

Two attempts were made on the night of the 15th instant to burn Virginia City. The fires, which were started on opposite sides of the town at about the same moment, were discovered in time to prevent damage. Certain insurance companies have combined together and offer a standing reward of $500 for the apprehension of each and every incendiary caught in an attempt to fire any town on the coast. Should any be caught in Virginia City we fancy no reward will be demanded.

The Visalia stage was stopped, November 14, when about thirty miles from Gilroy by three highwaymen who took the express box containing $500, but did not "go through" any of the passengers.

The Cloverdale, Sonoma county, stage has been stopped by the same gang of robbers no less than four times in the last month or two. During one of these attacks one passenger was killed. It had become a little monotonous, so much robbing of one stage all the time, so the authorities there got Steve Venard to go and get these robbers, and he went and brought in the five composing this gang.

The Chinese of San Bernardino have sent a lawyer to Los Angeles to investigate affairs connected the late shameful riot in that place. It's a dangerous mission.

EASTERN NEWS.

A severe storm traversed the Atlantic coast, November 14, and tales of many shipwrecks are anticipated. In New York, Brooklyn and Jersey City a heavy fall of rain occurred, which flooded considerable portions of the two latter named cities.

One Field (colored) being ejected from a Baltimore street car on account of his color, brought suit for damages in the United States District Court and recovered $40. All the street car companies of that city have now resolved to admit negro passengers in consequence of this decision.

The colored members of the South Carolina Legislature have just declared against making any appropriations at the coming session for the payment of the State debt, and in favor of complete repudiation.

Four hundred Chinese have been engaged to work in the Raritan Woolen mills, New Jersey.

Minnesota gives a republican majority of 13,000, with 101 Republicans to 46 Democrats on joint ballot in the Legislature.

Illinois will elect the Republican Congress-mam at large by a greatly reduced majority. In fifty-three counties the majority foots up less than 6,000.

It is alleged that 15,000 illegal votes were polled at the late election in New York city, and that thirty-six "repeaters" are to be tried for the offense.

Charles O'Conor says Tweed is making preparations to run away to foreign parts, and that he will get off without molestation. He also thinks Horatio Seymour will obtain the Assemblyship claimed by Tom Field in the Nineteenth District, as Field's election was procured by fraud.

The habeas corpus has been suspended in Union county, South Carolina, by Presidential proclamation, affecting only persons arrested by the United States Marshal or his deputies, for Ku Klux offenses. The proclamation was issued on the 10th instant.

Ninety-eight Republicans to thirty Democrats is the latest reported status of the New York Assembly. The Missis-ippi House stands: Republicans, 61; Democrats, 53; Independents, 2. In the Senate the Republicans have a two-thirds majority. The election shows large Democratic gains.

Jay Gould has withdrawn from Tweed's bail bonds. His withdrawal is due to his unwillingness to be examined as to his sufficiency by counsel for the prosecution, which was to have been demanded. It was their intention to prove that legal claims against Gould would probably have counterbalanced the amount for which he was pledged. Three friends of Tweed's were substituted for Gould. These are Jacob Vanderpool, no occupation, Charles G. Cornell, Register, and Charles Devlin, contractor.

His Chances.

Our prospectors and miners are again "red hot" over some rich discoveries that have been recently made in Groom's Basin, and on the divide between said Basin and Upper Lynx Creek. The fever is raging, and every citizen of this vicinity is more or less afflicted with it. We, ourself, have a peculiar desire to secure "feet" in some of the new and rich discoveries, but fear our desire will not be gratified, owing to the great greed of those who have rushed headlong to gobble up everything of value. But, that is neither here nor there. A newspaper man has no right to expect anything in this world, save hard work and abuse, but. Lord, won't we enjoy many a "fat take" in the next!—Arizona Miner.

Another Railroad Extension to the Pacific.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company is looming up as one of the greatest railroad powers of the country. It has already secured the control in one way or another of connecting lines as far as the Mississippi river. And the operations of the Union Pacific Railroa l are believed to be shaped in its interests. The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has now undertaken to complete the Cairo and Fulton Railroad. This road is to extend from the Missouri State line across the State of Arkansas, by the way of Little Rock, to the Texas State line—a distance of about 300 miles. It is aided by a land grant of 2,000,000 acres. At the Texas State line it connects with the Texas Pacific Railroad which extends along the thirty-second parallel to San Diego. It would seem therefore, that the Pennsylvania Railroad Company is actually seeking to control a railway across the continent, commencing at New York and terminating on the Pacific Coast. It has recently supplied a missing link by bringing the New Jersey railroad under its control. The Pennsylvania Company already control a network of railroads in the Northwest; and if a connection should be made with the Texas Pacific in the valley of the Rio Grand, it would probably control the latter road. Scott, the chief manager of this gigantic corporation, seems to aim at absolute railroad dominion. We hear no complaints of injustice. The effort appears to be directed towards obtaining such a consolidation of interests and such an increase of facilities for transportation that the business of all the connecting lines will be greatly increased. If Scott, or any other man, choose to come to San Francisco by way of the thirty-second parallel, the way is open; and in these times, money and brains will accomplish all possible things.—San Francisco Bulletin.

DISTRICT COURT.

Hon. Theron Reed, JUDGE.

The following cases have been disposed of in this Court since Monday, the 14th instant:

Vincettilli vs. Barry—leave of forty days granted to amend complaint.

Bennett vs. Dorr—judgment for plaintiff in the full amount—$97,000.

Schulte vs. Woodworth et. als—continued for the term.

Gould vs. Brady—This case has occupied the attention of the Court since Friday the 17th instant. A large number of witnesses have been examined; pleadins were closed and the case passed to the Jury yesterday. Verdict for defendant.

COUNTY COURT.

A. C. Hanson, JUDGE.

Thursday, November 14, prisoners Jose Silvas and Francis Miller were brought up for sentence, Silvas receiving three years and Miller two years and a half at hard labor in the State Prison.

In Probate Court letters of administration upon the estates of Henry Grimm and James White, deceased, were granted Public Administrator J. A. Lank.

Court adjourned to meet November 27.

Fire.

As every city, town, village and timber lot in the world, so far as heard from, has had its little fire lately, so now comes our burg to add something to the list. Last Sunday night just after dark a small dwelling or office attached to Tom Hamilton's stable yards caught fire and was soon past redemption. Not a breath of air was stirring to warp the beautiful blaze from its perpendiclar so the fire ended where it begun. During its progress a can of powder exploded, creating a little stir thereabouts, and soon after a loaded revolver in the burning building began to go off and so did the crowd standing around. One ball struck Mr. D. R. Curtis on the arm, but without damage except to the coat sleeve. The fire originated from the careless use of a miner's candlestick—an absolutely infallible method of raising a smoke. The loss consists of the building, about $200, and some personal property belonging to Judge Van Dozar and Tom Hamilton of the value of $200 more. The fate of the entire town was decided by the clerk of the weather this time. And, allow us to remark, that a fire company consisting of a few of our small property owners, is in complete organization, awaiting a concerted movement of our citizens to procure them a fire apparatus. Will you do it now, or wait and wake up some night and find the place in ashes, then to curse the apathy that left us no means to conquer the dread fiend. And at this particular crisis in the affairs of underwriters your insurance policies are worth but little more than the paper they are written on.

Benton Items.

A correspondent at Benton, the flourishing mining camp of our neighboring county, furnishes us the following acceptable items concerning the mines in that district: Two and a half miles on the road leading to the principal mines is situate Camp Enterprise, and about quarter of a mile up the gulch is the Silver Sprout. Their tunnel is in 200 feet. They employ three men, and a few weeks ago they sent 2 tons of their best ore to the Stedtefett furnace at Reno, which yielded $1,100 per ton. The next above is the Comanche, owned by James Powring and Albert Mack. On this is sunk a shaft 300 feet in depth, which, for the last 120 feet, is in ore averaging $400 per ton, and two feet wide. At the 300-foot level they have commenced drifting, and have a splendid vein of ore from the start. After shipping ore to pay necessary expenses, they have at present over $30,000 worth of milling ore on the dump. Undoubtedly this is one of the best mines, though there are a number of other very rich ones in the district. Further above are the Diana, Lyford and Hale & Peterson, employing 6, 15 and 6 men respectively. There are several other claims now being worked, employing two or three men each. Creaser's teams take out about 25 tons of "shipping ore" per months, which works from $500 to $1,000 per ton. Most of the mines yield large quantities of good milling rock, which has to remain on the dumps, as there are no facilities for working it.

The Verdict.

Throughout the past week public attention has centered upon the mining case of Gould et. al. against Brady, in the District Court, for damages in the sum of $10,000, alleged to have been sustained by the plaintiffs from the extraction of ores from he Defiance mine, which case terminated yesterday in a verdict for the defendant. After the taking of a volume of testimony the pleadings were given, the jury retired at 11½ o'clock; at 2½ they reported as being agreed. The mining point established seems to be that the Front and Santa Maria are but one ledge, which leads to still further complications. We have a very decided opinion as to which of these claims is the "boss," but it is not at all necessary to express it.

Fires.

Besides the little fire mentioned elsewhere, which destroyed the office of Tom Hamilon's stables, several other incipient conflagrations have recently occurred, but were fortunately nipped in the bud. A barrel of shavings was discovered on fire at a point between Harris & Rhine's store and Welch & Stevens' tin shop, which bid fair for a time to make things warm. The residence of P. W. Bennett, Esq., narrowly escaped destruction from fire that caught in the mantel piece. Last Wednesday night the Eclipse boarding house near the mine caught fire and was totally destroyed, together with all the personal effects of the miners residing there.

Bullion Shipment.

After years of labor and the expenditure of enormous sums of money, the Eclipse Company may be said to have started up work. Last week the first bullion shipment was made by Wells, Fargo & Co., and consisted of 13½ pounds of gold bullion, valued at $2,500, the partial proceeds of 100 tons of ore. Regular shipments will follow, and of still more comfortable figures. We are constrained to award great credit to the superior energy and management of the present Superintendent, Mr. Henry Tregelles.

Boot Shop.

Fred. Fisher has opened a boot and shoe shop next door to Lentell's store. He can and will do all kinds of work in his line as quick, neat and cheap as any body.

THE CHARGES AGAINST LIEUT. WHEELER DISCREDITED.

Letter from Major Egbert.

CAMP INDEPENDENCE, Cal., November 23, 1871.

MESSRS. EDITORS INDEPENDENT:—An article in your last issue, grounded on statements of Mr. Peter Monto, reflects very injuriously and I believe injustly on the character and ability of Lieut. Wheeler. If you will turn to an issue of your own paper some few weeks back you will find a lorg extract from The Ely Record, in which Chas. King, Lieut. Wheeler's guide, describes the expedition as an entire success, and says that Lieut. Wheeler's conduct has been in every respect excellent, and praises him as an officer of zeal, enterprise and ability, careful of, and kind to, his subordinates, and the fitting leader of an arduous expedition. Mr. King is well known in the community as a reliable, truth-telling man: I have no hesitation in believeing him before Mr. Monto, and in this opinion I have no doubt the community will agree. You state that Mr. Monto, referring to Egan's supposed loss, "says that Wheeler made some locations there, and hints of a possible collision between the two." In plain English, that Lieut. Wheeler betrayed Mr. Egan into a desert and deserted him—that is, practically murdered him. If there is any man in our community mean-spirited enough to believe such a malicious fabrication, I pity him. Lieut. Lyle, when at the Post, told me that he sent Hahn and Koehler, another civilian employee, ahead of his party for some purpose which I have forgotten, that when a long distance out Hahn separated from Koehler, that the latter keeping on performed his mission, and returned to the party, but that he never saw Hahn again. He particularly stated that search was made for Hahn's trail, but without success, as Koehler could not identify the spot where the two separated. I think they were looking for water. In reference to Mr. Egan I will give you an extract from a letter received by me from Lieut. Wheeler, from Cottonwood, Nevada, quite a long time ago: "I am afraid that we have lost another guide, as up to the present time we have heard nothing from Mr. Egan, who left us at a place called Rose Springs on the western slope of the mountains west of Death Valley, for the purpose of finding a small party in Cottonwood Canyon, in company with the Photographer and one packer, who backed out and returned. We sent out as far as we dared to go for him, and are afraid that he may have been lost, although in his worst extremity he had more chances of getting through than any one of our party had to find him. My party have not yet reported from Cottonwood Canyon, and Mr. Egan may have reported there. In case you get any information from either Messrs. Hahn or Egan will you not do me the favor to communicate it? I feel very anxious about them; I have a mule on my hands which belongs to Mr. Egan. I shall write to Mr. Brady, his friend, and ask instructions." I wrote to Lieut. Wheeler, asking him to send me any further news he might have of Egan, as every one here was very anxious, and we hoped to hear of his safety and wished all particulars about the locality in which he was lost. Intelligence just received from Sheriff Elder gives us reason for believing that Egan was alive and well in Clarke District. I will forward the article to Lieut. Wheeler and hope that he will furnish all particulars about the missing guides, as well as a reason for Mr. Monto's attack upon him.

I believe I am correct in thinking that the article will be injurious to our section of country, to a small extent possibly. It is exceedingly difficult to obtain appropriations from Congress to survey and examine countries supposed to be desert, and I believe the last grant was obtained largely through Lieut. Wheeler's exertions with the committees. It seems to me that your account, if copied into The Sacramento Union and other principal Pacific coast papers as your articles often are, will be enough to prevent the granting of an appropriation on the one hand, or the Engineer Office from asking it on the other.

Yours, very respectfully,
HARRY C. EGBERT.
Captain 12th U. S. Infantry, Com'd'g Post.

For the Holidays.

Messrs. Wood & Cohen, Masonic Building, have procured a splendid assortment of toys, notions, knick-knacks, etc., etc., suitable for holiday presents. These gentlemen are building up a first-class reputation for square, honorable dealing, and parties examining their excellent stock can not help buying.

Why He Didn't

Two gents of this place got into a bit of a muss the other day, resulting in one of them getting knocked hors du combat. He explained this result by saying the only reason why he didn't whip the other man was because he "was deficient in physical ability." Quite likely.

Hear Ye!

Public attention is directed to the advertisement of Messrs. J. S. Rothschild & Co.; read it, and then figure out what you want and go and buy it, according to the ad, They keep everything necessary to health and happiness.

Let It Alone.

Major Egbert gives notice that all interference with the stream of water flowing through Camp Independence will be prosecuted.

Wake Up.

We would direct the attention of our citizens to the call for a meeting next Sunday night, by a principal property owner.

Wanted.

Messrs. Bell & Bro. desire to employ a shingle cutter; also, a man to drive the farm about.

Chance for Contractors.

Parties having wood to sell are referred to Captain Tregelles' advertisement.

A Beautiful Thought.

When the summer of youth is slowly wasting away in the nightfall of age, and the past becomes deeper, and life wears to its close, it is pleasant to look into the vista of time upon the sorrows and felicities of our earlier years. If we have a home to shelter, and hearts to rejoice with us, and friends have been gathered together around our firesides, then the rough places of wayfaring will have been worn and smoothed away; in the twilight of life, while many dark spots we passed through grow brighter and more beautiful. Happy are those whose intercourse with the world has changed the tone of their holier feelings, or broken those musical chords of the heart, whose vibrations are so melodious, so tender and touching in the evening of life.

Godey's Lady's Book.

As this is the proper time to commence making up clubs to this superior magazine, we will remind cash subscribers to THE INDEPENDENT that in a club with this paper Godey's can be had for $2 25 per annum. The December number presents the following attractions, all got up in the highest style of the art: Embellishments—The Jumping Jack—a fine steel plate; Steel-plate title page—a tableau picture; Colored Fashion plate—containing six elegant figures; Fancy Christmas Doll—printed in colors; Dressed for the Christmas Party—a tinted picture; Colored plate of Lingerie; Children's Fashions—six designs; Preparing for Christmas—an allegorical picture; Fancy Dresses for Children—six designs. In addition to the above special embellishments will be found the usual later designs on the extension sheet, and useful designs in the Work Department.

The literary department is filled with interesting stories from the pens of Marion Harland, Mrs. Hopkinson, Miss Frost, Sue Chestnutwood, Louise Barton, and Belle S. Wilson. The poetry by Sue Murdock, Carre D. Beebee, John S. Reid, Clarence F. Buhler, and others. An array of magazine writers that stands foremost in the land.

In the receipt department will be found a variety of useful receipts suited to the festive season. And in the juvenile department amusements for the holidays.

Arizona Items.

The Prescott (Arizona) Miner of November 4th has the following:

The new silver mines recently discovered near Prescott are small ledges twelve to eighteen inches in thickness, but almost incredibly rich. The rock taken from any of the ledges is of a grayish-red color, with rock crystal interspersed, and presenting chloride and horn silver at every fracture. No assays shows less than a thousand dollars per ton.

The labors of the famous Wheeler expedition are now drawing to a close. Two of the four commands into which it was divided, under Lieutenant Lockwood and Dr. Cochrane, have arrived and are camped between Prescott and Fort Whipple, from where, when joined by the parties under Lieutenant Wheeler and Lieutenant Lyle, the whole expedition will move to Tucson and return East by way of California. Wheeler and Lyle's parties are expected daily. Dr. Cochrane's command suffered severely from cold, exposure and hunger in the mountains of northeastern Arizona and were several days on half rations.

SQUIBLETS.

—India has five thousand miles of railway.

—Among the Chicago contributions was a parasol by a lady.

—A volume that will bring tears to your eyes. A volume of smoke.

—In Colorado a bald person finds himself alluded to as "a man with his head above timber-line."

—A veteran merchant says that, although his clerks are very talkative during the day, they are always ready to shut up at night.

—The right of the British citizen to poison his neighbors' cats on his own premises has been legally decided at Birmingham.

—The total eclipse of the sun on December 12, will be visible from Hindostan, the Indian Ocean, Australia, New Zealand, and the Pacific Ocean.

—The largest number of men employed by one firm in England is fifty-six thousand. The employers are John Taylor & Sons, and the men are engaged in mining.

—The rent of unfurnished suites of rooms in the best apartment or family hotels in New York ranges from five to two thousand dollars a year, without gas, heat, or water. It is the highest form of house-rent.

—An inscription upon a church bell in Milwaukee reads: "In memory of Minnie J. Hodges—weight 724 pounds.'

—A sick man was told that his wife would probably marry again. "All right," said he, "for there will be one man to lament my death."

—A Boston school marm instructs her pupils that "a hundred elbs make a cute." She meant that 100 pounds make 1 cwt.

—A young lady translates C. O. D. on express packages into "Call on Dad."

—The streets in the burnt district of Chicago are lined with children, who have for sale relics of the great fire.

—Ladies are like violets; the more modest and retiring they appear, the better you love them.

—A Janesville lawyer attending court at Racine, had his mind considerably relieved by a telegram from home which read: "All right; it is a girl."

—The young ladies all affirm that they do not intend to go to any weddings or parties this Winter, but are resolved to spend all their spare time in working for the poor people of Chicago.

—A preacher in Lexington, Ky., used the word "churchianity," and defined it to be an outward bull of the profession of religion, without the inward kernel of piety.

—In response to an inquiry. "Whence come fleas?" a Western journal says it does not care a pickle, but it would like to know where in thunder they go when you go for them.

—"We know a girl," says some one, "so industrious, that when she has nothing else to do she sits and knits her brow."

—Suppose a feller what has nothin', marries a gal what has nothin', is her things his'n, or his'n hern'n, or is his'n and her'n his'n?

—"Now, then, children," said a parish schoolmistress, showing her pupils off on examination day, "Who loves all men?" "You, missus," was the unexpected answer.

—A lawyer once asked a Dutchman concerning a pig in court. "What ear-marks had he?" "Vell, ven I first become acquainted mit de hock, he had no ear-marks, except a very short tail."

—Mr. Theophilus Popp, of Poppville, in Popp county, fancying himself to be very popular with his lady love, popped the question to her under the poplar tree, she referred him to her poppy, who, when asked for his consent, laboring under the influence of ginger pop, popped him of the door to the tune of "Pop goes the weasel!"

—In a breach of promise case tried at New York recently, a letter from the perjured lover to the girl was put in evidence, in which he says: "Always remember this: thee see shall give up her waters, and in the midst thar shall grow a green tree at the our that I prove false to the gerl that loves me.'

—At a late concert, a testy old fellow, who had suffered much annoyance from the incessant coughing of his neighbor behind him, turned around with:

"Thats a very bad cold you've got, sir," which met with this gentle reply:

"I am sorry for it, sir, but it is the best I have."

Cramped But Not Starving.

The Modesto News of November 11th, is authority for the subjoined:

Within the past week we have met several well-informed gentlemen from the west side of the San Joaquin river who assure us that there is no destitution among the people, at least in our county. It is true there are many farmers who are cramped for money, and find it difficult to procure feed and seed for their next year's crop. They universally condemn the false report that they are starving or even suffering for the common necessaries of life. They are not of the kind of people who are likely to suffer for food in a State where there is plenty. Rather than be driven to that, they would be apt to remove their families to other localities. All they want is rain and seed for their lands. In fact, many of them have already seeded their fields, and we are assured that notwithstanding the drouth there will be this year a larger area sown to grain in that district than there was the past season.

NOTICE NO. 6.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE,
REGISTER'S OFFICE,
Aurora, Nevada, August 16th, 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT JOHN B. WINTERS, Superintendent of the Kearsarge Mining Company, on behalf of said company, has this day filed in this office a diagram and notice of application for patent from the United States, under Act of Congress approved July 26, 1866, for one thousand, eight hundred feet in length of the "KEARSARGE LODE," with a surface width of fifty feet on each side of the lode. Said lode supposed to be one hundred feet in width, which belongs to the Kearsarge Mining Company, a corporation; adjoining on the East end the extension claims of James R. Wall, J. R. Hughes and G. W. Brady, and on the West end the extension claims of R. M. Sluey, J. B. Rowley and John Clarke, situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. Notice is further given that they intend to apply for and have embraced in the said patent together and in connection with the "Kearsarge Lode," the land on which the Kearsarge mill is erected, together with a sufficient space of land around said mill for the convenient use of said mill; also the Water Right of said Kearsarge Mining Company on Little Pine Creek. The property sought to be patented together with the said "Kearsarge Lode" is known as the "Kearsarge Mill Site and Water Claim on Little Pine Creek," and is described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a stump, it being the N. E. corner of what is known as McCormack, Kittleson, Cornell and Hill's cabin, 24 links from Pine Creek, from which a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears N. 4½ deg. E. distant 62 links, also a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears S. 58½ deg. E. distant 64 links, thence N. 25½ deg. E. distant 4 chains to a tree blazed and marked as follows: Blazed on three sides and notched toward the creek and marked "Head of the Kearsarge Mining Company's Ditch," thence N. 62½ deg. W. to the foot of the main mountain, thence N. 27½ deg. E. distant 91 rods, thence S. 62½ deg. E. to a stone mound on the opposite side of the creek, thence S. 27½ deg. W. along the East side of Pine Creek to a point opposite to and to place of beginning. And also all the water, water rights and privileges found upon or in any manner belonging to said tract of land—situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. All of which is more particularly described by the diagrams and notices posted in this office and on the claim.

The Mining and Grain Interests.

[From The S. F. Alta of Nov. 25.]

The stock market is much stronger this morning. Phœnix—The Jenny Lynch is still showing a fine body of ore. Raymond & Ely—The Superintendent writes, under date of November 12: "By some streak of fortune the winze was sunk just where the "horse" was at its widest part, our drifts show the ore of a fine quality—rapidly increasing in width as we go from it in both directions. I should not be surprised if 30 feet east from the east winze we will have the full width of the fissure in ore again at 217 feet from the surface." A dispatch of the 17th, five days later than the letter, says: "East drift from bottom of the east winze, 35 feet, is looking splendidly. The new 30-stamp mill will be in operation in sixty days. At the same rate of accumulation of ore as in the last thirty days there will then be on the dumps nearly 3,000 tons to work on, or a net value of $650,000." Meadow Valley—Six shipments on the November account aggregate, so far, $70,200. Pulp assays on the 15th and 16th, $166 per ton. The transactions at the Board to-day were considerable. Belcher rose $2, Crown Point $25—the developments on the 1,200-foot level improve. Gould & Curry rose $2. Raymond & Ely closed at the rates of yesterday, also Eureka Consolidated.

When the present harvest came to market it was generally admitted that the production had been very short, and that a very considerable reduction in the exportable surplus would necessarily present itself. This once admitted, it was a matter of course that the idea should be exaggerated, and some persons went so far as to predict a short home supply. Nevertheless, the leading grain house, with its great opportunities for forming a judgment by means of its affiliation throughout the State, expressed in its annual circular, under date of June 30, 1871, the conviction that there would be a surplus of [illegible] tons for export, say 2,225,000 sacks. This was not altogether accepted, notwithstanding the high respect to which the judgment of that house was entitled, and the doubts have caused some hesitation in selling. Up to this time, however, the events have more than justified the entire soundness of those views. The quantity already exported, less Oregon receipts, is 712,893 sacks, and the quantity now in the State, by actual inspection, is ascertained to be as follows:

In city and interior warehouse, tons	141,000
Required for consumption, tons	37,000
Required for distilling	10,000
Required for seed	10,000
	57,000
Net tons for sale	84,000

This, with the the 33,000 tons exported, fully meet the June estimates, and leaves a very considerable quantity yet to find a market. With an ordinary Winter a very large production is likely to result, as planting in many sections, even the Summer fallows of the San Joaquin, has made good progress. It is, therefore, not quite clear why the disposition to hold continues to prevail. The foreign markets are indeed such as to promise that prices may be sustained but not more. The Spring crops of all descriptions of food will come largely in substitution for dear wheat, and much less of that grain will be wanted. The stimulus of prices always produces such results, while the prospects of available freights here is not flattering. The prices for grain have indeed been drooping of late, but they are still far above what will permit in the present view of the English market extensive exports.

From the South.

D. P. Pierce, an old and efficient mill superintendent of Gold Hill and latterly of the Kearsarge mill, arrived in this city yesterday afternoon from Benton. He gives a glowing account of the mining outlook to the southward, and thinks that the mines of Inyo county, California, are destined to prove fully as rich and more extensive than those of any county in Nevada. This prediction has also been made by many gentlemen from that section whom we have conversed with of late. An Indian recently arrived at Benton and stated that he had met Charles Jones on the opposite side of the Sierra. The Indian offered to return with a single companion and capture the escaped convict, but could get no one to accompany him. Jones was living about, from one sheep ranch to another, on the upper waters of the San Joaquin river, the ranchers not knowing that he was an escaped convict. The Indian says he knew Jones well, had known him before he went to White Pine, and had frequently played cards with him when Jones was engaged in teaming about Bishop Creek.—Carson Register.

Her mother said: "You know you were forbidden to eat currants!" "But, mother, Satan tempted me!" "Why didn't you say get thee behind me, Satan?" "I did say get thee behind me, Satan; and he went and got behind me, and pushed me right into the currant bushes."

"Charcoal Jimmy."

[From The Eureka Sentinel.]

The Pennsylvania oil regions produced the world-renowned "Coal Oil Tommy," and White Pine had the honor of setting "Chloride Johnny" up in business. These names were characteristic of the respective sections and they served in a measure, to reflect something of the resources of the country from which each one of the fast young men hailed. "Coal Oil Tommy's" total disregard of the value of money impressed quiet spectators with the belief that fortunes were easily and speedily made in the "ile" business, and thousands of people were thus induced to invest liberally in Pennsylvania wells. In other words Tommy was a good advertisement for the country he represented. And in like manner did the stories about the success and extravagance of "Chloride Johnny" add to the White Pine excitement. People seemed to understand instinctively that chloride was the leading card of the district; all through the manner in which Johnny was billed. Here in Eureka charcoal is one of the leading industries, and hundreds of men are engaged in burning and hauling it from the surrounding hills to the furnaces in the vicinity of town. It is a paying business too, and many men have accumulated handsome figures while following it. The heavy mining companies frequently let contracts for coal for their reduction works which amount to thousands of dollars. In fact the woods are full of successful coal merchants. They usually come to town Saturday nights, and as a general thing they give their money a chance. There is one individual at least, a "high contracting party," who is doing well in his peculiar line, and when he puts in an appearance at the saloons, dance halls and other places of resort, Rome howls from that time till the peep o' day. He plays Coal Oil Tommy to perfection, and, as may well be imagined, he draws large and appreciative audiences. By common consent the boys have dubbed him "Charcoal Jimmy," and by that name he is almost universally known throughout Eureka district.

Who Burned Chicago?

[From The New York Sun, November 19.]

Elder Lindsley, of Salt Lake City, preached yesterday in the Mormon tabernacle, Williamsburgh. Speaking of the reported flight of Brigham, he said: Twenty years ago, when I was preaching the Gospel in England, I was told that he had run away from his people. To day the same is said. I've been in Salt Lake since the troubles began. The Saturday before I left, three weeks ago, I saw him in the Church of the Prophets. He, on speaking to us of the troubles, said: 'I feel as calm as the Summer morning.' He is possessed of great coolness. When the Marshall and the religious hypocrite of a Judge read the indictments against him he smiled and asked if that was all. Brigham has not run away. Every Winter he goes down to the rim of the basin about three hundred miles south of the city to his relatives. Do people think that Mormonism is about to die, and that the persecutions waged against it will blot it out? I tell you they will not. If it and the gospels are not of God it will die out of itself. When I left I was told that I would do a great deal of good while away. I think I will bring some back with me. Let you who are here in this resting place husband your means, and be prepared to seek your temporal and spiritual happiness among the mountains. We are God's chosen people. He is working. A few weeks ago Chicago was destroyed. This is but as a drop of water to what will soon happen. We were driven from that State, and God through his prophet said they should not live there.

Supposed Lost and Perished.

Four weeks ago H. L. Crowell, who lived near Shaw's Flat, went to Bell's meadows, where he had several head of cows, for the purpose of driving them out of the mountains. He remained at the meadows until the first day of this month, when he started in company with two men who were driving cattle to come home. The old man, who was suffering from a cold, was advised to go home, and was told that when the stock in the meadows were driven out, his animals should be separated from the band and driven down. Crowell started with a cow and calf. When getting on the ridge this side of the meadows the cow became refractory and ran off the road into the woods, he following, which was the last time he has been seen.—Sonora Democrat, Nov 18.

Visalia and Owens River Road.

[From Correspondence of The Visalia Delta.]

For the past ten days our citizens have seemed to dwell on this topic with some degree of interest, and we are not in the least surprised that as a community we are awakened to that great and important movement. A road from Visalia to Owens Valley must prove a great benefit to our section. Geographically, we are near neighbors, and it only requires enterprise to make a direct wagon road, that will bring us within a few hours travel and enable us to have daily communication between this place and Independence. During the late visit of ex-Govenor Stanford, it was remarked by that sagacious gentleman that "the Eastern Slope is the great key of this valley." We, as a community hold it, without observing its great importance. Unlock the Eastern Slope and Tulare will receive immigrants direct from the line of the great Pacific Railroad, Reno, Ogden, and other points. Open a good wagon road and it will furnish passes through this Eastern Slope, by which a branch of the great Central Pacific will unite with the San Joaquin Valley Railroad, thus avoiding the great descent into the Sacramento Valley and lapping from the extreme north to the extreme south, winding its way through beautiful meadows into the great Tulare and San Joaquin valleys. To a great many this may seem impossible, so we will quote from the Engineer's report of Sept., 1870, in which he says: "Heretofore the construction of a wagon road from Visalia to Owens River via the middle fork of Tule River, has been considered practically impossible; engineering difficulties of the gravest character were said to exist, which could not be overcome by any reasonable application of skill and capital. I find however that these difficulties were more apparent than real; that no obstacles exist, other than those generally encountered in mountainous countries, and that a better, shorter, and cheaper road can be built on this route than upon any other point between Visalia and Owens River." To give a summary accompanied with the dry details working plans, would be of little interest at this time; and we will simply state that the distance from Visalia to the point where the road terminates on the east side of the summit, is 103 miles. After showing further facts and figures, the report concludes as follows: "That the road when completed, will pay a fair interest on the money invested, no one acquainted with the location and necessities of the region contiguous thereto, will not for an instant doubt; and that it is an enterprise worthy of public aid cannot be questioned." We have clipped a few essential points relative to this road, showing unmistakably the great advantage we shall derive, by co-operating in this great work, and beginning at an early day; there can be no question about the San Joaquin Valley Railroad, Southern Pacific, and Stockton and Visalia Railroad reaching us, and that at no distant day, and shall we overlook this great Eastern Gate, leaving it for some point over the Tehatchepie Pass to snatch the trade from us or shall we enrich this valley? To the calm and judicious observer, there is only one ready reply: a distance of one hundred and three or four miles, is indeed an advantage, largely in favor of this becoming one of the largest business towns in the State; the trade and traffic that await us, can scarcely be estimated; and it behooves us to move, and act speedily. As will be seen elsewhere, the charter members of said enterprise, have resolved to solicit San Francisco capital, in the shape of sales of stock. Citizens here should also subscribe, the town should ask for legislation by which some aid might be extended, and thus by a united effort we shall reap its benefits individually and collectively.

Strange, but True.

Tommy Atkinson well known to the people of Elko, has been engaged in the sheep business during the past Summer, about ten miles from Elko. In the month of June, 25 head disappeared mysteriously from his flock, and after scouring the country for weeks, he came to the conclusion that it not destroyed by wild animals, they had found their way into some butcher's stall, and, per consequence, lost to him forever. Last week his surprise was great to learn from a friend in Lamoille valley that his sheep had been corraled there under the following circumstances: John Walker, a resident of the valley, had noticed the appearance of a band of sheep on the hill several mornings near his farm, chaperoned by an animal that appeared larger than an ordinary buck, and he concluded to take his rifle and prospect the situation. After making a circuit of some distance he got close to them unobserved—about 150 yards—and discovered that the animal was a buck mountain sheep, of immense size, and taking deliberate aim at him over the backs of the ewes, brought him down at the first fire. The animal dressed 85 pounds; his horns were each nearly two feet long, and he stood nearly the hight of his body above the other sheep. The ewes proved to be, as above stated, the property of Tommy Atkinson, and lost last June. Seven bucks that went away with the band were run off by the wild buck, but were found a few days afterward in the foothills, and driven to Mr. Walker's farm.—Elko Independent.

The Gardner Case.

People vs. Gardner; motion by the defendant to test the Grand Jury finding of one of two indictments against him as being accessory to the murder of the Bilderbeck brothers, was denied, and exceptions taken to the rulings of the Court; motion to quash indictment on ground of former acquittal of the offence charged, was denied, there being no such acquittal of defendant in its jurisdiction; demurrer of defense overruled and defendent ordered to plead; defendant pleaded former acquittal and "not guilty." The same course was pursued in the case of the second indictment. The District Attorney elected to try defendent upon the indictment last found against him, to wit, as being accessory to the murder of Herschel, or as he was sometimes called, Oscar Bilderbeck, first, and the same was set for Monday, December 4th, at 10, A. M., and a drawn venire ordered for 75 men. The other indictments pending against defendant were passed informally.—Los Angeles News, Nov. 25.

The Pyramids Astonished.

Even Egypt responds to the progressive spirit of the age, and the Khedive enters upon the work of reform. He has established a female seminary for the education of the daughters of the leading people, and with the object of bringing to an end the custom of wearing the veil. The ladies of Egypt with bare faces under the jockey and jaunty hats of the period, would be such a sight as forty centuries looking down from the pyramids, have not seen. The old Turks, wedded to national habits, are bitterly opposed to this innovation. A recent decree also grants the right to elect their own officers to the various municipalities, and these officers will elect the Parliament. The telegraph is already pushed far up the Nile, and the railroad will soon penetrate to the first Cataract. The navigation of the Red Sea is being made safer by buoys and lights. On the whole, the march of improvement begins to pervade the land of the Pharaohs, and, as in their days, "There is corn in Egypt." This time it promises full and prolific crops.

Cleanse the Skin.

It is a curious fact illustrating the necessity of cleanliness, and of keeping the pores of the skin open, that if a coat of varnish or other substance impervious to moisture, be applied to the exterior of the body, death will ensue in about six hours. The experiment was once tried on a child in Florence. On the occasion of Pope Leo the Tenth's accession to the Papal chair, it was desired to have a living figure to represent the Golden Age, and so a child was gilded all over with varnish and gold leaf. The child died in a few hours. If the fur of a rabbit or the skin of a pig be covered with a solution of India rubber in naptha, the animal ceases to breathe in a couple of hours.

Yield of Precious Metals.

The gold and silver annually produced upon the Pacific Coast approximates $80,000,000; an amount that will be greatly increased within the next two or three years. It is but a little more than twenty years since mining began, during which time there has been extracted and put into circulation something over $1,200,000,000, to say nothing of the other forms of wealth created by the comparatively limited population of this region meantime. Never before, perhaps, have so small a uumber of people built up and established upon a permanent footing so broad and profitable a business in so short a time.

Bullion Tax Paid by Storey County.

The quarterly statement of the product of bullion in Storey county lays over us a "few" for the quarter ending September 30th, but on the product of Lincoln county during that period two dollars will be paid on account of bullion where Storey county pays one, showing very conclusively that the mines of Lincoln county are by far the better paying. Where mines have paid out $90,000 or more during the quarter more than five times that amount has been returned the owners of mines here. We have not yet received the quarterly statement for the last quarter, but are assured by the Assessor that the tax will be all of $16,000. That of Storey is $9,627 34.—Ely Record.

Turned State's Evidence.

We last night learned that John Haux, the leader of the gang of Cloverdale stage robbers, now confined in the County Jail at Santa Rosa, has turned upon his former friends and accomplices, and intends making a full confession. Fear of punishment has no doubt led to this. He says that the gang is composed of some twenty members in all, that one was killed, leaving nineteen, eight of which are now confined in jail. The officers are making vigorous efforts to capture the balance. —Petaluma Crescent, November 18.

Bullion Shipped.

Wells, Fargo & Co. shipped through their Agent, B. F. Sides, since November 12th, 35 bars of bullion, valued at $81,844 23. The shipping of this amount of bullion hardly occasions remark, and is looked upon as a matter of course. For half a week it is nevertheless a good average shipment. With one-fourth of the mills crushing the ores of Storey county we would show them how to ship bullion.—Ely Record, Nov. 16.

THE VISALIA ROAD.

The people of Tulare appear to be decidedly in earnest in trying to open direct communication with this county, and we very much hope their efforts, as outlined in The Delta, may be succesful. The Tule River and Visalia route undoubtedly affords the shortest and most direct means of communication between this county and the metropolis, though it is a question as to whether it will be the cheapest. That question would be determined mainly by the railroad company. If the railroad, after its completion to Visalia, would not charge more than 2½ cents a ton per mile, which is a little more than is charged in some other portions of the State, every pound of freight from this county would go that way. The present cost of shipping bullion to San Francisco is about $54 per ton, while return freights cost near as much more, say $90 per ton. If a good road—a poor one would only be money thrown away—on an easy grade, was completed from Lone Pine to Visalia, wagon freights either way between these two points need not exceed $40 per ton and the whole cost to San Francisco not more than $58. The saving of time would be a matter of even greater importance. It would require then but little more than as many days as it now does weeks to obtain an invoice of goods from the Bay. It would virtually add 50 per cent. to the capital now employed in trade here, and consequently would materially benefit consumers by reduction in the prices of every article, nearly, that is brought to this market. Under present arrangements it is an actual fact that goods for this section purchased on 60 and 90 days time frequently do not reach their destination until after the money is payable. Aside from the loss of profits it doubles the requisite capital necessary to carry on business, as compared to what would be required were this proposed road in operation.

As to the advantage that would accrue to Tulare county and Visalia particularly, it is hardly necessary to speak. It must be obvious to the people here, who give the matter a moment's thought, that their future prospects would be immensely improved through this road. The only practicable outlet and inlet for the freights of this section is now and always will be to the southward, except in the possible contingency of a railroad from the north. Of the several southern routes Visalia possesses the great advantage of being the shortest. There is no reason why it should not be the cheapest. In our communications with the outer world this anamalous state of affairs exists: Mails by one route, passengers by another, while freights traverse still another nearly double the distance of the others. This singular and unnatural arrangement is simply a question of roads.

Freight and passenger traffic would inevitably go together, and pursue the most direct route if it was a possible thing.

The business of Storey county, Nevada, required the construction and constant use of a number of very expensive roads across the mountains, any one of which cost quite as much as this to Visalia would. They were all paying enterprises. The business of Inyo does not equal that of the one above mentioned, but taking it as it is with it all concentrated upon one road, as would be the case, it would more than equal it, so far as that particular road was concerned. We will go further and say if developed according to actual merit, as it will be sooner or later, the business of this section would not be second to that of Storey in any particular. The condition first in importance necessary to produce this result may be summed up in two words—suitable communications. Nearly everything is contingent upon this. It don't matter to us by what route or means this may be effected, so we have that result; but it is a matter of no little importance to the people living on the several routes as to which shall secure our trade and business.

The one that offers the first tangible solution of the question, will be seconded and assisted by our people to the extent of their ability. If the Tule river road can be made as good as represented it would undoubtedly meet with general favor, since it would be an improvement on the present route to either of the Southern ports through which freights would continue to pass if no superior advantages were offered by the connecting railroad at Visalia.

We hope that one or both of the Visalia papers will publish as much of the Surveyor's report of the proposed road as may be necessary to convey a fair idea of the work in hand. It is a matter that would interest many on both sides of the mountains, and is necessary for intelligent action, if any thing is expected from the public at large in aid of the enterprise.

A CHANCE FOR CAPITALISTS.

We have hitherto referred to the great difficulty which seems to overshadow the future of Cerro Gordo, and renders present operations there very expensive and necessarily limited.

At the outset of smelting operations at that place, it was foreseen that the single spring in town wonld scarcely furnish sufficient water for even domestic purposes, to say nothing of supplying steam boilers, and some of the resident miners began casting about for a new source. At that time scarcely a dollar of capital had been legitimately expended in the district, but the brave miners clubbed together and jointly sunk a deep well, in the hopes to obtain "free water." This effort, in common with others, was fruitless, and the project was abandoned; from that time it was packed in a distance of five miles, from the Hahn spring. Subsequently the Cerro Gordo Water Company, at a cost of $15,000, led this supply to town through inch pipes, which, when operating at all, furnish about 500 gallons per diem. The deficiency is partly supplied by packers, who deliver water from the source mentioned and from the Duval spring, some three or four miles below the camp, at a cost to small consumers of 10 cents per gallon. The demand during the past season was not less than 5,000 gallons per day, although but 3,000 were consumed, for the reason that no more could be had. We are assured that even at the exhorbitant, prevailing rate of 10 cents, 5,000 gallons could have been sold per day, had the supply been equal to that demand.

Relief from this Sinbad load, retarding all new prospecting, miinng and reduction enterprises, is bound to come, and that at no distant day, for in a country producing such enormous values monthly, capital can hardly remain blind to the golden opportunity offered for profitable investment in water works. And, while pointing out the remedy and the manner of accomplishing it, we will take occasion to give the reason generally assigned why the monied men now operating at that point have not already surmounted the difficulty: which is simply, that the men owning the reduction works prefer the great extra expense under the present system than to encounter probable competition from other works in the purchase of ores. As it is, it would be idle for any new furnace to even start, much less to expect success, in or near Cerro Gordo.

Seven and one-half miles north of town, by the route surveyed, on the east side of the Inyo range, is situate a spring, or rather a series of springs, the water of which can be readily brought in pipes directly into Cerro Gordo. The supply ranges from four to six inches, miner's measurement, delivering from fifteen to twenty-eight thousand gallons per twenty-four hours, depending upon the number of springs brought into requisition. The route over which the pipes would pass does not present any great difficulties, save a distance of two miles where rocky bluffs are to be crossed; while the principal portion of the line is over loose surface formation, in good ground for covering or sinking the piping.

A proper estimate of the expense would include the probable fact that for $1,500 or $2,000 the water head could be tunneled for and tapped 400 or 500 feet above its present outlet, by which means about two miles of piping would be saved out of the distance mentioned, by reason of going over instead around a certain long hill, and also securing better ground to run over. With asphaltum or galvanized iron pipes, the cost of laying and protecting the right sized pipes would approximate $45,000, which estimate is rather high than otherwise. The water described is owned and has been surveyed by two or three men now residing in Cerro Gordo, from whom a company willing to take hold of the enterprise would find no difficulty in purchasing the necessary rights, privileges and ownership, for the men are financially unable to utilize the possession of it.

Without taking into count the absolutely certain increase of business, population and demand for water, consequent upon the new life sure to follow its introduction, and basing calculations only upon the present consumption, the gross receipts upon the enterprise would, with water at only 3 cents per gallon (instead of 10, which would forever bar the slight opposition possible) be $150 per day, $4,500 per month, and $54,000 a year—paying principal and interest of the investment the first year! And this makes no calculation upon the four fold increase certain to follow.

These figures are based upon facts conversant to every man familiar with Cerro Gordo, her resources and drawbacks. We candidly believe that no where on the Pacific coast is there an equal inducement for the investment of capital, where the returns are so enormous and certain, and we are satisfied that no man or company possessing the means will, after investigation, hesitate to employ it.

"HE HAS NOT COME BACK AND NEVER WILL."

Below we reproduce a remarkable document from the pen of Fred W. Loring, in Appleton's Journal, which, taken in connection with all the facts known in regard to the mysterious disappearance of Wheeler's guides, presents features of no ordinary interest.

The hand of the talented writer is now cold in death, and in ordinary cases criticism would be disarmed; but in this instance the allusions to the guide, Mr. Egan, who was the only one accompanying the expedition from Owens Lake, are so brazenly flagrant and outrageously false that comment can not be inhibited; and the chances are that Egan also sleeps in the valley of death, leaving matters somewhat equalized.

Loring was with the outfit as a necessary adjunct, to him being delegated the duty of "drawing the long bow" in the interest of sensationalism. As a matter of course, the old habit of burlesquing guides was to be expected, but in this how far from the mark! Egan was a gentleman in education, bearing and by birth, unassuming and commanding the friendship and respect of almost every citizen of Inyo county. In his zealous severity Mr. Loring made this guide father expressions which might have emanated from Hahn, but never from Egan. While Hahn's brusqe disposition may have inspired Wheeler's sophomores with dislike, his profound classical education and infinitely superior lingualistic attainments would quite possibly incite feelings of envy. Hahn was a fair representative of "that class of objectionable pioneers, mountaineers, bear-hunters and squatters," whose advantages fully equal and general acquirements greatly excel those who "do not like the class." From one of "the Boston Lorings," a production of New England's culture, better things might have been expected. But Shakspeare said:

> "O, what a world is this when what is comely > Envenoms him that wears it!"

Wheeler himself, as also Lyle, took several occasions, both here and in in Cerro Gordo, to express their perfect independence of guides, yet we have not heard of their ever going out without one. An attache of Lyle's party, with which Hahn started out, on his return told a well known citizen of this valley, that he would never see Hahn again, for Koehler said he would go out with him to "make him find the water or kill him." That the above was told as stated we can substantiate by affidavit. Had Loring been with that crowd he might also have sung of Hahn, whether to the delight of Indians or not—"Il ne reviendra pas," HE WILL NOT COME!

As an incident illustrating the overbearing intolerance of Wheeler's military subordinates, we will state that Lyle forcibly took possession of and destroyed a hay field near the river, belonging to Joe Seely, turning therein all the stock of the outfit. When remonstrated with Lyle told the owner to "go to h—," and used language still more insulting. When the Government is compelled to pay a thousand dollars damages (the claim is now being pressed), Wheeler may begin to think that citizens have some rights which are entitled to respect.

Without devoting further space to this singular piece of business, we here introduce Mr. Loring's published journal, satisfied that our readers will readily note its many contradictory statements, so indiscriminately flourished:

"Into the Valley of Death."

[Extracts from Fred. W. Loring's Diary; from Appleton's Journal, November 18.]

MONDAY, August 14.—We left Owens Lake, thank Heaven, early this morning. The water is not salt, but alkaline, and rolls up breakers on its beach like an apology for a salt water cove. It covers about thirty square miles; and I sat and looked at it and tried to imagine myself at the seaside. The water is so saponaceous that it cleanses those who bathe in it very thoroughly, which is a blessing; but it is necessary to wash in some of the little pools around to prevent the skin from becoming inflamed. These pools are abundant, and full of sulphur water, which is all we have to drink, and is particularly nasty. Around the beach is a black band, a foot wide and two inches deep, composed of flies, which feed on the alkaline crust of the beach, and in course of time change to maggots. The Indians eat these, as they do every thing which has life.

TUESDAY, August 15.—We have a guide, an objectionable pioneer, miner, forty-niner, mountaineer, bear-hunter and squatter. I do not like the class. One of them took me for and old partner of his—another forty-niner, who narrowly escaped being lynched—which was flattering. Still, my beard has grown to such an extent that I am not astonished at the mistake. I told him that I was a forty-niner in the world, but a seventy-oner in California. He asked me to drink. Whiskey of the worst class, of course—in this locality, too, which might might be the wine-raising country of the world. My throat not being rawhide, I "petered out" after one swallow.

Our guide is a Nimrod or a Munchhausen—perhaps both. He is ubiquitous in camp, and has kept me actively engaged all day in moving my blankets away from reach of his saliva—the beast! I think I do not love the human race as I ought. He will tell bear stories, and roar in imitation of a grizzly while doing it, which is not pleasant. Also, he has been giving us a fabulous description of a water-spout. I have incensed him. He told me to-day of a friend of his, aged forty, who was married to a girl of eight. I said his friend was a brute, which was not wise, though true.

"Well," said he, "we develop early here in California. There air seven or eight children married in Owens Valley; and one gal of twelve has been divorced from her first husband, and married to her second." (Spit.) "We develop in California—we do."

I remarked that it was a disgrace to California, which was less wise. I hear now that he contemplates shooting me.

WEDNESDAY, August 16.—A lovely camp in a rocky canyon. It pays me for coming out here. A running stream through willow trees and waving grass, with rocky sides of volcanic rock, covered at their bases with tropical luxuriance of trailing, delicate vines. Then barren crags loom up nearly five hundred feet. The stream breaks in a cascade, sixteen feet high, which gives such a shower bath as I never dreamed of, and then rushes along a quarter of a mile, and falls in the most silvery thread over a precipice two hundred feet deep, while the sides of the canyon loom up higher and higher. This beautiful cascade has been named for our agreeable guide. I must not forget the willow tree under which I spread my blankets last night. It is old and big, and curves so that its branches support a perfect dome of foliage.

THURSDAY, August 17.—We are to be here in camp for several days, to rest animals and men, and send exploring parties out into the Death Valley. Every one I have met has described it to me, and the number of contradictory stories I have heard is astonishing. A party of immigrants were guided by a treacherous Mormon into it, where they perished miserably in nearly a dozen different places. Relics of them are found yearly by adventurous mountaineers. They died together in a variety of places, all the way from Belmont to San Diego. The Death Valley has no water, but is full of running springs. It is either four hundred and fifty, or one hundred and seventy-five feet below the level of the sea, or else it is not below the level of the sea at all. It extends from Belmont in a series of plateaus, so that it is either three hundred or sixty miles long. It is so hot that a man can not cross it at noon or in the Summer; but there are many hotter and inhabited places on the coast. Our guide goes away to-morrow. He is more and more of a nuisance every day.

FRIDAY, August 18.—Last night we had a water spout, sheet lightning, thunder, breaking of bowlders from the mountain side—all crash, and roar, and glare. I ran barefooted over the sharp flint stones of the mountain to drive back some frightened mules, and wondered whether any of my friends would believe my account of the scene. The guide did not exaggerate; it was stupendously terrific. The full force of the shock did not reach us. These spouts slice off mountains, open and block up canyons, and change the entire course of streams of water. Our guide is indignant that I was not more enthusiastic; but there are times when a person has not time to be enthusiastic.

SATURDAY, August 19.—Our guide left to-day with S——, to try some of the canyons on the west side of the Death Valley for water, so that we can cross easily over to Furnace Creek; and for a short time we shall have a respite from bear stories.

MONDAY, August 21.—S—— arrived in camp last night, with no guide. He was a fraud—such a fraud as only an old mountaineer who pretends to know the country can be. After leading them fairly into the Death Valley, he left them, as they found he had lost his way. He did not come back again, and never will come back. I sing like General Boum in "La Grand Duchess:"

> "Il ne reviendra pas"— to the great delight of an Indian—"a heap good Indian," of course, who is stealing "muck-a-muck" from us daily. S—— and the two men with him suffered terribly, squeezing the water faom some mud they dug up on the second day, after nearly two days with no water.

TUESDAY, August 22.—We started over the mountains to the north, and from the summit of the range looked down over five thousand feet into the Death Valley, white and poisonous below—rocky cliffs on each side of the canyon, and below this a lifeless mass of still white soil.

THURSDAY, August 24.—The part which of all my eight months' experience in the deserts of the Southwest I have most dreaded is over at last, and the Death Valley is behind us. We are now in Furnace Creek—appropriately named, for the wind is hot and dry, the water tepid, and clothing becomes almost an impossibility. But, after yesterday, we are only two happy over it. I suppose the name made our hardships greater. The Death Valley "hath a goodly sound," and the glimpse we caught of it the day before yesterday from the mountain top gave us a frightful impression of it. We passed some six miles down the canyon before we reached the valley proper, and this was six miles of walking and climbing, not of riding. Then shale and pebbles, and then a flat plain, dead white in color, miry in some places, and whose soil consisted of a substance which, as it looked like salt and tasted like salt, I will call "pulverulent efflorescence." Our water, of course, gave out. Because it was the Death Valley, our thirst was greater than usual. I could see how bloodshot the mens' eyes grew. Then there were wonderful effects of mirage—lakes, trees and fields. In such cases, sometimes men grow perfectly crazy, and "babble of green fields." Luckily, we were spared this. The thermometer stood at one hundred and twenty degrees, and I just dismounted from my mule in time to avoid an attack of sun-stroke, such as prostrated three of my companions. There was a wretched little mesquite bush, which, with a judicious arrangement of my mule, who was quiet to an unprecedented extent, furnished me with a little shade, in which I lay until sundown, when I started for Furnace Creek. There can be little doubt that the Death Valley is at least three hundred feet below the level of the sea. Its heat is its greatest terror, for there is abundance of water in the canyons which open into its western side, so that thirst is to be feared more from the concealment than the scarcity of the springs. But its beauty is evil, and, though it is picturesque, it is frightful. I trust I may never have to pass through it again.

Chicago and Insurance.

It was only a few days before the great fire that the President of one of the heaviest of the English insurance companies (the Imperial of London) was in Chicago with a view of establishing an agency here, but was so impressed with the precariousness of our situation that he declined to yield to the temptation of high premiums and establish an agency here. "I can not do it," said he, "you have some fine buildings, but you have them surrounded by very bad ones. The first time circumstances combine against you your whole city will burn up." The experienced underwriter had hardly time to get out of the country before his prediction was terribly verified.—Chicago Tribune.

—"There are two ways of doing it," said Pat to himself, as he stood musing and waiting for a job on the street corner. "If I save me $4,000 I must lay me up $200 a year for twenty years, or I can put away $20 a year for two hundred years. Now, which way will I do it?"

—The King of Dahomey attended a grand feast the other day, wearing a quantity of druggists' labels as decorations.

EASTERN NEWS.

The Grand Duke Alexis, with all his fleet, arrived in New York November 20. His vessel was met in Lower Bay, by the yacht fleet, a number of steamers and government ships of war. The Grand Duke's fleet was much delayed by foul weather on the Atlantic, but now that the Duke has finally arrived, the snobs and Jenkinses are all right.

Horace Greeley, it is reported, is to be appointed one of the Park Commissioners of New York city.

General Howard will recommend the discontinuance of the Freedmen's Bureau in his forthcoming report.

Collector Murphy of New York has resigned his office. The President accepts it with some fine compliments to Murphy. Chester A. Arthur was appointed in his place.

It is announced that Controller Connolly of the city of New York has resigned, and that Mayor Hall has appointed Deputy Controller Green to fill the vacancy.

Charles O'Conor says that, owing to a flaw in the indictment, William M. Tweed will escape punishment on the criminal charges brought against him.

Fire Meeting—Water Works.

We chronicle with pleasure the fact that our citizens have not only awakened to the danger of the town being annihilated by fire, but are taking very decided steps in the right direction to prevent such a catastrophe. Pursuant to a call published by one of our heaviest property owners, a meeting of a majority of the prominent citizens was had last Sunday evening. Mr. J. P. M. Perham was called to the chair, and a gentleman of THE INDEPENDENT establishment chosen Secretary.

Mr. Rhine read a detailed statement of a survey made by himself, Perham and others, made with the view of determining the necessary length of pipe to convey water under suitable pressure from the creek into town. By this survey they ascertained that to obtain a pressure of 120 feet 3,340 feet of piping would be required. No estimates of the probable cost were submitted, other than in a general way during a discussion relating to the comparative advantages of undertaking this method of protection against fire, and that by means of fire engine and apparatus. As a decision upon these points was contingent upon a question of finance, it was resolved to open book for subcriptions, which were to be subject to either plan fixed upon hereafter. Mr. Nathan Rhine was delegated to confer with an eminent engineer of San Francisco, from whom a report giving costs in detail of the proposed system of works is to be obtained, and James E. Parker was selected to ascertain by correspondence or otherwise, all the essential particulars relating to a regular fire engine, both gentlemen to report at the next meeting. Quite a liberal sum was then subscribed by those present, and a committee consisting of Messrs. Rhine, Bennett and Perham were appointed to solicit additional subscriptions, a full list of which we will publish in due time. The meeting then adjourned subject to the call of the chairman.

In due time, final reports will be submitted to the citizens concerning the cost and effectiveness of both systems, but we may be permitted to give, in advance, our ideas and estimates of the respective plans.

The plan of using cast iron pipes foots up about as follows:

The required length is 3,340 feet, which may be divided in three equal sections of piping varying in thickness corresponding with different degrees of pressure. Six-inch pipes are to be used. The first section may be of ⅜, the second of ¼ and the third of ⅛ inch iron. These would be the lightest allowable for cast iron. The average weight per foot of the three kinds, without flanges or joints, would be 34½ pounds; total weight, 115,230 pounds. With flanges the weight per foot would be about 41 pounds, or 136,920 in all. Possibly this iron might be delivered on the ground at a total cost of $13,920 (10 cents per pound.) As the cost of cast iron piping will preclude its use under present circumstances it is useless to make any estimates of the cost of putting it in place, etc.

Galvanized sheet iron makes a more favorable showing. This might be used in four equal sections varying in thickness as in the former case, to suit the different degrees of pressure. Supposing iron of the following Nos., viz. 22, 20, 16 and 14, to be used, we have an average weight per foot of 4¼ pounds, and a total of 13,030 pounds. First cost and freight would make this cost about 18 cents per pound, in all $2,705 40. The weights mentioned are for ordinary sheet iron, we having no data from which to determine the difference in weight between that and iron of the same No. prepared, as would be necessary, to resist corrosion. This preparation would add considerable to the weight and secondary expense, but need not be considered now. Rivets, making up and putting in place would probably cost $1,200 more, making a total cost of the pipe in place about $1 25 per foot. An extension of the main pipe of perhaps 500 feet through the main street, fire plugs, hose, (500 feet) pipes and nozzles, would amount to about $1,500 more. Tank to contain 50,000 gallons, work and material, $900, contingencies, $300; total, whole cost, about $7,000. The heaviest iron in this count is amply sufficient to sustain a pressure of 150 feet, or 64 pounds to the square inch. The pressure under 120 feet would be 51 pounds to the inch, giving the water through a suitable pipe a velocity of 85 feet per second, at which rate 1¼-inch pipe will discharge 23,000 gallons per hour.

The foregoing estimates are not offered as being strictly correct, but are near enough to convey a tolerably fair idea of costs and effects under this system. On actual trial the estimated total will be found too small to accomplish the desired object, but of this we will be better able to judge when the expected report from the engineer comes to hand.

On the other hand a perfect, serviceable fire engine of the Hunneman pattern (the favorite, on account of simplicity and durability) second class size, will cost, laid down here, $1,600. A hose cart, with 600 feet of "carbolized rubber," or single rivet leather hose, will cost about $975, making a total of $2,575, including pipes, nozzles and spanners complete. To this must be added say $200 for the construction of two small cisterns, supplied with running water—the whole making a very effective outfit.

Before passing this subject a word of caution may not be amiss. The primary cause of fully one half the fires is defective flues and stove-pipes, especially in wooden buildings. Stove pipes should never be put in position without the joints being securely riveted together, particularly that portion between ceiling and roof, which is liable to be disjointed by the wind. Pipe should never be placed nearer wood than eight inches, and in most cities, stove pipes are required by ordinance to extend at least four feet above the roof. No amount of care can be lost in attending to stove pipes. Rigorously exclude the miners' villainous candlesticks, take care about matches, pipes and lamps, tightly close all stoves upon retiring, and then trust to luck and the plucky firemen, who always receive more kicks than pennies.

Toys.

We would direct the attention of everybody, and that of crusty bachelors in particular, who have no little responsibilities of their own, to the announcement of Wood & Cohen, who propose furnishing holiday presents for a consideration, and suggest that said bachelors do the proper thing by the rising generation.

The San Felipe.

We notice Mr. M. A. Wheeler, of San Francisco, representing the San Felipe Company, in town fixing up matters pertaining to that corporation.

New Shop.

Mr. P. Harrington has opened a blacksmith shop in the building nearly opposite the Postoffice.

Snow.

The first regular snow of the season occurred during the past week, commencing on Tuesday night, and continuing on the mountains pretty steadily until yesterday. A few inches only fell upon the valley, which disappeared on the following day. At the Kearsarge mill it is reported as being two and one half or three feet deep, and at the Silver Sprout mine, still further up in the clouds, it is reported as four feet in depth.

Presentation.

We last week inadvertantly omitted to mention the presentation to Thomas May, Esq., of a fine plug hat, which affair was gotten up by Charleys Begole and Johnson of Lone Pine. It took Thomas somewhat by surprise but he gaily rallied, and the last we saw of the crowd there were several gents feeling gloriously salubrious over it.

Stoves.

Now that the cold weather has set in, the stove question becomes one of considerable importance. To those needing the article, Messrs. Welch & Stevens' new advertisement will be of interest.

Meeting.

Members of Independence Engine Co. No. 1 will notice that the regular monthly meeting takes place next Monday.

Water Wheel.

Yesterday was loaded on a Bishop Creek team a Leffel Turbine water wheel, for Tim Lewis' saw mill.

PACIFIC COAST READAGRAMS.

Washington Territory owes a debt of $250,000, which she is anxious to pay off by a lottery; that is a very good way to do it, as the money won't be missed.

Report says the western terminus of the Northern Pacific Railroad is to be at Stellacoom. The Kalama paper denies the report.

Thomas H. Selby announces that he is not a candidate for the United States Senate.

Eighteen of the Carson prison breakers have been indicted by the Grand Jury for the murder of Isaacs and Pixley. The Reno Crescent says: The prisoners are in the custody of Sheriff Swift, in the county jail. The Sheriff finds no difficulty in managing them with his few efficient deputies. The prisoners were half starved when brought from the Prison, having been regaled with bread and water since their recapture. Mr. Swift is feeding them on good substantial grub, and they are getting to look sleek and hearty. They won't get away from the Sheriff, and they won't try to.

The southern part of the State was visited by another sand storm, November 24, of even greater severity than that which occurred a few weeks ago. Stages conveying mails were greatly delayed.

The Wrecked Whalers.

The bark D. C. Murray, from Honolulu, brings to San Francisco several more officers of the wrecked whaling fleet and some particulars of disasters to different vessels. Many of the sailors from the wrecked fleet have set to work on the sugar plantations, much to the relief of the planters, who were greatly in need of more laborers.

A new fleet was expected to be fitted out at New Bedford on receipt of the news of the disaster, and these sailors would join it at Honolulu.

Governor Palmer and Sheridan.

Governor Palmer's course in attacking Sheridan receives no greater condemnation than in Chicago, where the admirable services of the General during the direful days of her destruction are most keenly appreciated. The Post says: The State of Illinois is disgraced by the spectacle. Had John M. Palmer been in Horatio Seymour's place at the time of the New York riot of 1863, he would have urged the indictment of General Dix; and had he been in Andrew Johnson's place in the spring of 1865, he would, very likely, have ordered the arrest of Boston Corbett, on a charge of murder because he shot Wilkes Booth. He would most certainly have approved the refusal of the Lord Mayor of London to call in the aid of the military in arresting the flames of the great fire of 1666. Nothing in the line of red tape could be too absurd and disastrous to be in keeping with the Palmer idea of law and order, as defined in the Bushnell Red letters.

—To authors—It is not wrong to write if you right wrong.

—Why is a clergyman like a locomotive? Because you are to look out for him when the bell rings.

—A speaker at the Pittsburgh Woman Suffrage Association meeting remarked that "man is only an imperfectly developed woman."

—Dr. Malcolm of Houston poisoned his two little sons and himself for fear he might die and leave his children to the world's cold charity.

—The Paris ultramontane organ L' Univers tells its readers that they had better subscribe for the relief of the Pope than for the Chicago sufferers.

—About two-thirds of the metal of the Chicago Court House bell has been cut off with cold chisels and converted into relics by the venerating inhabitants of that city.

—A Vermont girl, who sued a false lover for $40 for breach of promise, gave the Court this rule for reckoning the damages: Nine shillings per week for "setting up," plus the value of lights and fuel.

—In a pamphlet entitled "A Minister of War of twenty-four days" Gen. Count Palikao frankly admits that he was the originator of that fatal flank march to Sedan, which terminated in the surrender of McMahon and his army.

—Apothecaries in England, when they sell poisonous drugs, put them in peculiarly shaped bottles, so distinctive in shape that they cannot be mistaken in the mark, or their contents used by mistake. The use of such bottles is made general.

—A Kentucky conversation: "Hello, dar, you darkey, what you ax for dat old blind mule, hey?" "Well, I dunno guess I must take $35." "Thirty-five dollars! I'll give you five!" "Well, you may have him; I won't stand on $30—in a mule trade."

—A Racine (Wisconsin) girl wanted her lover to swear on the Bible that she was all the world to him, and when he would'n't she knocked him down with the sacred volume.

—A boot-maker in Petaluma has instituted a new phase in the way of business. He trusts a man a certain length of time, and then makes out his bill and places it on a playcard in the show-window of his shop.

—Catholics in Switzerland have held a general meeting and voted to renounce their connection with the Papacy. Papal Infallibility is rejected. congregations choose their own priest, and forced celibacy is abolished.

Application for Patent.

NOTICE NO. 6.

UNITED STATES LAND OFFICE, REGISTER'S OFFICE, Aurora, Nevada, August 16th, 1871.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN THAT JOHN B. WINTERS, Superintendent of the Kearsarge Mining Company, on behalf of said company, has this day filed in this office a diagram and notice of application for patent from the United States, under act of Congress approved July 26, 1866 for one thousand, eight hundred feet in length of the "KEARSARGE LODE," with a surface width of fifty feet on each side of the lode. Said lode supposed to be one hundred feet in width, which belongs to the Kearsarge Mining Company, a corporation; adjoining on the East end the extension claims of James R. Wall, J. B. Hughes and G. W. Brady, and on the West end the extension claims of R. M. Shuey, J. B. Rowley and John Clarke, situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. Notice is further given that they intend to apply for and have embraced in the said patent together and in connection with the "Kearsarge Lode," the land on which the Kearsarge mill is erected, together with a sufficient space of land around said mill for the convenient use of said mill; also the Water Right of said Kearsarge Mining Company on Little Pine Creek. The property sought to be patented together with the said "Kearsarge Lode" is known as the "Kearsarge Mill Site and Water Claim on Little Pine Creek," and is described as follows, to-wit: Commencing at a stump, it being the N. E. corner of what is known as McCormick, Kathleson, Cornell and Hill's cabin, 24 links from Pine Creek, from which a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears S. 8 deg. E. distant 62 links, also a spruce tree 5 feet in diameter bears S. 58½ deg. E. distant 64 links, thence N. 25½ deg. E. distant 4 chains to a tree blazed and marked as follows: Blazed on three sides and notched toward the creek and marked "Head of the Kearsarge Mining Company's Ditch" thence N. 58½ deg. W. to the top of the main mountain, thence N. 27½ deg. E. distant 91 rods, thence S. 62½ deg. E. to a stone mound on the opposite side of the creek, thence S. 27½ deg. W. along the East side of Pine Creek to a point opposite to and to place of beginning. And also all the water, water rights and privileges found upon or in any manner belonging to said tract of land—situate, lying and being in the Kearsarge Mining District, County of Inyo, State of California. All of which is more particularly described by the diagrams and notices posted in this office and on the claim.

THANKSGIVING IDYL.

[From The Carson Register.]

[Under the above heading the following lines were yesterday written and presented to Lieutenant Governor and State Prison Warden Frank Denver, by Andy Johnson, alias Vandeleur, alias Leydon, who was sent to the State Prison last spring, from Storey county, for ten years for robbing the stage on the Geiger Grade. Johnson is an Englishman by birth, about 48 years of age, an engineer and machinist by trade, and is one of the smoothest and most innocent-looking scoundrels in any prison, and is one of the most expert safe breakers and lock pickers living. The hint contained in the lines is one of the neatest we have ever seen, and Johnson ought to have a rousing turkey dinner.—Editors Register.]

The Autumn frosts have come again,
And browned each hill and valley;
While from the north off Winters train,
Their clans begin to rally.

Though September felt the frosty blast,
Which came down to disrobe her,
When Winter reached November past,
And shook hands with October.

The earth has yielded fruit and grain,
From her ten thousand portals—
Enough to raise a hearty strain
Of gratitude from mortals.

That turkey strutting in the yard,
In all his pride and beauty,
Will soon by culinary artists be prepared
To do Thanksgiving duty.

Oh, ye! who, sheltered from the blast
Of this year's bleak November,
With "lines in pleasant places cast,"
Less happy lots remember.

When ye around your board are brought,
To eat Thanksgiving dinners,
Amid your feasting have a thought
Of us less favored sinners.

And after ye shall richly feel,
Where worthy thanks are given,
Pray let one kind, substantial deed
Escort your thanks to Heaven!

House where Men Never Laugh.

How do you think you would like to live fearing every moment to be blown up; not daring to speak loud, to jar anything, for fear of starting an explosion that would send you in an instant to the other world?

You don't think it wou'd be very pleasant? Well, it isn't; yet hundreds of men live in just that state, work, receive pay, and live, year after year, in the very sight of death, as it were; all, that the world may have gunpowder.

You can easily guess that those men go about very quietly, and never laugh.

You know that gunpowder is very dangerous in a gun or near a fire, but perhaps you don't know that it is equally dangerous all through the process of making.

A powder mill is a fearful place to visit, and strangers are very seldom allowed to go into one. They are built far from any town, in the woods, and each branch of the work is done in a separate building.

These houses are quite a distance from each other, so that if one blows up it won't blow up the rest. Then the lower parts of the building are made very strong, while the roofs are very lightly set on. So that if it explodes, only the roof will suffer.

But, in spite of every care, sometimes whole settlements of the powder mills will go off almost in an instant, and every vestige of the work of years will be swept away in a few seconds.

But though you feel like holding your breath to look at it, it is really a very interesting process to see. It is made, perhaps you know, of charcoal, saltpeter and brimstone. Each of these articles is prepared in a house by itself; but the house where they are mixed is the first terrible one. In this building is an immense millstone, rolling round and round in an iron bed. In this bed, and under the stone, are put the three fearful ingredients of gunpowder. There they are throughly mixed and ground together.

This is a very dangerous operation, because if the stone comes in contact with its iron bed, it is very apt to strike fire, and the merest suspicion of a spark would set off the whole. The materials are spread three or four inches thick in the bed; the wheel, which goes by water power, is started, and every man leaves the place. The door is shut and the machinery is left to do its terrible work alone. When it has run long enough, the mill is stopped, and the men come back. This operation leaves the powder in hard lumps or cakes.

The next house is where these cakes are broken up into grains, and of course is quite as dangerous as the last one. But the men can't go way from this, they are obliged to attend to it every moment; and you may be sure no laugh or joke is ever heard within its walls. Every one who goes in has to take off his boots and put on rubbers, because one grain of powder crushed by the boot would explode the whole in an instant.

The floor of this house is covered with leather, and is made perfectly black by the dust of the gunpowder. It contains a set of sieves, each one smaller than the last, through which the powder is sifted, and an immense ground and laboring mill, where it is ground up, while men shovel it in with wooden shovels. The machinery makes a great deal of noise, but the men are silent, as in the other houses. The reckless crashing of the machinery even seems to give greater horror, and one is very glad to get out of that house.

The glazing house comes next. Glazing is done by mixing black lead with the powder to give it a black and shining look. The powder is put into barrels, which revolve for several hours. That polishes the grains by their rubbing together. The black lead is put with them and they revolve several hours more. Of course the dust flies from all these operations, and the workman, silent, like the rest, look like very black negroes, working in the blackest of powder, in a room whose walls and floors are blacker than the rest, if possible. It has a very singular look to a stranger, and, added to the horrible silence, makes one feel that the whole world had gone into mourning. Often, the gunpowder, revolving so rapidly in the barrels, gets very hot; so this, too, is a dangerous operation.

The stoving house is the next on the list, and there the gunpowder is heated on wooden trays. It is very hot and no workmen stay there. From there it goes to the packing house, and is put up in barrels, kegs and canisters.

Safely through all these houses, it goes at last to the storehouse. One feels like drawing a long breath to see the fearful stuff safely packed away, out of the hands of men, in this curious house.

You've heard of things being dry as a powder house, but you wouldn't think this house very dry. It is almost imbedded in water. The roof is one big tank kept full of water. Did you ever hear of a water roof before? Instead of steps to go in, there are shallow tanks of water, through which every one must walk to the door.

In none of these powder houses is any light ever allowed except sunlight. The wages are good, the day's work is short, ending always at three or four o'clock. Put the men have a serious look, that makes one think every moment of the danger, and glad to get away.

Though curiosity may take a man once to visit a powder mill, he has no desire to go a second time; and he feels all the rest of his life that for once he has been very near death.

The Stolen Pass.

An editor in Harrisburg, lost his pass on the railroad, and requested the officers of the road to secure the arrest of any man who should present it. The next day he found the pass in the pocket of his Sunday trowsers, and proceeded to take a trip upon it. As soon as he offered it to the conductor, that faithful officer knocked him in the head with his lantern, called in three brakemen and the baggage master, dragged him, despite his frantic struggles, into a baggage car, where a brakeman sat on him, while the conductor battered him up a lot to keep him quiet; and then they searched him to ascertain what other thefts he had been perpetrating. With the exception of a ticket to the circus, that man had upon his person nothing but railroad passes! He had passes over all the main roads, and branch lines, and feeders and sidings in the State of Pennsylvania. He had free tickets over all the railroads in the Eastern, Southern, Middle and Western States, and in four of the Territories. He had a pass over the railroad from Yeddo to to Yokohama, and another from Calcutta to Bengal. He had a letter promising him one on the new road which is proposed in Terra del Fuego, and a manuscript puff which he had written for a man who had assured him that he should have a pass over the road, which the man said he was going to run, under the Mediterranean from Africa to Italy, as soon as it was built. The conductor concluded that he had caught the greatest pass kleptomaniac that the world ever saw. But when he got back to Harrisburg the affair was explained. And now, if there is any one editor in the State who is completely sick of "gentlemanly conductors," that editor resides in the State capitol.

Coolness in Time of Danger.

The Utica Herald contains a thrilling account of how the attaches of a train of cars, by great coolness and presence of mind, united with experience, saved the lives entrusted to their charge:

Four freight cars, heavily laden with lumber and merchandise, had been brought to the junction near Cassville, by a coal train. The freight cars were carelessly uncoupled on a grade of 85 feet to the mile, and immediately began backing toward Utica. They gained momentum at a fearful rate, and all efforts to stop them by throwing rails and other obstructions upon the track were ineffective. A train had left Utica eight minutes before, and all knew that the heavy freight cars would in a few minutes go crashing into its rear. Fortunately the engine of the coal train stood on a switch, and Engineer Ferrel at once determined to give the flying cars a chase. All hands mount to the post of duty, the signal is given, and the fearful race is begun. There is awful danger ahead, for if the workmen should have the rails up, or the flying cars themselves should leave the track, every man would be in eternity in an instant. Mile after mile the chase is kept up, and the locomotive gains inch by inch. At last the fugitives are overtaken; the critical moment has come. A mistake, and all is over; the flying cars will only be hastened in their flight by the collision. But the fireman and the brakeman are reaching down from the rear of the fender, one with the draw-bar, and the other with the coupling-pin. The cars touch; the draw-bar skilfully guided enters the socket, and the pin drops to its place. The danger is over, the speed gradually checked, and in a few minutes the engine and the rescued cars are again climbing the grade to Cassville. The deed of the engineer and his faithful assistants was one of true heroism, and will long be remembered by those in the crowded passenger train, which was but a few hundred feet in advance of them, and whose lives they saved at the imminent risk of their own.

The Bed in Which the Martyred Lincoln Died for Sale.

[From The Washington Chronicle.]

When millions of souls on the free-soil of America and through the civilized world were shocked with the announcement of the assassination of President Lincoln on the eventful night of the 14th of April, 1865, strange to record, amid the agonizing excitement of the occasion one interesting incident connected with his death was passed by and almost entirely forgotten.

When the martyr President received the shot that cost his life and made a nation weep, his attendents removed to the residence nearest Ford's Theater, on Tenth street, directly opposite, occupied by Wm. Peterson. His body was laid on a bed in the room situated on the first floor, and the blood that gushed from his mortal wound stained the sheets and pillows that furnished it. When Lincoln died, and his corpse was removed for interment, the kind lady was thoughtful enough to store away in a place of safety the blood-stained pillows and the spread that had covered his body. He was wrapped in the blood stained sheets and removed to the undertaker's. The bureau which stood in the room at the time of his death remains there still, and bears the marks of a thousand penknives. For months after his death, persons who visited the room, desiring something as a memento, would chip it from this piece of furniture. The bedstead and mattress have been used by the family of Mrs. Peterson ever since.

The pillow-cases, pillow and bed-spread have been preserved until the present day in the condition they were in when taken from Mr. Lincoln's dying couch; and strange to say, indeed, these articles, valuable relics, too, were prized more highly by the wife and children of a foreigner than by a great Government.

Our readers will remember the published accounts of the sudden death of Petersen some months ago. His wife also died recently, leaving five orphan children, and the furniture of the house has been offered for sale.

One of Peterson's daughters, we learn, called upon a prominent official in the Interior Department three days ago, and informed that official that the relics were to be sold, and wished to know if the Government would not purchase them, as she disliked to expose the articles at public auction. The young lady was referred to Commissioner Leggett, that official assuring her that it might be proper for the Government to purchase them for exhibition in the museum of the Patent Office. Parties acquainted with the facts express some surprise that the Government has not obtained possession of these relics long ago.

Projected Railroad.

Our Salt Lake exchanges says that a railroad is projected from Denver City, Colorado, to that place, and that articles of incorporation have been filed. The Eureka Sentinel says the proposed route is from Denver along the course of the South Platt to the Middle Park; thence by the most feasible, direct and advantageous route to Salt Lake City. The road will open up the great timber district lying between the plains and the South Park, and will contribute immensely to the lumber supply of Denver. In the South Park it will traverse for fifty miles a district fabulously rich in placer deposits of gold, that only awaits cheaper transportation, supplies and labor, to be made to contribute millions of dollars to the products of Colorado. It will hasten there the development of the newly discovered silver mines that peremate the northern and western rim of the Park. Passing the crest of the snowy range, it will pierce for a hundred miles a region known to be rich in gold, silver, copper and the baser minerals, interspersed with charming and fertile valleys and vast forests of timber. It will open for settlement and render accessible to commerce, the great basin or valley of Northwestern Colorado, in which are the Green, Grand, White, Snake, and Bear rivers, bordered by millions of acres of the best agricultural and pastural lands in the world.

Returned.

Cap. Charley, Cap. Chim and Doby John, all holding high positions in the Piute Nation, have just returned from Camp McDermitt, where they have been for some days trying to get the Government Officials to agree to furnish the Indians with teams, necessary farming implements, seed, &c., with the view of going into an extensive farming business next Spring. Doby John informs us that they were in a measure successful; that the officers promised to furnish them every thing they may need in that line when the proper time comes. The whole party are going out next week to the mouth of Clear Creek, in Grass Valley, to locate ranches and get ready for the spring.—Humboldt Register.

—A dealer in fertilizers, down in Alabama, bragging of his guano, says that a farmer recently put a sample of it into his pocket, in which there happened to be a carpet tack, and started home, on horseback. Before reaching his house his steed broke down, and the farmer was at a loss to discover the cause until he found that the carpet tack had grown to be a long bar of railway iron.

THE RESERVATION SYSTEM.

In accordance with Collyer's Quaker policy, the Government, through Gen. Schofield, promulgates a new order for the management of the Arizona Indians, the text of which order will be fonnd in this issue. If this plan is faithfully executed the whites will have no occasion to find fault. It contemplates ample security for them from Indian depredations and so far so good, but what a mistaken mercy is this plan so far as the Indians themselves are concerned! The humane sensibilities of friend Collyer, as well as people generally, would be much shocked were these miserable Apaches, large and small, sentenced to a speedy death, yet virtually this new order will have precisely that result, except only that their wretched existence will be somewhat prolonged. The Reservation system has proved to be a swindle on the whites, and worse to the red man—to him it is a miserable existence or welcome death, even under the comparatively extended liberties heretofore allowed him. By far the larger portion of those who have tasted the bitterness so closely allied to a life on any of these Reservations, will brave privation and death in any form in order to escape such a horrible existence. Though not given to labor even an Indian can not exist in the apathetic idleness and aimless life such as is entailed upon him on these Reservations. To his active nature it is disease and utter destruction to his kind, even under the most favorable conditions: and now with additional restrictions that are to be imposed upon the wild Apache, who has never yet acknowledged a master, we have a plan marked out impossible to execute without inflicting miseries and cruelties far in excess of anything that would have been necessary had there been no interference with Gen. Crook's programme, which would have resulted in their total subjection, though at the loss of a few lives on both sides, when the survivors could and would have lived on their native wilds free and unmolested as those of this section as well as Idaho and of other localities, where they were originally as untamable as these of Arizona. But the idea that these Apaches that may accept this proffered boon will quietly walk up every twenty-four hours and give the required account of themselves, in appearance and in fact, like so many convicts, is too preposterous for even a philanthropist to entertain. Such a degrading existence, even for a race less proud than these unconquered Apaches, can end in but one way—escape and freedom, or death in the attempt. Will the families held as hostages be put to death in that case? Close confinement for them, where that is in effect already the rule, can afford no additional restraint on the escaped braves, nor prevent them from again taking the war-path. We believe the whole plan will prove a costly failure.

It is high time that the people of the East and elsewhere should disabuse themselves of the notion that the border settlers are naught but blood-thirsty ruffians whose priacipal delight is in death and destruction to "Lo, the poor Indian." Whatever "borderers" may have been in other days, now, as a class, they are inferior to none, neither in point of intelligence, energy, courage, humanity or any good attribute pertaining to an equal number of the highest civilization even of the East. Outrages upon defenseless Indians are sometime perpetrated by a few cowardly scoundrels of the same kind oftener committed by the same class on white people, in every community and are just as much countenanced by the majority in the one case as the other, and just as often punished. The border settler has every reason to desire peaceful relations with the red man, and asks nothing he is not willing to grant to maintain it—that is simply to be let alone. In point of fact and in the nature of existing circumstances there is no cause for war between the races, other than the determination of the red man not to allow the other on his territory, which, so far as the present instance goes can be occupied by both without let or hindrance to either. It rests with the red man as to the manner in which it may be done, so far as the settler is concerned.

Owing to some difference of opinion about a railroad subsidy, there is a proposition on foot to divide Los Angeles county.

AT ISSUE.

The pending question in affairs of State government of the most importance, if we excecpt matters connected with railroad monopolies, certain to come up for consideration in the next Legislature, is that of "fence" or "no fence" law. This question has been generally and extensively discussed not only in California but other States as well, and there be can no question but that the best interests of the country at large imperatively demand the adoption of a trespass or no fence law, for under the present system farming, the chief and most important of all the industries of the country, is subservient to one of only secondary interest. It is simply a relic of the feudal age, a law favoring the rich at the expense, and to the great detriment, of the poor. It necessitates a constant and never ending struggle on the part of the farmer, rich or poor, to provide the necessaries of life, because the profits of his labor are to the last dollar required to build and maintain fences that his neighbor's stock may run at large. To the same end thousands of acres of good land has to remain in idleness that would, under the proposed law, be occupied as homes by men possessing the trifling means needed simply for cultivation were fences not required.

Without attempting even a synopsis of the many arguments that may be adduced favorable to a trespass law, we may be permitted to point out some of the tangible disadvantages of the present system as it affects our own section.

Chiefly if not solely due to the extra expense attached to farming here consequent upon having to fence, many persons who otherwise would have been glad to engage in the business where there is so much good land that may be had free of present cost have been deterred from doing so, while many others already in the possession of partially fenced farms are for that reason compelled to limit the extent of their crops, and the consequence is there is a great deficiency of some farm products that has to be made good by extensive and expensive importations. Of corn alone some 500 tons are to be shipped in here the present Winter, a necessity chargable to the enormous expense of fencing.

Not a hundreth part of the good farming land in this county is now in cultivation, nor will it ever be so long as fences are a prerequsite. It is practicable to obtain an abundance of water to irrigate every foot of it, but it is not to obtain the lumber necessary to secure any respectable amount of it under lawful fence; even if the ordinary expense was no obstacle, the timber in quantities sufficient for the purpose does not exist here. Without a law as proposed there can be no material advance in the agricultural interests of this fertile valley, and every industry must suffer in like ratio.

But few if any of the stock men who have the interests of the country at heart will oppose the passage of a law of the kind spoken of, and as we have no legal representative in the ensuing Legislature it is of the first importance that the matter should be brought before that body through a petition, which should be circulated for signatures at once. The sooner it is attended to the better, and it will devolve upon some one specially interested to take the initiative or it will go by default. In this connection and for other equally important reasons we need a lobby representation. Who will take that matter in hand?

DEATH OF EX-GOVERNOR BIGLER.

The death of this prominent man took place after a lingering illness in Sacramento on the morning of November 27. Governor Bigler drove his team across the plains, accompanied by his wife and young child, in 1849, and located himself in the city where he has since lived and died. He was a man equal to the emergencies of his new life. Though well educated and a lawyer, by profession, he at once sought and obtained employment at any labor that would enable him to earn support for his young family, working for a time loading and unloading steamers and other similar employments.

His sterling qualities and fine talents were soon recognized and acknowledged by his election first to the State Legislature and twice as Governor of the State. Subsequently he was sent as Minister to the Republic of Chili, and in various other responsible positions he has been intimately and prominently identified with the history of our State.

Captured.

Two more of the Prison breakers, Blair and Forrest, have been recaptured. They were found in Downieville. Of the original twenty-nine there are yet nine at large, and quite likely to remain so.

THE NEW INDIAN POLICY.

We are indebted to Major H. C. Egbert, Camp Independence, for a copy of Major General Schofield's order relative to the government of the Arizona Indians. The order reads as follows:

In accordance with authority and orders received from the War Department the following instructions are issued for the government of Indians, subject to military control, in the Territory of Arizona:—

All roving bands of Indians, for which reservations have been set apart by the Indian Commissioner under authority of the President of the United States, will be required to go at once upon their reservations and not to leave them again upon any pretext whatever.

So long as they remain upon their reservations, in due subordination to the government, they will be fully protected and provided for; otherwise they will be regarded as hostile and punished accordingly.

The reservations heretofore set apart will be publicly declared in General Orders from Headquarters Department of Arizona, and an officer of the Army will designated by the Department Commander to act as Indian Agent for each reservation.

All male Indians (old enough to go upon the war-path) will be enrolled, and their names will be recorded in a book, kept for the purpose, with a full and accurate descriptive list of each person. Each Indian will be furnished with a copy of his descriptive list and will be required to carry it always with him.

The numbers of women and children belonging to each head of family will also be recorded opposite his name in the descriptive book.

The presence on the reservation of every male adult will be verified once a day, or oftener if found necessary, to prevent the possibility of any leaving the reservation and returning without the knowledge of the officer in charge. Care will be taken to inform the Indians that this precaution is intended to insure the protection of the innocent and punishment of the guilty, and that it is to their interest to assist in the detection of guilty individuals, so that the whole tribe may not suffer for the crimes of a few.

As far as possible the Indians will be held responsible only for their own individual acts. Punishment will not be inflicted on a tribe for the acts of individuals, unless they are guilty of complicity with the criminals by harboring them or otherwise. But when any enrolled Indian is found absent from his reservation, without permission, all his family will be arrested and held in close custody until he has been captured and panished according to his deserts.

Every Indian found off his reservation without permission, after a time to be fixed by the Department Commander, will be regarded and treated as hostile; and any Indian who shall so leave his reservation shall be presumed to have done so for hostile purposes and upon his return to the reservation shall be punished accordingly. No Indian will be given permission to leave his reservation except upon such conditions as the Department Commander may prescribe.

No persons, excepting those in the United States service, will be allowed upon any Indian reservation without the permission of the officer in charge.

Citizens desiring to enter or cross a reservation for any legitimate purpose will, when it is deemed practicable and proper, be permitted to do so, but will always be escorted by a sufficient detachment of troops to prevent any collision with the Indians.

The ration for issue to adult Indians will consist of one pound of meat and one pound of breadstuff, two quarts of salt to each one hundred rations, and four pounds of soap to each one hundred rations once a week. Rations in half of the above proportions will be issued to children under twelve years of age. Beef will be issued on hoof. An officer will always be present to witness and direct the slaughtering of beef, and the distribution of food among the separate bands and families, and will certify to the Commanding Officer that it is fairly done.

The utmost care will be taken to see that rations are issued only for the number of Indians actually present, and that no opportunity is afforded for the barter of provisions for arms, ammunition, whisky, or anything whatever.

Active operations will be kept up against the hostile Apaches of Arizona and pressed with all possible vigor until they submit to the authority of the government, cease from hostilities and remain upon their reservations. After a reasonable time has been given for all the Apaches to avail themselves of the liberal terms offered by the government, the Department Commander will, in his discretion, make use of the friendly Indians to hunt out and destroy those who remain obstinately hostile.

Full authority is conferred upon the Department Commander to adopt such measures as may be necessary to carry out these instructions, and to give full effect to the policy of the government.

From Visalia.

A dispatch dated at Visalia, November 23d, has these items:

Bacon, the discoverer of the supposed coal mine, brought specimens to town to-day which looked more favorable than the first discovery. It is claimed that the coal brought in to-day is inflamable. The discoverer is fitting out a party and procuring tools to sink on the strata at once. Much interest is manifested in the matter.

E. W. Willet, Secretary of the Visalia and Owens River Telegraph and Wagon Road, left for San Francisco to-day, to negotiate capital for building the road at once. Subscriptions to the stock will be opened here and in Inyo county early next month.

Breyfogle.

A few days ago we made mention of the departure of a party in search of the great Breyfogle mine. There was but little said about the matter here, but we see the excitement has grown intense in Austin, Virginia City and other places toward sunset. The Reveille, Enterprise, Carson Register and other journals over that way have all devoted column leaders to the prospects of the expedition. We have something later from the front for the edification of our cotemporaries. The expedition has been heard from. A special messenger arrived yesterday. They've got it thicker than—the head of a "last ditch" Democrat. The ledge is 90 feet thick, with 18 carat gold from wall to wall. A winze sunk on a spur disclosed 30 huge cases of twenty dollar pieces, already labeled for San Francisco. The messenger, who has kept very close since reaching town, wears a fifty dollar slug on the heel of each boot. He is after forces. Three hundred men with Henry rifles are wanted, to guard the "pure stuff" until a railroad can be built to carry it to market. The returned Breyfogler is reticent and mysterious, but, through our superior suavity of manner, which has always been recognized as "child-like and bland," we managed to worm out the foregoing facts during the forenoon of yesterday. The account is not exaggerated in the least, and is, in fact, far short of our expectations. We told our readers last week that there was a Richmond in the field this time that would "fetch it." Guess we are no prophet, eh? A special reporter for The Reveille and Enterprise goes with the messenger on his return. He leaves the first dark night.—Eureka Sentinel.

Cotton.

Colonel Strong finished picking his crop of cotton on Wednesday last, and informs us that the result of the experiment sums up as follows: The field of cotton consisted of fifty-one acres—measured—from which he gathered seventy-four thousand four hundred and fifty pounds of seed cotton. Thirty acres of the field originally planted in cotton upon which he failed to get a stand, was plowed over and re planted with corn, which yielded nine hundred bushels—worth in the market about $1 50 per bushel. The cotton and corn crop gathered from the eighty acres will sum up about as follows: Cotton, 74,450 pounds at 6 cents per pound, $4,467; corn, nine hundred bushels at $1 50 per bushel, $1,350, making the gross proceeds amount to $5 817. It seems to us that this ought to convince all of the value of Col. Strong's experiment and to induce all who have suitable land to enter into the business of cultivating the staple upon a large scale. The cotton is of excellent quality, being remarkably white and clean, and totally free from stains of any kind. The lint is fine, silky and is sufficiently lengthy to bring it up to a high grade, ranking, perhaps, as "good middling." Col. Strong is busily engaged in making his arrangements for pitching a crop for the next year upon lands owned by Mrs. Stockard, near Hopeton.—Snelling Argus, November 25.

Not Guilty.

About 11 o'clock Sunday morning the jury in the case of the State vs. the State Prison convicts Ryan, Flynn, Pruitt, Parsons, McCue, Willis, Cockerell, Clifford, Bigelow, Roth, Squires, Chapman, Roberts, Burke, Carter and Russell, on trial for the murder of F. M. Isaacs, returned a verdict of "not guilty as charged in the indictment," as to all the defendants named. The prisoners were overjoyed, and, as they pinched, punched, nudged, shoved and struck each other, there was a kind of "Oh, no! it ain't us!" sort of expression on their countenances. They are still in the County Jail, and will be brought into Court at 10 o'clock this morning that some action may be taken in relation to the indictment against them for the murder of Matt Pixley. Certain it is, however, they will not be tried at this term of Court, as the term expires by limitation on Saturday next.—Carson Register, Nov 27.

Playful.

The eighteen convicts who have recently been on trial in the District Court at Carson, for the murder of F. M. Isaacs, were returned to the State Prison yesterday afternoon. The Register says they were taken down in two coaches, or rather mud-wagons. In one of the wagons were Clifford, Burke, Flynn, Ryan, and four or five others. They were all chained, and each had on a pair of handcuffs when they left the Sheriff's office, but on arriving at the prison Burke had on all the handcuffs, the others having their hands free. They returned to their old quarters reluctantly, but could not resist the temptation to indulge in a little playfulness on the road.—Gold Hill News, Nov. 29.

The Branch Mint.

Supervising Architect Mullet, at Washington, reports that the progress of the work on the Branch Mint at San Francisco, California, has been satisfactory, and it will, unless any unforseen obstacle occurs, be completed during the ensuing season. The estimates for this building, as well as for all others on the Pacific coast, will be prepared on the basis of disbursements in coin. The Department having, however, decided that all payments must be made in currency, the amount of the appropriation must be increased accordingly with the addition. The estimates will be found correct and the work be finished at an early day, and as soon as necessary machinery can be completed, for which an appropriation must be made.

PACIFIC COAST READAGRAMS.

The weather has been extremely stormy in the Salt Lake mines, and on the plains east of the mountains. A number of persons have perished in the deep snows. The inhabitants of Alta, Utah, have to dig themselves in and out of their houses through snow ten feet deep. Snow slides are common.

It is said that Brigham Young is on his return to Salt Lake to stand his trial for "brighamy," which was to begin on the 4th instant.

The Central Pacific Company have purchased the Stockton and Copperopolis railroad. This gives them control of all the railroads in the State except the Los Angeles and San Pedro.

The Hawes contested will case has occupied the attention of newspaper reporters and the San Francisco public for about two weeks. The evidence goes to prove that Hawes was crazy, in which case the will will be broken.

Extensive preparations are being made to give the Grand "Juke" a fitting reception in San Francisco. A military reception, banquet and ball are spoken of.

In the election for State Senator to fill vacancy occasioned by Pacheco's resignation, Van Ness, Democrat, beats Brinkerhoff, Republican, by a small majority.

In Martinez, November 25th, the case of the people vs. Mrs. James Sullivan, indicted for the murder of her husband's brother at Bay Point, in Contra Costa county, on the 28th of October last, caused by an attempt on her virtue, having been on trial for two days, was ended by a verdict of "not guilty," the jury being out but five minutes.

Governor Safford, of Arizona, writes that a silver mine has been discovered in the Pinal mountains, the ore from which assays $10,000 per ton.

EASTERN NEWS.

Two hundred Kuklux were to be arraigned for trial at Raleigh, N. C., on the 27th instant. Some of them say Frank P. Blair is the head of the organization in the United States, and that General Forrest and Wade Hampton are high officers in it.

North Carolina, by the Governor's message just sent in to the Legislature, owes a debt of $34,800,000, most of which was voted to plundering railway corporations. There is a strong party in the State in favor of repudiation. A resolution to this effect has been offered in the lower house of the Legislature.

The corner stone of the Iowa State Capitol was laid at Des Moines November 23.

The weather is very cold all over the Western States; snow has fallen at St. Louis.

Connolly is still under arrest at the New York Hotel. The most strenuous efforts were made to procure bail, but without success.

A dispatch of The New York Herald from Washington professes to give the leading features of the President's message. It is said the message will recommend the abolition of all internal taxes except on spirits, malt liquors and tobacco, in every form. A general recommendation is made for a revision of the tariff. No material change in the Indian policy will be urged. There will be a brief reference to the Kuklux, but the details will be left to the Attorney-General. The results of the labors of the High Joint Commission will be the subject of congratulation.

It is the belief at Washington that General O. O. Howard, late of the Freedman's Bureau, will be called upon to succeed General Ord in command of the Pacific department.

DIED.

At Independence, Inyo County, California, on the morning of December 4, 1871, of excessive hemorrhage, Mrs. JANE C. SQUIRES, aged 32 years, 11 months and 26 days.

There are many dejected hearts throughout the length of our valley, plunged into the deepest sorrow, mourning the sad, untimely death recorded above. The deceased was one of the earliest of the brave-hearted lady pioneers of Inyo, and endured every privation and discomfiture incident to those days—ever cheerful and forbearing, endearing herself to all by her pure, intrinsic worth, and most loved by those who knew her best. Three little ones are left to do life's battle without the protecting care which so distinguished this exemplary wife and model mother. With these and the bereaved husband rests the profoundest sympathies of the entire community.

It is a Fact worth Knowing

That there is a Life Insurance Company during business on this coast whose policies are guaranteed against forciture by the laws of the State in which it was incorporated. The great benefit of holding a life policy in this company has been plainly demonstrated by the number of claims it has paid on lapsed policies. All prudent persons desiring insurance should read the list of lapsed policies paid by the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company, of Boston, to be found in another column of this paper. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

School Money.

We are indebted to County Superintendent Symmes for the following statement of the several amounts of cash apportioned to the different school districts:

Probable Loss of Cattle.

The early and very unexpected deep snow in the mountains causes a well-founded alarm for the safety of hundreds of cattle, which have been allowed to remain too long upon their Summer ranges. A report from Bishop Creek brings us word that the snow is six feet deep in Long Valley, while there are about 2,000 head of cattle remaining there. A road was being cut to them, but their recovery is a matter of serious doubt. It is also said that several men who are known to be with them are unheard of.

Good Strikes.

An extensive of rich ore is reported in the Whittekind, one of the leading mines on the other side of Buena Vista Hill, Cerro Gordo. The Belmont is also taking out more than usual quantities of good rock. In the Jefferson a good body of lead has just been opened, through the Buena Vista tunnel, and from the Omega tunnel about 20 tons of ore is coming from the newly developed cross ledge, daily.

Late Mail.

On account of the heavy snow, last week the usual Thursday night mail, from which we glean our compilation of Pacific Coast, Eastern and Foreign news, failed to arrive until Friday night, too late for the papers to come under the editorial scissors. At Aurora the snow reached the depth of four feet, and at Adobe Meadows about eighteen inches, while at Bishop Creek there was none to speak of.

Hay.

This commodity has lately advanced to a price almost unprecedented in this county—$50 per ton, at and below Lone Pine, with strong probabilities of soon reaching $60. This result has been brought about through a "corner" by opposition freighters, rather by an unusual scarcity of the article.

Get the Best.

Read the new advertisement of the Florence Sewing Machines, presented this week. Parties using them have never failed to proclaim their superiority over all others. Messrs. Harris & Rhine are the agents for this section of the country, from whom they may be purchased.

Wine.

We acknowledge the reception of several samples, in long-necked bottles, of native wine, from Charley Begole, of Lone Pine. We presume it is in commemoration of a wedding, but the donors failed to furnish us with the names of the matrimonial victims.

Base Ball.

If any ex-base ballists should feel like exercising their muscle, or desire a few fingers knocked out of joint, let them appear upon the street to-morrow afternoon, for a friendly toss. Can't we get up a club?

A Remarkable Well.

The Alemeda Encinal of November 25th relates this case of water seeking and its happy result:

Some time ago Mrs. William Taylor, fearing that the supply of water on her premises might run out, employed an artesian well-borer to sink a well on her premises, located on High street, and running down to San Leandro bay. After boring unsuccessfully in the neighborhood of 200 feet he became thoroughly discouraged, and determined to give it up as a bad job. Acting upon this resolve he proceeded to withdraw the shaft, and had drawn it up about fourteen feet, when lo! the sparkling water gushed forth in abundance, and the mystery was solved—he had penetrated beyond the water level. It is now some months since the stream of water commenced to flow, and the supply has ever been regular and constant. The water is pure, clear and soft. Mrs. Taylor has fashioned a neat diamond shaped lake, which is now kept constantly filled, and there is not the slightest indication of decrease in the supply of the aqueous fluid. We might take a text from this well and preach a sermon upon the necessity of sinking a similar one somewhere on Park street. But why preach? Every citizen and property-owner in town knows that in case of an excessive fire we are entirley at its mercy—that every dwelling-house and store-house in Alameda might be swept away in a night: and all for a lack of the easiest obtained preventive in the world—water, in abundance. Let some of our citizens visit the premises of Mrs. Taylor, and see for themselves how simple a thing it is to obtain a full supply of water, and considering the benefit, at what an inconsiderable cost it may be had. Speaking of Mrs. Taylor's grounds, we are reminded that the third crop of bearded barley is now standing on some of the land so bounteously irrigated by her artesian well.

Kern, Inyo and Santa Barbara Railroad.

Only a slight examination of the topography of the coast range of mountains, the only considerable obstacle between Santa Barbara and the Kern and Inyo mining regions, has led to surprising results. It is now evident that an outlet for this vast mining region can be opened through these mountains at an incredibly small outlay of capital, as the reader will perceive. On inquiring of hunters and others, we find that two intersecting canons divide the chain in such a way that no difficulty will be experienced in penetrating to the heart of the mountain at low altitude, where the range will be pierced by a short tunnel, which will reach a spur of the mountain extending into the plain on the north, affording a gradual descent on the plain which lies between this range and the mining regions named. On learning these things, our readers may imagine that we have become quite enthusiastic on the subject of a railroad from the magnificent harbor of Santa Barbara to the inexhaustible mining regions of Kern and Inyo. No one having the least geographical information need be told that Santa Barbara is the natural outlet for all this vast and invaluable region back of us. The only obstacle to be overcome is the coast range of mountains, and as intimated above, that now appears to be almost conquered by nature herself. It should have been stated in connection, that the point at which the tunnel will pierce the mountain, it is very thin and composed of soft sandstone which is easily excavated. It is well understood that capital outside of Santa Barbara will be immediately invested in this enterprise, if the project shall prove at all feasible. By another week we shall make personal examination of the route proposed. We now certainly expect to see a narrow-gauge railroad pierce these mountains and connect us with Kern and Inyo counties.—Santa Barbara Press, Nov. 25.

—Josh Billings says: "Never do any work before breakfast. If it is necessary to work before breakfast, have your breakfast first."

—An Irish soldier, who had been abroad, being asked if he met with much hospitality, replied, "Oh, yes, too much; I was in the hospital most all the time."

—Somebody wrote to Horace Greeley inquiring the best method of preserving farm tools. The philosopher advised the best loaf sugar, pound for pound, and boil one hour.

—An Irish doctor advertises that persons afflicted with deafness may hear of him in a house on Liffy street, where also blind persons may see him daily from 3 till 10 o'clock.

—A German advocate is said to have pleaded for his client in the following way: "He has killed his father and mother, and now he is an orphan. Poor fellow! We ought to protect him."

—The Indian who lassoed the locomotive and was thereby transported to the happy hunting ground, has lately had a rival in a brother red man, who, after a too free indulgence in "fire water," built his wigwam on the railroad near St. Paul, Minn., but had most disastrous luck in attempting to stop a freight train.

Josh Billings on Milk.

I want to say something.

I want to say something in reference to milk as a fertilizer.

There are various kinds ov milk—sweet milk, sour milk, skim milk, butter-milk, cow milk, and the milk of human kindness, but the mostest best milk iz the milk that hasn't the most water in it. Buttermilk izzent the best milk for butter.

Milk is spontaneous, and has done more to encourage the growth of human folks than other likwid.

Milk is lacteal; it is also aquatic while under the patronage of milk venders.

Milk iz mysterious. Cokernut has never been solved yet.

Milk iz also another name for human kindness.

Milk and bread is a pleasent mixture.

Sometimes, if milk is allowed to stand too long, a scum rises to the surface, which is apt to skare fokes that live in cities, but it duzzent follow that the milk iz nasty: this scum is called kreme by fokes who inhabit the country.

Kreme iz the parent of butter, and butter is 70 cents a pound!

The most common milk in use, without any doubt, is skim milk. Skim milk is made by skimming the milk, which iz considered sharp practiss.

Milk is obtained from cows, hogs, woodchux, rats, squirrels, and all other animals that have hair. Snaix and geese don't give milk.

I forgot to state, in conclusion, that cow's milk, if well watered, brings ten cents per quart.

BEAUTY, WIT AND GOLD.

In a bower a widow dwelt,
At her feet three lovers knelt;
Each adored the widow much,
Each essayed her heart to touch;
One had wit, and one had gold,
One was cast in beauty's mold;
Guess which was it won the prize—
Tongue, or purse, or handsome eyes?

First began the handsome man,
Peeping proudly o'er her fan;
Red his lip, and white his skin,
Could such beauty fail to win?
Then stepped forth the man of gold,
Cash he counted, coin he told;
Wealth the burden of his tale,
Could such golden projects fail?

Then the man of wit and sense
Wooed her with his eloquence;
Now she heard him with a sigh,
Then she blushed, scarce knowing why;
Then she smiled at hear him speak,
Then a tear was on her cheek;
Beauty, vanish; gold, depart;
Wit hath won the widow's heart.

A REMINISCENCE.

Once, when I was a little boy,
I sat me down to cry,
Because my little brother had
"The biggest piece" of pie;
'Twas not but I had quite enough,
But then I couldn't see
The reason why a partial nurse
Should give him more than me.

They said I was a naughty boy,
But who has not seen men
Behave themselves so foolishly
As I behaved then?
Too often we are thankless for
Rich blessings, while we sigh
To think some luckier neighbor has
"A bigger piece" of pie.

The Press and the Mines.

There is plenty of truth and sense in the following, taken from The Reese River Reveille of November 21, which is applicable to other localities besides that for which it was written:

Our attention has been called to an article in The Engineering and Mining Journal, in which it is stated that English investors in American mining stocks are beginning to complain that they are not regularly informed, through the mining papers of the condition of their property at reasonably short intervals. To this The Journal replies that there are mines so scattered over the Western States and Territories, that it would be perfectly impossible for the proprietors of the paper to have visited and examined them at their own expense. We should think so. One such visit and examination would cost more than the subscription price of one hundred copies of the paper for one year, besides the loss of time.

Considering that all the English companies have an authorized agent, whose duty it is to report and keep the Directors posted in all that pertains to their property; and the above complaint is rather singular, and can only be explained by the supposition that the services of the press are needed only for notoriety and stock jobbing operations. Information, for information's sake, is not what is wanted.

It is of course the duty of a newspaper published in a mining locality to furnish all the intelligence obtainable on this very important subject, though this, in order to be reliable, is never obtained except at a good deal of trouble, even when the property to be described is in the immediate locality. But the duty is singularly exaggerated by some persons interested in mining. We have often been requested to visit distant mining districts in order to give account of the wonderful riches of some claim or other owned by Smith or Brown. The fact that this entailed an outlay of $15 or $20 for horse hire, besides traveling expenses and loss of time, and all that to help the said Smith or Brown to bring their claim into market or to assist them into getting credit from store-keepers, does not appear to be considered by them. We ought to be too happy to find a theme upon which to dilate and give "interest" to our paper. That's the view they take of the matter. Were they to approach a lawyer with a demand for legal services requiring the same amount of labor, they would cheerfully pay a good round sum; but an editor is supposed to be an individual whose time and services belong to the public, and that portion of it which contributes nothing towards the support of the paper is invariably the one entertaining the widest views on this question. Perhaps the press of the mining districts is somewhat to blame for this. Whenever a mining camp acquires sufficient importance to justify the establishment of a newspaper, the editor, in his zeal for the welfare of his new born section is too lavish of his notices; he puffs everything indiscriminately—good, bad or indifferent—until every owner of wildcat thinks he is wronged if half a column or so is not occasionally devoted to his benefit.

English companies, generally, are quite liberal with their experts and agents. We know of a case where they paid one of the latter $1,500 for a report which required no more than a couple or three days' labor, and yet they expect the local editor to perform the same thing for nothing. This is all the fault of newspaper men; they have acted so much under the mistaken idea that the extolling of private property was a matter of great public interest, that they are expected to do it as a matter of duty. This is all wrong; a man who has a horse or house for sale, and wishes to advertise it, pays the regular advertising rates; but one who has a mine which he expects to sell for $50,000 expects to have that mine minutely described, its advantages pointed out, and its drawbacks suppressed, and thinks he is conferring a favor on the printer for giving him an opportunity to do it. For our part, we have done our full share of this sort of foolery; if our opinion is asked we shall give it as it is, whether it be agreeable or not. We do not intend to be used as a cat's paw by any body.

The Diet of Worms.

Mr. Henry Ward Beecher is right. Why should there be any objection to healthy worms properly cooked as an article of diet? An eel, for example, is only a large worm; but its food is clean and healthful, and its flesh is second to that of the trout, or the trout's equal, the Spanish mackerel, or the sheep's head. A roasted grasshopper, whose only feed is the sweet fresh grass, or the smaller families who have devoured it before him, "done brown" with fresh butter or toast, Delmonico can not equal as a delicacy.

The chestnut-worm, as Mr. Beecher well observes, never ate an unclean thing in its life; he lived upon the best and richest; and tastefully prepared, carefully seasoned, and watched seduously while being not overdone, what could be more delicious? There really is a great mistake in the public mind, as it is called, about these things. What are the lively inhabitants of a rich cheese, for example, but a part—and the best selected part at that—of the goodly cheese itself? Who ever saw an Englishman evade the "settlement" in a well established Cheshire, or matured Stilton, or petrified Cheddar? Perhaps few persons.

No; nothing that habitually devours good food, with discretion and discrimination, is unworthy to be eaten. Even cannibals themselves, in their human preserves, finally lost their relish, from the variety of their games. A fat, well fed, and well tied missionary, lying on his back like a turtle, at the door of a Sandwich Island restaurant, with a label on his breast, setting forth that he was to be served up at 12 o'clock the next day, was a very different subject from a poorly fed common American sailor marked, perhaps, in different colored inks all over his body.

Mr. Beecher's theory is a benevolent one. He goes for the worm, though it has "wrought him much annoy." Worms have devoured his substance; destroyed his cherries, his apples, his pears and his plums. They have bored his trees even to a greater extent than he has bored the public in describing their depredation; and although they fill his ground, torment his radishes, perforate his potatoes and exasperate all kindred esculent roots and tubers, yet he bears them no malice. "Healthy worms!" is his only invocation; "eat, grow fat and be-cooked!"—N. Y. Post.

Protecting Roofs from Fire.

The Fireman's Journal, which ought to be good authority on such matters, says:

A wash, composed of lime, salt and fine sand, or wood ashes, put on in the ordinary way of whitewash, is said to render shingles fifty fold more safe against taking fire from falling cinders, or otherwise, in case of fire in the vicinity. It pays the expenses a hundred fold in its preserving influence against the effect of the weather. The older and more weather-beaten the shingles the more benefit is derived. Such shingles are more or less warped, rough and cracked. The application of this wash restores them to their original or first form, thereby closing the spaces between the shingles, and the lime and sand, by filling up the cracks, prevents warping.

Eastern Nevada Railroad.

Late dispatches from London, received by the Directors of the Eastern Nevada Railroad, are encouraging, and justify the expectation that before Christmas the requisite capital will be obtained to construct and furnish the road from Elko to Hamilton. The final papers were completed yesterday, and forwarded to the company's agent in London. Upon the receipt of these papers bonds of the company will be disposed of for a sufficient sum to insure the success of the enterprise.—White Pine News.

The Figure Five.

Any number of figures you may wish to multiply by 5 will give the same result if divided by 2, a much quicker operation; but you must remember to annex a cipher to the answer when there is no remainder; and when there is a remainder annex a 5 to the answer. Multiply 464 by 5, and the answer will be 2320; divide the same number by 2, and you have 232, and as there is no remainder you add a cipher. Now take 357 and multiply by 5 and the answer is 1785. On dividing 357 by 2 you have 178 and a remainder; you then place a 5 at the end of the result which gives 1785.

A good Rule.

A New York wholesale grocer, who had become rich in the business, has lately made the following revelation: He says his rule always was when he sold a bill of goods on credit to immediately subscribe for the local paper of his debtor. So long as his customer advertised liberally and vigorously he rested, but as soon as he began to contract his advertising space, he took the fact as evidence that there was trouble ahead, and he invariably went for his debt. "For," said he, "the man who feels too poor to make his business known, is too poor to do business." This withdrawing of an advertisement is an evidence of weakness that business men are not slow to take notice of.

The Best Welcome.

If American women would settle it in their minds that a happy face gives a better welcome than the finest china and damask; that a dinner of two courses, which could be well and easily cooked and served, is more satisfactory to the guests than an elaborate entertainment which has cost too much labor, and is given with too much evident effort; that what we can do easily and naturally is the best that can be possibly done for a friend whom chance or invitation has brought under our roof—a new era would dawn for both guests and entertainers. The company of our friends, instead of being had seldom and at the risk of weariness and impoverishment, would be continually sought, and for no unworthy ends of display, but for those higher motives which alone deserves to bring together men and women. Nor would there be less, but more, enjoyment of those luxuries which the rich can properly command; because the endeavor for, and the envy of them on the part of others would be discountenanced by a healthy tone of feeling, prescribing the noblest object of ambition, and a better classification than can depend upon the possession or want of wealth. Is such a state of things a Utopian dream, or shall the miseries of housekeeping on the present plan drive us to an effort, to which the contemplation of an ideal, however excellent might fail to incite us?

Interest.

Gen. Cruft, one of our prominent lawyers, was bailed, while passing Freeman's jewelry store, by the proprietor, with, "General, come in here a moment; we have something for you to solve. If a man brings his watch to be fixed, and costs me ten cents to do it, and I keep it a week and charge him six dollars, what per cent. do I make? We have been figuring, and make it nine hundred per cent., and have only got up to one dollar. How much do you say it will be at six dollars?" "Well," replied the General, "I do not wonder at your perplexity; for it is well known, and the celebrated Babbitt calculating machine has demonstrated, that at certain points in progressive numbers the law governing them changes. In this case the law would change, and long before it would reach the six dollars it would run out of per cent, and into what is known as larceny!"—Exchange.

A Damaged Piano.

"Sarah, have any of those mischevious children been playing with the piano while I have been out of town? Some of the keys won't sound at all." Sarah—"Please, mum, I don't know nothing about it—leastwise Master Tom said there was something wrong about it, which he was sure there was a mouse in it. So he got Joe to hold up the cover, while he put the dorg and cat in it; but instead of catchin' the mouse, mum, they took to fightin' and did make such a noise in among the wires—so, maybe, mum, the noise is in there still, mum."

Rough Old Conundrum.

Once upon a time when a collision between freight trains occurred at Clipper Gap, one of the passengers in a caboose car was thrown over a stove, and got mixed up with things generally. Regaining his feet, he went for the conductor hastily, and demanded: "What in h—l do you mean by stopping the train this way?" The conductor answered, "Give it up.",—Sacramento Union.

Pushing Ahead.

The Stockton Republican says: It is announced on the authority of President Sanford, that the valley road will be completed to a point twenty miles south of Visalia by the 20th of July next. The graders are already at work south of Bear creek. The regular passenger trains will commence running to the new town on Bear creek on or about the 20th of December.

Asphaltum-lined Pipes.

As showing the utility of asphaltum for preventing internal corrosion in iron water-pipes, The Scientific Press says:—"Sections of iron pipe laid by the Spring Valley Company for conveying water to San Francisco, which had been thus coated (by dipping in boiling asphaltum), have been found in excellent condition after lying in the ground ten years.

Snow on the Sierra.

As near as we can learn, the snow is about four feet deep at the summit of the Sierra Nevada. A gentleman who left Truckee yesterday afternoon tells us that the snow was two feet deep on a level at that place, and plenty more was sifting down.—Gold Hill News, Nov. 27.

Railroad to Inyo.

The Santa Barbara Press is very sanguine that a railroad can be constructed from Santa Barbara to the mining regions of Kern and Inyo. A single tunnel, it is claimed, is all that is necessary, connecting two canyons leading up the divide. The rock at this point is said to be soft sandstone, and easily pierced. The Press is enthusiastic for a narrow gague over the route at once. If they don't hurry up they may find one running into the Inyo country from this side of the mountains.—Carson Register, Dec 5.

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY,

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.;

Saturday,...December 16, 1871.

MEETING OF THE LEGISLATURE.

The California Legislature met Monday, December 4. In the Senate, Jas. F Farley was elected President, pro tempore.

In the Assembly Thomas B. Shannon was elected Speaker. P. F. Hopper was elected Speaker pro tempore. Marcus D. Boruck was elected clerk over Owen Thorn. Neither Dr. Harvey nor Owens, of The San Jose Mercury, The Union's candidates for the Speaker and Clerk respectively, were put in nomination.

The complete organization of both Houses was effected on the second day. Robt. Farrell being elected Secretary of the Senate. Soon after the organization of the Assembly was completed the first shot in the anticipated railroad war was fired by the introduction of a bill by Mr. Luttrell, to reduce freight rates from fifteen to three cents per mile per ton, and fares from ten to three cents. Subsequently bills were intoduced repealing the Montgomery avenue act, the litigant act, the State paper act, and five per cent railroad aid act; also providing for eight months school funds in Siskiyou.

Meeting of Congress.

The Forty-third Congress convened Monday, December 4. The Senate, after adopting a resolution calling for the correspondence in the Catacazy affair, adjourned. In the lower house, Saturday, there was discussion on the proposition in the President's message for the absorption of the lines of telegraph into the postal system. The resolution on the subject was referred to the Postal Committee. The following day T. W. Bennett, of Indiana, was put in nomination for Governor of Idaho, and Marsh Giddings of Michigan for Governor of New Mexico. George Bancroft is in nomination for Minister at the Court of the German Empire, and Thomas Biddwell, of Pennsylvania, for Minister at San Salvador. The new Congressional apportointment was under consideration. It calls for 281 members, and gives four for California, and one each to Oregon and Nevada. The Catacazy correspondence was laid before the Senate, showing that the late Russian Minister at Washington was an intriguing intermeddler in matters insulting to the dignity of the United States, and that he ought to have been dismissed long before he was.

The Texas School Law.

The public school of Texas, according to a recent Act of the Legislature of that State, are to be supported by the proceeds of the sales of the public lands, and one-fourth of all the taxes raised are to be applied to the same object. The law also establishes the salaries of the teachers at the following rates of monthly compensation: Holders of third-class certificates are to receive $75; of second-class certificates, $90; and of first-class certificates, $110. Principals of schools are to receive from $125 to $150 per month. The law also compels all minors between the ages of 6 and 18 to attend school at least four months in the year, and imposes a fine for truancy. This clause it is, however, stated, will have to be modified by the Legislature, as there are in Texas, and especially in the newly settled districts, many youthful husbands and wives below the age of 18, and whom the cares of supporting a household prevent from going to school.

The President's Message.

In his third message the President asserts that it has not been his policy to inquire into the wisdom of the laws but to enforce them firmly. The National debt has been decreased over $86,000,000, and the interest $17,000,000. Our foreign relations are all of the most amicable character. Polygamy in Utah or any other violation of existing laws will not be permitted. The Indian peace policy is considered a success.

Governor Haight's Message.

The retiring Governor delivered his second biennial, and last, message to the Legislature on the 7th. It is of great length and gives a general review of the affairs of the State, and abounds in sound practical suggestions, and evinces an earnest solicitude for the public weal. It is considered an able document, but as the Governor is but a private citizen it will not receive the attention it deserves.

THE PERSONAL LIABILITY CLAUSE.

We are in receipt of a copy of a memorial from the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce, to the California Legislature, strongly advocating the repeal of the personal liability clause, under which insurance and other corporations are required to do business.

This movement is due to the losses sustained by these corporations by the late disastrous fires. The loss is far in excess of the paid up capital in some hundreds of fire insurance companies in the East, and this is also the case with all those of this coast; of these the Pacific assured losers by the Chicago fire that all losses should be paid in full. This promise was based on an assessment of seventy-five per cent. on its capital stock, which assessment the stockholders declined to pay, and as a consequence this company will issue no more policies unless or until the Legislature shall repeal the personal liability clause. Subsequently to the above an offer of 40 cents on the dollar was made by the Pacific, and 20 cents by the Occidental, which offers were properly refused. If the stockholders are not held responsible for the deficiences in the capital stock the policies standing against these companies are of no value, whatever.

This personal liability was the thing of all others that the California companies kept before their customers most prominently. It was a great satisfaction to stockholders to point to the law of California that made them individually liable, while their companies were declaring dividends, but when the hour of misfortune comes, where are the long lists of wealthy men who were to make good any loss that might overtake them? The Legislature should pay no attention to this attempt to repeal the personal liability clause, unless some effectual stay can be put upon the operations of such corporations which will limit their business in accordance with their paid up capital. All such attempts heretofore have failed of its object, and will most likely do so hereafter, so that the best security the public can have is to allow the law to remain as it is.

Why should a corporate body be allowed the privilege of contracting liabilities, many times exceeding its capital, and yet have no responsibility beyond that capital? If insurance companies in California can not be conducted under the present requirements, it is difficult to see how they can be of certain benefit to those who may rely upon them in case of heavy losses at the time required. It will be better to have no insurance companies than to relieve them from personal responsibility.

Inauguration of Governor Booth—His Message.

Governor Booth was duly inaugurated December 8, with more enthusiasm than was ever before witnessed on a similar occasion in California. The city was full of soldiers and citizens. After the administration of the oath of office to the Governor and Lieutenant Governor by the Chief Justice, the Governor delivered his inaugural address, after which Governor Haight received a marching salute. Subsequently there was a banquet at the State Armory, and much speech making. The ceremonies passed off without accident or mishap.

The message is quite lengthy, dignified and to the point. Subsidies to railroads, rates of fares and freights, the litigant and State paper acts, the China immigration question, taxation, compulsory education and other matters of general interest, are discussed at length and in a spirit in accordance with his well known principles and antecedents. He advocates the use of uniform ballots in public elections, and in regard to the number of elections, holds the following sensible views:

Holding separate elections for judicial and political offices is productive of additional expense without corresponding benefit. The amendment to the Constitution now pending to remedy this meets the general approbation of the people, and will no doubt receive the favorable consideration of the Legislature. If by an additional amendment the time of holding elections for State and county officers should be changed from the odd to the even years, the general State election might be held on the same day as the Presidential, United States Senators would not as now be necessarily elected fourteen months before the beginning of their term of office, and there would be no vacancy, as there now is, in our accredited representation to the lower house of Congress from the 4th of March until the October election in the odd years.

Legislative Favors

Our thanks are due Assemblyman Whiting, of Tuolumne, for divers and sundry public documents, particularly for Part III of the proposed new code.

STATE TREASURER'S REPORT.

State Treasurer Coronel submits his biennial report, dated December, exhibiting the financial transactions of the State for the two fiscal years commencing July 1st 1869. The property tax for Inyo the first of these two years was $2,729.09; for the second $4,822.56, or an increase of 44 per cent., a much larger proportion than is shown by any other county in the State. In fact there are but twelve counties besides Inyo that show any increase at all. Of these Santa Barbara shows an increase of about 20 per cent., all the rest of the twelve ranging from less than half that rate to less than one per cent. Of our neighboring counties Mono and Tuolumne show a slight advance, while there is a falling off of about 30 per cent in Los Angeles county. The totals for the State are $2,606,214,69 for the 21st fiscal year and $2,380,362.17, for the 22d: total falling off of personal property tax $225,852.52.

The total amount of cash in the State Treasury is $464,949.39, and the total indebtedness of the State June 30, 1871, is $3,646,847.08.

SUMMARY OF THE DOINGS OF THE CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE.

[From The Daily Union, December 9.]

In the Senate the rules of the seventeenth session were adopted, including the one taking away from the Lieutenant-Governor the appointment of committees, and also the one requiring the appointments by the Governor to be acted on upon the same day on which they are announced. Pay and mileage were allowed to the old officers. New attaches were appointed. Messrs Perkins, Duffy and Compte were appointed a committee to act with a like committee from the Assembly on inaugural ceremonies, and the Senate, in executive session, confirmed a number of appointments made by Governor Haight during the last two years

In the Assembly, a joint convention was held to canvass the votes for Governor and Lieutenant-Governor. Booth and Pacheco were formally and officially declared elected. Standing rules of an unusually rigid character were adopted. Rev. Hiram Cummings, of Placer county, was elected Chaplain. Bills were introduced on railroad fares and freights, mortgage tax, San Francisco Board of Public Works court house and jail construction for Mendocino, etc.

In the Senate Larkin introduced a bill fixing railroad fares and freights at 5 cents per mile; also a bill relative to the loaning the credit of the State to railroads; Tompkins a bill covering the matter of additions to incorporated towns. The Senate adjourned to Monday at 2 o'clock P. M.

The Assembly passed a resolution providing for the per diem and mileage of members, and ordered the standing rules printed.

Brigham Young was at St. George, near the Arizona line, December 2.

Lake was the aggressor, knocking De Young down and trying to shoot him. Instead of doing so, however, he accidently shot E. D. Wheeler, inflicting a dangerous wound in the thigh. Lake was arrested, and put under $1,000 bonds for his appearance for an examination before the Police Court. The act of Lake is strongly condemned by all. The cause of the assault was the appearance in The Chronicle of some strictures upon Judge Lake's course while presiding in a trial of libel in which De Young was defendant.

The Prince of Wales.

Dispatches to December 8, and the latest from England, preclude all hope of the recovery of the Prince of Wales, and his death was momentarily expected; congestion of the lungs had set in. The situation causes great consternation in political circles. The Queen was wild with grief, and likely herself to die or lose her reason; in either case there would have to be a regency, as the heir apparent is but seven years old.

Operations at the Eclipse Mill.

Superintendent Tregelles, of the Eclipse Company, is just beginning to get the new mill and things connected with the mine, generally, in working order. In his endeavors to accomplish this end, and obtain results sufficiently tangible and satisfactory to meet the expectations of anxious stockholders, Captain Tregelles has had many embarrassing obstacles to contend against. His obvious progress and success in the face of these difficulties can be no less encouraging and gratifying to the company he represents than to himself. This company are entitled to credit for their persistence, for in most cases the whole thing, in view of the extraordinary expense, would have been abandoned. Vast amounts of hard cash have been sunk in trying new fangled but utterly worthless machinery, all of which the present manager has had at great cost, to replace by the kind that has alone stood the test of experience.

THE MINE.

The saving clause, perhaps, against all the discouragements, of which but a mere hint has been given above, consists in the fact that the mine itself has ever presented the most encouraging aspect. For months past an immense body of ore, gold and argentiferous galena, has been uncovered in amount without further developments to insure an abundant supply for an indefinite number of years. No doubts have been or need be entertained on this point, nor of its value. The only question was as to the method and appliances to be used in saving the gold. In moderately pure gold ores, carrying little or no base metal, this is comparatively a simple matter, but in the ore from this mine there is a heavy percentage of base minerals, rendering its successful reduction a matter of scientific manipulation. We are told, and do not doubt the statement, that the whole of this ore together has an assay value of not less than $25 per ton. Of some being put through the batteries we observed during a recent visit considerable quantities that would certainly range into the hundreds, though much the larger portion was of low grade, and some again presenting to the eye no indication of value whatever. Every thing contained in the seven-foot ledge goes to the stamps unassorted. Hence the low average.

THE TRAMROAD

is now completed to a point within 2,500 yards of the lower dump. A large force, mostly Piutes, are engaged on the tramroad, and in a few days will have it finished, so that the teams now employed in carrying the ore from the dump to the cars can be dispensed with, thereby effecting a saving of $1 75 on the transportation of each ton of ore, besides the extra handling. Measures are in course of execution to procure

A LIGHT LOCOMOTIVE

for use on the tramroad, which was constructed with that object in view. There is no question but what the substitution of a locomotive in lieu of the horses now used as a motive power for the cars will be not only more economical in the first instance but a great deal more effective generally. When this is done and some improvements effected about the dump the whole cost of raising, transportation and reduction need not exceed

FIVE DOLLARS PER TON.

Fourteen cars and four horses are now engaged in transporting the ore, at the rate of about 48 tons per day. This amount does not equal the capacity of the mill, so that it will have to be shut down occasionally for want of ore.

THIRTY STAMPS

of the usual style are set up and running, and twenty more soon to be in place. The mill from necessity is located upon "made" ground, of unknown depth, and the foundation is not good. Though the heaviest timbers attainable have been placed under the batteries, the stamps can not be run on a full drop without risk of damage to some of the machinery. No serious trouble need be apprehended from this cause however. The mill is under the charge of Mr. John Morris, assayer and amalgamator, who seems to be well qualified for the responsible duties of his position. Much depends on his knowledge and judgment in the use of chemicals and the extensive appliances necessary for the amalgamation of gold accompanied by so much base metal. As he has already accomplished results that assures a most flattering success for the whole enterprise, we conclude he is the right man in the right place.

THE APPLIANCES FOR SAVING THE GOLD

have been previously described in our description of the old mill, but as some important additions are to be made to the apparatus we shall take a brief view of the present and intended process together. The pulp first passes through a No. 70 wire screen, then over copper plates into a vibrating table divided into four compartments, each of which contains about a tank of quicksilver. Were there no chemical reasons to prevent every particle of gold would be amalgamated before going further, but as it is much of it passes on to the blanket sluices or "frakes," which come next in order, and at present ends the process of amalgamating. As soon as possible, however, Captain Tregelles intends to add other machinery, the first being what is technically called a

BUDLE.

This is a machine extensively used in tin mining in England, and in the gold mines of this State, particularly in Grass Valley. The object of its use is simply to reduce the tailings for the usual pan grinding to a minimum quantity, say to five per cent. of the whole. This is done by concentration effected by the specific gravity of the gold contained in the tailings, somewhat as the gold is saved by sluice boxes in placer mining. The budle is a shallow pan 18 feet in diameter, with a wooden bottom. In the center of this bottom and cutting through it, is a cast iron drum, standing on end, and about thirty inches in hight and diameter. The bottom planks where they join the drum are fourteen inches lower than at their outer ends, thus making a sort of a wide funnel. Vertically through the center of the drum is a shaft from which a number of arms or iron troughs radiate, reaching to the rim of the budle. The pulp is received at the center and passing along these arms, which are slowly moving around, is deposited on the outer and high end of the bottom planks where the heavier portion is retained by its own gravity while the lighter and least valuable part is by the action of water moved towards the drum in the center; against the sides of which all of any special value lodges, and the lighter particles pass over the edge of the drum and down through it to a reservoir below, where they are deposited for future consideration. The drum can be raised and depressed by machinery. At the beginning of the process its upper edge is but an inch or two above the lowest part of the floor, and is designed to retain the same relative position to the surface of the inflowing pulp until the latter fills the budle. The whole operation is automatically effected by machinery capable of the nicest adjustment, the whole arrangement needing but little attention. The budle when full will contain fifty tons, which has yet to be subjected to the final pan grinding.

A WILLOW LINED MILL RACE.

In addition to many other contemplated improvements the long mill race is to be lined with growing willows to protect its banks and thereby increase its capacity. This sensible improvement will add one redeeming feature appreciable to the eye accustomed to gaze upon the desolate expanse through which the race has been constructed.

STEAM HOISTING WORKS

will, during next week, be put in place at the mine, and then as soon as the dump and tramroad connections are completed there will be no trouble in delivering ore enough to keep a hundred stamps constantly in motion.

FIFTY ADDITIONAL STAMPS

will be put in the mill as soon as the arrangements for delivering a sufficient quantity of ore are completed. The wheel now in use has a surplus power amply sufficient to drive the additional fifty stamps, or one hundred in all. Considerable quantities of rich smelting ores are extracted, from the mine, for the reduction of which is in course of erection, and will soon be in running order. When finished the works of the Eclipse Mining Company will be the largest and most complete in necessary adjuncts of any in the county, and, so far as our knowledge extends, in the State. The work has been undertaken by this company as a legitimate enterprise, the profits being wholly contingent upon the money extracted from the mine itself. In other words it is not a stock jobbing operation, nor is the property for sale. For these reasons we heartily wish it a magnificent success, and confidently believe that it is and will continue to be. The administration of the company's affairs is in good hands. Superintendent Tregelles has the knowledge and experience to fit him for his responsible duties, and the judgment and energy to execute them and he does it.

A SMELTING FURNACE

Death of "Cosly" Wells.

We are again called upon to chronicle a notable and widely mourned death—this time the old King of Terrors taking off Job L. Wells, perhaps as widely and favorably known as any man in the county. Though young, he was an old member of the Masonic fraternity, and stood high in the order. He was buried by them with all honors possible to have been given a deceased brother under the circumstances, there being no regular Lodge yet organized. However, almost every Mason, including a large number of citizens, from the towns of Lone Pine, Cerro Gordo, Independence and Swansea were present at his burial, betokening the high esteem in which he was held. He leaves a young wife, child and brother to mourn his sad, early death.

Will Celebrate.

Both the senior and junior members of THE INDEPENDENT firm are happy to acknowledge the reception of invitations to attend a Christmas party gotten up at Cerro Gordo, under the auspices of the Cerro Gordo Social Union. We believe this is the first regular ball ever given at that place, but the affair will doubtless be a fine one and we would gladly send a delegate were it practicable. As it is, our onerous, incessant duties will compel us to remain in the office, just as though nothing had happened.

At Lone Pine.

Our readers will note the fact that "mine hostess" of the Lone Pine Hotel announces a Christmas reunion, on the night of the 25th. We learn that Fred Grothey has generously tendered the use of his fine large hall for the occasion, while the supper will be given at the hotel, under the immediate supervision of the able landlady, Mrs. Barry. A jolly good time will be had, with dancing till you can't rest. For committees, etc., see advertisement.

Their Action.

Independence Engine Company No. 1 met one evening last week, according to adjournment, to receive committee reports and determine whether or not to give a holiday ball. After some discussion it was decided not to give an entertainment. A resolution was passed tendering to Wm. G. Squires, a member, the condolence and sympathy of the company in his recent bereavement.

Assaying.

Mr. John Morris, foreman of the Eclipse mill, gives notice that he will receive ores for assay, which he is prepared to do on short notice. From personal inspection we know that Mr. Morris has a magnificent assaying apparatus, and as he thoroughly understands his business the correctness of his assays may be implicitly relied upon. His place of business is at the Eclipse mill.

Insurance.

Parties holding fire insurance policies in the Pacific Insurance Company will find an interesting and satisfactory notice in our advertising columns. The Pacific rightfully pays all losses and, by this arrangement, secures their patrons from future losses, even if they do not continue business.

Business.

The Eclipse Company offer a good business opportunity to some industrious man, in the way of a wood contract. There is almost inexhaustible supplies on both the mountain ranges, but roads and chutes are needed. Let somebody open the way to these woodlands, and secure a fortune by so doing.

Small Profits.

We commend to the consideration of everybody the new "ad." of Seth G. Sneden, Bishop Creek. He does a cash business, under which system only can goods be sold at reasonable rates. He has large and very fine stock of goods, which can not fail to include exactly what you want.

Re-opened.

The Exchange Hotel, which has been closed for some weeks past, has been re-opened under the management of W. J. Lake, who will shortly make it reach its old-time standard of popularity. See advertisement.

Christmas Dance.

Mr. R. D. Parker gives notice elsewhere that he will give a ball at the Exchange Hotel on Christmas night. We are assured that nothing has been left undone to make the affair one of general and thorough enjoyment.

Shooting Match.

As will be seen by the announcement, a shooting match for chickens and turkeys is on the tapis for Christmas. A match has also been arranged between two crack shots for some rifle target practice, and considerable cash will change hands on the result.

A Change.

Mr. Charles Parsons and lady have leased and are now conducting the Inyo House.

—The candy date is said to be the most common election fruit.

The Senatorship.

The Republican members of the Legislature held a caucus on the night of the 8th instant for the purpose of selecting a candidate for Senator, but adjourned for further action. It is believed by parties who claim to be well posted that Sargent is certain of receiving the Senatorial nomination. The strength of the respective candidates is thus stated: Sargent, 55; Cole, 9; Felton, 5; doubtful, 2; making 71 votes. Senator Tomkins, Independent, will not go into the Republican caucus Of Cole's 9 supporters, 3 are said to prefer Sargent to Felton. Of Felton's 5, 3 prefer Sargent to Cole. Of the 2 doubtful, one would probably vote for Phelps if he was in the fight with any show, and prefers Sargent to either Cole or Felton; the other is non-committal in every respect. Hale has no votes. Edgerton's name is no longer mentioned, and Phelps has retired.

The Main Points of the Law under which the above Claims were Paid:

No Insurance on Life shall be forfeited by non-payment of premium.

The net value of the Policy shall be ascertained at the time of the lapse of premium, and be considered a net single premium of temporary insurance.

If the death of the party occurs within the term of temporary insurance, the Company shall be bound to pay the whole Policy the same as if there had been no lapse of premium; provided, the Company shall have the right to deduct from the face of the Policy the amount of premium due, with interest, at the date of death.

THE NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

Was incorporated in 1835. It has accumulated assets of $10,000,000 00.

The premiums of this Company are the same as those of Companies that compel the insured to forfeit what they have paid in case of non-payment of premium when due.

SQUIBLETS.

—Prudes are coquettes gone to seed.

—The first sunshade was an eclipse.

—Relative beauty—A pretty cousin.

—The woman question—What did she have on?

—One way to get a roaring trade is to buy a menagerie.

—Many mechanics are leaving San Francisco for Chicago.

—How long is the longest letter in the alphabet? It is an L (ell) long.

—General Court—Waiting on half a dozen girls at the same time.

—The candy date is said to be the most common election fruit.

—Farmers in the vicinity of Albany, Oregon, are paying boys $20 per month to keep wild geese away from their wheat fields.

—There have been 14,260,327 pounds of tea transported over the Union Pacific railway so far this year.

—A rough-and tumble fight by four young Missourians, in which, three were killed, is delicately styled a "duel" by the local editor who reported it.

—A recently published English pamphlet rapresents Queen Victoria as having hoarded $35,000,000.

—A Western editor represents money as "close," but not close enough to reach.

—A pedant being taken to task for saying that Cæsar founded Rome, retorted, "I tell you he did found it; he found it in Italy!"

—A brilliant young married lady wants to know if it is bigamy for a man to become wedded to his wife's opinions.

—A Miss Bain, of Montreal, has sued her lover for what she calls "extras." She says she will explain when the cash comes up for trial.

—A Missouri lady advertises for the person who is in the habit of serenading her, to stand nearer the house so that she can scald him.

—A victim of Horace Greeley's astonishing handwriting, says: "If Horace had written that inscription on the wall in Babylon, Belshazzar would have been a good deal more scared than he was."

—A south-western editor remarks: If in our school-days the rule of three is proverbially trying, how much harder in after life do we find the rule of one." He has been married only fourteen months.

—An Indiana lawyer, when a witness requested leave to go to her sick husband, answered, "No; if her husband died she could easily get another." The woman then slapped his face, and the verdict was that it served him right.

—A clerk writes home to his sweetheart; "Can't marry you this winter Our firm don't advertise; business is awful dull, and I will get my wages cut down, if the firm don't bust altogether. So let us postpone till '72."

—Sayler, of Rutland, Vt., has sued Mr. Page for giving his family the small-pox. If we get the right hang o this, it is one of those cases where it is more blessed to give than to receive.

—Horace Greeley says: "From one to ten boxes of pills is a dose for young fowls; the best way to give the remedy is to tickle the chicken under the wings until it laughs, when the pills can be shot down its throat with a horse pistol."

—Said Mr. Cantwell to his clergyman, who had a great disrelish for hypocrisy, "How can I best help to reform the world?" "By beginning with yourself!" was the conclusive reply.

—To take two letters from money and have but one left is considered a neat thing. But we have heard of a man who took money from letters so there wasn't any left.

—It is mentioned as something wonderful that some of the French ponds contain pike more than one hundred and fifty years old. That's nothing. There's pike in the armory of London Tower more than five hundred years old.

—An Alderman in Troy, New York, felt disgusted one night because a young man, visiting his daughter, stayed rather late; so he went in and turned off the gas, and then went to bed. Two hours later he stepped in to see how it was—and regrets having turned the gas off.

—An orator of the "Far West" proposes to "grasp a ray of light from the great orb of day, spin it into threads of gold, and with them weave a shroud in which to wrap the whirlwind which dies upon the bosom of our western prairies." We are afraid the machinery will break before that fabric gets through the loom.

—The following advertisement appeared in a recent London paper: "To Christians—A pious young man never having the blessing of the use of his limbs through being set on wet grass in childhood, earnestly solicits forty-two postage stamps, in return for which he will send, free, six best nickel silver tea-spoons to any part of London."

—An editor in Iowa pretends to speak for the sisterhood in his county as follows: "So far as we know, there is not a woman in Cass county who cares a straw about the female suffrage business, which seems to concern so many women elsewhere. The fact that the increase of children in the county in the last year was over 450 may explain the reason why they don't care to vote, being otherwise employed."

Mrs. Jabez Baxter.—Fred W. Loring's Last Story.

[From The Irish Republic.]

[We print below, from The Independent, (N. Y.) what is pretty certainly the last article prepared for the press by Fred. Loring. With it, the editor received a note, dated "Somewhere in Arizona, October 14," and mailed October 30, in which the lamented young author says: "This lets me out until I get back to Boston. The child-wives of California are real, I am sorry to say. I think this sketch may help to limit them in the future. * * * I am in the Indian country, but from the accounts of the last papers I have seen, I judge I am safer than in the East. I am in splendid health, but very anxious to reach home again." A later note, dated "Fort Whipple, October 31," closed with the words: "In three days from now I start for San Francisco.']

I am shortly going to become an outcast. I have said that some miners were lawless and brutish; how can I live on the Pacific coast then? I have ridiculed one or two of what seemed to me little snobberies in my dear native city, Boston; and so what can I do in the States? New York seems unsafe to me, here among the Apaches, where rings do not exist, and I am puzzled a little about where to fly for refuge, when I start to leave the southwest. And yet, bad as matters are, I am about to make them worse by telling—

1. A story about a member of the Nevada Legislature.

2. A story about a member of the Massachusetts Legislature.

1. There was an orphan asylum in Virginia City, governed by Catholics and superintended by Sisters of Charity. This orphan asylum applied to the Legislature for aid, and there was, of course, an animated debate. One member suggested the propriety of "first getting your orphans before you help the asylum." Another replied that from the accounts of the Kewillogat and Pepoiekai papers, orphans were likely to abound in Nevada during the next few years. A third, in a "burst of spontaneous eloquence," said, warmly; "God bless the widows and orphans and them as makes them." Finally it was decided to send the member from Red Oak to investigate, as a special committee, the asylum in question. Sister Agatha, who was in charge, showed him the asylum and its contents, and the Red Oak statesman was deeply impressed. "Well, Miss Agatha," he said, "You are a high-toned woman, and I like your style. I shall make a favorable report; good by; shake hands, Miss Agatha, won't you?" Thereupon Sister Agatha explained that Sisters, as a rule, did not shake hands. The member from Red Oak was equal to the emergency. He repeated his words of commendation, and then—well, then he slapped "Miss Agatha" heartily on the back, and left her in a state of pleasure at his geniality. It was another member of the Nevada Legislature who told me this; so, of course, it must be true.

2. There was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature who had occasion to call on the Rev. Father O'Reilly on a matter of business. He knocked at the Father's door. Serving girl appeared. Was the Father in? No, not any. Where had he gone? The servant did not know. Would he be back soon? The servant thought not.

"It's really very annoying," said the member of the Massachusetts Legislature, thoughtfully, "for I wanted to see him on important business. Isn't Mrs. O'Reilly in?"

This second story is given to appease any possible or probable Californian who will thirst for my blood because of Mrs. Jabez Baxter. Having insulted Massachusetts, my own State, by asserting in the foregoing story that all members must logically be idiotic, how is it reasonable to suppose that I am not insulting California, and asserting that all her citizens are as great beasts as Mr. Jabez Baxter in the following romance. Let it pass, however. I accept the fact, new to me, that one swallow does not make a Summer, and proceed to my ROMANCE.

[Founded upon fact.]

In the Summer of 1871 a weary traveler might have been seen riding through the verdurous lanes of Owens valley, California.

The scenery about him was unquestionably high-toned in the extreme. To the right the Sierra Nevada, with its snow-capped peaks and purple sides, stretched its slow length along like a needless Alexandrine. To the left willows were seen lining the fertile meadows; and the musical ripple of innumerable mountain streams, engaged in irrigating just as hard as they could, was heard.

The traveler could not be called handsome. His complexion was black and tan; his hair, short and spiky, was admirably calculated to defy the attempts of any Indians to secure his scalp, while his beard flowed in irregular but luxuriant masses over his chin and neck. In justice, however, to the rider, it should be remarked that his attire was not calculated to enhance any personal attractions he might otherwise be credited with. A blue, scarlet and green flannel shirt, much faded and shrunken, and entirely destitute of buttons, enfolded his thorax, and was itself partially covered by a tattered vest, whose lining floated behind him in the breeze. The brim of his hat had apparently suffered mastication, while the crown presented a crushed and sat upon aspect. One suspender held up his blue army trowsers, on the cerulean background of whose material stains and black thread could be discerned. Yet this man was a youth of promise, with a rising literary reputation and a liberal education. In his pocket was a pencil and note-book, and his brow a shadow which might have been care or which might have been contrariness.

"Come, get up, Evil Merodach," he cried, addressing his mule in an energetic manner, with forcible language, "for we have a long way to go before we reach camp. Hallo, there's a ranch. Perhaps I can get some milk there." He spurred his mule forward until he reached the gate. A small girl, apparently nine years of age, appeared at the door.

"Have any soldiers gone by here?" he asked.

"Yes," said the child, "and they're in camp about a mile below here."

"Then," said the stranger, dismounting, "I can wait a moment. Is your mother in?"

"No," said the child' "I don't have her around here, you bet."

"Well, is your father in?" asked the stranger, again.

"No, sir," said the small child. "This ranch ain't the old man's no way. It belongs to Baxter—Jabez Baxter, Esquire."

"Well, is Mr. Baxter in, then?"

"No, he ain't."

"Well, is his wife in, then?"

"Yes, sir. I am her."

"What!" said the stranger.

"I'm Mrs. Baxter," said the little girl.

"Mrs. Baxter," said the stranger "how old are you?"

"Going on ten," said Mrs. Jabez Baxter.

"And how old—Mrs. Baxter, do you read the newspapers?"

"Once in a while," said Mrs. Baxter.

"Baxter, then, I suppose, does not take one?"

"No, sir," said Mrs. Baxter, "but he borrys one sometimes."

"Well," said the inquisitive stranger, "I am going to interview you. Were you ever interviewed, Mrs. Baxter?"

"No," said Mrs. Baxter. "It don't hurt none, does it?"

"Not as a rule," said the inquisitive person, taking his note book out.

"Well, say," said Mrs. Baxter, "I ain't going to let you do it for nothing, you know."

"Certainly not," said the inquisitive person. "How much do you want?"

"Well about four bits would be right," said Mrs. Baxter.

"Give me a glass of milk," said the stranger, "and answer some questions, and you shall have your four bits."

"Go ahead," said Mrs. Baxter, conclusively.

"Tell me," said the inquisitive person, "how you came to marry Mr. Baxter?"

"Well," said Mrs. Baxter, "women is scarce round here, and Baxter wanted some help, and he won't have no Chinese around bossing when he's away. Me and him's both down on them fellows. So Baxter and dad, who was old partners, determined that I'd better marry him as I was the oldest. I've got a sister living; she's only seven. She wanted to get married, too; but marm said she wasn't going to have it, no way. No child of her'n should be married before she was eight years old."

"Your mother must be a nice woman," said the inquisitive stranger, writing. "I should like to know your mother."

"Oh, she'd just as lieves," said Mrs. Baxter. "She ain't a bit particular, she ain't."

"And—it's a delicate question—but are you in love with Mr. Baxter?" asked the rising journalist.

"I guess so," said Mrs. Baxter. "He treats me pretty well, and lets me go for them Chinese that he employs; and that's bully good fun, I can tell you. But I'll get divorced before long. I know a girl, she ain't only three years older'n me, and she's married to her second husband already."

"You're a rule, then, and not an exception," said the inquisitive person.

"Hey?" said Mrs. Baxter.

"Are there many other girls of your age around here who are married?"

"Three or four," said Mrs. Baxter. "You ask a heap of questions, don't you?"

"I do, Mrs. Baxter," said the stranger, "and it is thus that I acquire a princely income and a world-wide reputation. Here are your bits. Tell Mr. Baxter that I will send him a newspaper before long. Do I keep to the right or left?"

"To the right, stranger," said Mrs. Baxter.

"Come, Evil Merodach, let's go to camp," said the stranger, and, mounting his mule, he buoyantly rode away.

* * * * * * *

This is all of the great American romance that I am going to give to the readers of this paper at present. In three or four years I will have the second instalment ready. The scene will be laid at Hull, Mass., and the villain will be a hotel-keeper there, who charges a transient guest fifty cents for using a towel. After that I suppose I can never visit Hull again. But no matter for that. It is my intention to expose in a trenchant and vigorous manner some of the abuses of American society, even if I forfeit the delights of Hull forever.

In three or four years the original of Mrs. Jabez Baxter will be even more developed, physically and mentally, than now, thanks to the climate of California. It can not be that the romance of her life has ended with her marriage. On the contrary, I fear it has just begun. Poor little girl, it seems cruel that any climate should be so developing as that in California, if such outrages as your story are to follow. In three or four years, when the second chapter is ready, either special legislation will permit the recurrence of such exceptional cases as yours, or else you will be qualified to fill some position of public trust and honor under the coming administration of that eminent stateswoman, Mrs. Victoria C. Woodhull. And then, too, it is to be hoped that the "rising young journalist," who interviewed you, will have outgrown his present yeasty state, and be better able to do your story full justice.

The Atlantic & Pacific R. R.

The work of pushing this road westward is progressing at a rate hardly surpassed by the operations which characterized the building of the enormously subsidized Union Pacific, a few years ago. Aleady the line is completed to Vinita, thirty-five miles west of the Missouri line. A correspondent of The Chicago Evening Journal thus describes his journey from Seneca, a town situated on the line between Missouri and the Indian Territory, to the present terminus:

"Seneca is the verge of white civilization: all beyond is a wilderness. Three years ago Seneca was inchoate. The railroad approached and it sprang into being. Now a thriving town of 1,000 inhabitants, the centre of a large Indian trade, it is a fair type of a border town, and is eminently lively. Leaving the depot at Seneca a few minutes' ride brings you within the limits of the Territory, and soon the train crosses Grand river, over a magnificent bridge. On all sides are those peculiarities of vegetation and topography which characterize the greater part of the reservation. Thirteen miles west of Seneca is Prairie City, in the Cherokee nation, a good site for a city but a poor sight of a city. A depot building, a rough board "hotel" (Heaven save the mark,) two or three shanties and Cherokee tents, comprise the edifices. The Indians have laid out a town here which they call Oseuma (O-seemo) meaning "pure water." The railroad company have here erected stock yards, said to be the most extensive in the country. The place must soon become prominent as a shipping point for the vast heards of Texas and Cherokee cattle, which cover the surrounding plains. Twenty-two miles further west, or a little south of west, is Vinita, the present terminus of the Atlantic and Pacific Road and its junction with the Missouri Kansas and Texas road running south. The track of the Atlantic and Pacific Road is laid some three miles further, to Big Cabin Creek. Vinita is also in the Cherokee Nation, and at the time of our visit [middle of September] was hoary with the accumulated burdens of two week's existence—a bustling, busy canvas city. Two weeks ago a desert, now filled with 400 or 500 railroad operators, living in tents and box cars, while more substantial dwellings are being erected, it seemed to have been called into existence by the hand of enchantment. We approached it first on horse, through the tall grass of the prairie, in the dim twilight, when suddenly, on rounding the base of a hill, a hundred tents gleamed white through the gloom looking as though they had sprung from the earth. Of course nine-tenths of the inhabitants will follow the road to the next terminus, and only the few Indians residents will be left. Two years from now—should the Indian restrictions be removed—Vinita, as the junction of two great trunk roads crossing the continent at right angels, will be a city. The name is Cherokee and signifies "Flowery Plains," a name which the surroundings render beautiful and appropriate. The Indians have laid out a town here, called Downingsville in honor of their leading chief."

How He Won Five Dollars.

Two gentlemen of color went out early one morning to run a foot-race on a bet of $5. After jockeying a long time for the "bulge," they got off. Soon one led the other so much that the latter determined on a coup de malive to save money and credit, and flying the track took a wide circuit over logs and fences. On finally reaching the "out come" he was met by the exulting exclamation from his long heeled opponent, who was calmly awaiting his arrival: "Gosh, nigger, you see how I win dat five dollars 'fore breakfust?" "Go way, nigger," said the other indignantly, "how the debbil you win five dollars 'fore breakfust when I flewed the track?"

—A countryman came to one of our hotels and wrote after his name: "P. O. P. S. F. C." Here was a title which none but himself undersood. "Pray my dear sir," asked the barkeeper, "what do all these letters stand for?" "Stand for! Why, that's my title." "Yes, sir; but what is your title?" "Why, sir, Professor of Psalmody and Schoolmaster from Connecticut."

—A Miss Bain, of Montreal, has sued her lover for what she calls "extras." She says she will expain when the case comes up for trial.

The San Francisco Ghost.

The San Francisco people are now happy in the possession of a peculiar sort of a ghost. It is simply the photograph of a man's face and shoulders upon a window glass. This mysterious appearance has created quite a sensation and is a God-send to newspaper reporters, who are filling their respective journals with columns of descriptive, sage speculations as to its origin, etc. Some of them print pictorial representations of the ghost. The following, from The Bulletin of the 10th, will give some idea of what is said and done about it:

The mysterious face at the window Joergen's continues to monopolize the attention of the people as the sensation of the day, and, having the elements of success, it is likely to have a long and profitable run. In point of interest it eclipses the Cardiff giant, the woolly horse, and the strong whale, while it has none of the costliness attendant upon the keeping or transportation of either of these rival novelties, and has not the weight of the giant, the appetite of the horse or the odor of the whale. It is necessary to take all these points into consideration, because the face fast assumes a commercial value, and like the girl of the period is in the market. What it is we are not prepared to state, but reliable parties say that it is a peculiarity in the glass, caused at the time of its manufacture, and is known to mechanics by the name of "smoke in the glass." Some mechanics claim to have seen faces similar to the one in question in many a glass. This statement has the ring of reason. It sounds natural. It is well known that impressions of faces are accidentally taken on window-glass at times, and they are known as "chance pictures." Such may be the character of this picture. It has the appearance of the faded ambrotype of a corpse, approaches translucency, and is rather mellow and subdued. The position of the head suggests the idea that the party may have been mellow when it was taken, or had been hanged. Malicious persons claim to believe that it is the picture of some conscience-smitten pirate, who would naturally seek quarters in that neighborhood, because of the bay view. The general public may have whatever theory they please—R. B. Woodward has a theory of his own, and also has the picture. At 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon the glass was taken out, to the huge disgust of speculators on the street, and ere this the specter may be gazing serenely upon the pleasant scenes at Woodward's Gardens. It is reported that Mr. Woodward paid $250 for the prize. Perhaps he did.

A Railroad Race.

A correspondent of The Red Wing Argus thus describes a race which recently took place on the parallel lines of railroad between Winona and Minnesota City:

Taking the Eastern bound train on Tuesday, the 7th inst., at 2 P. M., at Rochester, nothing of note occurred until we came whistling and steaming out of the bluffs on to the river bottom, about six miles west of Winona, where the Winona and St. Peter and St. Paul and Chicago Railroad tracks come together into about one hundred feet of each other, and whence they run parallel into Winona, a distance of six miles.

It seems that the trains on the Winona and St. Peter and St. Paul and Chicago Railroads are due at Winona at the same time.

As we made the curve, where the two roads come together, as above stated, the train approached at the same time, running nearly at their utmost speed, creating considerable excitement amongst the passengers—ladies waving their handkerchiefs and gentlemen swinging their hats, evincing considerable interest as to which train could make the best speed and come in ahead at Winona.

Many of us have witnessed the trial of horse speed; some of yachting and steamboat racing; but this was certainly the most exciting race that I have ever witnessed. As the conductor came through the car, remarked that the engine "St Paul" on the St. Paul and Chicago road, was the Company's best or brag engine, but he thought it was not able to propel the train and make as good time to the city as would be made by the train of which he was the conductor. The train on the St. Paul and Chicago road was about its length ahead; ours put on more steam, and began to gain—both now running "neck and neck." The excitement on both trains became intense. Ours steadily gained. Just as we passed the train on the Chicago road—it being a mixed one—having a car load of lumber on one, one of the stakes of the car broke, and a plank fell off, one end striking the ground, while the other end struck the edge of a baggage car, breaking through it and striking a telegraph operator, who was in the baggage car, knocking him senseless.

The train was brought to a standstill, while we rushed on, at the rate of a mile a minute, to the depot.

The conductor and engineer of the St. Paul train were discharged by the Superentendent for the part which they took in the foregoing transaction,

SOME NEEDED LEGISLATION.

There are a number of questions pertaining to the interests of this county that require legislative action. To some of these we desire to call the attention of the Tuolumne delegation in the Legislature, these gentlemen, under the present arrangement, being the sole representation for this and Mono county. We are satisfied they will, one and all, take pride in complying with our wants but in the nature of the case they can have but an imperfect personal knowledge of what we do need without some special action on the part of our own citizens. The best means by which to, accomplish this would be through the agency of a good lobby member, as proposed by us a short time since. As we hear of no steps being taken to secure that sort of a representation, we conclude, first, that nothing of the kind will be done, and, second, that our business men and tax-payers do not properly appreciate the necessity of taking some such action in reference to impending questions, nor realize their importance as affecting the future destinies of our county. Without, at present, saying more on this point we shall briefly allude to some of the questions at issue.

1st. An act of the Legislature is required authorizing the Treasurer of Mono county to pay over some $1,200 school money apportioned to the Bishop Creek school district, said money not having been paid over at the time nor since that portion of Mono territory was set off to Inyo. The only reason why this has not been done was a doubt as to the legality of the transfer, and we now ask that this doubt be removed by act of the Legislature.

2d. A change in the time when our Assesor may commence his duties is imperatively needed. Thousands of live stock, owned by persons who are not citizens or tax-payers of the county—men belonging mostly on the west of the Sierras—are regularly every Fall driven into this county and wintered here, much to the detriment and inconvenience of our citizens, and as regularly driven again out in the Spring before they can under the law be assessed. Thus these nomadic stockmen escape all taxation and the county loses from $2,000 to $3,000 yearly in taxes that might and would be secured if the law was changed so that the Assessor could begin his work two months earlier.

3d. A law constituting the Assesor the collector of poll and transient property taxes, as recommended by the State Board of Equalization, would receive the hearty endorsement of the people of this county. It would effect a material saving in other taxes besides that upon property belonging to non-resident owners of the class above mentioned.

4th. It is generally, and we believe, universally desired that the salary of our County Judge be raised to something like a decent and adequate compensation for his responsible and arduous duties. It is a matter of the greatest difficulty, if not quite out of the question, to induce any one possessing the requisite qualifications to accept the position for the present pitiful salary, though nominally $1,000, really amounts to but $600 a year. For this reason the Judge elect will not qualify, and before the vacancy is filled the salary should be doubled at least.

5th. The passage of a no-fence law for this county would accord with the desires of at least nine-tenths of our citizens, stock men included. We shall not elaborate on this point at this time further than to say that if even the enormous expense of securing crops against stock by fencing was no consideration, the scarcity of suitable material places it quite out of the question to fence a vast area of land suited for agriculture, which, per force, must lie in idleness, and in consequence quantities of farm produce, that ought and could be raised at home, has now to be hauled here from abroad to supply increasing demands.

6th. The future prosperity of this county is essentially contingent upon some improved means or route for the transportation of freight to and from the metropolis A wagon road to connect us with the railroad, soon to be in operation, at Visalia seems to offer the most feasible inducements. The extent of the aid for this purpose that could consistently be asked of, or granted by, the Legislature would amount to nothing more than a charter, perhaps. Be that as it may, while we are opposed to cash subsidies in aid of such enterprises either by towns, counties or State, we would gladly second the granting by the general government of one-fourth or more of all the land in the Great Basin, under proper restrictions, to any company who will construct railroads through it. This, however, has but little to do with the matter under consideration. The proposed wagon road will be of the greatest advantage to both Inyo and Tulare, and we hope that it may receive whatever aid the Legislature can consistently grant it.

7th. A matter of paramount importance to Inyo, Mono and Tuolumne is involved in the impending legislative apportionment. We should cordially endorse an amendment to the Constitution that would give every county, regardless of population, at least one representative in the Legislature. The injustice of the present arrangement, even, is seen in the fact that one of three counties composing this legislative district, has five representatives in the two branches of the Legislature, while the others have none at all. And, unless the five gentlemen alluded to specially interest themselves in our favor, as in fairness they ought to do, for the next ten years Mono and Inyo can not have even one jointly, except under a possible condition that would leave Tuolumne utterly out in the cold, should the present district lines be retained. Now, in delault of the above amendment, we propose that the surplus population above 7,000, the basis of representation possessed by Tuolumne be credited to Mono and Inyo so that the two together might be entitled to a representative. There would still be a slight deficiency which in like manner might be made up from some other county. We ask this as a matter of right and justice due this portion of the State, geographically set off as were from all the rest, and for that reason if no other, entitled to a voice in its legislation. But if neither of these things can be accomplished, then as the next best thing we ask to be districted with either Tulare or Kern, with either of which we have some identity of interests, while with Tuolumne we have none whatever more than with San Diego or Sacramento. We beg leave to call the attention o the Tuolmne delegation to this fact: That, as shown by the State Treasurer's last report, Mono and Inyo are included among the twelve counties which show any advance by property returns, and as an indication of what it will be in a short time, it will be seen by reference to that report, that this county shows a much larger increase in property and population than any other in the State. In both particulars we have nearly doubled and have good reason to expect a continuance in the same ratio, so that at the date of the next election our vote, combined with that of Mono, will certainly exceed that of Tuolumne. In that case the contest for the single member apportioned the three, should there be no change in the district, will not be political, but simply Mono and Inyo versus Tuolumne.

Eighthly and lastly, we will remark that if we can not have any of the foregoing that some old clothes would be acceptable to us sage-brushers.

EASTERN NEWS.

In Congress the following business was transacted on Monday, December 11:

Sumner introduced a bill in the United States Senate to abolish the office of Commissioner of Internal Revenue and reduce taxation. It was referred to the Finance Committee, which will probably report unfavorably to its passage. A general amnesty bill was also reported in the Senate. A like bill has also been introduced in the House, Cox being its sponsor. Ramsay introduced a bill in the Senate to organize the Territory of Ojibway, next to Montana. The lower house of Congress adopted a concurrent resolution to adjourn on the 21st inst. to the 8th of January. Trumbull made a speech in the Senate in favor of the civil service reform, in which he inveighed against the system of using the subordinate offices of the Government as administration patronage.

The rumors of an attempted impeachment of the President (set afloat by The New York Herald) are said to be without the least foundation.

In Illinois, for Congressman at large Beveridge (Rep.) has an official majority of 22,589, out of a total vote of 253-263; the Cook county vote was 27,452.

Repot says Attorney General Akerman will resign, to be succeeded by Geo. H. Williams of Oregon.

The Ways and Means Committee of the House will introduce a bill abolishing the income tax.

Five hundred and twenty-five bills and two joint resolutions were introduced in Congress the 11th, one to raise the tax on whisky to eighty cents per gallon.

Edwards Pierrepont volunteers his services to assist the Internationals in prosecuting the city of New York for arresting them and stopping the procession last Sunday. They resolved to parade in force the following Sunday, and public opinion seconds the resolve.

PACIFIC COAST READAGRAMS.

The Grand Jury of Los Angeles have indicted thirty-eight persons for complicity in the raid on the Chinese at that place some weeks ago. The jury was of the opinion that the slaughter might have been averted had the officers discharged their duties properly, and with nerve enough to interfere between the victims and the mob.

Alanson C. Bidwell, a well known citizen of Sacramento, committed suicide by shooting himself, December 10. Cause, depression of spirits from sickness and losses in business.

The Union of the 10th says the first mail and passengers to come through since the snow blockade on the overland railroad, arrived on the 9th.

Six companies of the Filth Cavalry are snow-bound in Wyoming Territory. They have been expected daily, en route for Arizona. Four companies of the same regiment were dispatched from San Francisco in the Newbern, by way of the gulf, a short time since.

It is understood that the appointment of Commissioner of Immigration will be given to Col. J. D. Stevenson of San Francisco.

A desperate affray took place in Virginia City, December 11. Timothy Quinn got a fighting drunk on, and made a murderous attack on a Mr. McGee of the Delta Saloon, who had to knife and otherwise cut up the said Quinn, who is dangerously wounded.

A courtezan named Mollie Forshay killed the cook at a restaurant in Reno, December 10. The mans name was Kelly. The woman was drunk.

Letters from Tucson, of November 27th, say that the news that the Apaches are to be placed under the control of General Schofield has had a most favorable effect on the people of Arizona. Several settlements which were about to be abandoned by the inhabitants in despair are now receiving accessions of settlers, and the mining prospects were never so good as at present. The mines in the Pinal country, recently discovered by members of Gov. Safford,s expedition, are prospecting immensely rich.

Judge Lake was examined in Judge Sawyer's court, San Francisco, touching his assault on De Young of The Chronicle. Sawyer held him to answer to the charge of assault and battery, believing the evidence did not sustain a graver charge. The case was sent to the County Court for trial; bail, $1,500.

The water Committee of the Board of Supervisors of San Francisco report against the Lake Tahoe and Clear Lake projects, and think a sufficient supply can be obtained by aggregating the waters of the streams in San Mateo, Santa Clara and San Francisco.

Seven thousand kangaroo skins have been received at San Francisco from Australia. They are being tanned into leather.

Inhuman.

Wm. Kruger, one of the two surviving victims of the Wickenburg massacre, writes us from Date Creek, under date of November 29th. He gives a most startling account of the inhuman treatment which he and his wounded companion, Miss Sheppard, received at the hands of the commanding officer of that post. Our space will not permit us to publish the account at length; but it is enough that the commanding officer ordered the woman to be taken off the reservation and refused to extend even the least aid or hospitality to Mr. Kruger.

It is very questionable virtue on the part of any man in position, to add, by his authority, to the misfortune of a woman already disabled and suffering from wounds, because she happens to be of those who have fallen from virtue. Humanity should recognize no condition; and it is a questionable right which man assumes when he punishes a woman for a crime of which not one out of every 500 of his own sex can plead guiltless.—Arizona Miner, Dec 2.

Woolen Mills at Santa Barbara.

A very gratifying interest is taken in the woolen mill project. One gentleman alone will invest ten or twelve thousand dollars. A fine brick house and grounds will be placed at the service of the manager, near by the mill site. An abundance of soft water rises near the surface in one corner of the grounds. These grounds embrace two acres in town. Capital stock would be taken to the extent of $100,000. It seems to us that the way opens at last for a woolen mill.—Santa Barbara Press, Nov 25.

SUMMARY OF THE DOINGS OF THE CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE.

[From The Daily Union.]

In the Assembly, Saturday Dec. 9 concurrent resolutions were introduced and referred to the Committee on Federal Relations, requesting Congress to intervene against the immigration of Mongolians.

The Legislature was not in session on Monday the 11th.

In the Senate, on Tuesday Lieutenant-Govenor Pacheco took his seat as President, making appropriate remarks. Mr. Irwin introduced a bill to amend Section 13 of Article 11 of the State Constitution in relation to taxation. A resolution was adopted making the Judiciary Committees of the two houses a Joint Committee on Revision of the Laws; and another resolution was adopted giving the use of the Senate Chamber for the inauguration ball.

In the State Senate on Wednesday Mr. Van Ness was sworn into office as a member. The standing committees on Enrolled Bills, Engrossed Bills, Elections, Claims, Finance, Judiciary, Agriculture, State Prison, Public Buildings, Federal Relations, Education, Contingent Expenses, Public Lands, Revenue, Mining Interests and State Hospitals were appointed. Bills on the general file were taken up and referred.

In the Assembly several more mail route resolutions were introduced, and quite a number of bills were introduced: By Little, amending the Registry act; by Slaughter erecting the Eighteenth Judicial District out of San Diego and San Bernardino; by Pardee, granting tide lands to Oakland; by Munday, repealing the Registry act; by De Haven, incorporating Chico, by Gray, requiring compensation from the seller for injuries done under the influence of liquor. by Hopper, repealing the specific contract act; by Luttrell, providing pay for the attaches of the Legislature; and by Berry, amending and repealing Sutter county reclamation acts.

LOCAL AFFAIRS.

Will Not Qualify.

It is authoritatively stated that John A. Hannah, Esq., the County Judge elect, will not qualify for the position, sensibly preferring to remain in Cerro Gordo attending to his own affairs rather than accept the place. The contemptibly small salary received by this officer is disgraceful, and it is hardly to be wondered at that men refuse to assume the responsibilities—to work for nothing and board themselves. The official term of the present County Judge expires December 31, the office remaining vacant from and after that time unless the Judge elect qualifies; in the event he does not the Governor of the State has the appointing power. In case the rumor concerning Judge Hannah proves to be true, the position should remain unfilled until the Legislature can be induced to increase the salary to a decent compensation, such as would befit a public officer performing the onerous duties.

Go to Sneden's, ascertain his prices and you will at once admit that he can not sell on credit.

The Visalia Stage Line.

Any person having important business to attend to in San Francisco within a limited time, and starts out on the Visalia stage in the fond expectation that he will be put through on the advertised schedule time of that institution—which is four days—and expects to reach his destination within the said limited time, with some hours to spare, and finds instead that he is three days behind hand, because of being seven days en route, can fully appreciate existing facts and the experience of two gentlemen who, at different times during the past three weeks, have been thus deceived, and from whom we have seen letters. They write back that the said stage line "is run in the interest of second rate hotels," and for their "friends to go by some other route if they do not wish to be outrageously imposed upon." And the public, as well as ourself, are completely infatuated with the Northern line—in a horn.

Groceries sold at Sneden's at only a slight advance over cost and carriage.

Struck Water.

None but those familiar with the nature of the Cerro Gordo country can fully appreciate the importance of the above announcement, when given in reference to one of the mines of that district. A stream of water suddenly broke through the face of a drift from the lower tunnel of the Belmont mine one day last week, thoroughly drenching the astonished miner—giving him a free bath where water is (or was) ten cents per gallon. It spurted a small stream for some hours, when it gave out almost as suddenly as it came. As might be expected, its appearance created some excitement, since a steady supply of it would enhance the value of the mine ten fold. Prospecting for more of it is being energetically pushed; in fact one of the owners of this splendid property is distinguished as a Hunter of this Beveridge.

A Cold Bath

On Thursday evening last a gent of Celtic extraction and a burley farmer got into a little muss on the street, probably due to an overdose of tansy or something. Blows were exchanged, one of which landed our inebriated friend square into the middle of the creek—in the icey-cold water. He meekly crawled under the barber shop, beneath which runs the creek, concluded that he had been put in his little bed and would rest there for the night. But his happy dreams were disturbed, for a crowd assembled and fished him out. The last we saw of the beligerents they were shaking hands and being tried for salt and batter—and were probably fined the stimulants by the presiding Judge.

Christmas

Is to be generally observed throughout the county, in the evening, at least. As will be seen by our advertising columns, balls are announced to take place at Cerro Gordo, Lone Pine and this place, with a probable sprinkling of similar affairs to the northward, all of which will doubtless be well attended. May the Genius of good order and hearty enjoyment reign supreme at all these assemblages; and we sincerely wish all hands a merry, merry Christmas!

Mining Accident.

A week or two since Mr. Daniel Schneider met with a very severe accident, by falling a distance of some twenty feet, in the Union mine, Cerro Gordo. Besides breaking a rib he sustained an injury of the spine, which has nearly paralyzed his lower limbs. He is under the care of Dr. Lesisne, who thinks he may recover, though necessarily slow.

A splendid assortment of Shawls at Sneden's.

In Bankruptcy.

The Kearsarge Company are about taking the "benefit" of the bankrupt law, according to notices received by creditors hereabouts. It is likely that this method is taken by the majority as a means of accomphishing certain objects, possibly legitimate, but the entire management of this corporation seems to deserve the strongest censure and condemnation.

If you want a good set of Harness or a Saddle, go to Sneden's.

The New Store.

Our worthy Postmaster has at last got into his new quarters, and proposes doing a business as is a business. His store is really a creditable concern, being just what was needed, and well filled with a variety of most everything. We commend to the reader the perusal of Mr. Rowley's official announcement, given elsewhere.

Postponed.

It is announced that the ball to be given at Cerro Gordo by the Social Union is postponed until further notice, on account of the weather. See notice. We presume the snow is ten feet deep, more or less, at that point.

Ladies' Hats, latest style, at Sneden's.

Mistaken.

For the purpose of correcting rumors started by parties who do not read the papers, we will state that the ball to occur in this place on Christmas night is not given by Independence Engine Co. No. 1.

No Traces.

A party of soldiers, under command of Sergeant Remsnyder, returned yesterday from a twelve days' search in the Telescope country for some clue to the Egan-Wheeler mystery, having failed to make any discoveries of importance connected with that affair. They were accompanied by Monto and a man named Jones, in the employ of Mr. Brady. Will any solution of the strange affair ever be offered?

Sneden has so many things time and space will not permit to enumerate them. He feels confident that from his extensive assortment you will find what you want, and at prices that will prove satisfactory.

Attend.

The special committees appointed by our citizens to investigate and report upon the cost and feasibility of the engine and water works systems of fire protection are in readiness to report, and the Chairman has called a meeting for final action. Let every man who has the least interest at stake attend, without fail. See notice.

Heavy Sale.

On Monday last the Santa Maria mine, Cerro Gordo, was sold by the Sheriff on execution, for $100,041 50, to satisfy a judgment for $97,000, the purchaser being P. W. Bennett, Esq. It is thought that Mr. Dorr, the former owner of the mine, will come forward and redeem the property.

At Work.

Work on the big tunnel from the lower town of Cerro Gordo, to tap the Front at a depth of 1,000 feet, is now being energetically pushed by the projectors, Messrs. Brady & Simpson. Two years will be required to complete the work.

The Weather.

Since Sunday last up to Friday morning we have had a good deal of weather—"rain, glorious rain" in the valley and "snow, the beautiful snow" ad nauseam, in the mountains.

A Puff.

All the smokists attached to this office are happy while puffing away at a box of cigars, presented by Postmaster Rowley. They are A No. 1, and a fair sample of those which he has on sale at the Postoffice store.

Sold Out.

Fred Fink has sold out his interest—one eighth—in the Wittekind mine, Cerro Gordo, to one of his partners, for $1,000. Fred makes a break northward in a few days.

FOREIGN NEWS.

Extremely cold weather in Paris—mercury twenty-one and a half degrees below zero, and the Sein frozen over.

The Czar of Russia desires constant peace and fraternity with Germany, and thinks this the surest means of maintaining the peace of Europe.

A Paris dispatch of the 9th instant says Thiers will throw up the French presidency in favor of the Duke of Aumale; that such an agreement has been made between the Duke and Thiers and that a majority of the "right" approve it.

All Madrid is in a fever of excitement over that part of President Grant's message which relates to the civil war in Cuba. The Spanish Government will at once send to Cuba 4,000 more soldiers, two new generals and four ironclads.

Prussia regards the late speech of the Czar of Russia (in which he declared that Germany and Russia in friendship will maintain the peace of Europe,) as putting an end to any prospect of an alliance between Russia and France.

The German Empire will soon send a naval expedition to South America.

Cholera has appeareb in Alexandria, Egypt.

Asiatic cholera is raging in the City of Lucknow, Hindostan.

The elections in Spain for members of the Cortes appear to have resulted in favor of the Republicans.

A bill legalizing civil marriages has just passed the Swiss Assembly.

The French Assembly, 289 to 277, adopted a resolution for the alienation of the crowe jewels of France to the State.

After the North Pole.

Sweden is preparing to send out an expedition in the Spring, in addition to those already sent out by other nations, in search of that mythical arrangement known as the North Pole. When they all do arrive there they will probably find the Stars and Stripes floating from the top of it, if Captain Hall, of the American expedition, is endowed with the degree of energy nationally expected of him. This business of discovering the Noth Pole, thus indulged in year after year, at so great a cost of both life and money, is becoming a serious tax—a pole tax, we may say. Yet when discovered it can be of no practical use except dubiously, in the interest of science. It is too cold a country for lumbering or ranching, and even the open sea said to exist around it is not safely available for profitable whaling, that is, judging by the loss of the whole whaling fleet up that way a short time ago. We hope the nation which has lost the most Poles may find this one, and settle the matter.

C W Salter	Herr's Ranch, Cal.	Two Months	5,000
C O Stevens	Danville, Cal.	One Month	5,000

The Main Points of the Law under which the above Claims were Paid:

No Insurance on Life shall be forfeited by non-payment of premium.

The net value of the Policy shall be ascertained at the time of the lapse of premium, and be considered a net single premium of temporary insurance.

If the death of the party occurs within the term of temporary insurance, the Company shall be bound to pay the whole Policy the same as if there had been no lapse of premium; provided, the Company shall have the right to deduct from the face of the Policy the amount of premium due, with interest, at the date of death.

THE NEW ENGLAND MUTUAL LIFE INSURANCE COMPANY

Was incorporated in 1835. It has accumulated assets of $10,000,000 00.

The premiums of this Company are the same as those of Companies that compel the insured to forfeit what they have paid in case of non-payment of premium when due.

Alexis' Railway Palace.

[From the New York World, Nov. 17.]

Yesterday afternoon the New Jersey Railroad Company placed upon their tracks in Jersey City, two magnificent palace coaches, which are designed for the Grand Duke Alexis' first trip over an American railroad, on his journey from this city to Washington. These cars were built by the Pullman Palace Car Company at a cost for the pair of $45,000, and after the Grand Duke has had his ride in them they will be added to the line of superb coaches that are now running over the road between New York and Chicago.

Large numbers of persons inspected the cars yesterday afternoon. They were fitted up under the personal directions of Mr. Pullman, with all the lavish decorations of the painters', the gilders', and the upholsterers' art. One of the cars is appropriately named "Ruby," its outer colors being of that bright hue, which is diversified scroll work, of gold leaves. Entering the car from the rear, the Duke will find himself in a kitchen, the floor of which is covered with a metallic carpet, the sides of which have silver racks for dishes, and which contains a massive range, large enough to cook a dinner for all the Imperial family. There are boxes for wine, for ice, for meats, and there are all the appliances for cooking that the best of New York hotels can afford. The dining-room opens from a corridor which leads from the kitchen. The floor of this room is covered with a crimson Brussels carpet, and the seats are of velvet of the same color. The seats accommodate twenty-eight persons, which number, it is understood, will accompany the Prince on his way to Washington. A richly-carved, marble-topped table, with a closet beneath for wine, a silver service costing $5,000, and elaborate mirrors comprise the most noticeable articles of furnishing in this apartment.

The "Kearsarge" is to be used for sitting and sleeping. Its style of furnishing is not inferior to that of the "Ruby," although less noticeable, because the class of car is more common upon our railroads.

The two cars form together the most splendid travelling accommodation that any traveller upon any American railway ever had before; and the Grand Duke will have in his railroad trip a better opportunity of marking the progress and the enterprise of the American people than any fetes, or speeches, or public dinners can give him.

SQUIBLETS.

—Can a lover be called a suitor when he don't suit her?

—Flesh & Blood is the suggestive name of a firm in the butcher business.

—Photographic albums with music-box attachments are coming into fashion again.

—A new version of an old verse—Loathe the poor Indian!

—Why is a water-lily like a whale?—Because both come to the surface to blow.

—France re-christened.—What used to be called la belle France is now called a Vale of Thiers.

—The difference between the leader of the flock and a fog signal is, that one is a bell-weather and the other is a weather-bell.

—A pound of energy with an ounce of talent will achieve greater results than a pound of talent with an ounce of energy.

—Three or four drops of arnica tincture poured in the ear, and the orifice filled with cotton to exclude the air is an infallible cure for earache.

—"I ain't going to live long, mother," said a woe begone looking young ster, one day, to his maternal parent. "Why not pray?" "Because my pantaloons is all tored out behind," was the conclusion.

—There are about three million eight hundred thousand head of cattle in Texas. Seven hundred and fifty thousand calves are raised and branded every year. All are raised on the great Texas plains, which cover an area of 152,000,000 acres.

—A Chinaman at Henderson Gulch, Montana, hadn't quite friends enough. He broke into a store and stole $200. When the community came to consider it, the vote stood 19 to 18, so a beech tree in the neighborhood bore Mogolian fruit.

—The Rondout Freeman says: "A little girl hearing read the account of the Grand Duke's reception, shouted with glee when she heard the Mary Powell's name mentioned. "Well," said she, "that's something for Rondout to brag over!"

—At the marriage of an elderly female lately in church the organist played the well-known hym beginning,

"This is the way I long have sought,
And mourned because I found it not,"

on the entrance of the bridal party.

—The story is told by Rev. Newman Hall of a negro preacher who informed his flock that Adam was made of wet clay, and set up against some palings to dry; and upon a skeptical darkey rising to ask, "who made the paling, den?" retorted: "Sit down, sar! such questions as dat would upset any system of theology."

—An editor in Illinois having engaged a new reporter, received the following as his first effort: "We are informed that the gentleman hoo stood on his head under a pile driver for the purpose of having a tight pair of bootes druv on, shortly afterwards found himself in Chiny, perfectly naked and without a cent in his pocket."

Boyall's Traction Steam Engine.

[From the American Artisan.]

English traction engine manufacturers have not very thoroughly tested their work, but seem determined to make known in many other lands. The houses of Thomson and of Aveling & Porter are in use in the United States, India, Spain and other countries, and there seems good reason to believe that the energy of these enterprising manufacturers will be imitated by us. Such at least seems probable from the action of Mr. Boyall, of Great Britain, whose traction engine are steam omnibuses, the engine and her with illustrations are to be sent to two of the omnibuses to Brazil for use on common roads, and their peculiarities set forth in a recent article in Hub (New York city), from which illustrations are taken. Mr. Boyall's omnibus building another of these steamers for use in Greece. The omnibuses in size, measuring them from outside to outside, are seven feet six inches wide and sixteen feet six inches in length, and carry sixty-five passengers, thirty inside and thirty-five outside. This vehicle is filled with comfortable cane-work seats, one along side facing inward, and two rows down the center, where the passengers sit back to back. This tremendous load is carried on two wheels only, which of course massive construction are fixed at the center of the vehicle, and alone weigh eleven cwt. axles are equally ponderous, being inches square at the bottom, and inches square at the top, tapering to three inches attached on the top, instead of being plan, as on all other horizontal carriages, they are fixed in a vertical manner, and run up through the body, giving a strong solid flap to bolt to springs above and below, the former fixed on the top rail, and the lower under the bottom side, all the springs secured by irons and bolts of well tempered and undoubted quality.

The two wheels enabled to sustain their balance, supposing the weight to be unequally distributed, by means of a strong drag-chain in connection with a draw bar, inclined to allow a small play of the springs, just as much as the body requires, as already described will require; and when the apparatus is attached to the engine, it will be seen that the engine, as a fore-carriage to the omnibus, that it can not tip nor deflect more than the respective springs will permit. This is an application of the equal system on an extensive scale.

By this arrangement, each wheel acts as the center upon which the vehicle turns, and in proportion and a corner far less compass is required than would be if the vehicle constructed on the common principle, on two wheels there is only the friction there would be on four.

The passengers occupy the roof of this omnibus, sheltered by a light, airy canopy and curtains, and along the outside edge of the roof is screen-work protecting outside seats.

There is at the end of each carriage, so that passengers may pass through from one to the other. The weight is about three and a half tons. The trial trip filled with passengers. The second omnibus was the trial trip, and the second coupled to the train: this was also filled with passengers. The train, containing about 180 passengers, moved easily through the town of Great Yarmouth, causing no small excitement at an unusual a mode of traveling, and passing through the principal thoroughfares, a trip was decided upon to test the capabilities of the engine with this tremendous load. It may be as well to state that the engine has been expressly to accompany the carriages to Brazil. After a two hours' trial the result was pronounced most satisfactory, though the rate of speed not so great as could have been attained, owing to the existing ordinances, which prohibit a higher speed than 4 miles per hour for such conveyances.

Cure for Small Pox.

Some years ago it was made known the Paris physicians cure for the following specific the small pox, a loathsome disease, have been paid attention seems to a California paper, but a writer in unfeeling as follows: asserts that it is as to offer a remedy he has known it even when the hundreds of cases, The remedy is pustules are filling, and we advise and very simple, it for use readers to preserve "Take sulphate occasion require it: one grain; zinc (white vitriol) grain; half a digitalis) one two tablespoonful of sugar and thoroughly water. Mix (half pint) of then add four ounces every hour, Take a spoonful pear entirely disease will disappear twelve hours. Small dose for a according to age. It is equally effectual in measles."

Small Pox Remedy.

We are pleased to learn that all the small pox patients in the valley are recovering, and that no new cases have occurred within a week. The disease is of that type known in Germany as hemorrhagic (confining its symptoms to the lower limbs, and solely to the old country, recently introduced). Carson Register.

Turkeys.

The following, which we find in The Pacific Rural Press, may be profitable reading to some of the farmers in this locality:

There is no doubt that turkeys, properly managed, are among the most profitable of live stock, and it is difficult to account for their absence from many places where they could be advantageously reared. Turkeys consume a larger proportion of green food than fowls, and grow into size almost without cost; when fattened, they realize a high price in the market, and, as they are chiefly in demand in cold weather, can be sent to distant places without risk of loss. Many farmers' wives, however, dread engaging in the rearing of turkeys, believing them to be exceedingly delicate when young. I believe properly-managed turkeys are not more difficult to rear than common fowls, and I am quite certain they can be raised to much greater profit. My own method of procedure is to follow Nature as far as possible. I make my turkey nests on the ground; or if in a paved house; in large shallow boxes, half filled with mould that can be dampened at intervals. The hens, unless they come off regularly, are lifted off to feed and then supplied with grain with a liberal hand. When the young ones are hatched, they are left undisturbed under the hen until the next day. No attempt is made to cram them—an absurd practice, which interferes most injuriously with the due digestion of the yolk that is absorbed into the intestines at birth, and constitutes all the food required for 24 or 30 hours after hatching. The first food given them is egg beaten up with an equal bulk of milk, and, baked into a soft custard; this is alternated with crumbled bread mixed with milk, to which oatmeal is added in a gradually increasing proportion. Ants' eggs are given, if I can get them; but if not, the custard is continued for a fortnight or three weeks. Quite as important as any other part of the dietary of young turkeys is the supply of green food, and many persons chop up nettles, onions, etc., with the meal; but if young turkeys are watched when grazing, it will be observed that they prefer eating bitter herbs belonging to the natural family Compositae, or compound flowered plants, such as the dandelion, etc. At three weeks old a dozen turkey chicks will eat four or five large lettuces in a day, and they even seem to prefer them when running to seed, at which time there is abundance of milky juice in the plants. At the age of a month, they will begin to pick a few grains of wheat or barley; but bread and milk and meal should form the staple of their food for the first two or three months of their lives. Most persons say that young turkeys are particularly delicate when they are "shooting the red." This is not to be wondered at when it is remembered that they are generally put on wholly grain, without milk, long before they arrive at that age, and suffer accordingly. Another point of the highest importance in feeding turkeys, or young birds of any kind, is the hour at which they get their first repast. In Summer it is daylight at 4 o'clock in the morning. If the birds have their first meal deferred until 6 or 7 o'clock, they have been hungry for two or three hours, and suffer very much. To be successful in rearing these, and any other young birds, they must either be supplied over night with their first meal, or the poultry maid must be up with the lark. There is no better plan than putting the hen and chicks, for the first month or two, in a closely-wired aviary at night, which is open to the early sun; and lettuce and a good supply of soft food can be put under a coop, so that the hen cannot eat it, and there will be found but little left an hour after daybreak. If the young turkeys are well fed from the first, they can be fattened by shutting them up for a fortnight or three weeks in any small sheltered court, and feeding them on meal and milk. Selling them direct to the consumer, if possible, will be found a far more profitable proceeding than consigning them to a salesman, against whom the producer has not the slightest check.

—A rural paper remarks: "Cold nights have put a stop to gate sparking. If she doesn't ask you to come in now, you had better quit."

—When an ox refuses to pull in Columbus, Ga., some inventive genius catches a cat and suspends it by the tail over the back of the obstinate brute. The claws are a sufficient incentive to business. The students of Columbus call this "ox-hazing."

—Houston, Texas, boasts of quite a novelty in the way of a birthday association, originated about a year ago, and now consisting of about twenty-five members, who are bound by the rules of the association to celebrate the birthday of each member as it comes round.

—A new remedy for "fainting spells" has been discovered in Georgia. A Georgia paper furnishes the following "receipe," and says in the case tried it proved very effectual. "A negro went so far as to faint in a store in Brainbridge. He was restored to consciousness by an unsympathetic friend, who sprinkled him with the short end of a buggy trace."

LITIGANT PAPER FOR INYO COUNTY.

PUBLISHED EVERY SATURDAY, BY

CHALFANT & PARKER.

JAS. H. PARKER | P. A. CHALFANT

INDEPENDENCE, CAL.;

Saturday,...December 30, 1871.

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

The last, closing hours of the dying year are drawing nigh, and soon 1871 will have followed its predecessors, gone down the long vista of time and marked the lapse of another cycle of the years.

Weary would toil the pen that should recount the history of a twelvemonth so fruitful of events as the one just passing—so fraught with war, fire, storm and pestilence, as if the heathen gods of War and Vengeance were no longer mythical but real, stalking over the earth.

No people in the world so quickly regain their wonted buoyant and elastic hopes and spirits, depressed as they must be by such appalling disasters, as the Americans; an irrepressible spirit and superb self-reliance distinguishes the Nation, and soon the effects of the late calamities will pass away, and be only remembered as an evil dream.

For the world generally the New Year opens with fair promises of Peace; for our own Nation Peace, Plenty and Reform; and for our locality a continued reign of Prosperity, Life, Enterprise and Contentment, and rapid strides in local advancement. So, with a HAPPY NEW YEAR to all, we will close with this scriptural injunction, slightly paraphrased, to our friends:

"Remember the Printer that his days may be long in the land."

WEATHER AND MAILS.

No outside mails by either route have reached this place during the past ten days. The snow has fallen to a great depth on the Esmeralda mountains and more is being added every day, so that it is impossible for stages of any description to get through. At the last accounts the snow was three feet deep at Benton, from which we infer that it can not be less than ten in the vicinity of Aurora. It is rumored that the bridge across the river near Owensville has been swept away. but we doubt the truth of the statement. The river however is very high. Rivers of water and oceans of mud effectually bar stage travel on the southern route, so that for some weeks to come, the probabilties a re that the great outside world will have to wag along the best it can without definite advices from the "Owens River region" and vice versa, particularly the vice versa. We expect to hear some time within the next six months that the San Joaquin and Sacramento valleys are both flooded, causing great damage, also, that the railroad snow sheds have been swept down by avalanches and other similar disasters, all of which will be more than compensated by overflowing granaries, so essential to the prosperity of the State. "It never rains but it pours," is an adage of literal truth, this time.

Appletons Journal.

This excellent publication is rapidly and deservedly gaining in public favor. The series of illustrated papers depicting landscapes and places in our own country will be regularly produced in the volume for 1872, forming a very interesting and attractive feature. The subscription price of Appleton's Journal is $4 00, for which sum a greater amount of valuable and entertaining reading matter is offered than through any other magazine within our knowledge. Published weekly by D. Appleton & Co., Broadway, New York.

How High it is.

We failed to mention at the proper time the fact that the golden ball mounted on the dome of the State capitol is 320 feet from the ground, and now, since every body is aware of the important fact, it is useless for us to say anything about it.

That Exploring Expedition.

The Wheeler exploring party, of which we have heard so much the past six months, seems to have been composed of brutes, if not worse. Two guides taken from the Owens River region have never since been heard from, and THE INYO INDEPENDENT broadly hints that they were murdered by members of the party. That paper publishes a portion of a diary kept by Fred. W. Loring during the party's transit across Death Valley, and makes some justly scathing comments on that defunct Boston flunky's flippant style. Evidently the Wheeler exploring party has disgraced the United States service and had a few more of them met the fate of Loring, they would have only got their just deserts.—Ventura Signal, Dec. 16.

EQUALIZATION OF TAXES.

It is to be hoped the present Legislature may adopt some uniform system of assessing property that will at least approximate justice in its application. Under the present system, or want of system rather, the poorer counties have to bear burdens of taxation greater in proportion than the more wealthy. This is done in some of the rich counties by fixing the rate of county taxation at a very high figure, so that a low valuation of property shall yield sufficient for county purposes, while the State rate being already fixed, she receives but a small portion of the taxes actually her due. An instance in point is mentioned in the able report of the State Board of Equalization: the actual returned values made by the Assessor of San Mateo county was $4,301,196. The county Board of Equalization met, and without application for a reduction of assessment except from a very few tax-payers, reduced this sum to $1,897,200—a fraud on the State, the amount of which has to be made up by other counties. The remedy for this and kindred frauds is embraced in a proposition to the following effect from the State Board of Equalization: The assessment of all property, real and personal, to be based on its market value, which is to be ascertained and fixed by disinterested parties at the same rate it would be taken in the payment of a debt, that to be the rule by which the statutory definition of "full cash value" shall be determined; to compel each Assessor to make oath that he has assessed such property at its "full cash value," he to have full power to compel a discovery and to subpœna witnesses to testify to values in cases of dispute; to restrict and limit the power of county Boards of Equalization to reduce assessments, which may be done only upon sworn complaint and testimony.

The necessity of some general law by which to ascertain values is seen from this: That any county making a full and honest return of taxable property has to sustain an undue share of the expenses of the State government, because others only make partial returns, as in the case of San Mateo and some others where self-interest rather than honesty is the governing rule. The existing system offers a sort of a premium for dishonest assessments and equalizations by county Boards. The present loose or indefinite plan of fixing values necessitates a rate of taxation considerably higher than it should be. This is obvious from the fact that but a small portion of the real value of the property in the State is taken as a basis for fixing the necessary rate of taxation. The real property values in the State in 1871, as determined by careful estimates, was, in round numbers, $660,000,000, while the amount returned was but a little over one-third as much, viz. $277,000,000.

In the way of unequal assessments the most obviously unjust relates to that upon lands. The poor farmer who devotes his time and energies in developing the country by improving his farm is charged in taxes accordingly, while the rich land grabber, who will neither improve his lands nor sell them as they are for a less figure than would the poor man his with improvements thrown in, manages to have his lands assessed at a figure, which, instead of being rated as their value in fee simple, is less than the actual tax ought to be. Thousands of the best acres in the State are thus kept in idleness—assessed at from ten to twenty cents per acre, and yet can not be purchased for less than fifty times that amount. Such onerous discrimination is so manifestly unjust in effect as to create strong feelings of hostility between the two classes, portending evil to both. The development of the State has been and will continue to be retarded by this unjust system of taxation which enables these land grabbers to exclude actual settlers from such a large area of desirable land. If we are to have any discrimination let the presnt system be reversed, and that class of idle lands be taxed so high that their owners will be compelled to sell them or else bear their proper share of the public expense.

Our own county will be affected by the proposed reforms quite as much in proportion as the others, though there are but small grounds of complaint for unjust discriminations within her own borders of the kind alluded to. The returns on all classes of property are as complete and values placed as high as could be expected under the prevailing system, and in those particulars will doubtless compare favorably with those of any other county in the State. But, a very different result will be shown should the recommendations of the State Board of Equalization become faithfully executed laws. One of these suggestions worthy of the attention of Asssesors generally is embraced in the following extract from the report of the Board:

Another defect in assessing is, that the amount of property is stated by the taxpayer and listed by the Assessor before the oath is administered, and in many instances the affidavit to be taken by the taxpayer is omitted by the Assessor, because it takes time, and for a more potent reason—the Assessor is "making friends" for the next election. This is a singular source of fraud. Marvellous as it may be, yet it is a lamentable fact, that many a man, not supposing that an oath will be afterwards administered, omit to state the full amount of his property, and then when an oath is suddenly tendered to be taken, in the hasty and flippant manner in which oaths are usually administered, it is as suddenly and hastily taken, both from a moment wanting for thought and from the shame of being detected in uttering a falsehood.

A HINT TO LAWMAKERS.

The terrible lessons taught by the destructive marches of the Fiend of Fire during the past year, entailing almost unparalleled loss of life and property, should set the wits of our wise legislators at work to devise laws which would tend, in however small a degree, to the prevention of fires and toward the assistance of modern methods of fighting the destructive element.

Money, science and municipal laws have done almost everything possible to aid the metropolitan fireman, but in the thousand and one unincorporated towns throughout the State, there is no law-making body empowered to take even the simplest measures for protection. The remedy lies with the Legislature to pass such general laws as will work beneficially wherever the inhabitants of a town may see fit to take advantage of them, admitting the fact that a majority of the accidental fires are due from defective flues. We will suppose as a case in point that a bill is passed regulating the manner in which stove pipes shall pass through wooden buildings, prescribing that they be made firm, extending at least a certain distance above the roof, and at no point nearer than a specified number of inches from wood and inflammable lining, and fixing the amount of fine for violations of the law. The provisions necessary for enforcing such an act are very simple, and should make the Foreman of the oldest fire company an ex-Officio Fire Warden, whose duty it shall be to make thorough examinations at stated periods for all such dangerous fire breeders, and notify the careless occupants of such houses to at once repair the same. In the event of a refusal or neglect, let the Fire Warden arrest the offender and convey him before any Justice of the Peace for examination: and whatever fines collected should go one-half to the State and the balance to the general or charitable funds of the local fire companies or company.

The value of such a law is manifest, from the fact that most town and city corporations are enforcing a similar one, and the question is why should not smaller burgs have like advantages, through the enactment of a general law by the State?

THE COUNTY JUDGESHIP.

The matter of the impending vacancy in the County Judgeship is beginning to attract some attention, as it most assuredly should. Two prominent gentlemen of Lone Pine write us that they and others in that place will willingly contribute toward the expense of sending a good lobby member to Sacramento to look after the matter of an increase of the salary pertaining to the office of our county Judge, the appointment of a suitable person for the position, and other matters requiring like attention, some of which have been previously alluded to in these columns. These gentlemen, however, make no nominations for either position, seemingly leaving that matter with us. We would much sooner second and support nominations made by others, if for no other reason, because we are considerably at sea in regard to a proper person to name for the office of Judge. We have in our mind's eye a gentleman well qualified in every respect for that position, and who, we are satisfied, would receive the endorsement of a large majority of our citizens regardless of party considerations. But the difficulty is we have no assurance that he will accept, and without that assurance do not feel at liberty to propose him as a candidate.

In regard to a delegate to the Third House we can only say that it is useless to name any one for that duty until some steps are taken to reimburse him, at least in the amount of his necessary outlays. Now, we will submit a proposition, which, let it be understood, is offerred solely with the view of simplifying a question somewhat complicated by circumstances, and not with the desire of arrogating any right of dictation. As no better or more feasable plan suggests itself, our proposition is this:

Let the following prominent men be designated as a people's committee to take the matter in hand: At this place P. Reddy, P. W. Bennett and Isaac Harris; Cerro Gordo, W. L. Hunter, D. H. Williams and V. Beaudry; Lone Pine, Col. Whipple, W. L Moore and Rockwell Loomis; Bishop Creek, Seth Sneden, Jesse Spray and John Clark. Let each of these parties name the person they desire for a delegate to the Third House, with the amount of money which can be raised in their respective localities to defray his expenses; second, to express their choice for County Judge, and transmit a full report, under seal, with instructions, to S. P. Moffat, who will open the same. And the person receiving a majority of these votes for delegate to be considered the preference of all, and the same in reference to the Judgeship. But let it be understood this obligation to be no wise binding upon the minority, at least until the result has been referred to and ratified by them.

Or, let the respective County Central Committees have a joint meeting, and fix up the business. The interests of the county will suffer if something is not done.

Incidents of the Great Chicago Fire.

Alfred L. Sewell, one of the most widely known publishers of Chicago, is collecting Incidents of the Great Fire, to be published by him, in book form, at the earliest possible day. Mr Sewell's printing establishment and business were entirely destroyed, leaving him at liberty to give his whole attention, for the present, to this book, which will be one of thrilling interest. Mail to him now, at Chicago, the price, fifty cents, and he will send you a copy post paid, as soon as ready.

Old Silver Mines in Scotland.

In exploring the old workings near Bathgate, North Britain, an old hammer has been found in one of the mines. The handle is round, two inches in diameter, and about 14 inches in length. The head is of iron, and anchor shaped. The main pit, or entrance to the whole series of pits and mines is about 9 feet by 6 feet in width, and 24 fathoms deep. The walls are of solid limestone rock, finely chiseled, and bearing innumerable initials of individuals, among which is "C. H. 1469," and beneath it a coat of arms. From the bottom of this pit, shafts run in all directions; and at the termination of one of these, another pit, several fathoms in depth, has been discovered. At the bottom of this second pit, other mines have been discovered, and at the extreme end of one of these there is found a third pit, which has not been thoroughly explored, on account of the quantity of standing water contained in it. On the walls of this last pit the year "1498" is carved. It is surmised that the workmen had drawn the water in bucketsful from the lowest pit, conducted it to the bottom of the second pit, and, by same means, raised it from the second to the third pit, whence it ran along a main level and discharged itself into a stream in the neigborhood where the metals were crushed and washed. The various veins have been cleanly wrought out, and one of them was no less than 20 feet in hight. The rubbish had been neatly repacked into the veins to save the labor of carrying it to the pit-mouth. The workmen had descended the first pit by means of a windlass, and the remains of large beams are still visible there; but it would appear that they had descended and ascended the other pits by niches cut out of the solid rock. It is thought by experienced workmen that the only way these mediæval miners could have taken the water from the mines must have been by means of a level cut through the Bathgate hills, about a mile and a half in length; and an investigation is to be made to ascertain the correctness of this supposition.

Borax.

John L. Jones, of Central Falls, Rhode Island, writes to Gov. L. R. Bradley for information in relation to the borax mines of Nevada. The Governor refers the letter to us. The only borax mines, so called, that we know of in this State are situated in Esmeralda county, not far from Columbus, and near the California line. These deposits have been located, surveyed and thoroughly tested, and extend over an area of several thousand acres, in detached bodies of considerable size. Bell & Myrtetus owned and perhaps still own some of these deposits. W. E. Brown, of Sacramento, California, is at the head of one company owning the chief deposits, and can give full and accurate information of all chemical tests and analyses made of the material, while his legal agent, General T. D. Edwards of this city is thoroughly conversant with the legal status of the company's claim. The mineral (borate of lime) is found quite extensively in the salt marshes of Esmeralda county, principally in layers two to five inches thick, alternating with layers of salt and first occurring from one to two feet below the surface. It is also found in the shape of balls three or four inches in diameter, scattered about the salt deposit. The deposits have never been worked systematically, though a large quantity of the mineral shipped to Europe some years ago and tested, was found to be superior to the tincal imported from Asia and South America in the manufacture of the borax of commerce. There is believed to be enough of this mineral in the locality named to supply the world for half a century.—Carson Register.

To Make Glossy Shirts.

Put a little common white wax in your starch, say two ounces to the pound, then, if you use any thin patent starch, be sure you use it warm, otherwise it will get cold and gritty, and spot your linen giving it the appearance of being stained with grease. It is different with collar starch—it can be used quite cold; however, of that anon. Now, then, about polishing shirts; starch the fronts and wristbands as stiff as you can. Always starch twice—that is, starch and dry; then starch again. Iron your shirts in the usual way, making the linen nice and firm; but without any attempt at a good finish; don't lift the plaits; your shirt is now ready for polishing, but you ought to have a board the same size as a common shirtboard made of hard wood, and covered with only one ply of plain cotton cloth. Put this board into the breast of your shirt, damp the front very lightly with a wet sponge, then take a polishing iron which is flat, and beveled a little at one end—polish gently with the beveled part, taking care not to drive the linen up into wave like blisters; of course, this requires a little practice, but if you are careful, and persevere, in a short time you will be able to give that enamel like finish which seems to be so much wanted.

Sold.

A newspaper man in Boston, a member in good standing of the Bachelor Club, who, from the nature of his business, never attempts to effect a capture of the early worm, was a few mornings since awakened by a diligent rapping upon the door of his suite of rooms, and after rubbing his eyes for a moment, went to the door and asked what was wanted. The applicant for admission proved to be a person engaged in gathering certain census statistics, and the following dialogue ensued:

Census Man—"Have you any children that have been born within a year?"

Newspaper Man—"No!"

C. M.—"How old is your youngest child?"

N. M.—"Seventy-eight years."

C. M.—"Want to buy any soothing syrup for him?"

N. M. (loquitur)—"Sold, by Jove!"

—A lady, recently dressing for a ball, surprised her husband with the inquiry: "My dear, how does my hair look?" "I don't know," he replied, "I can't see it." "Why can't you see it, I should like to know? haven't you eyes?" "Yes; but some dead woman's hair covers yours." It is needless to say there was a slight disturbance in the family, and somebody was called a brute.

—"Sir," said a sturdy beggar to a benevolent old man, "please give me a quarter; I am hungry and unable to procure food." The quarter was given, when the beggar said "You have done a noble deed; you have saved me from doing something which I feared I would have to come to," "What is that?" said the benefactor. "Work," was the mournful answer.

The Shooting Match.

Pursuant to notice a number of shootists congregated near town on Christmas Day, with a view of deciding the fate and ownership of a few chickens and turkeys. As there was but two or three rifles on the ground, and they of a very superanuated pattern, we infer that good rifles are scarce hereabouts, or the once popular amusement of rifle shooting is sadly on the wane. Be that as it may, on the present occasion the performance began by burying an old hen in the ground so that she would be able to hold up her venerable head, which, at forty yards, off-hand, was to be the target. Terms: Pay full market price, to wit, six bits, if you hit the bird any where else than squarely in the head. We took the first shot; we also paid the full market price for that ancient fowl. Bird No. 2 was then interred in like manner as his predecessor, and after a number of skilful misses by different marksmen, all of whom were dead shots "when I was in practice, sir," was eventually resurrected and raised bodily four feet in the air by Jim Shepherd. That bird needed re-stuffing before he was fit for the table. It was the second worst shot on record. Next, a young gobbler was stationed nearly two hundred yards away as judge of the shooting. With ordinary luck no harm could befall that turkey; no gun there could throw a ball much over half way to him without a dangerous strain; but, "a fool for luck the world over," and that gobbler was undoubtedly a fool of the first magnitude, if judged by his luck. John Alexander stepped forth and pointing his gun in the direction of the western mountains blazed away; ball fell fifty yards short and was caught on the bound by that lucky turkey! "Oh, that's nothing; can do it nine times out of ten," said the shooter. Turkey man looked blue; nevertheless gobbler No. 2 was put in the position just vacated by the fool turkey, and while there had an opportunity of witnessing more bad shooting than any other turkey of his age on the coast. For hours he serenely sat there, while those ambitious little rifles and ye shooters were jeopardizing their breech-pins in futile endeavors to heave him a ball, but with such poor success that it really appeared that death by starvation and exposure would be the verdict for that gobbler. Ye bold shooters, though, continued to blaze away in a sublime faith that they could either carom or lob a ball on that monument of patience, each sustained by a conviction that neither the feathered bineds nor John Alexander possessed the sole prerogative of "scratching." As might be expected the turkey man looked grieved to see his bird exposed to so many shots, each shot being four bits in his pocket (the turkey man's pocket, not the turkey's). His painful suspense was eventually relieved, and the sublime faith justified by Tom May, and another scratch was scored; (the turkey scratched out of that when the ball knocked gravel stones against his legs). Soon after the Shades of Night spread his big mantle over the bloody scene and the slaughter was at an end. P. S. The usual courtesies of the country were extended the press-gang.

Indian Stabbed.

About half past 10 on Christmas night, some Indians just back of Rowley's store attracted attention by their noise, upon which a couple of men went to the place and found one of them left about dead from several knife cuts in the throat, and—drunk! The assistance of Dr. Smith was called, who examined and dressed the fearful looking wounds. It is said that the quarrelsome Indians were brothers, and that the fight grew out of whisky and from the wounded one having been concerned in cutting the throat of "Doctor Joe," whose killing at George's Creek we mentioned several months since. The Indian, being taken by his tribe, is now out at one of the rancherias on the plains, and will probably die. The cause of the whole trouble undoubtedly lays at the door of some white villain who sells them whisky. The Indians mention a place in town where, for a dollar and a half, they can procure all they want, and there is some other testimony against the same man. Now, it is hardly probable that this individual is ignorant of the fact that this is a direct violation of a plain law, for every infraction of which heavy penalties are imposed on conviction. It is also incumbent upon every person having knowledge of these infractions to report the same, that the guilty person may be brought to the punishment which he so richly deserves. Any man is essentially low down in the scale of humanity who, for the sake of the few pennies he may gain by the transaction, will sell whisky to these otherwise inoffensive beings. In so doing he not only jeopardizes the lives of the Indians themselves, as in the instance alluded to, but also the lives of white men, as we from personal experience can testify. This subject has been brought to our notice several times, by letter and personal observation, but as we were led to believe that measures would be taken to convict the guilty parties, we refrained from giving publicity to certain well-founded statements which would at least fasten a reasonable suspicion upon certain quarters beyond the limits of this town. The method generally adopted by the Indians to obtain whisky is through the agency of a low, sneaking go-between claiming to be white, and therefore not debarred by law from investing an Indian's money in whisky, a portion of which becomes his perquisites. No responsible saloon keeper will or does knowingly barter whisky directly or indirectly to Indians. A trip to San Quentin by one or two of these go-betweens and low whisky-sellers would have have a very salutary effect, besides affording an immense amount of satisfaction to the community in general.

Masquerade.

We acknowledge the receipt of an invitation and ticket to attend a masquerade ball, to be given by Senora Antonia Montoy, at her place on the corner of Main and Lone Pine streets, Lone Pine, on New Year's Night. The programme includes dancing and a supper, and doubtless the gay masqueraders will enjoy themselves to the fullest extent.

Another Dance.

A dance is to come off at the place of Mr. Cofer, lately Mr. Martin's, near Camp Independence, on New Years Night. "All are invited to attend." Also, during the day a shooting match, chicken pulling and similar amusements. Here's a chance for lovers of fun to spread themselves.

A New Roaster.

The Owens Lake Silver-Lead Co. are engaged in building a galamadore near the mouth of the Omega tunnel, Cerro Gordo, for reducing their lead ore to slag before being shipped down the mountain, for final reduction in the cupola at Swansea.

Died.

Mr. Daniel Schnieder, who was injured by meeting with a fall in the Union mine, died in Cerro Gordo a few days since.

Christmas Dinner.

On Christmas day some ten or a dozen of the "old baches" of Lone Pine assembled at the residence of Col. Whipple, to partake of the distinguished hospitalities of that gentleman and his worthy lady. We were not so fortunate as to have been present, but, as reported to us, the proceedings must have been of the jolliest character—what with the sumptuous repast, the popping of liberated corks and the keen contests of wit by the unfortunate "pioneer bachelors of Lone Pine." We give in the following some of the regular and volunteer toasts of the occasion, which for wit, point and brevity are not bad:

"California—The gem of the Pacific Slope from Behring Straits to Cape Horn."

"Inyo County—Young in years; the Little Giant in mineral wealth among her sister counties."

"Old Settlers of Lone Pine—Honorable to a dot and generous to a fault; may their prosperity keep pace with the development of the county."

"The Young 'Old Settlers' Present—'Time makes all things even,' and to make them even Time will have to take them to the Haltar, with the 'H' off.'

"The Judiciary of Lone Pine—Dignified in demeanor, slow to wrath, just in its convictions."

"W. T. Grant—The Arbiter of the greatest of National differences—the Alabama claims."

"'Dad' Moore—Though not a 'dad' that we know of, yet more than a father to the deserving poor."

After dinner a Bachelor's Club was formed, composed of those present; and the Colonel and Mrs. Whipple were unanimously elected members. On adjournment the Club of unregenerates resolved to meet on the Fourth of July next, at which time we predict for them another equally enjoyable hour. Our Lokleitems is invited, as a "respectable" bachelor. Mistake.

SQUIBLETS.

—Ground Hog—Sausage.

—A fireside tale—The cat's.

—A precious volume—A bank book.

—A military air—A pla-toon.

—Hairs presumptive—Chignons.

—A great "composer"—Chloroform

—To permit a lady to satiate herself is not the same thing as to permit her to say she ate herself.

—A man that ought to be re—membered: A one legged soldier.

—What do liars do when they die? They lie still.

—A Cincinnati market regulation—"No whistling near the sausage stand."

—Othello was not a lawyer, although he was a tawny general of Venice.

—The oldest "ring" in the country—The Indian war (w)hoop.

—The scarcest "ring"—The "ring" of the true metal.

—A Kansas man is in jail for letting a neighbor's mule follow nim.

—The great American desert—Fruit. That's plain enough.
